LAND SALE NOTICES.

Advertisement of Sale

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates situate in the district of Jessore will be put up to sale at the Magurah Subdivisional Office on the 29th April 1913, corresponding with 16th Baisak 1320 B.S.

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—The estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of this estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights confirmed by the settlement proceedings, and by the laws in force, and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedules of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, thereby noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement as in the case of original sale.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 475L., dated 1st April, 1913. The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of the Governor of Bengal, received the assent of His Excellency the Governor on the 13th March, 1913, and, having been assented to by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General on the 27th idem, is hereby published for general information :—

BENGAL ACT I OF 1913.

An Act to amend section 14 of the Calcutta Burial Boards Act, 1889. Ben. Act IV of 1889.

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend section 14 of the Calcutta Burial Boards Act, 1889 ; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Calcutta Burial Board (Amendment) Act, 1913.

Amendment of section 14 of Bengal Act IV of 1889. 2. For section 14 of the Calcutta Burial Boards Act, 1889, the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"14. (1) The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, appoint a Burial Board for Calcutta, for any community other than the Christian and Muhammadan communities.

Appointment of Burial Board for any community.

(2) Every such Board shall consist of—

(a) the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta,

(b) the Health Officer of the Corporation of Calcutta,

(c) an officer of the Public Works Department to be nominated from time to time by the Local Government, and (d) not less than three nor more than six members representing the community concerned, to be nominated from time to time by the Local Government.

(3) The Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta shall be the Chairman of every such Board

"15. The Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, declare that any nominated member of any Burial Board appointed under section 14 shall cease to be a member if he has, without the leave of the Chairman of the Board, been absent from, or is unable to attend, the meetings of the Board for any period exceeding six consecutive months.

Removal of nominated members of Boards appointed under section 14.

"16. If any nominated member of any such Board be permitted by the Chairman of the Board to absent himself from meetings of the Board for any period exceeding three months, or dies, or resigns his membership, or ceases to be a member in pursuance of a notification published under section 15, the vacancy shall be filled by a fresh nomination under section 14.

Filling of casual vacancies.

"17. (1) The term of office of the first members nominated to any such Board shall commence on such day as may be appointed by the Local Government.

Term of office of nominated members.

(2) Subject to the provisions of section 4, sub-section (2), and section 15, the term of office of members nominated to any such Board shall be as follows:—

(a) a member nominated in pursuance of section 16 in the place of a member who has been permitted to absent himself from meetings of the Board—the period of the absence of the latter member; and (b) other members—five years.

(3) Any nominated member shall be eligible for re-nomination at the end of his term of office.

"18. The Local Government may place under the superintendence, management or control of the Burial Board appointed for any community under section 14—

Transfer of burial grounds.

(a) any portion of a public Muhammadan burial-ground which is excluded from the control of the Muhammadan Burial Board by the proviso to section 6, and which is used for the interment of persons belonging to such community, and

(b) any other public burial-ground, or portion thereof, which is used, or is intended to be used, for the interment of persons belonging to such community

"19. Section 4, sub-section (2), and sections 8 to 14 shall apply, mutatis mutandis, to all Burial Boards appointed under section 14 and to burial-grounds under the superintendence, management or control of such Boards, as well as to the Muhammadan Burial Board and Muhammadan burial-grounds."

Application of sections 4 (2) and 8 to 15 to Boards appointed under section 14

Repeal of the Second Schedule to Bengal Act IV of 1889.

3. The Second Schedule to the Calcutta Burial Boards Act, 1889, is hereby repealed. Ben. Act IV of 1889.

Bills introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council, Reports of Select Committees presented to that Council, and Bills published before introduction in that Council.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 261L., dated the 27th March, 1913.—The following Reports of Select Committees, which were presented to the Bengal Legislative Council on the 5th March, 1913 (with the Bills, as amended by the Committees), are published for general information:—

THE BENGAL PUBLIC GAMBLING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1913.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE.

We, the undersigned, Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill further to amend the law in force in Bengal relating to public gambling was referred, have considered the Bill and have the honour to submit this our Report, with the Bill, as amended by us, annexed. The amendments which we have made in the Bill are underlined, and are mentioned in the following paragraphs:—

Clause 4.—Definitions as to gaming.

2. We have altered the proposed definition of "gaming" so as to exclude betting upon horse-races from the operation of the Gambling Laws only when it takes place on race days and in enclosures which the Stewards of the race meeting have, with the sanction of the Local Government, set apart for the purpose. As the definition now stands, betting upon horse-races will be subject to the Gambling Laws if it relates to races to be held on future days, or if it takes place outside an enclosure set apart for the purpose by the Stewards, e.g., on a road adjoining the race-course. By virtue of section 22 of the Bengal General Clauses Act, 1899 (Ben. Act I of 1899), any order of sanction made by the Local Government can be varied or rescinded at any time.

3. We have considered the recent case of Stead v. Aykroyd (1911, 1 K. B., 57, which arose on section 2 of the Street Betting Act, 1906 (6 Edw. 7, c. 43), upon which the exception in clause 2 of the Bill as to betting on horse-races is based. We do not consider that the conditions prevailing in Bengal necessitate any alteration of the terms of that exception, as now amended.

4. We have made some verbal additions to the definitions of "instruments of gaming" and "common gaming house", with the object of stating their intention more fully.

Clause 3.—Exemption of games of mere skill.

5. Sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 3 of the Bill introduce into the Acts of 1857 and 1866 a section, following section 12 of the Public Gambling Act, 1867 (III of 1867), passed by the Governor General of India in Council, declaring that the provisions of those Acts as to gaming shall not apply to "any game of mere skill, wherever played." The corresponding section (section 10) of Bengal Act II of 1867 declares that the foregoing provisions of that Act shall not apply to "billiards, whist or any other game of mere skill, wherever played," while section 11 of the Act exempts from the purview of that section every game "not being a game of mere skill." The first of these exemptions is narrower than the second, since it is so framed as to be subject to the ejusdem generis rule of construction. It is desirable that the difference between these two exemptions should be removed, and, further, that games of mere skill should be exempted from the purview of this Act in the same terms as those which are employed in Act III of 1867 and which it is proposed, by sub-clauses (1) and (2) of clause 3 of the Bill, to introduce into the Acts of 1857 and 1866. We have inserted a new sub-clause (3) in clause 3 of the Bill to effect this.

6. We propose, as consequential amendments, to repeal section 10 of Bengal Act II of 1867 [see clause 5 (3) of the Bill as now amended], and to repeal the reference to games of mere skill in section 11 of that Act [see clause 4 of the Bill, as now amended].

Clause 4.—Betting in streets, etc.

7. We have inserted a new clause (clause 4) in the Bill to substitute the word "gaming" for the words "playing for money", etc., in section 11 of Bengal Act II of 1867. This amendment is consequential upon the proposal, in clause 2 of the Bill, to extend the meaning of the word "gaming". It would be of little use to penalise betting in houses if a loophole were left for carrying on betting operations in such places as public markets, fairs, streets and thoroughfares.

8. Some further amendments of the gambling law were suggested at our meeting, but they are beyond the scope of the present Bill and could only be brought forward in a consolidating Bill.

9. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC GAMBLING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1913

(as amended by the Select Committee).

[The amendments made by the Select Committee are underlined.]

BILL

further to amend the law in force in Bengal relating to public gambling.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the law in force in Bengal relating to public gambling;

And whereas the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act: 55 & 56 Vict., c. 14.

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Bengal Public Gambling (Amendment) Act, 1913.

Amendment of definitions as among. 2. For the definitions of "common gaming house," "gaming" and "instruments of gaming," in section 59 of the Howrah Offences Act, 1857, section 3 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and section 1 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867, the following shall be substituted, namely:— Act XXI of 1857. Ben. Act IV of 1866. Ben. Act II of 1867.

"'gaming' includes wagering or betting [except wagering or betting upon a horse-race, when such wagering or betting takes place [Cf. Bom. Act IV of 1887, s. 3 (as amended by Bom. Act I of 1890, s. 2) and Act 17 & 18 Vict., c. 135, s. 1 (2)]

(a) on the day on which such race is to be run, and

(b) in an enclosure which the Stewards controlling such race have, with the sanction of the Local Government, set apart for the purpose].

but does not include a lottery:

'instruments of gaming' includes any article used as a means or appurtenance of, or for the purpose of carrying on or facilitating, gaming; and [Cf. Bom. Act IV of 1887, s. 3 (as amended by Bom. Act I of 1890).]

'common gaming-house' means any house, room, tent, or walled enclosure, or space, or any place whatsoever, in which any instruments of gaming are kept or used for the profit or gain of the person owning, occupying, using or keeping such house, room, tent, enclosure, space or place, whether by way of charge for the use of such house, room, tent, enclosure, space, place or instruments or otherwise howsoever."

Exemption of games of mere skill.

3. (1) After section 15 of the Howrah Offences Act, 1857, the following shall be inserted, namely:— XXI of 1857. [Cf. Act III of 1867, s. 12; Bom. Act II of 1867, s. 10; Bom. Act IV of 1867, s. 13.]

Exemption of games of mere skill.

"15A. Nothing in sections 10 to 15 shall apply to any game of mere skill, wherever played."

(2) After section 50 of the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, the following shall be inserted, namely:— Bom. Act IV of 1866

Exemption of games of mere skill.

"50A. Nothing in sections 44 to 50 shall apply to any game of mere skill, wherever played.

(3) After section 11 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867, the following shall be inserted, namely:— Ben. Act II of 1867.

Exemption of games of mere skill.

"11A. Nothing in this Act shall apply to any game of mere skill, wherever played."

Amendment of section 11 of Bengal Act II of 1867.

4. For the words "playing for money or other valuable thing with cards, dice, counters, or other instruments of gaming used in playing any game not being a game of mere skill", in section 11 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867, the word "gaming" shall be substituted. Ben. Act II of 1867.

5. The following enactments are hereby repealed, namely:—

(1) the definition of "common gaming-house" in section 51 of the Calcutta Suburban Police Act, 1866;

(2) the words "three successive numbers of", in section 2 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867; Ben. Act II of 1867.

(3) section 10 of the Bengal Public Gambling Act, 1867, and Ben. Act II of 1867.

(4) the Bengal Rain-gambling Act, 1867. Ben. Act III of 1867.

REPORT OF THE SELECT COMMITTEE ON THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL (LOANS) BILL, 1913.

We, the undersigned Members of the Select Committee to which the Bill to amend the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, relating to loans was referred, have considered the Bill and the papers noted in the margin, and have the honour to submit this our Report, together with the Bill, as amended by us, annexed thereto. The amendments made in the Bill have been underlined and can thus be easily discerned, but the more important amendments only are specifically mentioned in the following paragraphs:—

Papers No. 1. Letter No. 5. 4916, dated the 10th March 1913, from the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta, with enclosures.

Clause 128 (Power of Corporation to borrow money).

2. (a) For the phrase "The Corporation may.....borrow, by way of debenture....." we have substituted the words "The Corporation may raise a loan by the issue of debentures" following the precedent of section 4 of the English Local Loans Act, 1875 (38 & 39 Vict., c. 83). As a consequence of the adoption of this phrase, we have used the expression "to raise a loan" rather than "to take a loan" throughout the Bill.

(b) There have been conflicting opinions as to whether land, which the Corporation is authorised under the Act to acquire, can be paid for out of loan funds unless the whole of it is required for the construction of a work. We were advised that it was desirable to give the Corporation specific power, under clause 128, to borrow money for the acquisition of land for the purposes of the Act, and we have accordingly inserted a new sub-clause (a1) which makes the necessary provision.

Clause 129 (Determination of sums to be borrowed).

3. We have provided that, for the purposes of determining the amount of money to be borrowed in any financial year, a special meeting of the Corporation shall be necessary.

Clause 130 (Limit to borrowing powers).

4. Owing to the excision of sub-clause (b) from clause 135 (see paragraph 6 below) the reference to the discharge of loans by instalments in this clause has been struck out.

Clause 131 (Form of debentures).

5. There is no provision in the existing law prescribing the persons who shall sign debentures on behalf of the Corporation. As power is given to the Corporation, with the previous sanction of the Local Government, to prescribe the form of debenture, we have provided that the Corporation may also prescribe the persons who shall sign the debentures.

Clause 135 (Repayment of loans taken after the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Act, 1913).

6. (a) The Bill, as introduced provided three alternative methods for the repayment of loans, one of which was by periodical instalments. It is understood that the Corporation do not desire to retain this method, and as the other two alternative methods appear to us to be amply sufficient for all practical purpose, we have struck out sub-clause (b) of this clause (which relates to repayments by instalments) from the Bill.

(b) We have amplified sub-clause (c) of this clause to make its intention clearer.

Clause 138 (Provisions for repayment of loans taken between the 1st April, 1881 and the 31st March, 1912).

7. (a) We have recast this clause by including the original sub-clause (2) in sub-clause (1) and numbering it sub-clause (1) (c), and by specifying in sub-clause (3) [now sub-clause (2)] the method of calculating the accumulation in the present Sinking Fund A to be credited to the account of each loan.

(b) The dates specified in sub-clauses (1) (a) and (c) have been altered from the 1st October to the 1st of July to meet the convenience of the Corporation, who do not desire that any of their half-yearly payments should fall due on the 1st April.

Clause 141 A. (Investment of Sinking Funds.)

8. (a) We have considered the recommendation made by the Corporation in their* letter of the 10th March last against the retention under this clause of trustees for the various Sinking Funds, and are of opinion that there is considerable weight in the reasons given. There are no trustees under the Bombay Municipal Act, and, in view of the fact that clause 141 E. of the Bill provides for the annual examination of the various Sinking Fund by the Accountant-General, it does not appear to us that there is any substantial necessity for separate trustees to invest and hold the Sinking Fund moneys. As a matter of fact, the powers given to the trustees under the present Act are very meagre, and we are satisfied that no useful purpose will be served by their retention. We have accordingly struck out from the Bill all the provisions relating to the trustees, and have provided that the investment of Sinking Fund moneys shall be made by the Corporation, and that that body shall hold the same for the purposes of periodical repayment of the debentures issued. Necessary consequential amendments have been made in subsequent clauses of the Bill.

* No. S. 4915, to the Secretary, Municipal Department, Government of Bengal.

(b) The representatives of the Corporation on our Committee were anxious that all moneys paid into the various Sinking Funds to be maintained under the Act should be treated, in the discretion of the Corporation, as appertaining to a common fund for the purposes of investment. We have accordingly, in deference to their views, inserted such a provision in this clause, and numbered it sub-clause (2a).

Clause 141A.A. (Power of Corporation to reserve a portion of loan-debentures for investment of Sinking Funds.)

9. The Corporation having represented that it would be convenient for them to have power to reserve for the investment of the Sinking Funds a portion of the debentures to be issued on account of any loan, we have inserted a new clause (on the lines of sections 2 and 3 of Bombay Act I of 1898) conferring this power upon the Corporation.

Clause 141B. (Application of Sinking Funds).

10. The original (sole) proviso to this clause might have given rise to difficulties in case any of the now existing loans should be consolidated within the next few years before the full deficit in Sinking Fund A had been recouped. We have therefore inserted a further proviso, and clearly differentiated between the case of loans incurred before and after the 31st March 1913.

Clause 141E. (Annual Examination of Sinking Funds).

11. (a) As we have provided for no separate trustees for the Sinking Funds which will be administered by the Corporation, we have amended sub-clause (3) and provided that, if the moneys at credit of any Sinking Fund are more than equal to the amount which would ordinarily have accumulated if such fund had been properly administered, the Accountant-General shall certify the amount of such "excess sum" to the Corporation, who shall thereupon transfer it to their General Fund.

(b) At the request of the Corporation representatives, we have inserted a new sub-clause (4) in this clause which provides that if any dispute arises as to the accuracy of any certificate made by the Accountant-General in accordance with the provisions of this clause, the Corporation shall, after paying in the deficiency, have the right to refer the matter for the orders of the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

12. We recommend that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

NOTE OF DISSENT BY THE HON'BLE MR. J. G. APCAR.

WHEN the Calcutta Municipal Act now in force gives power to borrow for works of a permanent nature only, it is proposed in the Bill to swing to the other extreme, and authorise loans for any purpose whatever. Neither under the Public Health Act in England where, before sanction is given for a loan, experts from the Local Government Board make inquiries regarding the objects for which a loan is asked, and regard is paid almost exclusively to the character of the works, nor in Bombay or Madras, is such an extensive power found. I do not suggest that we should adhere to a rigid interpretation of the term "permanent work," but I strongly support the view that there should be some limit placed, by law, with regard to the purposes for which the Calcutta Corporation may borrow. The law in this behalf in the Bombay Municipal Act which is reproduced, in identical terms, from the English Public Healths Act, is in the following terms: "Money shall not be borrowed for the execution of any work other than a permanent work, including under this expression any work of which the cost ought, in the opinion of Government, to be spread over a term of years." The difficulty, which the present proposal is intended to meet, is to permit the cost for street lamps and steam rollers and other expenditure for similar purposes to be met out of loans. Under the English Public Health Act from which, as before has been stated, the Bombay law has been copied, it has been the practice to allow loans for road rollers and lamp columns, for which a life of 10 years is computed, the principle being that it must be such a work that the cost of it can be spread over a term of years. The repairs to a building would come under the proposal under the Bill; and even though discretion is to be left to Government to sanction works to be included in the list of loans, I ask for nothing more than the principle be adopted which is followed in England, Bombay and Madras, that the object of a loan should be limited by law to works the cost of which can be spread over a term of years.

I do not know who are referred to in paragraph 8 (b) of the report as "the representatives of the Corporation." But speaking for myself, as the representative of the Corporation in the Council, I beg to be permitted to make clear that I never have asked for a Common Sinking Fund for investments only. A Common Sinking Fund, in its fullest conception, is an advantage in Municipal Corporations, and the Calcutta Corporation, from the first, consistently have pressed for the retention of their Common Sinking Fund, as it always has been, and now is, maintained by them, with all its functions unimpaired. And I heard no Member of the Corporation express a contrary view. It is a matter for regret that the Corporation are not to be allowed a Common Sinking Fund without qualification. I, however, am glad that it is recognised that, even if only for investments, it would be prejudicial to our interests to have separate Sinking Funds.

The Government of India early conceived the idea that the Common Sinking Fund has been the cause of the shortage in the repayment of our loans. That idea is discernible in the Bill and found expression in Select Committee. But if the Member in charge when introducing the Bill had only undertaken to explain the origin of the difficulty which the Calcutta Corporation have asked to have removed, instead of stating that it was unnecessary to do so, he could not have failed to remove the misconception that exists in this important question.

In the first place I will set out, in parallel columns, section 135 (3) of the Calcutta Municipal Act in force, and section 15 (7) of the English Local Loans Act of 1875. These sections deal with the repayment of loans. It will be seen at a glance that our section undeniably is taken from the English Act

Section 135 (3). When any part of either* Sinking Fund is invested in Calcutta Municipal debentures, or is applied in paying off any part of a loan before the prescribed period, the interest which would otherwise have been payable on such debentures or on such part of the loan shall be paid into the appropriate Sinking Fund and invested in the manner prescribed by sub-section (1).

* This reference is to Sinking Funds A and B of which Sinking Fund B no longer exists.

Section 15 (7). Where any part of the Sinking Fund is invested in any securities of the local authority, or is applied in paying off any part of the loan before the prescribed period, the interest which would otherwise be payable on such securities or on such part of the loan shall be paid into the Sinking Fund and invested in manner provided by this Act.

The framers of our Act, when adopting (wisely as we think) the English Act, failed to notice that section 15 (7) depended for its proper administration on section 13 of that Act, in which is explained the meaning of the term "prescribed period," and they omitted to incorporate that section of the English Act, or make a similar provision in our Act.

Section 133 of our Act, however, fixes the annual contribution to the Sinking Fund, which is established to provide for the discharge of the loans at 1 per cent. Now, an annual contribution at that rate, together with its growth calculated (with compound interest at 3 per cent. (which is the rate for calculation directed by Government), will produce a sum equivalent to the amount of the loan in 47 years. Cessation, therefore, of the payment to the Sinking Fund of the contribution due on account of a loan and of its growth, before the full period of 47 years has expired, would leave the Sinking Fund unmatured, because that Fund will have been prevented from performing its full functions, of accumulation and growth, to produce the amount required to discharge the loan. It will have been seen that, in effect, although it has not been so expressly enacted, the period prescribed for our loans, when the annual contribution has been fixed at 1 per cent., is 47 years. If only that circumstance had been understood and the important bearing it had in the question had been present in the mind of the authorities concerned, when sanctioning the Corporation loans, we might have escaped, in some measure at least, the difficulty which the Council is now called upon to meet. Consequently owing to the failure to appreciate these important considerations, immediately on the withdrawal from the Sinking Fund of any sum required to pay off any debentures of a loan, all further payments into the Sinking Fund of that loan were, by law, prohibited. The Sinking Fund was unmatured when such withdrawal was made, and it was rendered incapable for completing its function. The sum by which each Sinking Fund of a loan was short of the amount to discharge that loan, is the shortage which the Bill now is intended to provide legislative authority to make good.

There has been a further mistake, in the view that seems to have prevailed with Government, that the period of the debentures of a loan must coincide with the period sanctioned or prescribed for a loan; which it would have been only in accordance with common practice in England, if the first debentures had been issued for 30 years (if that period was approved by the Government for the debentures) and a second series issued for 17 years, or such other period as remained to make up the balance of the unexpired period prescribed for a loan.

But what has happened has been this: the Government have sanctioned debentures of loans for periods of 30 years or less, and confusing the term "loan" with the term "debentures," have sanctioned debentures for a period coincident with the period of the loan, overlooking the circumstance that by adopting this course they were rendering the term "prescribed period" in section 135 (3) meaningless.

At the end of 30 years, or 20 years, or 15 years, as the case may have been, the debentures had to be paid off; and the periods of debentures having been made co-terminous with the periods sanctioned, or prescribed, by the Government for the loans in connection with which the debentures were issued, the money taken from the Sinking Fund to repay the debentures could not be said to have been applied "before the prescribed period."

In all this, how can any difficulty or defect rightly be attributed to a Common Sinking Fund? If defects are inherent in that system they would become apparent wherever it is found. The principle of a Common Sinking Fund has been gaining favour and there are an increasing number of Statutes establishing that system in England. But to go no further than to the Bombay Corporation, where the Common Sinking Fund is maintained. The City of Bombay Municipal Act has been before their Legislature for modification or addition on sixteen occasions since it was first passed in 1888, the last occasion having been in 1911, and yet we have not heard any suggestion of change in their Sinking Fund from the Common to the Separate system. The framers of the Bombay Act took their law relating to loans from the English Public Health Act which, in essentials and principles, is the same as the Local Loans Act, but in Bombay all that was required was faithfully incorporated in their Act and their law regarding the repayment of their loans out of their Sinking Fund has been administered without trouble or friction since it first was passed.

It should not to be supposed that the shortage in the Calcutta Corporation has occurred exclusively in the administration under the present Calcutta Municipal Act. The contribution of 1 per cent. in the latter Act cannot, I fear, be said to have been fixed with any idea of prescribing any particular period for loans. The framers of the present Act appear simply to have followed, with regard to the amount of the annual contribution, the then existing law. The Act of 1881 amended the Act of 1876 by reducing the contribution from 2 per cent. to not less than 1 per cent. This reduction was made, it is interesting to find, on the express ground that 2 per cent. contribution to the Sinking Fund would necessitate increased taxation and unnecessarily throw a burden on the present generation of rate-payers, which would be heavier than they could bear, and the Local Government in a communication to the Government of India on the question, endorsed the view that payment for works, the benefit of which would endure, should be divided between the present generation and posterity. The Act of 1888 fixed the annual contribution at 1 per cent., and the Act of 1899 which is the Act in force, continued that provision.

It should be observed that loans raised under the Act of 1876 for which the Member in charge recognized the period of indebtedness would be 30 years, inasmuch as the annual contribution was fixed at 2 per cent., were, nearly in every case, on debentures having a currency of 20 years, and they appear to have been issued without regard to the existence of any distinction between the period of the debentures and the period of indebtedness for loans. And, in the same way, loans under the Act of 1881, the period of indebtedness for which the Member in charge also has recognized to be 47 years, debentures ordinarily were issued for 20 years. The same system was followed under the Act of 1888. It will be seen, therefore, that the causes of shortage in the Sinking Fund on repayment of the loans of the Calcutta Corporation, date back to early days of Municipal Administration in Calcutta. Wherever a Sinking Fund in respect of loans which have been raised subsequent to the year 1881, has failed to accumulate a sufficient amount to discharge a loan, it has been due to a slight and easily remedied defect in the law. And if we are to go back to learn the origin of the difficulties and defects which we are called upon to provide a remedy, the conclusion is inevitable that the principles on which loans should be repaid, and of Sinking Funds which the Legislature has required the Corporation to maintain, have been imperfectly appreciated.

The Corporation entirely agree in the necessity of amending the law to enable them to pay interest on the sums withdrawn from the Sinking Funds to make good the deficits which have occurred in them in the past. This is what the Corporation have asked for, and the purpose in view has been now sufficiently carried out in clause 138. But the defect could have been more easily remedied by the simple course of defining the term "prescribed period." I respectfully must add, when it is asserted that, of the sum of Rs. 63½ lakhs which must be made good to the Sinking Fund Rs. 15½ lakhs has been properly taken, and Rs. 48 lakhs wrongly taken out of the Sinking Fund, the two amounts cannot rightly be differentiated. And this view is supported by the clause in that behalf which requires payment to be made into the Sinking Fund on account of the whole Rs. 63½ lakhs without excluding any part of it.

One of the grounds urged for the present legislation is to render the Sinking Fund system of the Corporation more simple. We at present have, as already has been mentioned, a single Common Sinking Fund which is worked, with the accounts of the different loans kept separate, smoothly and without difficulty. In its place we are to have, in addition to the separat Sinking Funds to be established for each loan raised in the future, five different systems of Sinking Funds. Of these at least one of them, that relating to Rs. 34 lakhs raised on 1st Novem er 1912, which is provided for by a separate clause, 139, might well be included under the head of the loans that have been raised by the Corporation after the 1st April 1881. When raised, the annual contribution to the Sinking Fund in respect of this loan of Rs. 34 lakhs was fixed at 1 per cent., and it will appear to be a harsh exercise of power to insist on the conversion of this contribution to 2 per cent.

It is noticeable that there are 28 loans, exclusive of the loan last mentioned, amounting to the total sum of Rs. 4½ crores, with an annual contribution at 1 per cent., the discharge of which will not be completed until the 1st of October, 1940. If then in respect of so many loans, in which is involved such a large sum which cannot be discharged until the end of such a long period, provision has been made for payments into a Common Sinking Fund, it seems difficult to maintain with reason that the same system cannot be continued, and made applicable to all future loans. And we submit if the Government decline to give us the system of discharge of each loan on a term equated to the average life of the works for which loans may be raised, the the system now provided in clause 138 should be made applicable for all future loans.

We submit that the term of a loan should be "suitably adjusted to the life of the works" as is well stated in paragraph 3 of the Statement of Objects and Reasons; and in this connection it will be useful to refer to the Report from the Select Committee of the House of Commons on "Repayment of Loans by Local Authorities," which brings out the practice in England. Inquiries are made by the Local Government Board into the question of the probable durability and continuing utility of the work. Ordinarily the general maximum period laid down for repayment of money borrowed, in the English Statutes is 60 years, and the Select Committee of the House of Commons expressly recommended, where the maximum period for the repayment of loans under the Municipal Corporation Act, 1882, was 30 years, that it should be amended by the substitution of 60 for 30 years. This does not imply that every loan would be for the maximum period of 60 years, any more than the Calcutta Corporation imply, in their objection to the annual contribution being permanently fixed at 2 per cent., that no loan shall be for 30 years or for even a less period. And I venture particularly to call attention to the finding of the Select Committee of the House of Commons who, after examining the case for comparatively short periods for repayment, say :—

"Your Committee, however, are not unmindful of the fact that it is neither wise nor just to place upon shoulders of present rate-payers too large a burden of necessary or useful works from which succeeding generations will derive benefit. To do so would be to put a serious check upon the execution of such works."

The Corporation only desire that there should be legislation on recognized principles, and we seriously object to the period being fixed arbitrarily at 30 years without any regard to the nature or life of the work on account of which a loan is raised. Under the Bill, as accepted by our Select Committee, there is nothing to prevent repairs to buildings being on the list of loans. It would be as unfair for a loan for such a purpose to be placed on the list of loans for 30 years, as payment for the acquisition of land. But both are placed on the same footing.

There has been objection expressed to give power to the Corporation to utilise or borrow from the Sinking Fund for part repayment of loans was not allowed in our Select Committee, and the intention appears to be, wherever it is necessary to borrow, to compel that body to borrow from the public. If this power is withheld from us we shall be losers. In this connection I will, here, content myself with doing no more than refer to a work of recognized authority, "Archer's Tables for the Repayment of Loans." At page 11 we find: "If, however, the Sinking Fund is applied from time to time in part payment of the loan, a saving is effected of the difference between the interest at 3½ per cent. which would otherwise be payable on the discharged portion and the interest at 3 per cent. payable into the Sinking Fund in respect of the portion so repaid." In our case it should be observed, when the interest payable on our debentures is 4 per cent., the saving would be 1 per cent. of which we shall be deprived if we are forbidden to exercise the power to which I have referred.

In this question the following quotations from the Report from the Select Committee of the House of Commons "On the Application of Sinking Funds in exercise of Borrowing Powers" (in itself a significantly suggestive title) may also be considered useful: "Under the London County Council system there is no transfer of stock from one account to another. There is merely a user of the money lying in the Sinking Fund." The evidence of Mr. Haward, Comptroller of the London County Council, which is incorporated in the report, is as follows: "We treat each use of the Sinking Fund money for capital purposes as if it were a loan to ourselves." And the Inspector of the Local Loans and Audit under the Scottish office stated in his evidence, which also is incorporated in the report of the Select Committee: "In other words, the power of the Corporation of Glasgow to use their Sinking or Redemption Fund for new capital expenditure in respect of which they have power to borrow, instead of borrowing from outside, appears to be unrestricted."

The power which the Corporation seek to obtain to purchase and extinguish their debentures, as a method of repayment of loans as a part of the Sinking Fund system, also has not been allowed. Here again it would be a distinct gain to the Corporation if the power were granted, for among other strong reasons, the annual contribution to the Sinking Fund would be saved on the amount of the debenture purchased and extinguished. It is a power conferred on Municipalities in England, and I intend to propose that the provision to the effect I have mentioned be included in the Bill on grounds which I shall later more fully communicate to the Council.

NOTE OF DISSENT BY THE HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR.

I DISSENT from the majority of the Select Committee on some points: prominent amongst them are the following—

DETERMINATION OF THE PERIOD OF LOAN.

The omission in the Bill to indicate how the period for repayment of a loan is to be determined should in my opinion be rectified. No valid reason is given why the ordinary period of 47 years, which is recognized in the present Act, is to be reduced to 30. No calculation or data are given to show how the period of 30 years has been arrived at and not 20 or 50 years. In Madras (section 101 of the Madras Municipal Act) the ordinary period is 44 years. The trend of modern opinion is to extend the period of loan for advanced municipalities. But the reverse seems to be the case here. The reason which led the legislature in 1881 to fix the period of repayment to 47 years is patent. It is equitable that the burden of repayment of a loan should be borne equally by the rate-payers of those years during which the loan works last and those who continue to benefit thereof. It was ascertained by Government in the past that the average life or durability of loan works would last "long beyond the present generation." It could not be less than 47 years, and accordingly 1 per cent. contribution was fixed. The reduction of 47 to 30 years would result in the increase of contribution from 1 per cent. to over 2 per cent. The effect of this is well illustrated in the case of the loan of 34 lakhs referred to in clause 139 of the Bill. Under the present Act the Corporation is called upon to pay on 34 lakhs, Rs. 5,000 for every lakh borrowed, but no sooner the Bill is passed they will be required to pay Rs. 6,100 per lakh, and they will not be able to borrow 34 lakhs, but only 27,86,000 on the available loan charges of Rs. 1,70,000. That is to say, the value of a lakh of rupees borrowed under the existing Act will be reduced to Rs. 81,900, or the value of a rupee of 16 annas will be reduced to 13 annas. The increase in loan charges means the crippling of the borrowing capacity of the Corporation and otherwise diminishing their resources for carrying out improvement works for the benefit of the town. Even if the rates are increased to 23 or to 25 per cent. (as provided in the Improvement Trust Act), the amount of loan that could be raised by payment of Rs. 6,100 per lakh would be always less than what can be raised by a contribution of Rs. 5,000 per lakh. There will therefore be a permanent reduction in the borrowing power and consequently less money rendered available for improvement of the town. I am strongly of opinion that the period for repayment of loans should be ordinarily 47 years. If that is not agreed to, the period of repayment or discharge of loans should be fixed according to the equated life of loan works.

RETROSPECTIVE EFFECT OF THE PROVISIONS OF THE BILL TO 34 LAKHS LOAN OF 1912.

The 1 per cent. contribution is maintained in regard to all loans taken from 1881 to March 1912 which amounts to 492 lakhs. But in respect of 34 lakhs raised last year in accordance with the provisions of the existing Act on which the present statutory contribution of 1 per cent. is paid, the Bill provides that as soon as it is passed into law a contribution of over 2 per cent. must be paid. In my opinion the existing 1 per cent. contribution should be maintained in respect of all loans raised prior to the passing of this Bill without any distinction even if the legislature would raise the contribution for future loans.

It will appear from the loan Budget of the Corporation that out of the loan of 34 lakhs Rs. 26,50,000 was for the acquisition of land, drainage, water-supply and building works. The average life of all works comprised in this loan would not be less than 60 years, and yet the period of this loan, instead of being increased, is reduced from 47 to 30 years.

CANCELLATION AND EXTINCTION OF DEBENTURES HELD IN THE SINKING FUND.

When any portion of the sinking fund is invested in municipal debentures, there is no reason why such debentures should not be permitted to be cancelled, and the amount of the debt to the extent of the face value of such debentures should not be deemed to be repaid at par without any risk of discount, subject only to the payment of interest or dividend into the sinking fund for the unexpired period of the loan. This will save the Corporation 1 per cent. contribution on the portion of the loan thus repaid. Repayment of a debt before due date out of the common sinking fund is the best investment of that fund, and necessary provision to secure this end could be clearly made by redrafting the existing provision of section 135 (3) of the present Act, so as to enable the Corporation to pay the interest on the amount of debentures cancelled until the expiry of the prescribed period of the loan. The capital amount cannot be better secured than by paying it to the creditor. Thus not only the primary obligation of the sinking fund to repay debts is fulfilled, but the maturity of the contribution to the sinking fund to the full amount of the loan is perfectly secured.

SINKING FUND.

I object to a separate sinking fund for each loan. The advantages of a common sinking fund for all loans have been recognized in the amendment made in the Bill for purposes of investment. The Bill should therefore provide, or rather maintain, as in the present Act, a common sinking fund, so that repayment of debentures of loan may be made from the total accumulations in the fund by investing it in debentures. Power should be given to the Corporation to borrow from the sinking fund for carrying out loan works. The most important advantages of keeping a common sinking fund are—

(i) simplification of accounts,
(ii) saving of interest.

The gain to the Corporation lies in the fact that borrowing from the public entails payment of 4 per cent. by way of interest to them, whereas, if such borrowing be from the sinking fund, 3 per cent. is only needed as prescribed by Government. In England and even in Bombay they have a common sinking fund. The English authorities recognize the advantages of a common sinking fund (see Archer, page 11). A separate account of sinking fund in respect of each loan will be kept, but for the purpose of investment and repayment the sinking fund should be treated as one fund and all the different loans as one debt as is provided in the existing Act.

In this connection, the following extract from the report of the Select Committee appointed by the House of Commons, on application of sinking funds in exercise of borrowing powers, will show that specific loans are treated "debt as a whole" and that a common sinking fund is set up for all loans:—

"This Act (St. Helens Corporation Act, 1898) contains a series of sections . . . . to set up a common sinking fund and a common interest fund for all loans . . . . to enable the Corporation to use for new borrowing powers moneys paid to the common sinking fund. The general effect was to establish specific loans under specific powers. No loan would be ear-marked to any particular fund, account or borrowing power, but would merely represent to the lender a security for a certain sum of money borrowed by the Corporation under all their borrowing powers taken together, and to the Corporation so much debt."

"Similar powers have been granted in ten other cases, and some 20 other Corporations have obtained the power to use sinking funds for borrowing powers without adopting the whole of the St. Helens Code. In some of these cases a clause is included which requires or enables all loans raised or to be raised on mortgage to be charged on all revenues, rates and funds of the Corporation, and a common form of mortgage is prescribed or permitted."

No investigation has been made into this subject by the Select Committee. The St. Helens Corporation Act of 1898 and other Acts which are followed by 20 other Corporations, referred to in the above extract, should be looked into, but there was no time in the Select Committee for fuller investigation into the matter.

CHARGES BY WAY OF SALARY OR OTHER ALLOWANCE TO OFFICERS IN THE PERMANENT ESTABLISHMENT EMPLOYED IN LOAN WORKS.

A new provision has been inserted in the Bill to the effect that no portion of borrowed money shall be applied to the payment of salaries or allowances to any officer or servants, other than those who are exclusively employed upon the works for the construction of which the money was borrowed. The engineering staff of the Corporation is employed in the preparation of schemes and projects and supervising the execution of works constructed out of borrowed money. Strictly speaking, the bulk of the permanent establishment is employed in those works. The salaries of the high officers of the Engineering Department are determined in view of the more important works carried out of loan funds. If the officers were employed simply for maintenance and repair works, the Corporation would not have felt the necessity of employing highly paid officers. A good deal of the time of the higher officers is devoted to the preparation of large schemes, plans and estimates of the works connected with the schemes and supervision of the works. It is therefore just and equitable that a certain percentage of the cost of those works should include a reasonable portion of the salaries or other allowances of those officers. The Port Commissioners are permitted to charge a certain percentage to the cost of loan works for employment of their permanent establishment in those works. The Bill not only does not provide for such charge by the Corporation, but on the contrary precludes the possibility of doing so. I think the Bill should provide that in sanctioning a loan the Government will determine what percentage of the permanent establishment employed in loan works should be charged to each loan at the time of sanction. Such a provision will secure advantages of a two-fold character. The revenue fund will be relieved of a portion of the burden which does not legitimately belong to it, and the loan fund will be saved a portion of the heavy expenditure which will be incurred if an entirely separate staff unconnected with the permanent establishment of the Corporation is engaged. At a comparatively small cost the loan fund is saved the cost of employment of whole-time officers "exclusively employed" in loan works.

There has been an unusual hurry in the passage of this Bill. I believe the Select Committee could examine experts, and it is necessary to do so, to elucidate important points in this complicated question and experts like Mr. Gauntlett, the Controller-General of India, Babu Nilambar Mukherji, C.I.E., the Vice-Chairman of the Corporation, should be invited, and the Select Committee should be permitted to examine them. The statement of calculations made by the Vice-Chairman proves that long-period loans are not uneconomical. His examination on this point would have thrown a flood of light on this subject. But the time at the disposal of the Committee in spite of daily sittings was too short for such examination. I am of opinion the Bill should be recommitted to the Select Committee for fuller consideration.

THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL (LOANS) BILL, 1913

(as amended by the Select Committee.)

[(1) Amendments made by the Select Committee have, as far as possible, been underlined.

(2) Some of the amendments made by the Select Committee necessitate a re-numbering of clauses and sub-clauses. The old numbers have been retained for the present for convenience of reference, and the necessary alterations will be made, under a motion in Council, as soon as the Bill has been passed.

BILL

to amend the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, relating to Loans.

Ben. Act III of 1899

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the provisions of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, relating to Loans;

And whereas the sanction of the Governor General has been obtained, under section 5 of the Indian Councils Act, 1892, to the passing of this Act;

55 & 56 Vict., c. 14

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Act, 1913.

New Chapter X for Ben. Act III of 1899.

2. For Chapter X of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, the following shall be substituted, namely:— Ben. Act III of 1899.

"CHAPTER X.

"LOANS.

Power of Corporation to borrow money.

"128. (1) The Corporation may, in pursuance of a resolution passed at a special meeting, from time to time raise a loan, by the issue of debentures, on the security of all or any of the rates, taxes, fees and dues authorised by this Act, of any sums of money which may be required— [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, ss. 129, 129, Ben. Act V of 1911, s. 59;

(a) for the construction of works under this Act, or (a1) for the acquisition of land for the purposes of this Act.

(b) to pay off any debt due to the Government, or

Provided that no loan shall be raised without the previous sanction of the Local Government, or (if the loan exceeds Rupees 5,00,000 or is to be repaid after a period exceeding thirty years) the Government of India: [Cf. Burma Act III of 1912, s. 10.]

Provided also that the rate of interest to be paid for any loan, and the terms (as to the time and method of repayment, and otherwise) upon which any loan is to be taken, shall be subject to the approval of the Local Government, or (if the loan exceeds Rupees 5,00,000 or is to be repaid after a period exceeding thirty years) the Government of India.

(2) When any sum of money has been borrowed under sub-section (1),—

(i) no portion thereof shall, without the previous sanction of the Local Government, be applied to any purpose other than that for which it was borrowed, and [Cf. Ben. Act V of 1911, s. 62.]

(ii) no portion of any sum of money borrowed under clause (a) of sub-section (1) shall be applied to the payment of salaries or allowances to any Municipal officers or servants, other than those who are exclusively employed upon the works for the construction of which the money was borrowed.

Determination of sums to be borrowed.

"129. The Corporation shall, at a special meeting to be held on or before the twenty-second day of March in every year, after considering the General Committee's proposals in this behalf, deter- [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 130.]

Limit to borrowing powers.

"130. Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the borrowing powers of the Corporation shall be limited so that the sums payable under this Act during the said financial year for interest and for the maintenance of Sinking Funds [including the payments prescribed by section 138, sub-clause (c),] shall not exceed ten per cent. on the annual rateable value of buildings and land as determined under Chapter XII.

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 131.]

Form, exchange, transfer and effect of debentures.

"131. (1) All debentures issued under this Act shall be in such form, and signed by such person, as the Corporation may from time to time prescribe with the previous sanction of the Local Government, or (in the case of a loan raised out of India) the Government of India.

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 132; Ben. Act II of 1899, s. 29 as amended by Ben. Act II of 1907, s. 3; Bom. Act V of 1911, s. 97; Burma Act III of 1912, s. 11.]

(2) The holder of any debenture in any form prescribed under sub-section (1) may obtain in exchange therefor, upon such terms as the Corporation may from time to time determine, a debenture in any other form so prescribed.

(3) The holder of any debenture issued by the Corporation under the authority of any prior enactment may obtain in exchange therefor, upon such terms as the Corporation may from time to time determine, a debenture in a form prescribed under sub-section (1).

(4) Every debenture issued by the Corporation under this Act shall be transferable in such manner as shall be therein expressed.

(5) The right to sue in respect of the moneys secured by any such debentures, or by any debentures issued by the Corporation under the authority of any prior enactment, shall be vested in the holders thereof for the time being, without any preference by reason of some of such debentures being prior in date to others.

Signature of coupons attached to debentures.

"132. All coupons attached to debentures issued under this Act shall bear the signature of the Vice-Chairman; and such signature may be engraved, lithographed or impressed by any mechanical process.

[See Bom. Act III of 1888, s. 211, inserted by Bom. Act V of 1911, s. 97.]

Payment to survivors of joint payees.

"133. When any debenture or security issued under this Act is payable to two or more persons jointly, and either or any of them dies, then, notwithstanding anything in section 45 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, the debenture or security shall be payable to the survivor or survivors of such persons:

[See Act IX of 1872.]

Provided that nothing in this section shall affect any claim by the representative of a deceased person against such survivor or survivors.

Receipt by joint holder for interest or dividend.

"134. Where two or more persons are joint holders of any debenture or security issued under this Act, any one of such persons may give an effectual receipt for any interest or dividend payable in respect of such debenture or security, unless notice to the contrary has been given to the Corporation by any other of such persons.

Repayment of loans taken after the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Act, 1913.

"135. Every loan raised by the Corporation under section 128 after the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Act, 1913, shall be repaid within the time approved under the second proviso to sub-section (1) of that section, and by such of the following methods as may be so approved, namely :—

[See Ben. Act III of 1899.]

(a) from a Sinking Fund established under section 136 in respect of the loan, or

The Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Bill, 1913.

(Clause 2 : sections 136-138.)

(c) partly from the Sinking Fund established under section 136 in respect of the loan, and (to the extent to which that Sinking Fund falls short of the sum required for the repayment of the loan) partly from money borrowed for the purpose under clause (c) of section 128.

Establishment and maintenance of Sinking Funds for such loans.

"136. (1) Whenever the repayment from a Sinking Fund of a loan referred to in section 135 has been approved under the second proviso to section 128, sub-section (1), the Corporation shall establish such a Fund and shall pay into it on the first day of every half-year (commencing from the half-year next after that in which the loan is taken), until the loan is repaid, a sum so calculated that, if regularly paid, it would, with accumulations in the way of compound interest, be sufficient, after payment of all expenses, to pay off the loan at the time approved. [Cf. Bom. Act III of 1899, ss. 133, 134; Beng. Act V of 1911, s. 99.]

(2) The rate of interest, on the basis of which the sum referred to in sub-section (1) shall be calculated, shall be such as may be prescribed by the Government of India.

(3) A separate Sinking Fund shall be established in respect of each loan referred to in section 135.

Power to discontinue payments into Sinking Fund.

"137. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 136, if at any time the sum standing at credit of the Sinking Fund established for the repayment of any loan is of such amount that, if allowed to accumulate at the rate of interest prescribed under sub-section (2) of that section, it will be sufficient to repay the loan at the time approved under the second proviso to section 128, sub-section (1), then, with the permission of the Local Government, further half-yearly payments into such Fund may be discontinued. [Cf. Bom. Act III of 1899, s. 135.]

Provisions regarding loans raised between the 1st April, [illegible] and the 31st March, 1912.

"138. In respect of all loans raised by the Corporation under this Act after the 1st April, 1881, and before the 1st April, 1912, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

(1) The Corporation shall maintain a Sinking Fund in respect of all such loans, and shall pay into such Fund the following sums :—

(a) on the first day of every half-year, commencing from the 1st July, 1913, in respect of such of the said loans as were repaid before the 31st March, 1913, a sum representing four per cent. per annum on the amount of each of such loans, such payments to be continued, in the case of each of such loans, until the expiry of a period of forty-seven years from the date on which the loan was taken, and

(b) on the first day of every half-year, in respect of such of the said loans as have not been repaid before the 31st March, 1913, a sum representing one per cent. per annum on the amount of each of such loans, until the loan is repaid, and

(c) on the first day of every half-year, for a period of ten years, with effect from the 1st July, 1913, the sum of Rs. 47,297.

[Original clause (2) reproduced in sub-clause (c).]

(3) When any of the said loans hereafter falls due for repayment, it shall be repaid—

(i) from the sums which have accumulated in the Sinking Fund maintained under clause (1) and in Sinking Fund A maintained before the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal Loans Act, 1913, to the extent to which half-yearly payments of one per cent. per annum on the amount of any such loan would have accumulated at three per cent. compound interest from the date of its commencement, and (ii) to the extent to which the sums referred to in sub-clause (i) of this clause fall short of the sum required for repayment of the loan—from money to be borrowed by the Corporation for the purpose, for the period by which the term of the original loan falls short of forty-seven years.

(4) A separate Sinking Fund shall be established in respect of each amount borrowed under sub-clause (ii) of clause (3) of this section, and the provisions of sections 136 and 137 shall apply to each such Sinking Fund.

"139. In respect of every loan raised by the Corporation after the 31st March, 1912, and before the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal Loans Act, 1913, the following provisions shall have effect, namely :—

Repayment of loans taken between the 1st April, 1912 and the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal Loans Act, 1913.

(1) The Corporation shall maintain a separate Sinking Fund in respect of each such loan, and shall pay into such Fund on the first day of every half-year (commencing from the half-year next after that in which the loan was taken) until the loan is repaid, a sum so calculated that, if regularly paid throughout the period of thirty years from the date on which the loan was taken, it would, with accumulations in the way of compound interest, be sufficient, after payment of all expenses, to pay off the loan at the end of that period.

(2) The rate of interest, on the basis of which the sum referred to in clause (1) shall be calculated, shall be such as may be prescribed by the Government of India.

(3) The provisions of section 137 shall apply to each Sinking Fund maintained under this section.

"140. (1) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Act, the Corporation may consolidate all or any of their loans, and for that purpose may invite tenders for a new loan (to be called "the Calcutta Municipal Consolidated Loan, 19 ") and invite holders of municipal debentures to exchange their debentures for scrip of such loan.

Power of Corporation to consolidate their Loans.

(Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 15; Mad. Act III of 1904, s. 13.)

(2) The terms of every such consolidated loan, and the rates at which exchange into such consolidated loan shall be permitted, shall be subject to the prior approval of the Government of India.

(3) The period for the extinction of any such consolidated loan shall not, without the sanction of the Government of India, extend beyond the furthest date within which any of the loans to be consolidated would otherwise be repayable.

The Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Bill, 1913.

(Clause 2 : sections 141—141AA.)

(4) The Corporation shall provide for the repayment of every such consolidated loan by establishing a Sinking Fund therefor.

(5) The provisions of sections 136 and 137 shall apply to each Sinking Fund established under sub-section (4):

Provided that, in calculating the sum to be paid into any such Sinking Fund in pursuance of section 136, any sums transferred to that Fund in pursuance of proviso (i) or proviso (ii) to section 141B shall be taken into account.

"141. The time for the repayment of any money borrowed under this Act for the purpose of extinguishing any previous loan shall not, except with the express sanction of the Government of India, extend beyond the unexpired portion of the period for which such previous loan was sanctioned.

Time for repayment of money borrowed to extinguish previous loan

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 130.]

"141A. (1) All money paid into a Sinking Fund shall as soon as possible be invested by the Corporation, in—

Investment of Sinking Funds.

[Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 135; Ben. Act V of 1911, s. 101.]

(a) Government securities, or

(b) securities guaranteed by the Government, or

(c) Calcutta Municipal debentures, or

(d) debentures issued by the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, or

and shall be held by the Corporation for the purpose of repaying from time to time the debentures issued by them.

(2) All dividends and other sums received in respect of any such investment shall, as soon as possible after receipt, be paid into the appropriate Sinking Fund and invested in the manner prescribed by sub-section (1).

(2a) Moneys standing at credit of two or more Sinking Funds may, at the discretion of the Corporation, be invested together as a common fund; and all profits accruing from such investment shall be distributed among the respective Sinking Funds in proportion to the amounts respectively taken therefrom for the purpose of such investment.

(3) Any investment made under this section may from time to time, subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), be varied or transposed.

"141AA. (1) The Corporation may, with the previous sanction of the Government of India, reserve and set apart for issue to and in the name of "the Chairman of the Corporation of Calcutta," on behalf of the Corporation, any portion of the debentures to be issued on account of any loan, provided that the intention so to reserve and set apart such debentures shall have been notified as a condition of the issue of the loan.

Power of Corporation to reserve a portion of loan-debentures for investment of Sinking Funds.

[Cf. Bom. Act I of 1905, ss. 2 and 3.]

(2) The issue of any such debentures to the Chairman, as aforesaid, shall not operate to extinguish or cancel such debentures, but every debenture so issued shall be valid in all respects as if issued to and in the name of any other person.

(3) The purchase by, or the transfer, assignment or endorsement to the Corporation, or to the Chairman on behalf of the Corporation, of any debenture issued by the Corporation shall not operate to extinguish or cancel any such debenture, but the same shall be valid and negotiable in the same manner and to the same extent as if held by, or transferred, assigned or endorsed to any other person.

"141B. Until any loan is wholly repaid, the Corporation shall not apply the Sinking Fund established in respect of that loan to any purpose other than the repayment of that loan : [Cf. Bom. Act III of 1899, s. 136.]

Application of Sinking Funds.

Provided that—

(i) when any loan, or part thereof, which was raised after the thirty-first day of March, 1913, has been consolidated under section 140, the Corporation shall transfer to the Sinking Fund established for such consolidated loan the sum standing at credit of the Sinking Fund of the original loan, or, if part only of a loan has been consolidated, then such part of the sum standing at credit of the Sinking Fund of the original loan as is proportionate to the amount of the original loan which is incorporated in the consolidated loan ; and [Cf. Mad. Act III of 1914, s. 105, proviso.]

(ii) when any loan, or part thereof, which was raised before the thirty-first day of March, 1913, has been consolidated, the Corporation shall transfer such amounts as the Government of India may direct from the Sinking Fund maintained under section 138, clause (b), and from Sinking Fund A maintained before the commencement of the Calcutta Municipal (Loans) Act, 1913, to the Sinking Fund established for consolidated loans under section 140, sub-section (4).

"141C. (1) The Corporation shall, at the end of every financial year, prepare a statement showing— [Cf. Bom. Act III of 1899, s. 137.]

Annual statement by Corporation.

(a) the amount which has been invested during the year under section 141A,

(b) the date of the last investment made previous to the submission of the statement,

(c) the aggregate amount of the securities then in their hands, and

(d) the aggregate amount which has, up to the date of the statement, been applied under section 141B in or towards repaying loans.

(2) Every such statement shall be laid before a meeting of the Corporation and published in the Calcutta Gazette.

"141D. All payments due from the Corporation for interest on and repayment of loans shall be made in priority to all other payments due from the Corporation. [Cf. Bom. Act III of 1899, s. 140.]

Priority of payments for interest and repayment of loans over other payments.

"141E. (1) All Sinking Funds established under this Act shall be subject to annual examination by the Accountant-General, Bengal, who shall ascertain whether the cash and the current value of the securities at credit of such Funds are actually equal [Cf. Bom. Act II of 1907, s. 6; Bom. Act V of 1911, s. 104.]

to the amount which would have accumulated had investments been regularly made and had the rate of interest as originally estimated been obtained therefrom.

(3) The Corporation shall forthwith pay into any Sinking Fund any amount which the Accountant-General may certify to be deficient, unless the Government of India specially sanction a gradual re-adjustment.

(5) If the cash and the current value of the securities at credit of any Sinking Fund are more than equal to the amount which should have accumulated in the circumstances described in sub-section (1), the Accountant-General shall certify the amount of such excess sum, and the Corporation shall thereupon transfer the excess sum to the General Fund.

(4) If any dispute arises as to the accuracy of any certificate made by the Accountant-General under sub-section (3) or sub-section (5), the Corporation may, after making the payment or transfer therein mentioned, refer the matter to the Local Government, whose decision shall be final.

"141F. (1) If any money borrowed by the Corporation from the Government, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, or any interest or costs due in respect thereof, is or are not repaid according to the conditions of the loan, the Local Government may attach the Municipal Funds or any of them. [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1899, s. 141.]

Attachment of Municipal Funds for recovery of money borrowed from the Government.

(2) After such attachment, no person except an officer appointed in this behalf by the Local Government shall in any way deal with the attached Funds; but such officer may do all acts in respect thereof which any municipal authority, officer or servant might have done if such attachment had not taken place, and may apply the proceeds in satisfaction of the arrear and of all interest and costs due in respect thereof and of all expenses caused by the attachment and subsequent proceedings:

Provided that no such attachment shall defeat or prejudice any debt for which the Funds attached were previously pledged in accordance with law; but all such prior charges shall be paid out of the proceeds of the Funds before any part of the proceeds is applied to the satisfaction of the debt due to the Government.

"141G. If the Corporation fails to make any payment as required by section 141E, sub-section (2), the Local Government may attach the Municipal Funds or any of them; and the provisions of sub-section (2) of section 141F shall, with all necessary modifications, be deemed to apply." [Cf. Ben. Act IV of 1899, s. 81 (1); Ben. Act V of 1911, s. 106.]

Attachment of Municipal Funds for securing payment into Sinking Funds.

Repeal of Schedule VI to Ben. Act III of 1899.

3. Schedule VI to the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899, is hereby repealed. Ben. Act III of 1899.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 479L., dated the 29th March 1913.—The following Bill was introduced in the Bengal Legislative Council on the 26th March 1913, and is hereby published for information, together with its Statement of Objects and Reasons :—

THE BENGAL MUNICIPAL (SANITARY OFFICERS) BILL, 1913.

A

to provide for the appointment of Sanitary Officers for certain Municipalities outside Calcutta.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, in order to provide for the appointment of Sanitary Officers in certain Municipalities; Ben. Act III of 1884.

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title. 1. This Act may be called the Bengal Municipal (Sanitary Officers) Act, 1913.

Insertion of Part XIB in Bengal Act III of 1884. 2. After Part XI A of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, the following shall be inserted, namely :—

"PART XIB.—SANITARY OFFICERS.

Power to declare this Part to be in force in any Municipality. "349 C. (1) The Local Government may, by notification published in the Calcutta Gazette, announce its intention to declare this Part to be in force in any Municipality. [Cf. Ben. Act II of 1911, s. 2; Ben. Act III of 1884, s. 354.]

(2) If the Commissioners or any inhabitant of any such Municipality object to this Part being declared in force in the Municipality, they or he may, within a period of six weeks from such publication, send such objection in writing to a Secretary to the Government of Bengal; and the Local Government shall consider all objections so sent.

(3) After the expiration of the said period, the Local Government, if no objections have been so sent, or if it considers that the objections so sent are insufficient, may, by a like notification, make the proposed declaration.

(4) The substance of every notification under sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) shall be translated, deposited, posted and proclaimed within the Municipality affected, in the manner prescribed by section 354.

Appointment of Sanitary Officers. "349D. Notwithstanding anything contained in section 46, the Commissioners of every Municipality in which this Part is in force shall from time to time, at a meeting,— [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1884, s. 84; Ben. Act III of 1884, s. 91 (4), as amended by Ben. Act V of 1906.]

(1) appoint for the Municipality—

(a) a Health Officer and one or more Sanitary Inspectors, or

(b) one or more Sanitary Inspectors, as the Local Government may, by notification in the Calcutta Gazette, direct; such Health Officer to be of such class, and such Sanitary Inspectors to be of such number, as may be so directed; and (2) determine what number of subordinate Sanitary Officers shall be appointed for the Municipality.

Salaries and allowances of Sanitary Officers. "349E. (1) The Local Government shall from time to time fix the salaries to be paid to Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors out of the Municipal Fund, and the allowances to be granted to them during absence on leave. [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1884, s. 46.]

(2) The salaries and allowances of subordinate Sanitary Officers shall be fixed by the Commissioners, at a meeting, under the first paragraph of section 46.

"349F. The Local Government may from time to time make rules prescribing— [Cf. Ben. Act III of 1884, s. 69 B (f).]

Power to make rules.

(1) the qualifications of candidates for employment as Health Officers, Sanitary Inspectors and subordinate Sanitary Officers, respectively; and

(2) the division of Health Officers into classes according to their qualifications.

"349G. When a Health Officer has been appointed for any Municipality, the power conferred by section 199A shall be exercisable by him instead of by the Chief Civil Medical Officer of the district.

Unwholesome water.

"349H. The following portions of this Act shall, so far as they may be applicable, apply to the officers referred to in section 349 D, namely:—

Application of Act to Sanitary Officers.

(i) the second paragraph and the proviso in section 46 and

(ii) all other sections which relate to Municipal Officers or servants."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884), in order to provide for the appointment of Sanitary Officers in Municipalities in the mufassal.

II. One of the most pressing needs of municipal administration in the mufassal is the strengthening of the sanitary executive, and steps are being taken by the Government to train a sanitary service for employment in Municipalities. The amendment of the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884, is necessary in order to give the Government the power, which it already possesses in the case of District Boards under section 91 of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 (Bengal Act III of 1885), as amended by Bengal Act V of 1908, to insist on the employment of this service in Municipalities.

NOTES ON CLAUSE 2 OF THE BILL.

1. Section 549C authorises the extension of the proposed new Part XIB of the Act to any Municipality, after hearing objections.

2. Section 549D makes it compulsory to appoint Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors in accordance with the requirements of the Local Government, and such number of subordinate Sanitary Officers as the Commissioners of the Municipality may consider necessary. The number of all these officers must depend on the circumstances of each Municipality, and may vary in each Municipality from time to time. It is impossible to lay down any definite standard that will suit all circumstances, and the nature and strength of the superior sanitary service is left to be prescribed by the Local Government, after full consideration of the circumstances of each case.

3. Section 549E requires the Local Government to fix the salaries and allowances of Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors, and requires the Commissioners of the Municipality to fix the salaries and allowances of subordinate Sanitary Officers.

4. Section 549F empowers the Local Government to make rules prescribing the qualifications of Health Officers, Sanitary Inspectors and subordinate Sanitary Officers.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

COURSE OF STUDIES IN CERTAIN SCHOOLS.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM asked :—

1.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state if the course of studies in the primary stages of the Upper Primary, Middle Vernacular, Middle English and High English Schools is uniform?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state the subjects that are generally taught in the lowest four classes of a Government and an aided High English School?

(c) Is the Government aware that the multiplicity of subjects, often of a very difficult nature, in the lower classes of the Government and aided High English Schools, is calculated to tax the growing intellect of young boys to a very harmful degree?

(d) Is there any difference in the curriculum of the lower classes of the Government and aided High English Schools in the different divisions of Bengal?

(e) Is it a fact that the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam adopted a much-simplified course and that it is still prevalent in the Eastern Districts?

(f) Will the Government consider the advisability of introducing the standard of Eastern Bengal and Assam in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

1.—(a) "The courses of study prescribed for Western Bengal differ in some respects from those adopted in Eastern Bengal.

(b) The syllabuses have been published and copies are laid on the table for the Hon'ble Member's information.

(c) The Government has received no complaints and is not aware that the courses of study are such as to tax the intellect of students to a harmful degree.

(d) The syllabuses followed in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions differ from those in force in the Eastern Divisions of the Presidency.

(e) & (f) The Western Bengal course of studies was framed after very careful consideration by a highly competent Committee which sat between the years 1906-08. The Eastern Bengal curriculum, also, was drawn up by a body of experts and came into force in 1911. Government is not prepared to admit that the Eastern Bengal course is simpler than that in force in Western Bengal. The question of the desirability of coordinating the syllabuses for the two parts of the Province will receive the fullest consideration in due course, but rigid uniformity is not necessarily desirable.

and a careful examination of all the conditions would be necessary before any change could be justified in systems which have only recently been introduced and which are at present working satisfactorily."

ANNUAL SUBSCRIPTION TO THE PAPER THE "NEAR EAST."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

II.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the amount of the annual subscription payable by the public for supply of one copy of the paper the "Near East," in respect of which a sum of Rs. 2,275 has been allotted in the provisional Budget estimate?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state the reasons for incurring such a large expenditure on this account?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

II.—(a) "The annual cost for the supply of one copy of the publication is Rs. 22-12, including postage.

(b) It is proposed, as an experimental measure for one year, to distribute copies of this paper for use in common rooms of educational institutions, libraries, etc., with a view to the dissemination of accurate news regarding the position of Muhammadan affairs in the Near East."

WANT OF SUITABLE PASTURE LAND IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

III.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the want of suitable pasture land throughout this Presidency?

(b) If so, has the Government taken, or is it about to take, any, and what, steps towards removing this need?

The Hon'ble MR. KERR replied :—

III.—(a) "Government is aware that, owing to the extension of cultivation, the scarcity of pasture land is becoming a difficulty in many parts of the country.

(b) The problem is an economic one, and no feasible method of solving it has yet been suggested. Waste land is being brought under cultivation, because it pays better to grow crops on it than to reserve it for grazing purposes. Government has at present no control over the extension of cultivation in ordinary private estates, and legislation on the subject would affect many vested interests and would be attended by grave difficulties. It is probable that experience will eventually show the cultivator that successful agriculture is only possible if due attention is paid to the welfare of his cattle as well as to the growing of crops. One of the objects of the mixed farm which is being established at Rangpur is to demonstrate the truth of this proposition, and it is hoped that it will throw some light on the problem."

THE AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

IV.—Will the Government be pleased to state the present constitution of the Agricultural Department in this Presidency?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

IV.—"A statement giving the information required by the Hon Member is laid on the table."

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

V.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing the names of all the officers in the Agricultural Department, specifying their pay, qualifications, present occupation, and the place where they are posted ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

V.—"The information is contained in the statement which was laid on the table in answer to Question No. IV."

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

VI.—Will the Government be pleased to state the total cost to the Government of maintaining the Agricultural Department, and how much of it is required for payment of—

(i) the salaries of officers,

(ii) staff, and

(iii) the establishment ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

VI.—"The total expenditure on the Agricultural Department in 1912-13 will amount roughly to Rs. 3,03,000. Of this sum approximately Rs. 1,70,000 may be said to represent the cost of maintaining the Department. This amount is distributed as follows :—

	Rs.
Salaries of officers	75,000
Subordinate executive staff under the Director ...	22,000
Subordinate executive staff under the experts attached to the Department	10,000
Farm staff	8,500
Farm labourers	30,000
Office staff	24,500
Total ...	1,70,000"

AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

VII.—(a) Is there any Agricultural School or College in this Presidency ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to name it, specifying what is taught there and the cost of maintaining it ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

VII.—"There is no Agricultural School or College in this Presidency except the Sericultural School at Rajshahi, where instruction is given in practical methods of mulberry cultivation, microscopic seed selection, the detection and prevention of silkworm disease and the rearing of silkworms. The expenditure on this school last year amounted to Rs. 3,955. Students from this province are admitted to the Agricultural College at Sabour in the Province of Bihar and Orissa, where 20 vacancies were reserved for them last year."

AGRICULTURAL INSTITUTIONS OUTSIDE THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

VIII.—(a) Has the Government of Bengal to make any contribution, and if so what, towards the maintenance of any Agricultural Institutions outside this Presidency ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to give the names of such Institutions and the total cost of maintaining them ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

VIII.—"No contribution is made by the Government of Bengal towar the maintenance of any Agricultural institutions outside this Presidency."

THE PROVINCIAL AGRICULTURAL ASSOCIATION.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

IX.—Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the object of the Provincial Agricultural Association,
(ii) the constitution of the Association,
(iii) the cost of maintaining it, and
(iv) the work done by it ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

IX.—"The object of the Bengal Agricultural Association is to assis the Agricultural Department with friendly advice and assistance, to brin to the notice of the Department problems which require investigation i different parts of the country, and to advise on the methods of disseminatin the practical results of the work of the Department among the cultivators The members are selected on account of their knowledge of the agricultura requirements of the Province and the influence they are in a position to exer to induce the people to adopt agricultural improvements. A list of the exist ing members is laid on the table. Most of them are engaged in practical worl in the districts, either as members of the divisional or district agricultura associations, where such exist, or as Associates or Honorary Correspondents of the Agricultural Department. New members are elected at the periodica meetings of the Association. No expenditure is incurred in the maintenance of the Association, but Government makes it an annual grant which at present amounts to Rs. 1,500. This grant is expended mainly on the Association's library, which now contains nearly 3,000 books, pamphlets and periodicals dealing with agricultural matters."

SCHEME OF WORK FOR THE DISTRICT AGRICULTURAL OFFICES OF RANGPUR AND MYMENSINGH.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

X.—Will the Government be pleased to state with sufficient particularity the scheme of work laid down for the District Agricultural Officers appointed to Rangpur and Mymensingh ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

X.—" The duties of the District Agricultural Officers, who have been appointed as an experimental measure in Mymensingh and Rangpur, are the organization and supervision of demonstrations to show in a practical manner the beneficial results of improved methods of agriculture and of the use of new implements and machinery. They are also required to collect information about crops and agricultural practices. The demonstrations contemplated this year include the use of improved jute and paddy seed selected as a result of the investigations of the Jute Expert and the Economic Botanist, the effect of applications of bonemeal to double-cropped land, the conservation of cowdung for use as manure, potato cultivation, and the introduction of the Meston plough. In Rangpur there will also be demonstrations of tobacco bire curing, and improved varieties of sugarcane and tobacco seed will be distributed. Five trained fieldmen demonstrators have been appointed Mymensingh to work under the District Agricultural Officer, and fo demonstrators will be appointed in Rangpur. The services of the Distr Agricultural Officers will also be available to zamindars who wish to ca out demonstrations of agricultural improvements for the benefit of th tenantry. The Director of Agriculture reports that certain zamindars Mymensingh have already promised to subscribe a sum of Rs. 3,500 to devoted to this purpose."

CULTIVATION OF LONG-STAPLE COTTON IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XI.—Is the Government taking any steps to introduce the cultivation long-staple cotton in Bengal?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

XI.—"The question of improving cotton staples in this province is no being investigated by the Agricultural Department in consultation wit persons interested in the cotton trade, and in connection with a referenc made by the Government of India at the instance of the Internation Federation of Master Cotton Spinners and Manufacturers' Association. Pr vious experiments with different varieties of long-staple cotton have prove unsuccessful, and the conclusion of the Agricultural Department is that th climatic conditions of this province, with its heavy rainfall, make it impossibl to grow long-staple cotton in Bengal on a commercial scale. There is bette prospect of improvement in the selection of indigenous seed and greater car in cultivation, and it is to the attainment of these objects that the Agricul tural Department is now devoting its energies."

SUGAR REFINERIES IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XII.—Will the Government be pleased to state the number of sugar refineries actually working in the new Presidency of Bengal and their annua yield?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

XII.—"According to the Provincial report on the working of the Indian Factories Act for 1911, there is only one sugar refinery in the Presidency employing over 49 operatives daily. This is the Cossipur Sugar Refinery. There are ten other petty concerns employing between 20 and 49 operatives daily. No information as to outturn is available."

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state the value and quantity of refined and unrefined sugar imported in the current financial year or in the year 1912 from Java?

IMPORTS OF SUGAR FROM JAVA.

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

XIII.—"4,699,332 cwts. of refined sugar valued at Rs. 4,69,68,525 and 129,615 cwts. of unrefined sugar valued at Rs. 11,50,739 were imported from Java into the Bengal Presidency during the year 1912."

GOVERNMENT GRANTS-IN-AID TO SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XIV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there are any rules fixing the proportion which the amounts of Government grants-in-aid bear to the income derived by secondary schools from—

(i) school fees,

(ii) subscriptions and contributions, or both combined, or whether any other principle is observed in fixing the amount of such grants ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state them ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

XIV.—" Under the rules in force in Western Bengal, the grants for High Schools must not ordinarily exceed one-half of the income guaranteed from private sources, including fees, subscriptions, donations and endowments. In the case of Middle Schools, the maximum grant is two-thirds of the income derived from private sources, but to schools in which the expenditure does not exceed Rs. 40 a month, a grant equal to the full amount of the guaranteed income from private sources may be given. These rules are relaxed in certain backward areas, and in the case of Girls' Schools. In Eastern Bengal, the rules in force do not lay down any fixed scale for recurring grants, but the scale in force in Western Bengal is generally adopted in practice."

IMPROVEMENT OF FISH-CULTURE IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to say whether it is a fact that the supply of fish is falling off in the rivers of Bengal ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps, if any, are being taken to improve fish-culture in Bengal ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

XV.—" (a) The investigations of Sir K. G. Gupta in the late province of Bengal and of Mr. K. C. De in Eastern Bengal and Assam show that there is ground for apprehension that the supply of fish is insufficient in parts of the Presidency. The present Deputy Director of Fisheries is, however, of opinion that there is no diminution in supply in the larger rivers and that the diminution is restricted to the smaller rivers and to confined waters. The dearth of good fish from the latter source is due partly to increased demand and partly to diminished supplies. There is an increased demand owing to the increase of population, the growing prosperity of the agricultural classes and the improvement of transport facilities, which have greatly increased the number of regular consumers of fish, while the decrease in supplies is attributed partly to the silting up of the rivers and partly to the fact that the increased demand tempts fishermen to catch immature fish.

(b) In order to enable further enquiries to be made into the problems raised by the investigations referred to in the answer to the first part of this question, the Secretary of State last year sanctioned the appointment for four years of an expert as Deputy Director of Fisheries in Bengal. This officer, who with his two assistants, is, for purely administrative purposes, attached to the Agricultural Department, is at present engaged on an investigation of the habits of fresh-water fishes, particularly carp and hilsa, with a view to determining what action can be taken to assist their propagation and what protective measures, if any, can be adopted.

It is also proposed that he should investigate the ichthyological resource of the Sundarbans estuaries, which have hitherto been very little exploited.

LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS.

THE BENGAL BOARD OF REVENUE BILL, 1913.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to alter the constitution of the Board of Revenue for Bengal be taken into consideration.

He said :—

I beg to move that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bengal Board of Revenue Bill, 1913, be taken into consideration.

In doing so, I desire to point out that we may congratulate ourselves upon having been able to present a unanimous report. We have made only two or three verbal alterations in the Bill, and we have recommended to this Council that the Bill, as now amended, be passed.

The Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti to move, by way of amendment to the above, that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be republished.

In withdrawing his motion, the Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti said :—

My Lord, I had an opportunity of discussing the amendment that stands to my name with my friends on this side of the house, and regard being had to the divergence of opinion on the subject, I do not feel justified in taking up the time of your Excellency's Council in pressing this amendment, and I therefore ask your Lordship's leave to withdraw it.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon's motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the Bill be passed.

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY BILL, 1913.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon presented the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the recovery of public demands in Bengal.

He said :—

My Lord, I have the honour to present the report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the recovery of public demands in Bengal.

This report is also, I am glad to say, an unanimous report. It will be taken into consideration at the meeting of the Council which it has been decided to hold on the 26th March next, and I would remind Hon'ble Members that, under rule 22(f) of the rules of legislative business, any motions for an amendment of the Bill, which Hon'ble Members may desire to move, should reach the Secretary to the Council not later than 11 A.M., on the 21st March next.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC GAMBLING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1913.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke moved for leave to introduce a Bill further to amend the law in force in Bengal relating to public gambling.

He said :—

In introducing this Bill, it is necessary for me to explain briefly the circumstances which have given rise to a demand for fresh legislation to suppress gambling and the scope of the measure which has been framed for the consideration of the Council. The Bengal Gambling Act of 1867 (Ben. Act II of 1867) deals with "gaming" only, and does not include "wagering" or "betting." The distinction between "gaming" and "wagering" has not been clearly defined in any Indian Act, but is well set out in the following remarks by W. F. Craies, the well-known authority on the interpretation of Statutes :—

"It is somewhat difficult," he says, "exactly to define or adequately to distinguish these terms of allied meaning. The word 'game' is applicable to most pastimes and many sports, irrespective of their lawful or unlawful character. 'Gaming' is now always associated with the taking of money or money's worth on the result of a game of pure chance or mixed skill and chance, and 'gambling' has the same meaning with a suggestion that the stakes are excessive or the practice otherwise reprehensible, while 'wager' and 'wagering' are applied to money hazarded on any contingency in which the person has no interest at risk other than the amount at stake. 'Betting' is usually restricted to wagers on events connected with the sports or games, and 'lottery' applies to speculation to obtain a prize by lot or chance."

Thus gaming implies that there is some game played by the persons interested or persons representing or acting for them, as in the case when two persons throw dice and other participators back the players, and it has been held that this meaning necessarily involves the employment or manipulation of instruments of gaming such as cards, dice, roulette wheels, etc. The Gambling Act of 1867 provides penalties firstly for owning, keeping or having charge of a common gaming house, and secondly for being found in a common gaming house, and a common gaming house is defined as a place in which cards, dice, tables or other instruments of gaming are kept or used for profit. Now it has been held by the Courts that the usual books, receipts and notice-boards which are used by book-makers and others for recording bets and the odds offered are not instruments of gaming. Consequently there is no provision in the Gambling Act which renders mere wagering or betting illegal. There is moreover no law in the Presidency which has this effect for the provisions of the Calcutta Police Act and of the Howrah Act of 1857—the only other Acts which penalise gambling—follow those of the Bengal Gambling Act of 1867. This defect came to prominent notice in 1897 when a form of gambling known as rain-gambling became so prevalent in Calcutta as to attract the attention of Government and the public. As the law stood up to that time wagering on the fall of rain was not gaming because the participators did nothing to determine the result ; they merely sat and waited for the rain sports to run. The Government of that day was unwilling to embark on comprehensive legislation which would have the effect not only of suppressing rain-gambling but also of penalising all forms of betting, whether it had occasioned any scandals or not, and which would thus open the door to unnecessary harassment and interference. It was consequently decided to amend the Gambling Act in such a way as to make its penal clauses applicable only to the particular form of evil which required to be controlled. The definition of gaming was therefore extended by Act III of 1897 so as to include rain-gambling, and that of instruments of gaming so as to include all books, registers and documents used for rain-gambling wagers and anything used as a means of rain-gambling. This enactment proved effective in suppressing the particular form of betting against which it was directed, but it did not of course greatly tax the ingenuity of those interested to devise other forms of gambling to which the law was not applicable.

Towards the middle of the year 1911 a new form of gambling, known as cotton-figure gambling, began to come into notice, and it rapidly gained a remarkable fascination for a large number of people in Calcutta, particularly among the lower orders. The methods employed were as follows :—

A shop is opened at which tickets are sold showing in one column the serial numbers 1 to 10 ; in a second column the amount paid by the customer opposite the serial number on which he lays his wager ; and in a third column the amount which the owner agrees to pay if the number which the customer has backed is eventually declared to be the winning number. The amounts wagered naturally vary with the means of the customer, and the sum offered as a prize varies from twice to over one hundred times the value of the stake. The winning number is theoretically obtained by posting on a board the five items of cotton figures and demand sale quotations from America and England which are obtained daily from Reuter's telegraphic quotations. The five quotations are added together and divided by five, and the last figure of the sum thus obtained is declared to be the winning number.

The craze grew in popularity. Shops were open in increasing numbers, and all efforts of the police to control the evil proved unavailing. Test cases under the Gambling Act were brought against the keepers of some of the larger cotton-gambling shops, and these cases led for a time to a diminution of the evil. On appeal to the High Court, however, it was held that the operations were mere betting or wagering to which the provisions of the Gambling Act did not apply. After this, cases were brought by the police for obstruction of foot-ways and one or two by private parties under the nuisance sections of the Indian Penal Code, but these steps provided very partial and temporary remedies. At the beginning of the last cold weather the evil had assumed such proportions that the Government was constrained to move the Government of India to pass an ordinance to prohibit cotton gambling. For the reasons which you, Sir, explained at the opening meeting of Council, this course was adopted with some reluctance, but in view of the pressing nature of the evil and of the delay which must necessarily elapse before the Legislative Council could be constituted to deal with it, your Excellency in Council decided that no other course was possible, and in compliance with the request of this Government, the Government of India issued, by notification on 13th December 1912, the Bengal Cotton Gambling Ordinance of 1912.

Directly the ordinance appeared the cotton-gambling shops were closed down, and the evil has been suppressed for the time being. The ordinance however has currency for a period of six months only, and it is therefore necessary that we should pass a permanent measure, which will enable cotton gambling and similar evils to be controlled, during the present session of the Council. I will now pass on to describe the lines on which the Bill has been drafted.

The difficulty with which we were faced is this: we were unwilling to legislate in wholesale terms with a view to putting an end to all kinds of betting and wagering. We realize that very general legislation of this kind is apt to lead to consequences which are not foreseen. We may have views about the evils of betting, but we have also a considerable respect for the old saying that people cannot be made moral by Act of Parliament. Probably some people will bet whatever the legislature may say, and it does not necessarily follow that they do themselves or any one else much harm by it. We conceive our duty to be not the general enforcement of public morality so much as the protection of the ignorant and unwary and the prevention of that scandalous state of things in which temptation is publicly flaunted and indeed forced on those who would not themselves go to seek it and perhaps would never think of it, and most of all is it our duty to put a stop to it when the conditions are uncontrolled and void of any guarantee for fair dealing. If it would have been of any use to limit ourselves to dealing with cotton-gambling specifically we should have done so; but with our previous experience of rain-gambling and what we had learnt of this system of so-called cotton-gambling which has nothing in the world to do with dealing in cotton, we recognized that the ingenuity of the persons who organize public gambling in Calcutta is such that the same or a similar system might at a moment's notice be applied to the price of jute at Hatkhola or to the meteorological reporter's figures of the daily temperature. We had therefore to resort to general terms and to legislate against all forms of wagering conducted in public. In doing so, however, we decided to exclude such matters as are not likely to give occasion to public scandal or are otherwise provided for. In the first place we resolved to exempt race-courses when racing is going on. We had various precedents for doing so, particularly the English Street Betting Act, of which clause 2 expressly exempts betting on race-courses from its provisions. The Bill which has been drafted for the consideration of Council follows these precedents, and while extending the definition of gaming to include wagering or betting, exempts betting on horses when it is carin the race-course enclosure, and when it relates to races held during the meeting. Over betting carried on in the enclosures of such race-courses, as we have in Bengal, a strict and effective control is exercised by the stewards, and Government feels that it would have no justification for interfering with the exercise of a pastime which is remarkably free from abuse and which constitutes a favourite relaxation of many residents and an attraction to visitors to Calcutta. The exemption thus permitted to race-courses does not extend to wagering or betting on horse-races when carried on in places in the city or beyond the control of the stewards of the Turf Club. Such places have had an increasing popularity. They foster a taste for the practice of forward betting and in principle they are indistinguishable from places kept for the purposes of cotton-gambling. Further, if they had been left untouched when other forms of wagering were suppressed, there is little doubt that the clientele of the latter would promptly have resorted to them and the state of things would very shortly have become as bad as before. A further exception is also made in the draft Bill in favour of lotteries. The reason in this case is not however any particular kindness for lotteries, but the fact that they are already penalized by section 294 (a) of the Indian Penal Code, which is an Act of the Imperial Legislature. Legislation in respect of them, if it were necessary, would be more appropriately undertaken in the Imperial Council. But, as a matter of fact, the existing provisions of the law have been found sufficient for the purposes of control. It is further proposed to widen the definition of instruments of gaming and of common gaming house so that any article used as a means or appurtenance of gaming will render a place in which it is kept or used for profit a common gaming house. The Bill provides for these amended definitions being incorporated in the Calcutta Police Act, 1866, and the Howrah Offences Act, 1857, as well as in the Bengal Public Gambling Act and for the repeal of the Bengal Rain Gambling Act, 1897, which will no longer be required. Provision is also made for incorporating in the Calcutta Police Act and Howrah Offences Act section 10 of the Bengal Gambling Act which saves games of mere skill, wherever played.

It is believed that the Bill as drafted will put the Government into a position to deal effectively with cotton-gambling and other evils of a like nature, whenever they arise. The craze for cotton-gambling undoubtedly wrought great mischief among the lower orders in Calcutta, and I am confident that the Council will welcome a measure which will enable Government effectively to prevent its recrudescence or the spread of any similar form of gambling.

The Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari said :—

My Lord, we all cordially welcome this Bill which is none too early. After the very reassuring manner in which your Lordship explained as to how it was that the measure could not be brought on earlier, I do not think we should be justified in going back and depicting the state of things which obtained in Calcutta some time ago when school-boys and even zenana ladies, through intermediaries, brought ruin and havoc in many homes ; that is now going to be remedied, and there is reason for much rejoicing so far. But, my Lord, as this measure is now being taken up, some of us at least feel that it does not go far enough and that exceptions have been continued which it is desirable should be done away with.

In the Statement of Objects and Reasons, the reason for that exception in clause 2 is defined. This exception is based on the Street Betting Act, and it is proposed because no serious evil has been shown to result from betting on race-courses in Bengal. My Lord, shall we wait, as in the case of cotton-gambling, until the evil is absolutely shown, and until the voice of scandal is loud? So far therefore as betting under the supervision of the Turf Club and other responsible bodies is concerned, we do not desire to touch, for people are said to have the inherent right of sacrificing their goat at the tail end. We realize that Bengal must not rush where Bombay has feared to tread. We must assume that Turf Club gambling is well looked after, or at all events ought to be. But on the race-course very much more goes on than even the Turf Club stewards know, and the self-same school-boys and zenana ladies who suffered from the evils of cotton-gambling, unchecked and uncheckable for a time, suffer. In the same way people in the neighbourhood of Bhawanipur, Alipore and other places, where agents go about and ask for authority to bet on the result of races, bring ruin to homes unnoticed in the Press, and they are not under the authorised supervision of the Turf Club stewards and other constituted authorities. Everywhere round the race-course, and not only within it and even round Football and Tennis Match gatherings, openly goes on serious mischief of a kind which is not very well known to the police, not generally denounced in newspaper columns. The scandal and the evil are spreading, and the result of proposing exceptions like this, where they are hardly needed, will assist in their increasing. We have the exception already in the Penal Code, and I do not know why, in dealing with legislation like this, it is necessary to repeat that exception. The moral—I was going to say the immoral—effect of legislating in an over-sensitive manner in regard to questionable matters is likely to be examined and criticised in a hostile spirit by the outside world. For a time we were gaily told by people keeping these gambling shops that the High Court had sanctioned this form of cotton-gambling after the Police Court decision was upset. Of course, this is the way that the bazaar carried on its trade, and we cannot shut our eyes to it. Therefore, when the Select Committee come to examine the details of this measure, I hope they will consider whether the exception which has been introduced in this Bill ought to be retained or not, or whether the Penal Code section ought not to be enough in this connection. My Lord, there is clear and distinct demand for drastic measures for putting down gambling of all sorts and kinds in all quarters, and I desire to voice such a widespread feeling in this concern. I welcome a measure that is distinctly for the purpose not only of protecting the unwary, but as I claim, though Sir William does not, also for the protection of public morality.

The Hon'ble Mr. CHAKRAVARTI said :—

I wish to add a few words in support of the Hon'ble Mover. I am sure every citizen is under great obligations to Government for introducing this measure of law, but my regret is—I am afraid in that regret the Hon'ble Members opposite or the Hon'ble Members on my side of the House will disagree—that this Bill does not go far enough. I, for one, my Lord, with great respect to high authority in favour of racing, would, in so far as it lay in me, proscribe racing also, and that for a very good personal reason. I am getting old, my Lord, but when I was barely 19, I reached London. I had not been there more than a month, and a race was coming on, and I had just received my remittance for the month. Some men and women got hold of me, and they hustled me to the races with the whole of the remittance in my pocket. When I came back, I had only a few shillings left in my pocket. The result was that I felt miserable, more than miserable. I had just enough money to telegraph to my father—and in those days telegrams were more expensive than they are now—to say that I had made a fool of myself, and that I asked his pardon, and at the same time, I said a letter of explanation is following, and that he might be perfectly certain that I would never repeat it; and I can assure your Lordship that, since then, I have never been anywhere near a race-course, and as long as I live I do not intend going there, unless I am paid for it. I should, therefore, be prepared to recommend to the Select Committee that, so far as it is possible—and I know that it is not possible to eradicate the vice of racing that is ingrained in some people, and they will not get out of it—but, however, I would reduce it to a minimum, make it impossible for anybody to bet outside the race-course. And as regards the bookies, if there is any possibility of banishing them from the race-course, I should certainly be in favour of that. Let there be what are called totalisators. I do not know what the expression means; it has been given to me by my Hon'ble friend, the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan. I do not know whether there is a distinction between the two, but I suppose there is a distinction, but let that be. We who are going to the Alipore Court, or going to the High Court from Alipore, find that when these races come on, poor people who have no business anywhere near the race-course, are outside the course betting, and as my friend the Hon'ble Babu Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari has pointed out, the vice is so contagious that ladies who live in the seclusion of the purdah attempt to make a little money if they can at the expense of others. Of course, from that point of view, the person who does not labour is not entitled to any money at all; and from the higher point of view, racing or any other form of gambling is to be condemned, and I certainly hope that the Select Committee will consider the extent to which they can reduce the evil to its very minimum, leaving richer people to get rid of their money, and if they can, to take a little money, for which they have not done anything, from others.

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke also applied to the President to suspend the Rules of Business for the purpose of referring the Bill to a Select Committee.

The President declared the rules suspended.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke then moved that the Bill be referred to a Select Committee consisting of the Hon'ble Mr. Stevenson-Moore, the Hon'ble Mr. Newbould, the Hon'ble Mr. B. C. Mitra, the Hon'ble Sir Frederick Halliday, the Hon'ble Sir Allan Arthur, the Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahtab, Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray and the mover, with instructions to complete their report in time for presentation to the Council on the 26th March, 1913.

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 26th March, 1913, at 11 A.M.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

THE PROVINCIAL AND SUBORDINATE CIVIL SERVICES.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

I.—Will the Government be pleased to state the total number of officers in the Provincial and Subordinate Civil Services, and how many of them do not hold any University degree; and how many of the latter class are Muhammadans?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"A statement furnishing the required information is laid on the table. The figures relate to the Executive branch to which alone, it is presumed, the question refers."

STATEMENT REFERRED TO IN THE ANSWER BY THE HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE TO QUESTION NO. I ASKED BY THE HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF AT THE COUNCIL MEETING OF THE 26TH MARCH, 1913.

INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE APPOINTMENTS HELD BY MEMBERS OF THE BENGAL PROVINCIAL CIVIL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

II.—Will the Government be pleased to state the number of posts ordinarily reserved for the Indian Civil Service, which are at present being held by members of the Bengal Provincial Civil Service, and how many of such appointments are held by Muhammadans?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Ten posts ordinarily reserved for the Indian Civil Service are now held by members of the Bengal Provincial Service. One of these posts is held by a Muhammadan."

DRAINAGE SCHEME OF SUNTHI AND NAWE.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

III.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is going to give effect to the drainage scheme of Sunthi and Nawe in the Sub-division of Baraset in the district of the 24-Parganas, which has been in contemplation for four or five years?

(b) Is the Government aware that Baraset is notorious for malaria and that it was to remedy this state of things that the then Collector of the 24-Parganas, the Hon'ble Mr. C. H. Bompas, thought fit to devise the said scheme under the Sanitary Drainage Act, 1895 (Bengal Act VIII of 1895)?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"(a) The Government of Bengal have sanctioned the scheme for the drainage of the areas lying within the catchment areas of the Nawe and Sunthi Nalas, and have contributed a sum of two lakhs of rupees towards the cost of the scheme. On preparation of the detailed estimates for carrying out this work it has been found that the expenditure is likely to exceed very considerably that which was contemplated at the time the scheme was sanctioned, with the result that the proposals cannot be given effect to until the financial position has been further considered.

(b) It is a fact, as stated in the question, that the scheme was devised by the Hon'ble Mr. Bompas when he was Collector of the 24-Parganas."

APPOINTMENT OF PROBATIONERS IN THE REGISTRATION DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

IV.—Will the Government be pleased to state how many vacancies occurred and how many Muhammadans were appointed in the Presidency Division as probationers in the Registration Department since the rules for appointment in that Department were published in 1908?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"There have been 15 vacancies in the Presidency Division and 5 Muhammadans have been appointed—4 as probationers and 1 as a fifth-grade Sub-Registrar."

SUB-REGISTRARS IN THE PRESIDENCY DIVISION.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

V.—Will the Government be pleased to state the number of Hindu and Muhammadan Sub-Registrars in each grade in the Presidency Division?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement giving the required information is laid on the table."

MODE OF FILLING UP LEAVE VACANCIES IN THE REGISTRATION DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

VI.—Will the Government be pleased to state how leave vacancies are filled up in the Registration Department?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"Leave vacancies in the Registration Department are ordinarily filled by fifth-grade Sub-Registrars who form the leave reserve. The reserve is fixed at 8 per cent. of the total cadre of the District Sub-Registrars and Sub-Registrars. When fifth-grade Sub-Registrars are not available, probationers or outsiders are appointed to act temporarily in such vacancies under section 12 of the Indian Registration Act."

PROPORTION OF MUHAMMADANS IN THE REGISTRATION DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

VII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state how nominations in the Registration Department are made by Commissioners?

(b) Is there any rule that a portion of vacancies is to be filled up exclusively by the nomination of Muhammadan candidates?

(c) If so, what is the proportion?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) When there is a vacancy the Commissioner of the Division, in which the vacancy occurs, is requested to nominate three candidates, one of whom is selected by Government for appointment.

(b) & (c) Every third vacancy in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions and every alternate vacancy in other Divisions is ordinarily reserved for Muhammadans."

TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT OF OUTSIDERS AS SUB-REGISTRARS.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

VIII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether outsiders are given officiating appointments when probationers or fifth-grade Sub-Registrars are not available?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any such outsiders have been taken in?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the claims of any outsiders who officiated were brought to the notice of the Government for permanent appointment? If so, what was the result?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to consider the claims of such outsiders to permanent vacancies as have already officiated as Sub-Registrars to the satisfaction of their superiors, and, after accommodating such deserving outsiders, to stop the system of filling up leave vacancies by outsiders by strengthening the number of probationers and fifth-grade Sub-Registrars?

The Hon'ble Mr. Keer replied :—

"(a) & (b) Outsiders have occasionally been given officiating appointments.

(c) In three cases, such outsiders have been recommended by the Inspector-General to Commissioners for nomination.

(d) Government will consider the claims of such outsiders if they are eligible for permanent appointment under the rules and are recommended by Divisional Commissioners with whom nomination rests in the first instance.

The question of increasing the leave reserve is under consideration."

NOMINATION OF CANDIDATES AS SUB-REGISTRARS BY THE INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF REGISTRATION.

The Hon'ble Mr. Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff asked :—

IX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Inspector-General of Registration, who is the Administrative Head of the Department, has power to nominate candidates for appointment as Sub-Registrars?

(b) If not, will the Government be pleased to state whether he can nominate in special cases?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Inspector-General of Registration ever nominated a candidate for appointment as a special case, and whether the Government accepted such nomination?

(d) If so, will the Government be pleased to state how many such appointments have been made (Hindus and Muhammadans) from 1900 to 1912?

The Hon'ble Mr. Keer replied :—

"In the old Province of Bengal, from the year 1900 to June 1908, appointments in the Registration Department were ordinarily made by Government on the nomination of the Inspector-General. In June 1908 this procedure was altered, and the practice now is for Government to make the appointments on the nomination of Commissioners. Government, however, is always prepared to consider the claims of any candidate whom the Inspector-General may in special cases recommend. Since this new procedure came into force, the Inspector-General has submitted only one special nomination which was not accepted by Government.

The Government of Eastern Bengal retained the old practice of appointment by Government on the nomination of the Inspector-General, but the Western Bengal procedure of nomination by Commissioners has now been put in force throughout the whole of the new Presidency. The only case of special nomination by the Inspector-General is that mentioned above."

APPOINTMENT OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS AS SUB-REGISTRARS.

The Hon'ble Mr. Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff asked :—

X.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether ministerial officers are debarred from appointment as Sub-Registrars?

(b) If not, how many ministerial officers (Hindus and Muhammadans) have been appointed Sub-Registrars since 1908?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) Ministerial officers are not absolutely debarred from appointment as Sub-Registrars, but Sub-Registrarships are not as a rule given to men of that class.

(b) Five Hindu and eight Muhammadan ministerial officers have been appointed Sub-Registrars since 1908."

BARASET GOVERNMENT HIGH SCHOOL MUHAMMADAN HOSTEL.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XI.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article published in a Bengali journal, viz., the "Moslem Hitaishi" of 21st February, 1913, regarding the affairs of the Muhammadan Hostel attached to the Baraset Government High School?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that the poor Muhammadan boys had to leave the Hostel on account of the alleged mismanagement on the part of the Head Master of the said School?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of boarders in December last and what is the number at present in the said Hostel of the said High School?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of posting a Muhammadan graduate as teacher in the said High School, and of placing the Hostel under his supervision?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"Government had not seen the article in the "Moslem Hitaishi" until attention was called to it by the Hon'ble Member, and has no information as to the facts of the case. The Director of Public Instruction will be requested to enquire into the matter."

POST OF INSPECTOR-GENERAL OF REGISTRATION.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the post of the Inspector-General of Registration is outside the gradation list of the Civil Service?

(b) If so, whether it is a special appointment open for the members of the Provincial Civil Service of any grade, and whether it is the only special appointment above the salary of first-grade Deputy Magistrates?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a) The post of Inspector-General of Registration is being treated for the present as outside the gradation list of the Civil Service.

(b) It is a special post to which members of the Provincial Civil Service are eligible for appointment. The answer to the second part of the question is in the negative."

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XIII. Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is intended that a person recruited from the Provincial Civil Service to the post of Inspector-General of Registration should hold the appointment for a period of five years or until he retires?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

There are no orders limiting the period for which the appointment may be held."

GOVERNMENT AIDED TEMPLES, SHRINES, MOSQUES, MAUSOLEUMS, ETC.

The HON'BLE SIR BIJAY CHAND MAHTAB, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., I.O.M., Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan asked :—

XIV.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a complete list of all the temples, shrines, mosques, mausoleums, etc., in Bengal, which are either maintained by, or receive subsidies from, the Government, showing how many of them came under the provisions of the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act, 1904?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"Two statements (A and B) giving the information desired are laid on the table."

GOVERNMENT GRANTS TO SECONDARY SCHOOLS.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether, in making their special grants for secondary schools during 1912-13, the Government of India laid down any condition to be followed in distributing grants to these schools?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what the conditions are?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) The only grant made by the Government of India in 1912-13 for the improvement of secondary schools was a recurring grant of Rs. 1½ lakhs. The Government of India left it to the discretion of the Local Government to distribute the grant, subject to the condition that it is expended on the improvement but not on the multiplication of privately-managed secondary aided English schools and largely on raising the salaries of teachers in those schools."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XVI.—Will the Government be pleased to state the principles followed in distributing the above grants, both recurring and non-recurring, to the secondary schools?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The grant is distributed in accordance with the principles laid down in the grant-in-aid rules of the Education Department."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XVII.—Will the Government be pleased to state—

(a) the total amount of non-recurring grants distributed to secondary schools from the above grants, and

(b) the total amount which the schools had to raise before they were entitled to the grants?

The HON'BLE Mr. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) The total amount of the grant distributed up to date for non-recurring projects is Rs. 1,21,326 as against Rs. 1,59,132 raised by the school authorities themselves. The larger portion of the grant has been spent on such projects this year because it is impossible to raise salaries before a scheme for the improvement of the existing staff has been worked out."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XVIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state how many secondary schools, not in receipt of ordinary grants-in-aid from Government, received special grants during 1912-13, and what the average amount of such grants was ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"As the Imperial grant was made for aided secondary schools only, other secondary schools did not participate in its benefits."

SMALL-POX EPIDEMIC IN EASTERN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE RAJA SHOSHI KANTA ACHARYYA CHAUDHURI BAHADUR asked :—

XIX.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the reports published in the daily papers regarding the outbreak, in an epidemic form, of small-pox in various places in Eastern Bengal, especially in Chittagong and Vikrampur ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been adopted to prevent its further growth ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"The attention of Government has not been specially drawn to the newspaper reports referred to, but Government is aware that small-pox is mildly epidemic in the Banskali thana of the Chittagong district and a few isolated cases have occurred in the town of Chittagong. Sporadic cases of small-pox have also been reported from Bikrampur, but no information has been received of any other outbreaks. The outbreaks in the Chittagong district and Bikrampur are being dealt with by the vaccination staffs of those districts."

The HON'BLE RAJA SHOSHI KANTA ACHARYYA CHAUDHURI BAHADUR asked :—

XX.—(a) Is the Government also aware that the lymph supplied to the vaccinators is not at all fresh and that the vaccinators are not often provided with spirit lamps for sterilization ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what measures have been taken to remove these defects ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"Government is not aware that the lymph supplied to the vaccinators is not fresh. The lymph used in Eastern Bengal is manufactured at the Shillong Vaccine Depôt ; it is glycerinated and is of good quality, and the paucity of failures shown in the reports testifies to its efficacy. The vaccinators are not now supplied with spirit lamps, as the method of aseptic vaccination introduced in Western Bengal in 1906 has been extended to Eastern Bengal, and the vaccinators are being supplied with perchloride wool in zinc boxes to be used in sterilizing the arm of the patient and the instruments used."

SURVEY AND SETTLEMENT OPERATIONS IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MAHARAJA JAGADINDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XXI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the names of the Districts where the Cadastral Survey and Settlement operation, under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885, is now going on and also the cost estimated for the same for different Districts ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to extend the operation to the remaining Districts as well ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) The districts for which records-of-rights are now being prepared under Chapter X of the Bengal Tenancy Act and the estimated cost of these operations are as follows :—

	Rs.
Faridpur	23,20,000
Mymensingh	40,00,000
Dacca	25,40,000
Jalpaiguri	16,60,000
Rajshahi	23,63,000
Midnapore	18,51,584

(b) The answer is in the affirmative."

The HON'BLE MAHARAJA JAGADINDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XXII.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing—

(i) the names of the Districts in which such Cadastral Survey operation has come to an end ;

(ii) the total cost thereof, the rate of cost for every bigha or acre brought under the operation in each District ; and

(iii) the amount spent by the Government for the quarters, local conveyances, and recreations of all Government officials connected with the Settlement Works ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(i) Records-of-rights have been completed for the districts of Bakarganj and Chittagong.

(ii) (a) In Bakarganj the total cost was Rs. 31,73,280 and the rate per acre, Re. 1-6.

(b) In Chittagong, the total cost was Rs. 16,16,604 and the rate per acre, Re. 1-3-1.

(iii) No expenditure was incurred by Government in either district in providing quarters for officers employed on Settlement work. In Bakarganj, a sum of Rs. 18,651 was spent on the construction of a steam-launch for the Settlement Officer. On the completion of the Bakarganj operations, the launch was made over to the Settlement Officer of Faridpur, and was then, after 12 years' use in the Settlement Department, purchased by the Provincial Government for Rs. 10,000 for use in the general administration. Of the net cost of Rs. 8,651 falling upon the Settlement Department, Rs. 6,651 was debited to the Bakarganj operations and Rs. 2,000 to Faridpur. It has been ascertained that by 'recreations' the Hon'ble Member means games such as polo, tennis, etc. No expenditure has been incurred by Government or the Settlement Department on this account."

THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT IN THE PRESIDENCY OF BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XXIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state the total number of officers in the Education Department in the Presidency Division holding appointments on (1) the teaching staff, and (2) the inspecting staff, and what percentage of each class of officers is European and what percentage is Muhammadan ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement giving the information required is placed on the table."

INCREASE IN THE NUMBER OF HOSTELS FOR MUHAMMADAN STUDENTS.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XXIV.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether there is any scheme under consideration for an increase in the number of hostels for Muhammadan students ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"This subject was dealt with at some length by the Director of Public Instruction during the discussion on the Financial Statement.

The following information is now given for the convenience of Council. A considerable proportion of the ten lakhs grant made by the Government of India last year for the erection of hostels in Calcutta will be devoted to the provision of accommodation for Muhammadan students. It is proposed to spend Rs. 91,000 on enlarging the Baker Hostel attached to the Calcutta Madrasa and Rs. 45,000 on the erection of a Moslem Institute in connection with the same institution. The grants to the City, Ripon and Bangabasi Colleges for the erection of hostels have been made subject to the condition that the authorities of these colleges reserve one-fifth of the seats in the hostels for Muhammadans, and that the hostel buildings are so constructed as to provide accommodation suitable for Muhammadans, including cooking and dining arrangements to the extent of at least one-fifth of the total accommodation. A recommendation has also been made to the other privately managed colleges to which grants have been allotted that they should offer one-fifth of the seats available each year to Muhammadans, and only admit non-Muhammadans to such seats in the event of sufficient Muhammadan applicants not being forthcoming. A considerable share of the four lakhs grant for hostels outside Calcutta and Dacca will also be devoted to the provision of accommodation for Muhammadan students in schools and colleges. The allotments so far made cover only half the grant, but include provision for purely Muhammadan hostels at Chittagong, Cox's Bazar, Jessore, Pabna, Meherpur and Rampur Hât, and for Muhammadan and Hindu hostels at Khulna, Mymensingh, Nowkhali and Basirhat."

PERCENTAGE OF MUHAMMADAN STUDENTS WHO PASSED THE ENTRANCE EXAMINATION IN 1905 AND THE MATRICULATION EXAMINATION IN 1910 AND 1911.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

XXV.—Will the Government be pleased to state the number of students who passed the Entrance examination in 1905 and the Matriculation examination in 1910 and 1911, separately, and the percentage of Muhammadans to the total number passed in each of these years ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement giving the information required is placed on the table."

ALLEGED SHIRKING OF DUTY BY THE BASIRHAT POLICE.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM asked :—

XXVI.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the articles published in the 'Mussalman' newspaper of the 31st January and 14th March last, under the heading "Shirking of Duty by Basirhat Police"?

(b) Does the Government propose to order an inquiry into the matter?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a) The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) An inquiry is in progress."

ALLEGED POLICE OPPRESSION.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM asked :—

XXVII.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article in the vernacular newspaper "Muhammadi" of the 7th March, 1913, under the heading "Police Oppression"?

(b) Does the Government propose to order an inquiry into the matter?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a) "The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) An inquiry has been made. The allegations that Belatali committed suicide owing to the extortion and harassment to which he had been subjected has been found to be unfounded."

PLACING OF JUNIOR OFFICERS IN CHARGE OF IMPORTANT SUBDIVISIONS.

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ asked :—

XXVIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that in several instances within recent years, comparatively junior officers have been put in charge of important subdivisions?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"There has been no change in recent years in the principles on which officers are selected for the charge of subdivisions. No complaints have been received by Government in the matter."

NON-GRADUATES IN THE PROVINCIAL EXECUTIVE SERVICE AND THE SUBORDINATE EXECUTIVE SERVICE.

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ asked :—

XXIX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the total number of non-graduates in the Provincial Executive Service and the Subordinate Executive Service now serving in Bengal, who were appointed to these Services since the abolition of the system of open competition, either by direct recruitment or promotion from other Services?

(b) Of those total number of non-graduates, will the Government be pleased to state how many are—

(i) Muhammadans,
(ii) Hindus, and
(iii) how many belong to other communities in the case of the two Services separately?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a) & (b) "A statement giving the required information is laid on the table."

LATE SITTINGS BY THE SUB-DIVISIONAL OFFICER OF TANGAIL.

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ asked :—

XXX.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a series of articles in the "Islam Rabi", a vernacular paper published at Tangail, in its issues of February last, and also to several issues of the Mymensingh "Charu Mihir" of the same month commenting on the practice of the present Subdivisional Officer of Tangail holding Court till so late as 9 or 10 P.M.?

(b) Is the Government aware that such a practice causes the greatest inconvenience to parties and witnesses, besides interfering with the hours of prayer of such Muhammadans as happen to attend the Court in any capacity?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps it proposes to take in the matter?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

(a), (b) & (c). "Government have seen the comments to which the Hon'ble Member refers. The practice of holding Court till so late as 9 or 10 P.M. doubtless causes inconvenience. When the matter was brought to the notice of the District Magistrate, he circulated a note requesting all Magisterial Courts to rise at 5 P.M., so far as practicable. Government do not consider it necessary to take any further steps in the matter."

OFFICE OF VICE-CHAIRMAN OF DISTRICT BOARD.

The HON'BLE SIR BIJAY CHAND MAHTAB, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., I.O.M., MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR of Burdwan, in the absence of the HON'BLE MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA of Nashipur, asked :—

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether in any district the office of the Vice-Chairman of the District Board is held by a Government official?

(b) If so, will the Government be further pleased to state whether it proposes to prohibit officials standing for election for Vice-Chairmanship?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"In three districts the Government Pleaders and in two districts the Public Prosecutors have been elected to the office of Vice-Chairman of a District Board, but these gentlemen are not officials in the ordinary sense of the word. No other official in this Presidency holds this office, and Government does not propose to issue any prohibition on the subject."

required from the candidates, and the rates of pay to be given. The resolution concluded as follows :—

'The Government of India are confident that the schemes now sanctioned will mark a substantial advance towards the organisation of a trained Sanitary staff capable of further extension in the future and which will prove an efficient agency for extending a knowledge of elementary hygiene among the people.'

"This Government after a careful consideration of the subject published a resolution on 28th October, 1912, in which it pointed out that section 46 of the Bengal Municipal Act left the decision as to whether a Health Officer was necessary in a municipality to the Commissioners in meeting, but the advance in public opinion in regard to matters of sanitation and the importance of their bearing on the general prosperity of the province rendered it desirable that the Local Government should be empowered to insist, where necessary, on municipalities realising their responsibilities in the matter. It was proposed therefore to amend the Municipal Act so as to enable Government after due notification to require a municipality to appoint a Health Officer where this was shown to be necessary. Reference was made to the fact that the offer of the Government of India to provide half the salary of such an officer obviated the possibility of any undue hardship on individual municipalities. That the circumstances of municipalities differed widely and the case of each would be dealt with on its own merits.

"In accordance with these views, we have drafted the present Bill. The provisions of the Bill when it is passed into law will only be introduced into such municipalities which, by reason of their area, population or any special sanitary requirement, are considered to be of sufficient importance to be called upon to appoint Health Officers or Sanitary Inspectors and this will be done after giving an opportunity to the municipalities concerned or to any inhabitant within the municipality to raise objections, if any. Once the Act is declared to be enforced in any municipality it will be required to appoint Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors or only Sanitary Inspectors as the Local Government may direct. The Local Government will also determine the class of Health Officer and the number of Sanitary Inspectors which the municipality will have to employ. The Local Government will fix the salary of these officers to be paid out of the municipal fund and the allowances during absence, and also determine the qualification of the various officers.

"We have already made arrangements for training of a certain number of young men so that they may be available for employment as Sanitary Inspectors.

"When the proposed legislation has been passed, it is intended ordinarily to require all municipalities with a population of about 50,000 or over to employ a Health Officer of the first class, while all municipalities with a population of about 16,000 and a yearly income of about Rs. 40,000 will have a Health Officer of the second class.

"As regards Sanitary Inspectors, it is proposed to divide them into two classes on a pay of Rs. 50—5—100 and Rs. 100—5—150 respectively. It is intended ordinarily to require all municipalities with a population of about 10,000 to employ one Sanitary Inspector, those with a population of 30,000, two Sanitary Inspectors and those with a population of 50,000, at least three such Inspectors. There may be exceptional cases requiring exceptional treatment. If the resources of any municipality are really insufficient to meet this expense, Government will be willing to consider such applications for a grant-in-aid as may be considered reasonable and well founded.

"It is true that these measures when introduced would add to a certain extent to the burdens of the municipalities to which the provisions of this Bill may be applied, but the burden would not be a large one and the contribution from the Provincial funds to poorer municipalities to enable them to meet the additional expenditure would, it is hoped, relieve all cases of real hardship. In a province, in some parts of which the death-rate from malaria alone mounts up to 35·47 per mille, no expenditure incurred for improvement of sanitation can be considered extravagant and no rules framed for the purpose should be deemed too stringent. Government has set the example and it is for local bodies to follow it.

"I trust Hon'ble Members, who represent the interest of the people in this Council, will share to a large extent in the anxiety of this Government in the matter of sanitation, and this Bill will have a smooth passage through it."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC DEMANDS RECOVERY BILL, 1913.

5. The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the recovery of public demands in Bengal be taken into consideration.

He said :—

"MY LORD,—In making this motion I wish to point out that the Select Committee paid a great deal of attention to the details of this Bill. They took it clause by clause and spent many hours in dealing with it. We had the assistance of the opinions of a considerable number of Associations who had been requested to favour us with their views on the subject, and although we made no change in the general principles of the Bill, we introduced a variety of small verbal amendments which I believe will be found to have improved the text of the Bill. The Bill has hitherto been more or less non-contentious, and I do not think I should detain the Council any further at this stage of the proceedings."

6. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved, by way of amendment to Motion No. 5, that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be republished, and be not further proceeded with during the present Session of the Council.

He said :—

"MY LORD,—I beg to move that the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, be republished, and be not further proceeded with during the present Session of Council. In moving this amendment I must state at the outset that myself and most of the non-official Members of the Council (except those who were in the Select Committee) have not had sufficient time to go through the provisions of the Bill. It was only on the 17th of this month that the Bill, as amended by the Select Committee, was placed before the Council and we were asked to send in our amendments on or before 11 A.M. of the 21st instant. We had practically only three days' time given to us to consider the Bill. Moreover, it has been so thoroughly recast by the Select Committee that it ought to be republished so that the public, the leading Associations and the Press may have an opportunity of expressing their views on the important amendments made. I may assure you, My Lord, that it is not in a spirit of obstruction that I am moving this amendment. It is simply with a desire to get a little time to go through the Bill, that we might be of some help to your Lordship's Council with our suggestions on some of the salient points of the Bill that I am asking for this postponement. There is absolutely no reason to hurry on the passing of this Bill. There is already an Act for the recovery of public demands and under its provisions public demands are being recovered. No one up to this time has said that the present Act is unworkable, or that the postponement of the passing of the Bill for three or four months would in any way prejudice the interests of the Government or the public. When a new Act is going to replace an old one, we ought to see that every opportunity is given to those who are really affected by it to make their suggestions in their own humble way to your Lordship's Government. Between this and the next session of the Council only about three months' time will intervene. This will give sufficient time to all. No one will have any grievance hereafter. Under the circumstances I hope and trust my amendment will be accepted by your Lordship's Government ".

THE HON'BLE MR. LYON said :—

" I am sorry I am unable on behalf of Government to accept this amendment, and I doubt whether the arguments put forward by the Hon'ble Member will commend themselves to the mature consideration of the Council. The statement made by the Hon'ble Member that the Act has been thoroughly recast by the Select Committee will not, I submit, bear careful scrutiny. I do not think the Select Committee has introduced one amendment bearing on the real principles of the Bill. We have followed out in every way the principles that were adopted by the original framers of the Bill, these principles being no new principles in themselves but the principles which exist in the present law for the recovery of public demands or in the Civil Procedure Code. I do not think any one of the amendments which have been introduced need have troubled Hon'ble Members for more than half an hour. Apart from that there are really very few grounds which can be suggested for the postponement of this Bill. It was published in January last and circulated to a large number of Associations, and these Associations have all sent in their opinions. Their opinions have been fully considered by the Select Committee and have been placed before the Hon'ble Members of this Council for their consideration. Only one of those Associations entered in its reply a mild protest that it had not had sufficient time to consider the Bill, but that Association's reply was so complete in itself that it was really almost unnecessary modesty that it should say that it had not had time to consider the Bill. It is perfectly true from many points of view that there is no reason for hurrying this Bill, and had it been a matter of introducing new principles into the legislation of this country, there would have been a good deal behind that plea. But we are here concerned solely with amalgamating and consolidating previous Acts of the Legislature. This is a lawyer's Bill in every sense of the word, and I am glad to say that we have had very valuable legal advice in dealing with it in Select Committee. Moreover, this lawyer's Bill was prepared with the assistance and help of two prominent Judges of the High Court, Mr. Justice Rampini and Sir Ashutosh Mukerji, and the Bill in its final form was submitted to the latter gentleman and approved of by him. We have thus, at every stage of our proceedings, taken all the legal advice and help that we could procure. I am doubtful whether, if further time is given for the consideration of this Bill, that time will be usefully occupied. I cannot help thinking that, if we postpone this Bill and take it up again, either during the rains or cold weather, those gentlemen who have asked for postponement would not themselves proceed to consider the Bill until it was brought forward in Council again. It seems improbable that in the interval public attention would be drawn particularly to this Bill for the very reason that I have given, namely, that there are no new principles to discuss. In these circumstances I cannot but think that the House will agree that it will be well to get through this little bit of practical legislation, which has been framed on very careful lines, and put it out of the way in view of the more important and valuable legislation that we have to discuss."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

" MY LORD,—I am sorry that the Government are not in a position to accept the amendments moved by my friend Mr. Surendra Nath Ray. The hon'ble gentleman in charge of the Bill has observed that it is a lawyer's Bill. My hon'ble friend is a lawyer and he asks for the postponement of the Bill. As a lawyer he thinks that there are principles involved in that Bill, which require further consideration, and himself being a lawyer I think the demand ought to be conclusive and the Government ought to accede to his request. But whether there are new principles in it or not, there is the outstanding fact that we have altogether a string of amendments which have been put forward by the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha with regard to this Bill. It is obvious from all these amendments that the Bill is a contentious one and that it has given rise to considerable doubts and misgivings in the minds of those who are likely to be affected by it. Under those circumstances, is it not desirable that the Bill ought to go for further consideration and further revision in the hands of those who are competent to form a judgment with regard to the merits of the Bill? My Lord, it may be that my friend the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill is under the impression that three months' time will be wasted and that probably no further light will be thrown on the subject. I have always held it as a principle that it is somewhat dangerous to prophesy. We do not know what will be the outcome of the deliberations of the various public bodies if further time was given to them. My friend Raja Hrishikesh Laha, who has given notice of these amendments, represents an important public Association and I am sure his views reflect the sense of that Association. If the Bill is postponed, my friend Raja Hrishikesh Laha will be in a position to consult his colleagues with regard to the amendments. It may be he will find reasons to modify those amendments, or it may be that he will find reasons to withdraw them altogether or it may be that that Association may support those amendments. Is it not a distinct advantage to the Council and to the Government to have a further discussion about the Bill in which there are contentious matters? It seems to me, therefore, looking at the matter from every possible point of view that it is desirable to postpone the Bill for further consideration.

"Then I plead guilty to the charge of not having studied the Bill and I think there are many around this table who are in the same position. When there are Members of this Council of that opinion, it may be said, with the greatest confidence, that the public also are in that position. That being so, a Bill of this magnitude and importance should not become the law of the land until the public have had an opportunity of reconsidering and revising the serious contents of the Bill. I therefore thoroughly associate myself with the amendment proposed by my friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray."

"My Lord,—As a member of the Select Committee to which this Bill was referred, I have great pleasure in supporting the amendment which has been proposed by the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray and for these reasons I do not suggest for one moment,—because I am not going to blame myself—that the Select Committee did not try to do the work to the best of their ability, but at the same time if there is a desire on the part of the Members of this House or on the part of the public that there should be a further consideration of the Bill, and that if by postponement in the meantime the interests of the public and the interest of good government do not suffer, I think one should accede to a reasonable request of the character embodied in the amendment. After all legislation is not for the Select Committee nor for the Members of this Council, but legislation is for the public and the public will be affected by this legislation. It has been suggested that there is no new principle introduced. Be it so. It has further been suggested that the Select Committee have only taken into account the principle which was established long ago and they have also taken some of the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code for the purpose of making the intended Act complete. Be it so. But let the country consider them if the country desires to do so. There is a considerable volume of opinion outside that the Bill has been considerably modified by the Select Committee, and the non-official Members of your Excellency's Council desire that the consideration of this matter be postponed for a while. I do not see any reason whatever why the matter should not be postponed. It is suggested that in the meantime those who are seeking an adjournment will not make any use of the time which may be given to them. I do not think that a charge of that character should at all have been made, because when my friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray says that this requires further consideration, I have no doubt whatever that in point of fact he desires to consider it and consider it carefully.

"There is another matter. We are in the East and in the East we do not want to be hurried. Our motto is festina lente. If there is to be delay let there be delay. If in the meantime by delay you do not endanger public interests and interests of good government, I have great pleasure in supporting the amendment."

Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur said :—

"My Lord,—I had suggested a large number of amendments which I sent to the Secretary on the 20th, but unfortunately he says he did not receive them on the 21st, but that he received them on the 22nd, a day too late, and therefore my amendments have not been taken into consideration. I therefore humbly pray that there may be a postponement of the consideration of this Bill."

"I do not wish to trouble the Council too often, but I desire to note one point in reference to what the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji has said. He has referred to the amendments which have been placed on the paper as shewing that the Bill requires further consideration. As a matter of fact, I believe that the Hon'ble Member, who has proposed these amendments after careful consideration, proposes to withdraw the majority of them, which shows that he has had time to consider their bearing fully. I would also like to point out that the amendments do not in most cases deal with any new provisions of the Bill. They are mainly directed to a modification of the procedure which has been sanctioned by the Civil Procedure Code and by the existing Bill, so that the amendments have not been required by any consideration of the present Bill. They are amendments directed against principles in the Bill which have existed for many years and against the principles of the Civil Procedure Code. With reference to the Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti's remarks, I would say that we have no desire in any way to hustle the East; we know the difficulties and dangers of attempting to do anything of the sort. I venture to suggest to the Council that there is no hustling involved at all in allowing this Bill to proceed, as we have consulted the East in every possible way.

Concerning the legal points of this Bill, to which Hon'ble Members have referred, we may accept the view of the Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti who was a member of the Select Committee and signed the report. It will be noted that he agrees that no new principles have been introduced into the Bill, and that we are dealing only with the principles accepted in previous Acts, including the Code of Civil Procedure.

And I would point out finally that none of the gentlemen who have spoken have suggested any particular point upon which the Bill requires amendment, or any real reason why they should have it postponed and why they wish we should not proceed with it now. It does not seem possible that this Council will consider it a sufficient argument to say that numerous amendments are going to be proposed to the Bill therefore it should be postponed."

The motion being put to the vote, a division was taken with the following result :—

The following Members abstained from voting :—

The Hon'ble Sir Allan Arthur, Kt.
,, Sir Frederick Loch Halliday, Kt., M.V.O., C.I.E.

The result of the division being Ayes 20, Noes 21, the motion was lost.

7. The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered for settlement in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

Clause 3.

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that the words "means all property of a movable nature other than standing crops" be substituted for the words "includes growing crops," in clause 3 (4).

He said :—

"Your Excellency, I ask permission to move the amendment that stands in my name. It has been repeatedly held by the Calcutta High Court that standing crops are immovable property (vide I.L.R. 4 Cal. 565, I.L.R. 32 Cal. 459 and several other cases). To include such crops in the definition of movable property would not only militate against these rulings, but would diminish the security of the landlord for his rent, which is a first charge on the land, as well as on the crop grown by the raiyat. If, under the certificate decree, a certificate-holder could sell the standing crops, the interest of the auction-purchaser will clash with that of the landlord, who has the right to distrain the crop or sell the land with the crop on it for realisation of his rent."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"My Lord,—I am afraid Government cannot accept this amendment. The definition which we have given of movable property is taken from the Civil Procedure Code. The Civil Procedure Code definition of movable property says that movable property includes growing crops. That is the reason why we have introduced this definition into this Bill. I do not think that the Hon'ble Member need have much fear that any difficulty will arise as to the prior rights of the landlord, for the reason that the landlord is protected by section 139 of the Bengal Tenancy Act, which provides that if there is any conflict between the order of a Civil Court and an order for distraint on behalf of the landlord, the distraint has the preference, the order for distraint prevailing. I think it would be a considerable danger to introduce into this Act a principle differing from that which has been accepted in the Civil Procedure Code. The whole of our intention in this Act is to bring into one Act, which can be easily understood, the provisions of the Code of Civil Procedure which apply to the procedure for the recovery of public demands, and to introduce a definition which differs so greatly from the corresponding definition in the Code of Civil Procedure in an important subject like this, would be to introduce doubt and difficulty into the administration of the Act, which I do not think would conduce to satisfaction on the part of any who are concerned in these affairs. Therefore I would ask the House to confirm our adherence to the Civil Procedure Code in this matter, and to allow us to include in our Act the definition which is given in the Civil Procedure Code."

The President said :—

Do you wish to withdraw your amendment?

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha said :—

"I wish to put it to the vote."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 4.

2. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the word "shall" be substituted for the word "may" in line 2 of clause 4.

Clause 5.

3. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the word "shall" be substituted for the word "may" in line 2 of clause 5.

Clause 7.

4. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the words "and a copy of the certificate shall, at the same time, be sent to the certificate-debtor by registered post" be added at the end of clause 7.

Clause 8.

5. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the word "voidable" be substituted for the word "void" in line 4 of clause 8 (a).

Clause 8.

6. The Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Husain moved that the following proviso be added at the end of clause 8, namely :—

"Provided that, where a certificate-debtor owns two or more immovable properties, one or more of which has or have been privately transferred during the continuance of the certificate proceeding, while others are still in the possession of the certificate-debtor, the Certificate-officer shall sell the latter properties first; but, if the sale-proceeds of the same do not cover the full amount due under the certificate, the Certificate-officer shall proceed to sell the property or properties so privately transferred."

He said :—

"My Lord,—section 8 of the Public Demands Recovery Act was very wide in its scope. It embraced all properties belonging to the certificate-debtor, but the Select Committee thought it expedient to curtail the operation of this clause and to restrict it to the immovable property of the certificate-debtor, situated within the district in which the certificate has been filed.

Of course a man may have property in two or three districts, and in a case like this, the Select Committee thought it expedient to say that all the immovable property situated outside the districts where certificates had been filed should not be attached and I fully agree with the Select Committee in this view.

The amendment that I beg to propose does not restrict the operation of the law any further, but it aims at protecting the interest of a bond fide purchaser for value without at the same time prejudicing the interest of the certificate-holder. The principle that has been embodied in this amendment is the principle of marshalling enunciated in section 81 of the Transfer of Property Act, which runs thus :—

'If the owner of two properties mortgages them both to one person and then mortgages one of the properties to another person who has no notice of the former mortgage, the second mortgagee is, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, entitled to have the debt of the first mortgagee satisfied out of the property not mortgaged to the second mortgagee so far as such property will extend, but not so as to prejudice the rights of the first mortgagee, etc.'

Here, also, my Lord, I propose that the bond fide purchaser for value should be entitled to have the demand with cost satisfied from the property that has not been privately sold so far as such property will extend and if the whole demand including all costs are satisfied thereby the Certificate-officer should not touch the property that has been privately sold. By this, my Lord, the bond fide purchasers are protected and at the same time the certificate-holders will not be injured at all. What I am proposing is this that the order in which the sale should take place should be restricted, and that all the properties should not be sold first. I do not say that the property which has been privately sold should not be sold at all, that the public demands should not be recovered from that property. What I simply ask is that the order of the sale of different properties should be a little altered, that the bonâ fide purchaser or the general public may not be merely at the mercy of the Certificate-officer. So far as the notice goes, I should say that in many cases we have to complain against the non-service of notices, but the effect of a notice in the Public Demands Recovery Act is very sweeping. As soon as notice under section 7 is served, all the properties of the judgment-debtor are at once attached, although it does not contain even the specification of the properties of the certificate-debtor. The Hon'ble Member in charge may say that it will not be in accordance with the principle of the Civil Procedure Code to alter the present procedure. In reply, I beg to point out to him that, according to the Civil Procedure Code, every property that is to be attached is to be specified, and particulars ought to be given of all these properties, and the notice of attachment is to be served, very carefully, not only in the house of the judgment-debtor or the certificate-debtor in this case, but on every property which is attached a sale proclamation is also required to be published similarly by beat of drum. So, my Lord, this case is very clear and very distinct. Since all the properties of the judgment-debtor are attached, simply by a general notice served on the certificate-debtor personally, the provision of this Act is a very strict one. And we should at least do something by which this stringency of the law might be softened.

As the object of our legislation is to do good to the people without injuring anybody, I believe that the amendment I propose satisfies this condition, and hope the House will agree with me that if this amendment be accepted, it will do real good to the people. My Lord, the sufferers under the old law are not few, I understand; I may include myself as one of them. I purchased a property from a vendor, not knowing that a notice under section 8 of the Public Demands Recovery Act had been served upon him. The vendor had other properties from which the certificate-holder could have realised his demand, but, my Lord, it was not done. I had to pay the demand in full, which I realised afterwards. Now, my Lord, when we can prevent future sufferings of the people in such matters by adding the above proviso, I see no reason why we should not do it. With these remarks, my Lord, I propose the amendment before the Council.',

The HON'BLE MAULVI FAZ-UL-HUQ said :—

"My Lord,—My hon'ble friend has made rather a lengthy speech, but I may be permitted to say perhaps that it is out of proportion to the importance of the amendment before us. The pith of his argument is, I gather, that when once a certificate is filed and notice is served on a certificate-debtor, a case might arise in which the bonâ fide purchaser for value paid stands a chance of losing his property in the operation of this provision. My Lord, I am not in full sympathy with this class of purchaser, because he is a class of purchaser whose interests are protected, but cases will arise, my Lord, in which the certificate-debtor might come forward to purchase the property even after he has had notice of the fact that the certificate has been filed in the office of the Collector, and the notice has been served according to law on the certificate-debtor. I do not think there is anybody here who will have any sympathy with this class of purchaser, who comes forward to deal with property against which there is a public demand, against which processes of law have been issued, because if he comes to deal with these properties he does so at his peril. The question therefore is whether in protecting the rights of bonâ fide purchasers for value, we should also extend the protection of the law to the second class of purchasers. It is a very difficult question to answer, and ordinarily it might be said that we should leave this question to be decided by the certifying officer. On mature consideration, personally, my Lord, I think that for the sake of the protection of the interests of the bonâ fide purchasers for value, we might accept the motion that has been urged before this Council by my learned friend. With these words, my Lord, I beg to support the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"I do not think, my Lord, that this amendment will commend itself to the Members of this Council, who have had practical experience of the working of the Act either as revenue officers or as lawyers, or, if anyone of them has had that unfortunate experience, in the position of certificate-debtors. As the clause has been modified by the Select Committee, it provides that, after the date of service of notice under clause 7, any private transfer of a certificate-debtor's immovable property situated in the district in which the certificate is filed, shall be void against any claim enforceable under the certificate, and that the amount due from time to time under the certificate shall be a prior charge upon the immovable property of the debtor wherever situated," as regards charges created subsequent to the issue of the certificate. The Hon'ble Member who has moved this amendment wants us to stay the sale of any property on which incumbrances have been created improperly, and to sell the debtor's property piecemeal. In other words, he says that where the certificate-debtor has broken the law, or evaded the provisions of the law, he ought to have a special favour shown to him with regard to the sale of his property. Now that principle, my Lord, is surely unsound in itself and, there can be no question that it would lead to very great difficulty and to a prolongation of the proceedings, which is in the interests neither of the certificate-holder nor the certificate-debtor. It would, so far as I can see, be serving no interests except possibly the interests of bonâ fide purchasers for value, but as the Hon'ble Maulvi Faz-ul-Huq has pointed out, by no means all purchasers are of this class, and many purchasers deserve no consideration whatever. I put it to the Council whether it is desirable to introduce this new and unsound principle, in order to extend a doubtful benefit to a very limited class. The proposal is tantamount to inviting the certificate-debtor to evade the provisions of the law. The only ground on which the Hon'ble mover of the amendment has asked us to accept this proposal is that there is a somewhat similar provision in the Transfer of Property Act. I am no lawyer myself, but I would appeal to the many eminent lawyers who are Members of this Council to support me when I say that an analogy from the Transfer of Property Act cannot possibly apply to provisions relating to certificates for public demands. Under the Transfer of Property Act, it is a case between two private persons. In this Bill, we are dealing with a sale in execution proceedings at the instance of a Court or Government. I think, Sir, that the grounds which have been put forward cannot bear analysis as far as matters of principle are concerned. The amendment would benefit only a very limited class, and to make certificate proceedings cumbrous and complicated would be against the best interests of those who are affected by the practical working of the Bill. I would therefore ask the Council not to lend any support to this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

Clause 14.

7. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved that the words "or by sale (without previous attachment)" in clause 14 (a), be omitted.

He said :—

"I really cannot understand why there should be a sale without a previous attachment. I know that when a certificate is issued a charge is created on the property. I think, my Lord, this would be giving very great power to Certificate-officers. The result will be, whether there be an attachment or not, that a sale will take place without the certificate-debtor knowing anything that his property is going to be sold. My amendment is that there ought to be an attachment in all cases."

The Hon'ble Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur said :—

"My Lord,—I beg to support this amendment. A sale of a property without attachment is detrimental to the interest of the certificate-debtor in various ways. As soon as a proper attachment of the property takes place, the owner of it comes to know that certain proceedings have been instituted against him or that certain persons, with a view to do him an injury, want to sell his property. He thus gets an opportunity to inquire into the whole matter, and is able to know what has actually taken place. If he finds that no case has been instituted, or no decree has been obtained against him, he prefers a claim to the property claiming it to be his, and asks the Court to release it from attachment. If he finds that an ex parte decree has been obtained against him, he at once moves to have the same set aside. In addition to these circumstances, he, as well as the people in the neighbourhood, becomes aware of the fact that his property would be sold. He will therefore try his best to procure money to satisfy the decree when it had been properly obtained and the neighbours will also have time to inquire into the nature of the property attached, with a view to purchase the same and get a longer time to procure money if required to buy the property. Moreover, when the Civil Procedure Code recognises an attachment to be necessary, I cannot understand why no attachment is to be made in case of a certificate sale. Attachment can be made within a very little time and is not likely to delay the proceedings to an appreciable extent. Under these circumstances I beg to support this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"My Lord,—I am afraid that it would be difficult for the Government to accept this amendment, for the simple reason that it sets up at once a distinction between the procedure under the Civil Procedure Code and the Procedure under this Act. We are following in this case exactly the principles of the Civil Procedure Code, and we do not see why any difference should be made between certificate cases and cases of ordinary decrees under that Code. A suggestion which has been made in pressing this amendment that by doing away with attachment we give greater security to the certificate-debtor and go through a much more formal and careful procedure than we do if we have no attachment at all. On this point I would invite the Hon'ble Member's attention to the procedure laid down for sale in Schedule II of the Bill. This also is taken entirely from the Code of Civil Procedure. The transactions under the Code of Civil Procedure are innumerable, and the procedure which is satisfactory in those cases is surely good enough for this Certificate Act. There are many safeguards for a certificate-debtor, and the suggestion that this amendment will help a certificate-debtor by delaying proceedings is not a material contention, because the attachment and the proclamation of sale could be made simultaneously. I would ask the House not to introduce an entirely new principle into the Act at this stage—a principle which we have not adopted for the first time in passing this Act, but which has always existed as part of certificate procedure. By doing so we should cause considerable confusion in the proceedings of the Courts, which have learned to regard our procedure under the Certificate Act as merely an extension of the accepted principles of the Civil Procedure Code to the proceedings for the recovery of public demands. For these reasons I would ask the House not to accept this amendment."

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 15.

8. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the following proviso be added at the end of clause 15, namely :—

"Provided that nothing shall be chargeable in respect of any immovable property which has diluviated or otherwise disappeared as a result of natural causes and of whose disappearance intimation has been given to the Collector."

Clause 19.

9. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that clause 19 (4) be omitted.

Clause 27.

10. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha moved that the words "shall, at the instance of the applicant, refer the matter to a Civil Court for disposal according to law" be substituted for the words "may also, at the instance of the applicant, order the certificate-debtor, or such other person to be detained in the Civil prison for a term which may extend to thirty days." in clause 27 (1).

He said :—

"The reason why I move this amendment is quite obvious to every Hon'ble Member of this Council. A great power—that of detaining the certificate-debtor in Civil prison for 30 days is given to the Certificate-officer who in his own cause is the plaintiff, judge, judgment-creditor, decree-holder rolled into one. As decree-holder he makes his application for execution proceedings to himself, passes orders thereon himself and takes steps to carry them out himself. The anomaly of such a procedure is patent to all. A Certificate-officer after all is a human being and cannot be expected to rise above human failings. In these circumstances the alteration I propose, if accepted, would be a distinct improvement on the Bill. If the enquiry under this clause were made by a Civil Court, for we all have confidence in such Courts, no body could complain that he has not been given a proper hearing. I therefore move the amendment for your acceptance."

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said :—

"My Lord,—The clause which the Hon'ble Member wishes to amend is analogous to section 74 of the Code of Civil Procedure which deals with sales in execution proceedings. The principle of the Civil Procedure Code, which is being adopted by this Bill, is that when resistance is offered by anybody in good faith, the Certificate-officer becomes practically functus officio, and cannot decide the case. But if the certificate-debtor or his representative is causing wilful obstruction, the Certificate-officer may exercise the powers of the Civil Court, and send the certificate-debtor or his representative to the Civil prison for a term which may extend to 30 days. Now the principle of the Code of Civil Procedure is that questions or disputes relating to title should not be gone into in execution proceedings. They must, if anybody wishes to raise them, be raised in separate Civil suits. All the Court in executing a decree is allowed to do by the law is to punish wilful resistance when made without any just cause, by persons who cannot be said to be claiming in good faith. This is all the power which clause 27, as it now stands, gives to the Certificate-officer. The Hon'ble Member's amendment, if accepted, will make it necessary for the Certificate-officer to refer even the most clear case of wilful obstruction to the Civil Court, and it would give rise to a great deal of unnecessary delay. If the resistance is wilful and made without just cause, there cannot be any reason why the Certificate-officer should not be given this power. I would submit that it is in the interest of all parties in certificate proceedings that the Certificate-officer should have power to dispose of such questions without referring them to the Civil Court. For these reasons, my Lord, I oppose this amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Byomkes Chakravarti said :—

"My Lord,—I desire to say one word in support of this amendment, and it is this : After all we gain very little indeed by giving this discretionary power to the Certificate-officer. It is admitted that when there is a question of claiming in good faith, clause 2 provides for a case like that. The reason why it is suggested that this clause should remain as it is is this, viz., that there may be a flagrant case of resistance where, if the clause did not stand as it is, the Certificate-officer would be powerless. After all it is only a question of punishment, and it would be much better that a Certificate-officer, who has to try these matters summarily, should not have the power or the discretion of dealing with questions, the result of which might be to deprive a man of his liberty. In these circumstances, I have great pleasure in supporting this amendment."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord,—I rise to support this amendment. It is a question of the liberty of the subject, and I think in a matter of this kind we cannot be over-cautious. It is not desirable in the interest of the liberty of the subject that a purely executive officer should be armed with the power of sending a person to jail. The proper authority should be the Civil Court, which will go into the matter, take evidence and decide the case upon the merits. I have a profound distrust of Executive discretion in matters affecting the liberty of the subject, and I think that the Executive should not be vested with the powers contemplated in the Bill. I have much pleasure in supporting this amendment."

"My Lord,—I have some difficulty in opposing this amendment when it has been placed on such high ground by the Hon'ble Mr. Banerji. But I confess that I have no very great sympathy with the raising of the question of the liberty of the subject with reference to the very limited discretion which has been given to the Certificate-officer to punish those who deliberately resist his lawful orders, a discretion which can only be exercised in the case of most obvious and wilful resistance to orders passed by him in the course of his proceedings under the law. The idea that this is purely an Executive officer who is going to deprive this wilful resister of his liberty, is, I think, importing a somewhat foreign element into the case. The Certificate-officer is dealing with the case as a Civil Court and under the restrictions of a Civil Court, and he should be trusted to deal properly with a case of wilful obstruction. As has been pointed out already by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr, the Bill has been careful to exclude any case where there is a question of title and good faith, and, moreover, it does not say that a certificate-debtor should be punished in all cases, because it gives a Certificate-officer some loophole for saying that there was some 'just cause' for resistance. If he has the shadow of a right he can resist the operations of the Court in this matter, and the Certificate-officer could not possibly pass an order for imprisonment. It is clearly necessary to have some sanction attached to the proceedings of the Certificate-officer, and I would ask the Hon'ble Members of Council to agree, from this very limited point of view, that in the last resort, the Certificate-officer, who is bound to go through all the procedure of the Civil Court, shall be allowed not merely to refer the case again for trial by another Civil Court, at the risk of considerable delay, but shall be allowed to enforce the order passed under this very limited section and under this elaborate procedure. I would ask that, in this case, the amendment be not accepted."

The motion was then put and lost.

Motion No. 10 having been lost, the following motion was not put :—

11. If Motion No. 10 be carried, the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that clause 27 (2) be omitted.

New Clause 27 A.

12. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur moved that after clause 27 the following be inserted as new clause 27 A. namely :—

"27 A. (1) Where any person, other than the certificate-debtor, is dispossessed of immovable property which has been sold in execution of a certificate by the purchaser thereof, he may make an application to the Certificate-officer complaining of such dispossession, and the Certificate-officer shall investigate the matter in the manner prescribed in section 26.

"Application by any person (other than certificate-debtor) dispossessed of immovable property sold in execution of a certificate.

(2) If the Certificate-officer is satisfied that the applicant was in possession of the property on his own account or on account of some person other than the certificate-debtor, he shall direct that the applicant be replaced in possession of the property."

He said :—

"My Lord.—The proposed section is almost a reproduction of Rules 100 and 101 of Order XXI of the Code of Civil Procedure and appears to be necessary to protect the rights of third parties who may be dispossessed of their properties. There is no reason why this safeguard should be omitted in cases of certificate sales."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

I am afraid that we cannot accept this somewhat elaborate amendment. The procedure which we have already prescribed in the Bill shows that all matters as to right and title must be dealt with in the trial of a separate Civil suit by a Civil Court, and the Certificate-officer can only dismiss applications which are made to enforce its proceedings in cases in which there is any bonâ fide claim to possession of property. The suggestion which is now made is to give the Certificate-officer power, in certain circumstances, to enter upon an enquiry as to right or title. We do not wish to interfere with the principle that such matters should be dealt with by the Civil Court and not by the Certificate-officer. I do not think that the Hon'ble Member would be inclined to press his proposal upon us from that point of view. Clause 27 is based on a section of the Civil Procedure Code, and in the Civil Court, when there is any resistance or obstruction made without just cause, the person aggrieved must file a separate civil suit relating to the matter. I think we should be depriving the persons concerned in these matters of a considerable safeguard, if we introduce this clause into the Bill.

The motion was then put and lost.

The following motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

Clause 32.

13. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the words "in his opinion," in clause 32(b), be omitted, and that the words "or mentally infirm" be added at the end of the clause.

Clause 36.

14. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that clause 36 be omitted.

15. If motion No. 14 be not carried, the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha to move that the letters and words "either (a) upon the ground of fraud or (b) that the proceedings of the Certificate-officer were without jurisdiction" be substituted for the words "upon the ground of fraud" at the end of the proviso to clause 36.

Clause 43.

16. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur moved that the words "award of any" be inserted before the word "costs" in line 2 of clause 43.

He said :—

"My Lord.—The insertion of the words appears to be necessary to make the section more explicit."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"My Lord.—We are prepared to accept the change proposed by the Hon'ble Member."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

Schedule I.—Article 4.

17. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur moved that the word "now" in line 1 of Article 4 of Schedule I be omitted.

He said :—

"My Lord, the omission of the word 'now' appears to be necessary in order to include any money declared to be a public demand by any future enactment."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"My Lord, we are prepared to accept this amendment, but we should like to substitute the words 'for the time being' for the word 'now' so that the sentence would read 'any money.....by any enactment for the time being in force.'"

The motion was then put in the amended form and agreed to.

Schedule II—Rule 1.

18. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur moved that the words "and has not been paid on demand" be inserted at the end of Rule 1(2) of Schedule II.

He said :—

"My Lord, under a circular of the late Eastern Bengal and Assam Government in wards' estates and khas mahals, the manager or tahsildar, when applying for a certificate, is now required to furnish a certificate at the foot of the requisition saying that he or one of his subordinates personally demanded payment of the arrear and the amount has not been paid. I am humbly of opinion that this wholesome provision should not be discontinued."

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"My Lord, I am afraid that we cannot accept this amendment. It is far more important than it appears on the surface, and the difficulty is that the great majority of the certificates which are issued on requisitions are in respect of rents, and I would point out to the Council that it would be introducing a new principle into the rent law of Bengal to require a landlord to demand arrears of rent from a tenant before filing a certificate against him. Under the present provisions of the Bengal Tenancy Act, any rent which is not duly paid at or before the time when it falls due is deemed to be an arrear, and, subject to certain provisions of the Act, a landlord can institute a suit for the recovery of arrears of rent at any time after they fall due, without calling upon the tenant first to pay up the arrear. There does not appear to be any proper reason why, when a landlord is entitled to payment of rent, he should be required to demand that rent before he obtains a certificate. In the same way, with other authorities, such as the District Boards, we have to make certificates on requisitions, which would complicate matters very much if demands had to be made before the issue of certificate. I do not think that this new principle ought to be introduced at this stage. It is a principle which does not exist in the present Act. On these grounds, my Lord, I must resist this amendment."

The Motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following Motion was also, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

19. If Motion No. 18 be carried, the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur to move that the words "and which has not been paid on demand" be inserted after the blank space in line 3 and before the words "verified by me" in line 4 in the certificate at the foot of Form II of the Appendix to Schedule II.

Schedule II—Rule 9.

20. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur moved that the words "shall also" be substituted for the words "may, if the Certificate-officer so directs," in Schedule II, Rule 9.

He said :—

"My Lord, my experience of the manner in which notices are sometimes served in the mufassal is painful. To be on the safe side, it is, I think, necessary that every notice should be served by post which, I understand, under the General Clauses Act means registered post."

The Hon'ble RAJA HRISHIKESH LAHA said :—

A similar amendment stands in my name.

"It is a matter of frequent complaint that properties of certificate-debtors are often sold for trifling amounts and purchased by persons who hang on courts at very inadequate prices, and the reason ascribed for this state of things is that the debtors were not served with notices of certificates and therefore could not deposit the amount due. They do not even become aware of such sales till the purchaser takes possession of the property, when the debtor is compelled, in order to retain his property, to submit to the extortionate demands of the auction-purchaser. With a view to avoid this state of things, it is very desirable that notice of the certificate under this clause should invariably be sent to the debtor by registered post, and the cost of such service be added to the certificate decree."

The Hon'ble MR. SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"Amendments Nos. 20, 21 and 23 are, I think, practically the same, and I have great pleasure in supporting this. The fact is, as your Lordship will be pleased to see, that in the collection of opinions on the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Bill, which was circulated to us, the opinion of the British Indian Association, which is the leading Association of the zamindars in Bengal, with reference to clause 7 will be found on page 9 of the collected opinions. The opinions of the Chittagong Association will be found on page 3.

"It is a fact well known that these peons never go to the mufassal or go there very seldom. In civil courts you know very well that the identifier on behalf of either the plaintiff or the defendant generally accompanies the peon, and of course the peon is bound to go along with him and serve the notice. But the Collectorate peon on a salary of Rs. 7, when he is directed to serve a notice at a place about 25 or 30 miles distant from head-quarters, what does he do? He does not know either the plaintiff or the defendant, no identifier identifies the latter because nobody is interested in seeing that the proper person is served with the certificate, the result being that he gives a return showing that he has served the notice on the outer door of the house of the certificate-debtor because, he says, he could not find him. That is generally the return which is sent in by the peon. I know, my Lord, that, as a matter of fact, here in the Presidency town, before your Lordship's very door, the peons think it beneath their dignity to go in tram cars with the identifier. You have to give them second class carriages to go from the Calcutta Small Cause Court to the house of a plaintiff or defendant to serve a notice. This is known to many people, especially those who have the misfortune of being litigants. If such be the case in the metropolis of British India, what does not happen, my Lord, in the interior districts? Those who have the misfortune of being litigants know all about this. I hope this amendment will meet with your Lordship's approval."

"I beg to support this Motion and I submit that the service of notice under section 7 is an essential necessity. It is tantamount to a first summons in a regular suit. It gives notice to the certificate-debtor that a certificate has been issued against him. I am bound to say that it is well known in the mufassal that every year a large number of proprietors lose their properties owing to the irregular and illegal way the certificate cases are disposed of. The procedure generally observed is anything but satisfactory, and the way in which peoples' properties are daily sacrificed for realization of money due under the certificates is simply deplorable. The certificates are not issued within any definite fixed time, but they are issued at the discretion of the Certificate-officer or more properly at the discretion of his amla, and a notice is made over to a peon for service who, either through indolence or other motives, does not go to the certificate-debtor's house, but makes a return of having served the notice by sticking it up at some conspicuous part of the house. A band of unscrupulous men who hang about the court premises and a few low mukhtears are generally present at the sales, and some one of them purchases the properties at a nominal price and then sell them either to the defaulting owner or to some other person at a considerable profit. It is generally believed that these men are in league with the serving peons and the low amlas of the courts. The provision of the Bill that a sale should not be set aside except on the ground that the debtor has sustained substantial injury may be good when the sale is sought to be set aside in the execution department, but when the validity of the certificate is attacked on the ground of fraud or on the ground of non-service of notice, the sale held under its strength must necessarily fall to the ground. A distinction should be drawn between illegality and irregularity. When a sale is tainted with irregularity only, it is not liable to be set aside without proof of substantial loss having been sustained by the certificate-debtor, but where the sale is vitiated by illegality it must cease to exist without proof of any such substantial loss. Non-service of notice under section 7 is a potential illegality quite sufficient to nullify any sale held by virtue of a certificate under the Act. Moreover, when a property is sold for its own debt, the owner of it should not be deprived of it, if there be illegality or even irregularity in bringing about a sale, although no proof of substantial loss is given. A man having an immovable property sets a peculiar value on it which cannot be compensated by money. He ought to have it if its sale is tainted by illegality or irregularity.

"Therefore I submit, my Lord, that it is absolutely necessary a proper notice should be served by registered post in addition to the usual notice that is served."

The Hon'ble RAI PRIYA NATH MUKHARJI BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, As to this question of service of official papers by registered post, I think it might be useful if I gave the Council the benefit of the experience we have had of this kind of thing in the Registration Department.

"The Inspector-General of Registration of Eastern Bengal and Assam made a rule with the approval of the Government—which rule has come down to us as a legacy—that after registration of a document, it might, if the presentant so wished, be returned to himself or his endorsee by registered post at his expense. This was done to save him the trouble of coming again to the Registration office if he was anywhere near a post office. Everything was done to encourage this procedure, and it was at first thought that the parties concerned would find it convenient and welcome it. But what was the result? Only a fraction of the registrants ever availed themselves of the privilege and had their documents sent by the registered post. A certain proportion of the documents so sent were returned undelivered, because in the first place people are afraid to sign a receipt for anything and see a danger lurking where there may be none and refuse to take a registered letter, and, secondly, because the postal peon would not take the trouble to go to the respective villages—the practice being to deliver the covers at the hâts where people from surrounding villages are supposed to congregate on a hât day. And if for some reason the addressee was not there or was somehow missed, the cover was returned undelivered.

"Then a certain number was delivered to wrong persons and parties complained at the Registration office about non-receipt of documents, although they had paid the necessary postal charges. There was reason to believe that in some of these cases the documents were got hold of by interested persons for their own ends. The village postmaster is sometimes the teacher of the local pathshala or some amla of the local zamindar, or some similar individual, and it requires no stretch of the imagination to conceive that if a person was so minded, he could easily contrive to get at this postal official, or, failing him, the postal peon. The District Registrars and inspecting officers of the department have therefore condemned it as unsafe, and the system has not been appreciated. It has certainly not achieved the purpose for which it was intended, and not being an unmixed blessing, has fallen into disuse. The rule is going to be abrogated."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJEE said :—

"My Lord, I confess I was not prepared for the speech to which we have just had the honour of listening. A great officer of Government and a trusted servant of the State passes a strong condemnation upon a department which all of us regard as one of the most efficient departments of the State. We have been brought up in the traditional idea that the Postal Department is the most efficient department of the State and the Police Department is the least efficient. These two stand in the antipodes of efficiency, the Postal Department on the top and the Police Department at the bottom. That has been our traditional idea, and I believe the Hon'ble Members around the table will confirm me in that idea. Now we are told by the Inspector-General of Registration that the Postal Department is as inefficient as the Police Department. I have a higher idea of the Postal Department than my friend round the table. The universal complaint that has been made about these certificates is that they are not delivered because we are told that these notices are delivered at some hât day when people congregated together in a market-place, and then these notices and summonses are delivered in a perfunctory way. That is exactly our complaint, and therefore we want that these certificates should be registered so that the elements of slipshodiness and perfunctoriness may be effectively dealt with. It is because we believe that the postal peons in the remote districts do not do their duty properly, we insist upon these certificates being delivered in registered documents. There is at least some guarantee that an honest effort is made to make over the certificates to the proper parties. I am not a servant of the Government, but it is my duty to come into contact with public opinion—to be the Receiver-General of all complaints in my position as a journalist, and the one matter about which complaints have been made in season and out of season with the utmost emphasis by all sections and classes of the community is that our notices, our summonses, our certificates are not properly delivered to the right parties. Is it not the duty of the Council and the duty of Government now that we have the opportunity to rectify this state of things by accepting the amendment? Your Excellency will have noticed a remarkable coincidence, namely, that these amendments have not been sent to the office after the gentlemen have been closeted together and taken counsel together. My friend sent over his amendment on his own initiative and another sent his in, and so did a third, and the three of them came distinctly to the conclusion on their own intiative that this was a black spot which ought to be amended, and therefore this remarkable coincidence in these amendments. Having regard to the universal and strongly expressed opinion about this matter and having regard to the serious miscarriages of justice which have taken place in consequence, it seems to me a matter of first importance that this state of things should be rectified, and this amendment be accepted by your Excellency's Government ".

The Hon'ble MR. BYOMKESH CHAKRAVARTI said :—

" My Lord, I desire to say one word in connection with this amendment. The difficulty is this. The Certificate-officer is in the 'zilla' station if I may use this expression (district station) and a peon in charge of the service of notice has to be sent out from the district station into the interior, and it very often happens, specially where the certificate is being issued at the instance of the Collector, that the peon has no knowledge of the interior. Probably he comes from one part of the country, and the service has to be effected in another part of the country with which he is not familiar, whereas if you have to send a notice by the post, the postal peon in almost every case has to be familiar with the neighbourhood. He knows almost every village where he has to deliver letters every day, and there is every chance of his delivering to the right person. Of course there may be fraud in a district station as in the post office, but I am not aware—and I have a knowledge either directly or indirectly with regard to at least half the districts in Bengal—of a single gomastah of a zamindar who is not also a postmaster. However that may be, the position is this: what we want to avoid is, and I think everybody is agreed with regard to it, that the notice should be properly served, that the man should have notice that a certificate is going to be issued against him, and what we say and feel (and the country apparently expresses the same opinion) is that a further safeguard is to be provided in the shape of service by the post, which means the registered post, and I sincerely hope that the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill will see his way to accept this amendment.

" I shall only add one word with regard to the Registration Department. I have no knowledge of the Registration Department nor of the legislation it has received from Eastern Bengal, and I attach no importance to any legacy unless it is a legacy of any money left in my favour. I am only seeking to support this amendment which is a further safeguard for the purpose of bringing it to the notice of the certificate-debtor that a certificate is still due by him, and he has not paid it."

of Registration delivered on this occasion has removed whatever misgivings I had in my mind. It is certainly a very queer sight to find the head of a department namely, that of the Inspector-General of Registration, passing such criticism on a department which, as my hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Banerjee has reminded us, is considered by all to be the best managed department under Government. I never thought that service by a peon in the manner in which summonses are served in the Civil Courts will ever be so good, specially in the case of service of notice under this Act, as service by registered post. I always thought that service by registered post would be more effective than the ordinary service by peon who has to go about in the mufassal, if he goes about at all, without an identifier, and whatever misgivings I had as to the efficiency of service by registered post has been removed by the very remarkable speech we have heard delivered on this occasion by the present Inspector-General of Registration. Therefore I shall vote for the amendment."

The Hon'ble Mr. LYON said :—

"My Lord, I confess that I approached the consideration of this amendment which has been received with somewhat mixed feelings. Nobody could be more anxious than the Government to improve the service of their notices in the mufassal, and, from that point of view, I have every possible sympathy with any suggestion that is made for the improvement of the service of these notices which would tend to secure that every person who has to receive a notice receives it, whether it be in the city of Calcutta or in the mufassal. I must note, however, that this suggestion as to service by registered post is—and it is a point which seems to have been forgotten by the Hon'ble Members dealing with this amendment—one of the ways and means of service permitted under the Bill, although it is not made compulsory by the Bill. It is merely suggested, and when it was proposed to make the procedure compulsory we considered carefully whether this could be accepted, but found ourselves unable to do this.

"In the course of this debate a strange attack has been made upon the official who has risen to support the Government views. The Inspector-General of Registration did not insist upon any opinion of his own but made certain statements of facts as to what happened to documents which had been sent by registered post. The Hon'ble Member, the Inspector-General of Registration, is not in the least interested in saying that the registered post has failed in this case; it is clear that this was a means adopted in all good faith by his department with every desire that these documents should reach their owners safely, and it is only in consequence of the actual facts which have been disclosed that he has been induced to stand up and make this report to the Council. I may add that the case does not depend on the words of the Inspector-General of Registration alone, although he has given the Council very valuable help by contributing these facts, as I have been informed that exactly the same thing occurred recently when notices had to be sent out by registered post to the Muhammadan electors of this Council, the service of these notices by registered post proving practically a failure for identically the same reasons that have been given to us by the Inspector-General of Registration. I do not think that because the Hon'ble Member has given us these facts as to the working of his department that gentlemen should get up and accuse him of making a violent attack on the Postal Department. I have no doubt that if you consulted the Postmaster-General on the subject he would disclose to you a great many more failures of this kind which the Inspector-General of Registration has not mentioned. He with his intimate knowledge of his department would show that the registered post, despite all his efforts to improve it, is by no means an infallible method of conveying notices to the parties concerned in the mufassal. It seems to me also that the Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerjee made a mistake in his reference to a portion of the speech by the Inspector-General of Registration. As I understood that speech, the Inspector-General said that it was the registered letters which were distributed at the hât and not the notices carried by our peons."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJEE said :—

"I think the Hon'ble Member spoke of these letters being delivered at the hât."

The Hon'ble MR. LYON said :—

"Yes, and that was a method which I understood the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerjee to deprecate.

"The idea suggested by those who supported the amendment is that we must improve our existing procedure very greatly, and that the only means of doing this is by adopting the registered post. I think the facts given us by the Inspector-General of Registration should be carefully weighed as being facts which are given by an agency which is entirely impartial in this matter.

"As to our anxiety to improve the system of serving notices, I would point out that the question has been engaging the careful attention of the Governments of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam for some years past, and that the proposals for amendment which have been put forward form an integral part of a scheme which has received great approval from Hon'ble Members of this Council—the scheme for reconstituting the village panchayat; and the Government of Bengal are now entrusting to a great extent to the head of the village panchayat the duty and responsibility of serving these notices; we are in fact acting on the lines which the Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti has suggested, because Mr. Chakravarti has claimed for the postal peons that they are local people, and they know the people on whom service of notice is to be made. That is exactly the line we are taking, and the principle that we are adopting in the new rules—and we are issuing and extending it gradually all over Bengal for the service of our notices—is that the notices should be served through the village officers, those who know everybody concerned in the village and who can tell exactly upon whom they are to be served and whether they have been properly served.

"There is another matter I would like to touch upon, and that is that, while I have claimed that we are doing our best to improve the service of notices, there are figures which show that the state of affairs is by no means so dreadful as is suggested by some Hon'ble Members. I do not know if it will surprise this House to hear that during the last year 95,000 certificates were issued in the province of Bengal and recourse to sale was taken in only 2,295 cases or less than about 2½ per cent. of the whole total. If our certificate procedure and the service of notices under it are successful in 97½ per cent. of cases, we believe that the service of these notices and the intimation conveyed through these notices to the men concerned in the mufassal cannot be quite so bad as the picture that has been given to us. There is another reason why we are not inclined to accept the registered post as a proper solution of the difficulty in these cases. I believe if we make compulsory the system of notices through registered post, we should have greater difficulty in getting our notices served by our own peons. We should certainly weaken all the incentive there is to the department and to the peons to serve these notices properly on the people, and moreover we shall be depending on a system which, from its own inherent virtues, cannot be made so suitable as the service of notices through village officers in a village. It is impossible so to prepare rules and enforce them in the Postal Department as to make it equally compulsory upon a person to receive a registered document from the post as to receive the notice which has been served upon him by us.

"I think the adoption of this amendment would largely increase the cost of our proceedings and would also increase their complications and difficulties, and I would suggest that the House ought to be prepared to leave it to the discretion of the Certificate-officer to use his discretion under the rules, whether in any particular case he should adopt the system of registered post or not.

"With these words I would express a hope that the amendment will not be accepted by the Council."

The motion being put to the vote, a division was taken with the following result :—

The Hon'ble Raja Shoshi Kanta Acharyya Chaudhuri Bahadur abstained from voting.

The result of the division being ayes 18, noes 21, the motion was lost.

The following Motions were, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

21. The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray to move that the words "shall also be served by registered post" be substituted for the words "may, if the Certificate-officer so directs, be served by post" in Schedule II, Rule 9.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the Secretary be directed to re-number the clauses and sub-clauses of the Bill in consecutive order, and to make corresponding alterations in all cross-references thereto

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

He said :—

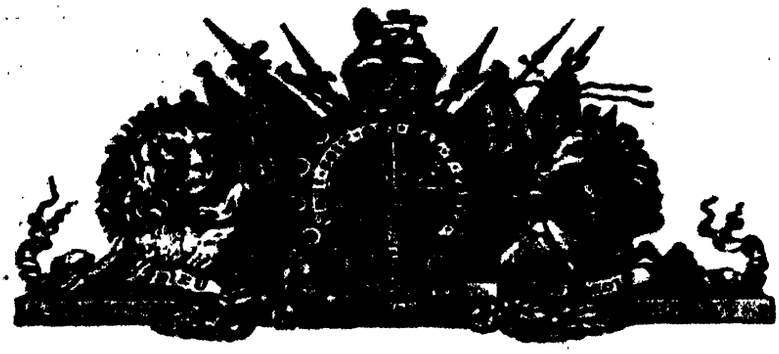
"It is unnecessary for me to say much with reference to the Bill at this stage. I cannot help thinking that in spite of the small differences that we have had as to matters of detail in various clauses of the Bill, the course of the legislation which we have adopted, which has been approved by high legal authority, has met with the general acceptance of Members. But I wish before sitting down to acknowledge the very great assistance that we have received at all stages of this Bill from the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Chapman. Mr. Chapman was responsible for the original draft of the Bill, he has advised us on various legal points, and he has helped us a great deal in bringing the Bill into the form in which it has now been adopted. It would be unbecoming of Government not to acknowledge what Mr. Chapman, its former Legal Remembrancer, has given us in time and trouble in connection with this Bill."

The motion was put and agreed to.

BENGAL BUDGET FOR 1913-14.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke presented the Budget of the Government of Bengal for 1913-14.

He said :—



"My Lord, I have the honour to present the budget for 1913-14. There is no change whatever since the last Financial Statement was circulated, and therefore I need say nothing further about it. The discussion will take place on the 2nd April, or on a subsequent date, after the legislative business set down for that day has been disposed of."

The Council was then adjourned to Wednesday, the 2nd April, 1913, at 11 A.M.

Calcutta.

No. 1040San.—The 1st April 1913.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 33 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880 (Bengal Act V of 1880), the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rules for the town of Calcutta.

RULES.

(A) Qualifications of Inspectors of Vaccination and Public Vaccinators.

1. No person shall be eligible for the post of an Inspector of Vaccination in Calcutta unless he possesses the diploma of a Sub-Assistant Surgeon from the Campbell Medical School, Calcutta, or some other Government medical school or some other medical institution which is recognized by the Government. In addition, he must satisfy the Health Officer as regards his proficiency in the knowledge of vaccination, vaccine disease and the provisions of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, and rules thereunder, and also as regards his ability to recognize good lymph, good vesicle and cicatrix.

2. No person shall be eligible for the post of a Vaccinator in Calcutta, who has not passed an oral and practical test held by the Health Officer as regards his knowledge of English, skill in performing vaccination, knowledge of vaccine disease, ability to distinguish the quality of lymph used, ability to recognize a good vesicle and cicatrix and acquaintance with the provisions of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, and rules thereunder.

(B) Gratuitous vaccination of Purdah Females.

3. Any female who from the custom of the country is unable to attend at the public vaccine-station and is in the opinion of the District Health Officer too poor to pay the fee for house vaccination shall, upon application, be vaccinated free of charge at her house.

(C) Supply of lymph.

4. The Corporation shall maintain an Animal Vaccine Depôt for the manufacture of vaccine lymph.

5. The lymph used by the Corporation Vaccinators for vaccination shall invariably be the glycerinated lymph which will be issued to them every morning in small capillary tubes from the depôt. Any tubes remaining in hand for more than a day from the previous supply shall be returned to the depôt for destruction.

6. Vaccine lymph, if available, may be purchased by the public at the office of the Health Officer during the cold weather months (i.e. from November to March inclusive), and at the Animal Vaccine Depôt, Ballygunge, throughout the year. The price of each tube, which contains sufficient lymph for eight insertions, is 8 annas, or the same in a tin case 10 annas. The Vaccinators and Inspectors are forbidden to sell lymyh to the public.

(D) Books and Forms.

7. The book which a Registrar of Births (Station Vaccinator) is required to keep under section 20 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, for entering minutes of notices (Schedule E) issued by him together with the particulars required by section 21 of the said Act shall be in the following form :—

Serial No.	Name of person to whom notice has been issued with address	Name (if any) of child	Date of birth	Number of entry in Register of births	Date of notice (Schedule E)	Date of certificate of successful vaccination (Schedule C)	Date of certificate of insuccessful vaccination (Schedule D)	Signature of Registrar

8. Where as a result of inquiry it is ascertained that an unprotected child has been removed from its place of birth, the following procedure shall be adopted, namely :—

(i) If the child has been removed to any place in Calcutta, the duplicate of the notice—Schedule E (Birth Register)—shall be forwarded by the Registrar of Births to the Health Officer of the district to which the child has been removed, for necessary inquiry. The said District Health Officer shall thereupon cause inquiries to be made, and shall report the result of such inquiries to the Registrar of Births as soon as possible.

(ii) Where the child has been taken outside Calcutta, a post-card in the following form shall be forwarded by the Registrar of Births to the Local Authority concerned and a note of the issue of the intimation as well as the result of the inquiries shall be recorded in the register to be prescribed from time to time for the purpose by the Superintendent of Vaccination :—

CALCUTTA CORPORATION.

Intimation of removal of unprotected child.

Name of child and sex	Date of birth	Name of parent or guardian	Occupation of parent or guardian	Address to which child

It is requested that steps may be taken to have the child vaccinated and the result communicated to the undersigned.

5, CORPORATION STREET, CALCUTTA. } Health Officer and Superintendent of Vaccination, Calcutta.

9. All registers shall be kept and returns submitted in the forms prescribed from time to time by the Superintendent of Vaccination.

(E) General instructions.

10. (1) Every Vaccinator shall, from time to time, make systematic inquiries whether the children born in his Ward, as shown by the duplicate notices of births issued at the time of registration, have been vaccinated.

(2) If, on any such inquiry, any such child is found to show marks of successful vaccination or of an attack of small-pox, the date of such vaccination or attack of small-pox must be ascertained and noted on the back of the corresponding Registrar's notice; and this notice must be returned through the Inspector to the District Health Officer.

(3) If, on any such inquiry, the child is found to be unprotected and in good health and otherwise fit for vaccination, the Vaccinator shall try to persuade the parent or guardian to have the child vaccinated. If the parent or guardian consents to have the child vaccinated, the Vaccinator shall vaccinate the child with the usual precautions either at the house of the parent or guardian or at the public vaccine-station, whichever is convenient to the party.

(4) If the parent or guardian refuses to allow the child to be vaccinated and the child is more than six months old and in a fit state for vaccination, the Vaccinator must submit through the Inspector to the District Health Officer an application for a summons against the parent or guardian (as the case may be) under section 28 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880.

11. (1) If as a result of inquiry any child appears to have died or cannot be traced, the Vaccinator shall note the fact on the Registrar's notice and return it to the District Health Officer.

(2) The procedure prescribed in Rule 8 must be followed whenever a child has been removed from the Ward in which the child was born.

12. A Vaccinator must make every endeavour to account for every child born in his Ward within nine months of the birth of such child.

13. (1) Systematic house-to-house inquiries must be made to discover unprotected persons (especially infants not born in Calcutta) and to take steps for their vaccination.

(2) If any such person who is under fourteen years of age and in a fit state for vaccination objects to immediate vaccination, a notice under section 3 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, must be forthwith served on the parent or guardian of such person.

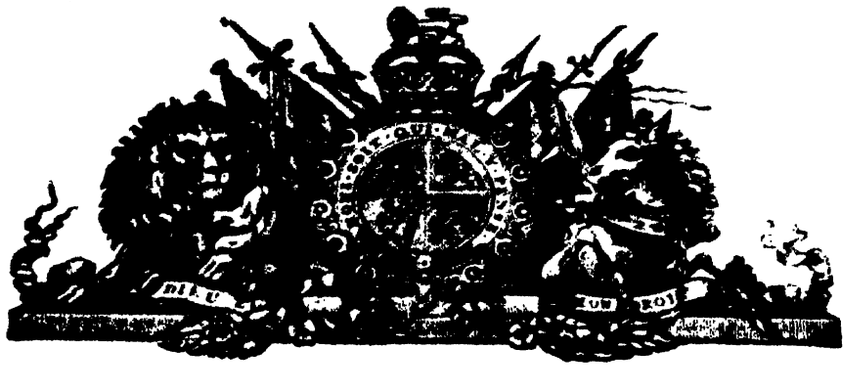
(3) Similarly, if any such unprotected person, who is fourteen years of age or upwards, does not agree to take vaccination, such person must be forthwith served with a notice under section 11 of the said Act in the prescribed form.

14. On the expiry of the period of every notice served under rule 13, the Vaccinator concerned must inspect the person in respect of whom it was issued, and if on inspection such person is still found unprotected, though in a fit state for vaccination, the Vaccinator must submit through the Inspector an application for a summons under section 28 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, in the prescribed form.

15. All fees realised by a Vaccinator during a week must be remitted to the District Health Officer through the Inspector every Monday, together with the receipt book, which will be returned to the Vaccinator duly receipted on the same day. The money must be paid by the District Health Officer into the Corporation Treasury, and must be incorporated in that officer's challan. Whether any fees have been realized or not during the week, the Vaccinator's receipt book must be sent to the Inspector the following Monday.

16. Every case of small-pox discovered by the Vaccinator in the course of his work must be immediately reported by him through the Inspector to the District Health Officer; and immediate steps must be taken by that officer for the vaccination of contacts and persons living or working in the neighbourhood of the infected house.

17. Every District Health Officer of the Corporation of Calcutta shall be an ex officio Assistant Superintendent of Vaccination under section 16 of the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, and shall perform such duties in connection with public vaccination in the area subject to his own jurisdiction as may be assigned to him from time to time by the Superintendent of Vaccination.



18. Every Inspector and Vaccinator and every other officer connected with vaccination shall perform such duties in addition to those prescribed by the Bengal Vaccination Act, 1880, as may be required by the Superintendent of Vaccination.

II. The following amendment is hereby made in the first paragraph of Notification No. 1630San., dated the 26th July 1912, published at page 132 of Part IB of the Calcutta Gazette of the 31st idem, namely :— to the said paragraph add the following—

"except the town of Calcutta as defined by section 2 of the said Act."

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

DEATH OF SIR EDWARD BAKER.

On taking his seat, His Excellency stated that he desired to suspend the Rules of Business, and to move the following Resolution :—

"That this Council desires to place on record its deep sorrow at the untimely death of the late Sir Edward Norman Baker, K.C.S.I., who, after a distinguished career in the Indian Civil Service, held the high office of Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal from November 1908 to July 1911, and was the first President of the enlarged Legislative Council constituted in 1910.

The Council also wishes to convey an expression of its sincere sympathy and condolence to Lady Baker in her bereavement."

He said :—

"I beg to move the above resolution. I had not the pleasure of knowing Sir Edward Baker myself, but I feel that, having regard to all that I know that he did for Bengal during his long service in India, this Resolution will commend itself to you.—"

THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"I have to thank Your Excellency on my own account and on behalf of the Council for bringing forward this resolution and giving us this opportunity of expressing our feelings. Perhaps there is no one now in this Council who has a better right than myself to say something on this Resolution, for I worked with Sir Edward Baker for a number of years in the closest possible relations, and I know what his character and what his ideals were. When he came back to Bengal as Lieutenant-Governor he had already served for a great many years in Bengal in many capacities, though he had latterly been away from us for several years with the Government of India earning distinction first as Secretary in the Finance Department and then as Finance Minister. At that time I was acting as Chief Secretary, and I continued to work with him in that capacity for about eighteen months. Then I went on leave for some months and when I came back, the enlarged Council was formed, and I was one of the Members of it. It was my privilege, in working with him, to understand and appreciate the ideals that he had set before himself in Indian Provincial Government.

"I do not think it would be right for me to pass any sort of criticism upon Sir Edward's administration. In fact, it is hardly becoming on my part to attempt an appreciation of it, and I therefore propose to confine myself to a very few words in this connection. But I think I may say (and all those in Council who knew him will support me) that his great ideal was to bring his Government into consonance with the times, and to make it more effective and stronger by associating with it the largest possible measure of public assistance. In that view, he for long advocated reform on the lines which were actually followed when the Council was enlarged in 1910. He was one of the most strenuous supporters of that policy. I know (I think it is no secret now) that he would personally have been willing to go somewhat further in extending the liberal constitution of the Council than was actually done. He had supreme confidence that, by making the Council representative and by associating the people with the Government, the Government itself would be strengthened. He followed that line of policy throughout; but, nevertheless, this very liberalism of spirit made no difference to the fact that he had very strong views about the maintenance of law and order, and was prepared to uphold them at any cost.

"He worked with great energy at the preparation of the Regulations of the enlarged Council, and he was happy when the latter was successfully inaugurated, and I think we all recall the speech which he made at the first meeting of the enlarged Council as to the spirit in which the work of Government should be conducted. He advocated further—I think he regarded this as a corollary to the enlargement of the Legislative Council—the association of an Executive Council with the Lieutenant-Governor, and I remember that it was a disappointment to him that he had to wait so long before he got it. However, that also he saw brought into being, though, unfortunately, only seven or eight months before he had to go home.

"In the case of a man who took such great interest in his work and showed such great energy, I think it impossible to imagine sadder circumstances than those which compelled his departure from India. First, his son broke down in health and became hopelessly ill. Then Lady Baker's health also suffered to some extent. I do not know, however, whether she would have, even then, gone home but for the fact that the critical condition of her son obliged her to do so. That sad fact, indeed, left her no alternative but to hurry away from India, and Sir Edward was thus left alone here, and before long his own health also failed. During his last few months he was a very different man in point of spirit and energy from the man who had taken over the Government two and-a-half years before, and, though he had completed only half his term, he found it necessary to give up his work out here though I know he did it with the utmost regret.

"Even so, none of his friends anticipated that his life was nearly over. It was hoped that at home he would recover and still play a useful, probably a great, part. These hopes have unfortunately not been realized, and all that we here can do now is to show our sympathy with, and appreciation for, his family and himself by adopting the Resolution, which has been so suitably moved by Your Excellency."

The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, speaking on this Resolution, I shall confine myself to a few remarks only. When I bade good-bye to Sir Edward Baker in July 1911, he told me, before he went, that he wanted very much to come back, yet he did not suppose he would be able to do so. How true these words proved to be is known to all. The last time I heard from him was nearly ten months ago, and that letter was one of the saddest and most melancholy that I have ever received, for in it he not only said that his son's illness was exceedingly grave, but that his own health had broken down, and that, owing to the enforced and unaccustomed leisure of retirement, he had no ready antidote upon which he could rely. I heard not long ago from Mr. Slacke (just before he left) that the reports of Sir Edward's health were very bad, but even then I did not realize that his death would come so soon.

"Regarding Sir Edward Baker's administration, the person best fitted to make any eulogy or review is Sir William Duke and he has done it. To me personally Sir Edward was a great friend—a true and loyal friend—and I appreciated his friendship all the more because, during his régime, there were occasions on which he and I differed on public matters; but one of his finest qualities was that, if he was convinced that an opponent's opinion was worthy of consideration, he was always ready to examine it from every point of view. In more than one way he helped me, and it was a privilege to serve on the first enlarged Council of Bengal under the presidency of Sir Edward Baker. His partiality for Bengal is well known. I remember when talking with him once, that I was very much surprised to find that he put the claims of Bengal and the Bengalis above those of any other province in India. Another thing that always struck me in Sir Edward Baker was this that, whether one agreed with him or not, he was essentially a man of business; if he took a thing up, he went into it thoroughly at once, and there was either a direct 'yes' or 'no,' whichever he thought right. I must say that I appreciated that quality in him very much, for though it is a quality that one may not always find to be pleasant, it is undoubtedly one that always pays in the long run, and secures respect on all hands for its possessor.

"For Lady Baker and for her sons we all naturally feel the deepest sympathy and sorrow, and I therefore give my fullest support to the Resolution moved by Your Lordship, though I cannot adequately express my sorrow at the premature death of such a great and valued personal friend."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji said :—

"My Lord, I desire fully to associate myself with the Resolution which Your Lordship has been pleased to move from the Chair. Sir William Duke, in the remarks which he has just made, has told us that nobody has a better right to speak about Sir Edward Baker than himself. I concede that right fully, but, my Lord, I claim to have been one of the oldest friends of Sir Edward Baker in this country, and, in that character, I feel that it is but my duty to intervene on this melancholy occasion. I knew Sir Edward while he was yet a comparatively young officer—District Magistrate of the 24-Parganas. We met for the first time over a municipal controversy—a controversy between himself as District Magistrate and myself as Chairman of the North Barrackpore Municipality. We met over this controversy; we settled the points at issue in five minutes' time, and from that time forward a friendship sprang up between us, which, despite differences of opinion, divergent interests and occupations, continued unabated through life. My Lord, I knew Sir Edward Baker well—closely and intimately knew him in all his strength and in all his weakness—and I will say this, without fear of challenge or contradiction, that he was a man of liberal instincts, of generous impulses, of strong convictions, of transparent honesty of purpose. While yet a young officer—District Magistrate of the 24-Parganas—he recorded a strong note against Sir Charles Elliott's jury notification, which, at that time, as most of my friends will remember, excited a considerable degree of controversy and agitation, and the notification had to be withdrawn. As a member of the Calcutta Corporation (and for several years he was a Municipal Commissioner of Calcutta), he usually voted on the popular side, and his sympathies were always with the popular side. It is an open secret, and a fact to which the Hon'ble Mr. Maddox testified only the other day, that he wanted to modify the Calcutta Municipal Act which he piloted through this Council, and which I hope and trust your Excellency's Government will see fit to amend.

"My Lord, as a Member of Lord Minto's Executive Council, Sir Edward was the pillar of the reform movement in that Council. He championed it with that downright thoroughness which was a distinguished trait in his public and private character. My Lord, as Lieutenant-Governor, he was a friend of education in all its aspects, high, primary and technical, and the students of Calcutta, I am entitled to speak on their behalf, will remember with affection and gratitude his courtesy—never-failing courtesy and kindness—to them. My Lord, the words which Sir Edward Baker uttered from that Chair, which your Excellency now so worthily occupies, when presiding over the first meeting of the reformed Council, still ring in our ears. He said that the time had now come when Government by persuasion must be substituted for Government by compulsion. My Lord, these words are graven deep in the recollection of my countrymen. They constitute the starting point of the new era. My Lord, this is not the time nor the place to enter upon a critical examination of the public career of Sir Edward Baker. I ask, who amongst us is perfect, or can face with unflinching gaze the ordeal of history? But this I will say with absolute confidence, without fear of challenge or contradiction, that he was much more than a mere official. In him, my Lord, there was a larger element of humanity which, bursting through official trappings, animated the whole man. To have come in contact with him was to be impressed with a personality at once genial, warm-hearted and full of intense sincerity, with a man who meant what he said, and who said what he meant.

"My Lord, it is perhaps useless to disguise the fact that in later years Sir Edward's administration did not give entire public satisfaction, but, My Lord, when the news of his death arrived in this country, there was awakened throughout the length and breadth of this province a genuine and profound feeling of regret; and how could it be otherwise? For Sir Edward Baker loved Bengal, and the people of Bengal reciprocated that love with enthusiastic gratitude. He has left behind him many friends and admirers, and many among them feel, like myself, as if someone near and dear to them had been snatched away from their side by the ruthless hand of death. My Lord, to-day all differences of opinion are laid aside. To-day the voice of contention, criticism and controversy is hushed in the presence of the open grave, and the feeling which has found expression in this Council Chamber, I am confident, will awaken a responsive echo in the grateful hearts of the people of Bengal throughout the length and breadth of this province. My Lord, I desire most cordially and sympathetically to associate myself with this Resolution."

The HON'BLE MR. NORMAN MCLEOD said :—

"My Lord, on behalf of the Mercantile Community, I wish to endorse all that has been said with regard to the late Sir Edward Baker. He was essentially a Bengal man, and a man of whom we were all proud. Early in his career he was for a considerable time our Collector of Customs, and while in that position he earned our complete confidence in the discharge of the work of that important office, as well as our admiration for his exceptional abilities. These abilities were soon recognized by the Government of India, who raised him from post to post, until he rose to the highest position then open to a Civilian in this country, that of Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. Those of us who were Members of the first enlarged Council of this Province can amply testify to his unfailing courtesy, his impartial judgment, his strict sense of duty, and his universal kindness to all. Is it, therefore, to be wondered at that we feel that in his death we have lost a good friend to this Province, and one to whose memory we wish to pay an inadequate but respectful and grateful tribute? I most gladly support the Resolution."

The HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYED NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI KHAN BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, the death of Sir Edward Baker has come as a shock to many of us who had known him. Speaking as I do, as a member of the Muhammadan Community, our first and foremost thought is to commend his soul to Him who holds life and death in His hands. The next thought that rises in our minds is one of sympathy and condolence with the bereaved. May the bereaved find true consolation and comfort in their sore trial of grief and sorrow. I endorse every word that has been given expression to by the previous speakers. Sir Edward had endeared himself to all who came in contact with him. His character and personality were outstanding features in his career among us. In all his official duties, which extended over many years, he evinced strong traits of character which marked him out as a man of sterling worth, and ability and as a strong administrator. His bold and administrator-like speeches and actions may have invited untoward criticism in certain quarters, but, none the less, they have won for him universal admiration, and I hope his example will act as a stimulus to all officers in the discharge of their duties and in putting down evil by strong measures.

"The Muhammadan Community will long remember his name as that of one who always took a keen interest in the education of Muhammadan youths in Bengal. The Baker Hostel for Muhammadan students, bearing his name, will long perpetuate his memory; and those who come within its walls will be stimulated by his life and conduct.

"My Lord, I wish my Community to be associated in any Resolution of sympathy and condolence that may go from this Council to the bereaved family."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"My lord, it is with profound regret that we learnt, on Sunday morning, of the death of Sir Edward Baker, the late Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal. When about two years ago he left this country, little did any one think that he would so soon succumb to the illness from which he had been suffering. I had the honour of knowing him since the year 1891, when he came to Alipore as Magistrate of the district of 24-Parganas. While at Alipore, he had no doubt the reputation of being a very strict officer, but he was kind-hearted, warm-hearted, polite and a most courteous gentleman. Throughout his career he had the reputation of being an indefatigable worker, who never spared himself. Those who live in the mofussal know very well how very necessary it is for a district to have a sympathetic and kind-hearted District Magistrate. It is with him that the people have to come in direct contact almost every day. His sympathies with the people under his charge count for much. As a resident of the district of the 24-Parganas, I can testify to the qualities of Sir Edward's head and heart, to the fact that the people of the district were happy during his administration and to his constant readiness to give them a sympathetic hearing. It is not for me to dilate upon his great financial abilities. As a Lieutenant-Governor, he was in full sympathy with the political aspirations of the people of this country and, so far as we know, he gave his whole-hearted support to Lord Morley's Reform Scheme and did his best to make it a success.

"I distinctly remember that it was on the same afternoon that he gave his first garden party at Belvedere as Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, that the telegram came from Lord Morley embodying the summary of the proposed Council Reforms. He told us that evening that 15 years had elapsed since the time the first reforms had been introduced in the Council (during Lord Lansdowne's administration), that 15 years was but a short period in the political history of a nation, and that the present reforms introduced by Lord Morley would, during the next 15 years, be very much extended."

"His speech on the occasion of the opening of the first reformed Council in Bengal will ever be remembered as the pronouncement of a large-hearted Statesman. Government by persuasion, he said, must be substituted for Government by compulsion. As is well known to every one here present, that speech was quoted by Lord Morley as indicating a new departure in the policy of Indian Government. We all expected then that a long lease of useful life was reserved for him. But little did we think that so soon we should have to express our heartfelt sorrow at the loss of the last of the permanent Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal, and I join, in all sympathy, in supporting this Resolution."

The Resolution was then put and agreed to, all Members standing.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Proportion of Muhammadans on Local and District Boards and Municipalities in the Presidency Division.

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem asked :—

I.—Will the Government be pleased to state the number of Muhammadans and the total number of members—

(i) elected by the rate-payers,
(ii) appointed by the Government, in each of the Local and District Boards and Municipalities in the Presidency Division, and the proportion of Muhammadans to the total population in each area?

The Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson replied :—

ALLEGED MOSLEM'S INDIGNATION AT THEATRICAL PERFORMANCE AT TANGAIL.

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HUQ asked :—

11.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a telegram published in the "Amrita Bazar Patrika", dated the 5th February, 1913, under the heading "Moslem Indignation", referring to a theatrical performance, staged at Tangail during the Industrial Exhibition held there, containing characters in the play named Hosain, Fatema, Sakina, Khadija and names of other personages sacred to Muhammadans ?

(b) Is it a fact that, on account of such names having been given to several characters in the play, there was violent agitation amongst the Muhammadans of Tangail, whose feelings could afterwards be appeased only with difficulty by the authorities ?

(c) If the version given in the newspapers be not quite correct, will the Government be pleased to state what really occurred in connection with the aforesaid theatrical performance at Tangail on the occasion of the recent Exhibition held there ?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state whether they propose to take any steps to impress on officials the inadvisability of encouraging, as some officials are reported to have done at Tangail, theatrical or other performances calculated to wound the feelings of any community or likely to lead to public disturbance ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a), (b), (c) & (d) The attention of Government has been drawn to the telegram in question. From the information which has been received it appears that the performance of the play 'Ali Baba' was organised mainly by Muhammadans themselves. At the beginning of the performance one or two of their number objected to the names of certain characters in the play. Other Muhammadans present, amongst whom was a Muhammadan Assistant Settlement Officer, considered that there was no cause for objection and it was held to be too late in any case to change the names. The play accordingly proceeded and the audience remained to witness it. It is not a fact that the incident excited any violent agitation : the matter was not referred to the local authorities and the Magistrate reports it to have been trifling. In the circumstances Government does not propose to take any action."

SEPARATION OF SERVICES UNDER THE BENGAL GOVERNMENT FROM THOSE OF THE CORRESPONDING SERVICES OF THE BIHAR AND ORISSA GOVERNMENT.

The HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

III.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the different Services under the Bengal Government have been completely separated from the corresponding Services under the Bihar and Orissa Government ?

(b) If not, will the Government be pleased to state which Services have not been so separated, and when their separation may be expected ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The services under the Bengal Government have been completely separated from the corresponding services in Bihar and Orissa, with the exception of the Provincial Judicial Service and the Indian Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services. The Provincial Judicial Services of the two provinces have been provisionally separated and it is hoped that sanction to the arrangements which have been proposed will shortly be received. The question of the separation of the Educational Services is now under consideration in consultation with the Government of Bihar and Orissa. Since the sanction of the Government of India will be required after the Local Government have arrived at an agreement in the matter, some time must elapse before final orders are issued."

TOTAL COLLECTIONS OF LAND REVENUE AND PROVINCIAL RATES IN THE HOWRAH DISTRICT.

The HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

IV.—Will the Government be pleased to state the amounts of total collections of—

(i) Land Revenue, and

(ii) Provincial rates, including the Road Cess and the Public Works Cess, in the district of Hooghly, including the district of Howrah, during each of the last three years ; and the amounts collected in respect of the same in estates and areas lying within the district of Howrah ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement is laid on the table which gives the information desired by the Hon'ble Member."

CALCUTTA POLICE COURT.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

V.—Has the attention of the Government been drawn to an article published in the "Bas and Rayyat" of the 22nd February, 1913, headed the "Calcutta Police Court" ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The answer is in the affirmative."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

VI.—Has the attention of the Government also been drawn to the correspondence which appeared in the "Amrita Bazar Patrika" of the 10th 11th, 12th, 13th, 15th, 21st, 24th and 25th February, 1913, under the heading of the "Partition of the Calcutta Police Court"?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The answer is in the affirmative."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

VII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there is any proposal before it for splitting up the Calcutta Police Court?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what is the nature of the proposal?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The answer to this question is contained in the answer which will be given to Question No. XV."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

VIII.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a copy of the Report of inspection made by Mr. Duval with regard to the Calcutta Police Court in December, 1911, and January, 1912?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Mr. Duval's inspection report is a confidential document, and it is not proposed to publish it."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

IX.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement of the judicial work done in the Calcutta Police Court between 1905 and 1912, showing—

(a) cognisable cases—

(i) sent up by the Police under—

(1) the Indian Penal Code, 1860 (Act XLV of 1860),

(2) the Local Acts,

(3) Miscellaneous;

(ii) instituted on complaint before the Magistrate under—

(1) the Indian Penal Code,

(2) the Local Acts,

(3) Miscellaneous;

(b) Non-cognizable cases—

(i) dismissed without any trial,

(ii) tried out.

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Statements (A and B) furnishing such information as is available are laid on the table."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XII.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, year by year, the work done by the stipendiary and Honorary Presidency Magistrates, within the last five years ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"A statement (E) furnishing such information as is available is laid on the table."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XIII.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing—

(a) how many Honorary Presidency Magistrates there are now ;
(b) how many there were in 1906 and in 1909 ;
(c) how many Honorary Presidency Magistrates are empowered to sit singly and how many only as Benches ; and (d) how many Honorary Presidency Magistrates have not been invited to attend at all once in six months, within the last five years ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a) & (b), (c) A statement (F) giving the information desired by the Hon'ble Member is laid on the table.

(d) No statistics are kept from which this question can be answered."

STATEMENT REFERRED TO IN THE ANSWER BY THE HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE TO QUESTION NO. XIII, ASKED BY THE HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR AT THE COUNCIL MEETING OF THE 2ND APRIL, 1913.

Statement (F) showing the number of Honorary Presidency Magistrates.

(a) At present 53 (excluding the Registrar).

(b) Seventy-nine and 67, respectively.

(c) At present 17 and 36, respectively.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XIV.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to revise the Rules framed by the Chief Presidency Magistrate, with the sanction of the Government, under section 31 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, defining the duties and work of the Presidency Magistrates? If so, how?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"If it is decided to authorise any of the subordinate Presidency Magistrates to take cognizance of petitions of complaint and of Police cases in specified areas, the Rules framed by the Chief Presidency Magistrate under section 21 (1) of the Criminal Procedure Code will require to be revised."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XV.—(a) Is the Government aware of the terrible inconvenience to the public caused by the want of accommodation in the present Police Court Building?

(b) Is the Government aware that there is not sufficient accommodation for court-rooms in the present Building and that the Honorary Presidency Magistrate's court-room is so small and so dark even in broad daylight, and so shut out from external air and light on all sides that business cannot be conducted without the aid of light, and that it is positively injurious to health to stop in the room for some hours?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether or not there is a proposal to make additions to the present Building at Lal Bazar?

(d) Were not a plan and estimate prepared?

(e) Will the Government be pleased to state how that proposal has been disposed of?

(f) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there is a proposal to shift the Police Court Building to the Government building at Charnock Place, where the Presidency Commissioner's office is located? If so, when will it be given effect to?

THE HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a)—(d) The inadequacy of the existing accommodation in the Police Court Building at Lal Bazar has for some time past been the subject of the most anxious consideration by the Local Government. The Governor in Council is well aware that the present arrangements are seriously inconvenient to all concerned and render the orderly and prompt despatch of business a matter of great difficulty. Before the announcement of the transfer of the Imperial Capital from Calcutta, plans and estimates had been prepared for adding two new Court-rooms to the existing building. This extension would have given partial relief, but the scheme did not command the unqualified approval of Government for the following reasons : (1) the full requirements of the case would not be satisfied thereby, (2) the existing building is in many respects quite unsuitable for Police Courts and is located in a confined and noisy situation, (3) the compound is already unduly congested, and (4) all the available space and buildings within the compound are urgently required by the Commissioner of Police for his own purposes. In fact, it was recognised that the real solution of the difficulty lay in the entire removal of the Police Courts to another site, and when the transfer of the Government of India from Calcutta offered a reasonable prospect that by utilising the accommodation which would thereby become available it would be found practicable to carry into effect a more complete and satisfactory scheme, the makeshift remedy hitherto under consideration was abandoned. Another scheme was then put forward which was based on the expectation that the Local Government might obtain possession of the Foreign and Military Secretariat. In that event it was hoped that it would be found possible to convert 3, Charnock Place, into the Presidency Magistrates' Courts, though even this spacious building would have proved none too large for the purpose. On it being ascertained that the Foreign and Military Secretariats would not be available, this proposal also had to be dropped. Government still hold the opinion, however, that the Police Courts should be entirely removed from the Police compound at Lal Bazar and that, if necessary, entirely new buildings should be constructed for their accommodation. Some time must elapse before a definite decision can be arrived at on the general question. Meanwhile, in order to relieve the physical congestion of the existing Police Courts for which a remedy must be found without delay, a proposal has been put forward and is now under the consideration of Government to provide Courts for two of the Stipendiary Magistrates and a certain number of Honorary Magistrates elsewhere. This scheme has been devised primarily to secure without delay the additional space required, but it has been urged in further support of it that by locating two Courts in proximity to the headquarters of the Deputy Commissioners of the Northern and Parkstreet divisions, before whom all parties in police cases of their respective divisions must appear before trial, much saving of time to both the police and the parties will result, and by authorising the Magistrates in charge of these Courts to take direct cognizance of petitions of complaint and police cases for distinct jurisdictions in proximity to their Courts, not only will their own efficiency and sense of responsibility be increased, but the public concerned will be greatly benefited and convenienced. At the same time the Chief Presidency Magistrate, whose duties, owing to the enormous increase of work, have grown to unmanageable dimensions, will receive a substantial measure of relief which, in the interests of good administration, he urgently needs.

An officer has recently been placed on special duty to examine these suggestions and to formulate definite proposals. His report is expected to be submitted shortly."

RE-SURVEY OF THE VISHNUPUR-SANTRAGACHI RAILWAY.

The HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XVI.—With reference to the Government Notification No. 3 R., dated the 20th January, 1913, published in the "Calcutta Gazette" on the 22nd

idem, regarding a resurvey in respect of the projected Vishnupur-Santragachi Railway, will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the alignment of the projected Railway, according to the original survey, with the names of the principal villages through which the line is to pass, and the alteration of the said alignment, if any, which may have been suggested or determined for the purpose of the resurvey ?

(ii) the point at which the proposed line is to cross the river Damodar according to the original survey, and the alteration, if any, which may have been suggested or determined for the purpose of the resurvey ?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"Two surveys were made for the proposed Vishnupur-Santragachi Railway, one by Mr. Bell in 1890 and the other by Mr. Chadwick, in 1901-02.

(1) Two alternative alignments were proposed by Mr. Bell for a line between Vishnupur and Calcutta, viz :—

(a) viâ Desara, Chandoor, Mahamudpur, joining the East Indian Railway at Hooghly and crossing the Darkeswar river at Chandoor and the Damodar about 3 miles to the south of the Begua breach. A branch was contemplated taking off east of the Damodar at Mahamudpur, passing through Tarakeshwar at Sirugipur and joining the East Indian Railway and Bengal-Nagpur Railway near Howrah.

(b) Taking off at Desura, passing Jahanabad and rejoining the first alignment (a) at Sirugipur. The Darkeswar river was crossed at Jahanabad and the Damodar a little over 10 miles south of the Begua breach.

(2) The alignment proposed by Mr. Chadwick was from Vishnupur on the Bengal-Nagpur Railway viâ Mainapur, Katalpur, Chota Boinan, Bhandarhati and Harit, joining the East Indian Railway to the north of Hooghly station.

The Darkeswar river was crossed at Eklakhee, the Damodar just to the south of the Begua breach, and the Tarkeshwar-Magra Railway between Banpur and Dasghara stations.

A branch was contemplated taking off at Bhandarhati and passing through Bakipur to Khurial. From Khurial three alternatives were proposed :—

(a) to cross the Hooghly and join the Eastern Bengal State Railway at Panihatti ;

(b) a branch to join the East Indian Railway at Uttarpara ;

(c) a line running due south to join the Bengal-Nagpur Railway at Santragachi, with a connection crossing the East Indian Railway between Lillooah and Bally, the Hooghly river at Cossipore, and joining the Eastern Bengal State Railway at Dum-Dum.

No alignment has yet been determined upon for the new survey.

The existing surveys are out of date, and a resurvey by the Bengal-Nagpur Railway is being undertaken to investigate the existing state of the Damodar river and spill before deciding on the point of crossing.

The alignment at the Calcutta end will depend on the site fixed for the proposed new junction yard west of the Hooghly river and on the position fixed for the crossing of the Hooghly, a survey for which is at present being made by State agency."

ESTABLISHMENT OF A MINING SCHOOL AT ASANSOL.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

XVII.—Will the Government be pleased to state what further steps have been taken to develop the scheme mentioned in the official communiqué published by the "Statesman" in its issue of the 29th December, 1912, to establish a well-equipped school at Asansol for imparting instructions in Mining?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The question is under the consideration of this Government in connection with a report recently received from the Director of Public Instruction. It is proposed to address the Government of Bihar and Orissa at an early date on the subject, before preparing a detailed scheme for instruction in mining in the mining districts. The Associations and others interested will be further consulted in the matter before final orders are passed."

PROPORTION OF MUHAMMADANS ON MANAGING COMMITTEE OF HIGH SCHOOLS IN THE PRESIDENCY.

The HON'BLE MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN asked :—

XVIII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of high schools existing in the Presidency, and how many of them are entirely Government institutions and how many aided?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state how many of the latter have a majority of Muhammadans on the Managing Committee?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) There are 524 High Schools in the Presidency, of which 42 are Government and 211 aided institutions.

(b) In 5 schools of the latter class, Muhammadans are in a majority on the Managing Committee."

AMENDMENT OF THE BENGAL MUNICIPAL ACT, 1884 (BENGAL ACT III OF 1884).

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

XIX.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Bengal Municipal Act, 1884 (Bengal Act III of 1884) is going to be amended? If so, when?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"The general question of amending the Bengal Municipal Act has been under consideration for some time, but action has been postponed pending final orders on the recommendations of the Decentralization Commission. A Bill to amend the Act in one particular was introduced into Council at the last meeting."

AMALGAMATION OF THE DEPARTMENTS OF PUBLIC SERVICE OF THE LATE GOVERNMENT OF EASTERN BENGAL AND ASSAM AND THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

The HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

XX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact that Departments of Public Service of the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Government of Bengal, with the exception of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services have been amalgamated ?

(b) Will the Goverment be pleased to state what Departments have not been so amalgamated ?

(c) If it be a fact that the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Departments have not been amalgamated, will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the reasons for such differential treatment,

(ii) when such amalgamation may be expected, and

(iii) how the want of such amalgamation has hitherto affected the members of the Services concerned regarding their promotion ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) All Departments of the Public Service of the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam and the Government of Bengal have been amalgamated except (1) the various Educational Services, (2) the Registration Service and (3) the Veterinary Department. The pay of Income Tax Assessors has not yet been made uniform, and various small adjustments remain to be made in other services.

(c) (i) & (ii) The delay in amalgamating the educational services has been due solely to the difficulty of distributing the posts which were in existence on the 1st April, 1912, equitably between the three new provinces. The Government of India have directed that joint proposals must be submitted by the Governments of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa and Assam in regard to the formation of the cadres of the educational services. A number of difficulties connected with the allotment of posts in the various grades in the different provinces have arisen, and are at present the subject of correspondence between this Government and the other Governments concerned. It cannot at present be stated when it will be possible to submit complete proposals to the Government of India. As soon as the orders of the Government of India are received, the various services of the Education Department in the two parts of the province will be amalgamated, as in the case of other services.

(c) (iii) In the Provincial and Subordinate Educational services which are graded, it has been necessary to hold promotions in abeyance pending the final adjustment of the cadres and the allotment of posts to the various grades, but there is no reason to suppose that the members of the services will ultimately suffer any loss."

THE PROVINCIAL AND SUBORDINATE EDUCATIONAL SERVICES.

The HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

XXI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to furnish a statement of the vacancies in the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state why the vacancies have not been filled up and when they are likely to be filled up ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) As the cadres have not yet been fixed, it is not possible to specify the vacancies which exist. When the Government of India have sanctioned the new cadres, any vacancies which may exist will be filled up and consequential promotions granted."

The HON'BLE DR. DEPA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

XXII.—(a) Has Government under consideration any scheme for granting personal allowances to the Members of the Provincial and Subordinate Educational Services equivalent to sums that will make their pay the same as that of the next higher grade, as a temporary measure, pending the final consideration of schemes for the betterment of the Services?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state when such a scheme may be expected to come into force?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) Government does not consider it necessary to take any action of the nature suggested."

APPOINTMENT OF CIVIL ENGINEERS AS ASSISTANT ENGINEERS IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

XXIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state how many Civil Engineers, both European and Indian, recruited from the United Kingdom, as well as from the Indian Engineering Colleges, have been appointed to the rank of Assistant Engineers in Bengal since the abolition of the Cooper's Hill College?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"Since the abolition of Cooper's Hill College at the end of 1906, 22 Assistant Engineers have been appointed to the Public Works Department in Bengal. Of this number, 11 were appointed in England by the Secretary of State from Colleges in Great Britain, and 11 were appointed in India either from the Sibpur Engineering College or by promotion from the Upper Subordinate grades of the Public Works Department."

CONSTRUCTION OF SUITABLE BUILDINGS OF THE COURTS OF THE DISTRICT JUDGE OF BURDWAN.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

XXIV.—a Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the miserable condition of the buildings in which the Courts of the District Judge, First Subordinate Judge and Second Munsif of Burdwan are held?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to construct suitable buildings for the use of these Courts?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"No communications have been addressed to Government in regard to the condition of the Civil Court buildings at Burdwan and no proposals for the construction of new buildings have been received. It is, however, understood that the District Judge is in communication with the officers of the Public Works Department with a view to the preparation of plans and estimates for a new Judge's Court."

EXCLUSION OF CERTAIN AREAS IN THE RESERVE FORESTS OF THE CHITTAGONG DISTRICT FOR HINDU DEVOTEES.

The HON'BLE BABU PRASANNA KUMAR RAY asked :—

XXV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether, in demarcating the boundaries of the reserved forests of the Chittagong district extending over the hill ranges on which the shrines noted below are situated, any area surrounding these shrines has been set apart for the Hindu ascetics for the collection of fuel and fruits for their own use, without payment—

(i) Sitakund,

(ii) Barabkund,

(iii) Lobanakya,

(iv) Kumarikund in thana Sitakund, and

(v) Ramkote in thana Cox's Bazar?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state what area in the neighbourhood of each shrine has been so excluded?

(c) If nothing to this effect has been done, will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to exclude any such areas in the reserves mentioned above for the use of Hindu devotees?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The first four shrines mentioned in the question are situated in the Sitakund reserved forest. An area of 808 acres round the shrines has been excluded from the reserve and thrown open to the public, in order that pilgrims and others resorting to the shrines may not be hampered in any way in the performance of their religious ceremonies. In addition, an order was passed in 1903 under section 25 of the Indian Forest Act, allowing Hindu devotees and pilgrims to the shrines the following privileges throughout the Southern Sitakund reserved forest, which covers about 37 square miles :—

(a to kindle or carry fire, provided that due care be taken to prevent injury to the forest being caused thereby owing to negligence or to leaving any fire burning in the forest ;

(b to collect fruits and firewood for their own use and consumption, but not for barter or sale.

The shrine at Ramkote in Cox's Bazar thana does not appear to be situated in a reserved forest, and no restrictions have been imposed under the Forest Act on the use of the jungle in the locality by Hindu devotees or any other class of the community."

IMPROVEMENT OF THE PAY AND POSITION OF MINISTERIAL OFFICERS IN THE SUBORDINATE OFFICES OF THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE BABU PRASANNA KUMAR RAY asked :—

XXVI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Committee appointed some time ago to consider the question of improving the pay and position of ministerial officers employed in the subordinate offices of the Public Works Department has submitted its report to Government?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to state when the Committee's proposals for improvement will be given effect to in case of the said establishment?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"(a) The Committee appointed to consider the system of work, strength of establishment and pay of clerks, draftsmen, etc., in Bengal have submitted their report.

(b) Great difficulty has been found in dealing with the comprehensive proposals made by the Committee, owing to the fact that since their recommendations were submitted the jurisdiction and constitution of all the Public Works Department Circles in the province have been modified by the territorial redistribution carried out with effect from the 1st April, 1912. It was necessary to consider the effects of these changes in jurisdiction, and it is only now, after the experience of 12 months' working has been obtained, that Government is in a position to determine what changes are necessary in the scheme proposed by the Committee, in order to bring it into agreement with the new conditions. The results of this year's experience are now under consideration, and it is hoped that it will be possible to pass definite orders on the scheme within the next few months. It must be understood, however, that the changes proposed by the Committee will only be brought into operation gradually and cannot be given immediate effect as soon as it has been decided to adopt them."

SADAR SUBDIVISIONAL OFFICERS.

The HON'BLE BABU PRASANNA KUMAR RAY asked :—

XXVII.—Will the Government be pleased to state in what districts in Bengal Sadar Subdivisional Officers have been appointed and whether it is in contemplation to introduce the system in other districts to which it has not yet been extended ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The Sadar Subdivisional Officer system has been introduced into all districts in the Presidency and Burdwan Divisions and into the Rangpur, Bogra, Tippera, and Noakhali districts in Eastern Bengal. The question of appointing Sadar Subdivisional officers for the Mymensingh, Dacca, and Bakarganj districts is now under consideration, and it is proposed to extend the system, as far as possible, to the remaining districts of the Presidency."

The HON'BLE BABU PRASANNA KUMAR RAY asked :—

XXVIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to create new subdivisions by splitting up any of the existing Sadar or outlying subdivisions in the Chittagong Division ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"A suggestion to create a fourth subdivision in the Tippera district is under consideration. The local officers have been asked to report upon the suggestion and their reply is awaited."

THE INDIAN EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXIX.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing—

(i) the names of the members of the Indian Educational Service who have been recruited within the last ten years and are now posted in Bengal ;

(ii) their educational qualifications, indicating the subjects in which they graduated, the classes in which they were placed for their respective degrees and the Universities from which they come ;

(iii) the date of their recruitment, their pay to start with and their present pay ; and

(iv) where they are posted, and in what capacity, and the subject or subjects taught by each ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement giving the information required, so far as available, is laid on the table."

IMPROVEMENT IN THE PAY OF THE OFFICERS AND CLERKS ATTACHED TO THE OFFICES OF THE SUPERINTENDING AND EXECUTIVE ENGINEERS UNDER THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXX.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the prevailing inequality in the pay of the officers and clerks attached to the offices of the Superintending and Executive Engineers under the Public Works Department ?

(b) If so, has the Government taken any steps to remove it ?

(c) If no steps have yet been taken, is it the intention of the Government to take any steps in this respect and when ?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the replies given to Question No. XXVI (a) and (b) put by the Hon'ble Babu Prasanna Kumar Ray."

IMPROVEMENT IN THE PAY OF THE CLERKS AND DRAFTSMEN IN THE PUBLIC WORKS DEPARTMENT IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXXI.—Will the Government be pleased to state what, if any, action has been taken by the Government as regards the question of the pay and grading of the clerks and draftsmen in the Public Works Department offices in Bengal?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

The Hon'ble Member is referred to the reply given to Question No. XXX on the same subject.

SLAUGHTER OF PRIME-COWS.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXXII.—(a) Is the Government aware that prime-cows are slaughtered in the several slaughter-houses in and about Calcutta?

(b) If so, have any steps been taken for its prevention?

(c) If no steps have been taken, will the Government be pleased to state whether it is prepared to take any steps in this behalf?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"Government has no information as to this matter, which has not been brought to its attention in any way. The slaughter-houses in question are under the control of the Calcutta Corporation, and the request for information might with advantage be made to them in the first instance."

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XXXIII.—Will the Government be pleased to state what steps are taken for the prevention of slaughtering prime-cows in Bengal?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"Government has no official knowledge of any steps being taken to this end."

STUDENTS OF THE VETERINARY COLLEGE.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXXIV.—Will the Government be pleased to state how many of the 36 students, who had passed out of the Veterinary College and were at one time employed in the Veterinary Department—

(a) resigned,

(b) were removed or

(c) were dismissed?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"Of the 36 students referred to, 19 resigned, 4 were removed and 13 were dismissed."

The HON'BLE BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXXV.—Has the Government made inquiries as to why so many employés have either resigned or been dismissed within such a short period of the existence of the Department?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The answer is in the negative."

DIFFERENCES IN THE PAY AND TRAVELLING ALLOWANCES OF THE VETERINARY INSPECTORS IN EASTERN AND WESTERN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

XXXVI.—(a) Is the Government aware that the pay and travelling allowances of the Veterinary assistants in the Eastern Bengal districts differ considerably from those in Western Bengal, and that the pay and status of the Eastern Bengal Inspectors are different from those of the Western Bengal Inspectors?

(b) If so, has the Government taken any steps to remove this distinction?

(c) If no such steps have yet been taken, is it the intention of the Government to take any steps in this behalf, and if so, when?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"Government is aware of the differences referred to. Proposals for the reorganisation of the Veterinary Department, including the coordination of the conditions of service in both parts of the Presidency, are now under the consideration of Government."

IMPROVEMENT OF MIDDLE ENGLISH SCHOOLS IN EASTERN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

XXXVII.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether any action has been taken on the general survey of Middle English schools in Eastern Bengal which was completed in 1910, and if so, whether Government intends to spend any portion of the recurring and non-recurring allotments out of the Imperial assignment towards the improvement of these schools?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The general survey of Middle English schools which was completed in Eastern Bengal in 1910 revealed the fact that a large number of schools were in a very unsatisfactory condition, but it was not considered advisable to take drastic measures which would inevitably have led to a considerable diminution in the number of such schools. Considerable grants have been given for the improvement of Middle English schools in the past two years so far as funds permitted, but as stated in reply to questions asked from time to time in the Legislative Council of Eastern Bengal and Assam, it was impossible to incur expenditure on a large scale until provision had been made for more urgent needs. The needs of Middle English schools will receive the careful consideration of Government in distributing the new Imperial grants."

PROPOSED APPOINTMENT OF AN ASSISTANT OR DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION FOR MUHAMMADAN EDUCATION.

The HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYID NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

XXXVIII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the provision of Rs. 9,000 for revision of the establishment of the office of the Director of Public Instruction is intended for the appointment of a second Assistant Director or a Deputy Director of Public Instruction for Muhammadan education?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is intended that this officer should be in general charge of the office of the Director of Public Instruction and occasionally advise that official in matters of Muhammadan education, or that he should be given full powers to initiate and mature schemes of Muhammadan education, subject to the approval of Government?

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr replied :—

(a) The provision of Rs. 9,000 referred to includes Rs. 6,000 for the revision of the ministerial establishment of the Director of Public Instruction's office and Rs. 3,000 for the establishment of the officer to be appointed for the supervision of Muhammadan education. It does not include the pay of that officer, which has been provided for under the directing staff. Sanction to the appointment of the officer has just been received from the Secretary of State.

(b) It is intended that the special officer should be placed in respect of Madrasas and Maktabs in the position of an Inspector of Schools, and that he should be given the full powers of initiation and control which are vested in an officer of this class. He will correspond direct with the Director of Public Instruction in regard to these institutions, which will be removed from the jurisdiction of the Divisional Inspectors. He will be given considerable discretion in the allotment of grants-in-aid and other funds. In respect to general education, the functions of the special officer will be advisory. He will visit institutions of all grades, but merely for the purpose of studying the conditions under which Muhammadan pupils live and work, and of giving advice as to how these conditions may be improved and in what manner the Government may best afford assistance. It is also contemplated to appoint a Standing Committee of officials and non-officials to advise Government in dealing with the many difficult problems which surround Muhammadan education, so as to enable both the Government and the Muhammadan community to derive full advantage from the appointment of this special officer."

Rules regulating distributions of Educational Grants by District and Municipal Boards.

The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur, asked :—

XXXIX.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether there are any specific rules regulating distribution of educational grants placed from time to time at the disposal of the District and Municipal Boards ?

The Hon'ble Mr. Kerr replied :—

"(a) The rules on the subject are contained in the volume of Rules and Orders of the Education Department and in various circulars which have been issued from time to time. The question of revising and consolidating the rules in force in the two parts of the province is now under consideration."

Long-period and short-period Loans.

The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur asked :—

XL.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement of calculations, if the Government have any, to show that long-period loans are uneconomical compared with short-period loans ?

The Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson replied :—

"A reference is invited to paragraphs 3 and 4 of the Resolution of the Government of India in the Finance Department, No. 6564 A., dated the 24th October, 1907, an extract from which is laid on the table."

Extract referred to in the answer by the Hon'ble Mr. Stephenson to Question No. XL, asked by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur at the Council Meeting of the 2nd April, 1913.

Extract from a Resolution of the Government of India in the Finance Department, No. 6564 A., dated the 24th October, 1907.

3. Duration of loans.—The new rules as to the duration of loans are :—(a) Rule 4 of the Rule in Notification No. 6565 A., which lays down that the term of a loan made by Government shall not extend, except with the previous sanction of the Government of India, beyond 20 years; (b) Rule

5 of the same rules, which states that in the case of works which are merely or mainly ornamental or convenient, the term shall not, except with the previous sanction of the Government of India, exceed 10 years; and (c) Rule 5 of the Rules in Notification No. 6566 A., which leaves it to the Governor-General in Council to determine in each case the period within which the loan, if raised in the open market, shall be repaid. The first rule embodies the principle that loans made by Government under the Local Loans Scheme should be repaid within as short a period as possible, a longer term than 20 years not being permitted except in very special circumstances. His Excellency in Council takes this opportunity of impressing upon local bodies that the extension of the term of a loan, whether taken from Government or raised in the open market, beyond the period which is absolutely necessary for its repayment is a policy of waste, for which the lightening of the immediate burden on the borrower is no justification. The prolongation of a loan does not involve a proportionate decrease of the annual charges for its service. To illustrate this point, two tables are appended to this Resolution, showing (1) the equated annual payments required to discharge a 4 per cent. Government loan of one lakh in periods varying from 10 to 60 years; (2) the annual charges of a loan of the same amount raised in the open market for the same term of years, assuming that the sinking fund is calculated on a 3 per cent. basis, and the payments to the sinking fund as made half-yearly; and (3) the reduction of the charges effected by postponements in the two cases. It will be seen that the annual burden of a loan raised for 20 years is appreciably greater than half the annual charge of a loan of the same amount repaid in 10 years and that the relief to the borrower by extending the term beyond 20 years is entirely disproportionate to the added burden. Actuarially the present value of the deferred payments is the same, whatever be the term of repayment; but the aggregate sum which has to be made good for a 30 years' loan is heavier by nearly ¼ than it is for a 20 years' loan of the same amount.

This Department Circular letter No. 3603 A., dated the 26th August 1896

4. It is, therefore, clearly desirable that the terms of the borrowings of local bodies should be very carefully limited. The duration of the liability should in no case exceed the life of the work for which the liability is incurred; but within the maximum thus fixed, the period appropriate in each case should be determined by other considerations, such as the existing amount of the indebtedness of the local body concerned, the prospects of the future growth of such indebtedness, and the burden which the proposed loan will impose. The factors to be taken into account in this connection will doubtless differ in different cases; but, in the opinion of the Government of India, a term not longer than 20 or at most 30 years ought nearly always to be sufficient and no proposal for exceeding the latter period will be entertained, unless it is supported by the strongest reasons, of which the immediate relief to the ratepayer will not be admitted as one.

IMPROVEMENT OF TOLLY'S NALA.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XLI.—Will the Government be pleased to state what steps are being taken for the improvement of the Tolly's Nala?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"Various schemes for the improvement of Tolly's Nala and the inland waterways east of the Hooghly have from time to time been under the consideration of this Government, the original scheme being a proposal to canalize Tolly's Nala and to make a new outlet from it to the Hooghly river at Matiabruj.

Since 1902, when this proposal was first put forward, a proposal has been initiated for a steamer canal connecting the Hooghly river with the Bidhyadhari river, independently of Tolly's Nala.

Government has recognised the importance of this project and has given effect to a proposal put forward by the Standing Committee for Waterways in Bengal that a special officer be deputed to deal with the whole question of the steamer canal and the canalization of Tolly's Nala, in whole or in part, and to report upon the project from the engineering, commercial and financial points of view.

Mr. Lees, retired Chief Engineer of the Public Works Department, who proposed the canalizing of Tolly's Nala in 1902, was selected as the special officer to be deputed for this purpose, and Government is at present awaiting his report.

Until this report has been received and considered, no more definite answer can be given to the Hon'ble Member's question."

GRANT OF HOUSE ALLOWANCE TO PRESIDENCY MAGISTRATES.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

XLII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the salary and Presidency or house allowance, if any, of each of the stipendiary Presidency Magistrates in Calcutta?

(b) Is the allowance, if any, granted to all stipendiary Magistrates?

(c) If not, will the Government be pleased to state the names of the Magistrates to whom the allowance is granted and the reason why it is granted?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Information in regard to the salaries and allowances drawn by the Presidency Magistrates will be found on page 157 of the Bengal Quarterly Civil List corrected up to the 1st January 1913. The first and second Presidency Magistrates who are eligible have been admitted to the Calcutta House Allowance Scheme in view of the general expense of living in Calcutta. Subject to the conditions of the scheme they draw Rs. 175 per mensem from 1st November to 31st March and Rs. 60 per mensem for the remaining portion of the year."

(a) the names and numbers of different estates in the Bengal Presidency managed by the Court of Wards, and

(b) the names and qualifications of the managers of such estates, as well as the salaries respectively drawn by them?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"A statement is laid on the table which gives the information desired by the Hon'ble Member."

DEPARTMENTAL PUNISHMENTS OF CERTAIN MUHAMMADAN OFFICERS OF THE EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM FAZ-UL-HUQ asked :—

XLVI.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to a leading article in the "Musalman" in its issue of the 21st March, and to a correspondence over the signature of "One Who Knows" in the same issue of that paper, commenting on the departmental punishments meted out to a number of Muhammadan officers in the inspecting line of the Educational Service ?

(b) Is the Government aware that these punishments have come as a surprise to the public, and have created a sensation in the educated portion of the Muhammadan community ?

(c) Is the allegation of the abovementioned correspondent in the "Musalman" true "that the degradation of Maulvi Abdul Karim is the outcome of reports of persons with whom he could not pull on well on account of his independence" ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) The answer is in the affirmative.

(b) & (c) The answer is in the negative."

MADRASA AND MADRASA HOSTELS.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM FAZ-UL-HUQ asked :—

XLVII.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the correspondence in the "Musalman" of the 21st March, 1913, in the course of which reference has been made to various articles which appeared from time to time in the columns of the said paper, reflecting on the administration and management of the Madrasa and the Madrasa Hostels ?

(b) Has Government taken any action in the matter ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the answer given to a similar question put by the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem at the meeting of the Council held on the 29th January, 1913.

The report of the Director of Public Instruction on the subject has just been received, and will shortly be placed before Government for consideration."

BLIGHT OF PADDY FIELDS IN THE LOW-LYING AREA OF BENGAL.

The HON'BLE MUSHARRAF HUSAIN, in the absence of the HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYID HOSSAN HAIDER CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

XLVIII.—(a) Is the Government aware that large paddy fields in the low-lying area of Bengal die suddenly by some disease known to the local people as ufra?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any action has been taken by the Government to remedy this state of affairs, and if so, what has been done in the matter?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the speech which I made in Council on the 5th March when introducing the budget head "Scientific and other Minor Departments," and in which the action taken and proposed in regard to the ufra disease was fully explained."

GRAIN COMPENSATION ALLOWANCE.

The HON'BLE MUSHARRAF HUSAIN, in the absence of the HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYID HOSSAN HAIDER CHUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

XLIX.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether the concession granted by the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam of allowing grain compensation allowance to all whole-time servants under Government drawing Rs. 30 or less a month is to be continued by this Government on the ground that the price of common rice is on the ascent?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The Hon'ble Member is referred to the latter part of the answer given to the question of the Hon'ble Babu Upendra Lal Ray on 5th March last. Budget provision has been made for the continuance of the concession referred to, but the concession is only granted for three months at a time and may be withdrawn at any time if Government consider that the circumstances warrant the withdrawal."

THREATENED EROSION OF THE TOWN OF NOAKHALI.

The HON'BLE MUSHARRAF HUSAIN, in the absence of the HON'BLE NAWAB SAIYID HOSSAN HAIDER CHAUDHURI, KHAN BAHADUR, asked :—

L.—(a) Is the Government aware of the imminent danger with which the town of Noakhali has of late been threatened owing to the gradual encroachment of the Bay of Bengal upon the same?

(b) If so, what measures—preventive or otherwise—does the Government contemplate taking in respect of the same?

The HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"The erosion along the Noakhali coast line has been receiving the attention of Government. From the previous history of the case and observations taken in 1911 and since, there is good reason to believe that the erosion which threatens the town of Noakhali has stopped and that the coast line will now recede. These observations will be continued, and if they do not indicate that these conclusions are correct it will be considered what steps, if any, it is possible to take to induce shoaling and thus stop the erosion."

SANITARY OFFICERS FOR MUFASSAL MUNICIPALITIES.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked :—

LI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there has been any demand by the mufassal municipalities, and if so, by which of them and when for the services of Sanitary officers to assist them?

(b) Has there been any correspondence between the Government and the mufassal municipalities on the subject?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to lay such correspondence, if any, on the table?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"(a), (b) & (c) No mufassal municipality has asked Government for the services of Sanitary officers other than the Sanitary Engineer, the Sanitary Commissioner and Deputy Sanitary Commissioners. Since the issue of Government Resolution of the 28th October 1912, 17 municipalities have applied through the Commissioner for assistance from Government towards the cost of appointing Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors. Government does not consider that any useful purpose will be served by laying the correspondence on the table."

VIEWS OF MUFASSAL MUNICIPALITIES WITH REGARD TO THE BENGAL MUNICIPAL (SANITARY OFFICERS) BILL, 1913.

The HON'BLE MR. BYOMKES CHAKRAVARTI asked:—

LII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the views of the mufassal municipalities have been ascertained with regard to the Bengal Municipal (Sanitary Officers) Bill, 1913?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to lay the papers relating to the same on the table?

(c) If such views have not been ascertained, is it the intention of the Government to ascertain them before the Bill is passed into law?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"The Bengal Municipal (Sanitary Officers) Bill will be published with Statement of Objects and Reasons in the Calcutta Gazette for general information. It is not proposed to ascertain the views of individual municipalities."

PROPOSED CONSTRUCTION OF A RAILWAY LINE BETWEEN BURDWAN AND KATWA.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

LIII.—(a) Is it a fact that in 1899-1900, the East Indian Railway Company having expressed their willingness to construct a railway line from Burdwan to Katwa, the Government refused permission to Messrs. Hoare, Miller & Co. to construct such a line between the above two places?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the project to connect Burdwan and Katwa by a railway line has been abandoned owing to the fact that a railway line has already been made by the East Indian Railway Company from Bandel to Katwa and other places?

THE HON'BLE MR. FINNIMORE replied :—

"The answer to the first portion of the Hon'ble Member's question is in the negative. In January 1905, the Agent, East Indian Railway, submitted estimates for (1) the Hooghly-Katwa and (2) Burdwan-Katwa lines to the Government of India. Of these the former was sanctioned and the line has been constructed. The construction of the Burdwan-Katwa line has not yet been sanctioned, but the project has not been abandoned."

GOVERNMENT CONTRIBUTION TO MUFASSAL MUNICIPALITIES IN THE BENGAL PRESIDENCY.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

LIV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the amount of Government contribution to the mufassal municipalities in the Presidency of Bengal except the Municipalities of Howrah, Darjeeling and Dacca for drainage and water-supply for each of the years 1910-11, 1911-12 and 1912-13?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state separately the amount, if any, contributed to the Municipalities of Howrah, Darjeeling and Dacca for the same objects during the same period?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state the principle generally observed in making these grants?

THE HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"(a) & (b) The information required will be found in the two statements laid on the table.

(c) There are no hard-and-fast rules, but, generally speaking, grants are usually made on the following conditions :—

(1) The work must be approved by Government.

(2) The local body must be prepared to carry it out and must have a feasible scheme for financing it.

(3) The local contribution should form an adequate proportion of the total cost of the scheme."

PRIMARY SCHOOLS IN BENGAL.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI asked :—

LV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement shewing—

(i) the number of primary schools and the number of scholars in primary schools, male and female, division by division and year by year, from 1909 to 1912 in Bengal ;

(ii) the total expenditure on primary education and the contribution by (1) Government, (2) District Boards, division by division and year by year, from 1909 to 1912 ;

(iii) the present percentage of male scholars in primary schools to the male population of school-going age, division by division ;

(iv) the present percentage of female scholars in primary schools to the female population of school-going age, division by division ; and

(v) the classification of expenditure on primary education under—

(1) inspection,

(2) school building,

(3) teaching, and

(4) miscellaneous, division by division and year by year, from 1909 to 1912 ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to consider the desirability of making an annual statement of this nature in the month of February or March ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) A statement giving the information required, so far as available, is laid on the table.

(b) Very full statistics of educational work of all kinds are given in the supplement to the annual report of the Director of Public Instruction which is usually published some six months after the close of the financial year to which the report relates. Government does not consider it necessary to prescribe further statistics. As the reports of the Education Department are compiled for the financial year ending on the 31st March, it would not be practicable to give figures for the calendar year."

SECONDARY SCHOOLS IN RECEIPT OF GOVERNMENT GRANTS-IN-AID.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

LVI.—Will the Government be pleased to state—

(a) the number of secondary schools in receipt of Government grants-in-aid in Bengal as at present constituted ;

(b) the income of the schools derived from—

(i) school fees, and

(ii) contributions from sources other than the Government grants-in-aid ; and (c) the total amount of the Government grants-in-aid to these schools during the years 1910-11, 1911-12 and 9 months of 1912-13 ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) The number of secondary schools both High and Middle in receipt of Government grants-in-aid is 280.

(b) & (c) A statement giving the required information is laid on the table. As regards the figures for the last nine months, I may explain that the greater part of the grants is usually paid out during the last three months of the year."

WORKS OF DEPUTY-INSPECTORS AND ASSISTANT INSPECTORS OF SCHOOLS IN CHARGE OF MUHAMMADAN EDUCATION.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM asked :—

LXIII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the Deputy Inspectors and Assistant Inspectors of Schools in charge of Muhammadan education in their respective districts and Divisions submit any yearly report of their work as to the progress and advancement of Muhammadan education in their respective areas ?

(b) If so, will the Government be pleased to publish such reports ?

(c) If not, will the Government be pleased to state whether it proposes to issue instructions to these officers with a view to the submission of such reports ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"It is not usual for the special Muhammadan educational officers to submit separate annual reports on the subject of the development of Muhammadan education in their respective areas, but the chapters on Muhammadan education in the District and Divisional annual reports are either written by these officers or prepared with their assistance.

In view of the fact that the Government of India have recently ordered that the Provincial Report on Public Instruction shall not exceed twenty pages, this Government does not consider it advisable to authorize the publication of the reports of subordinate educational officers as suggested by the Hon'ble Member. The Secretary of State has lately sanctioned the appointment of a special officer for Muhammadan education, whose duty it will be to keep Government informed of the needs of the Muhammadan community in educational matters."

INSPECTING OFFICERS OF THE EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM asked :—

LXIV.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state whether Inspecting Officers of the Education Department during their tours consult local Muhammadan Associations or the leading and prominent Muhammadan gentlemen of the locality as to the wants and needs of the community with regard to education and the difficulties which the Muhammadan students have to meet with ?

(b) If not, does the Government propose to issue instructions to Inspecting Officers to consult Muhammadans in local areas in the course of their tours ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) & (b) In 1901, the Government issued orders to the effect that it must be considered an important part of the duty of Inspecting officers to keep in touch with all classes of the people. There is no reason to believe that the interests of the Muhammadan community have been neglected in this respect. The rules of the Department make provision for the adequate representation of all classes on the Managing Committees of schools. One of the main duties of the special officer who is about to be appointed to supervise Muhammadan education will be to consult local Associations and prominent Muhammadan gentlemen and to keep Government in touch with the wants and needs of the Muhammadan community.

It is proposed to appoint in the near future a Standing Committee of officials and non-officials to assist in dealing with the difficult problems which surround Muhammadan education. This Committee will enable both the Government and the Muhammadan community to derive full advantage from the appointment of the special officer."

WANT OF SESSIONS JUDGE AND SUBORDINATE JUDGE AT MALDAH.

The HON'BLE RAI HARI MOHAN CHANDRA BAHADUR asked :—

LXV.—Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that the want of a Sessions Judge and a Subordinate Judge especially for Malda has been felt to be a source of inconvenience to the people of the district, and if so, what steps have been taken by Government to remove the want ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Petitions have been received praying for the establishment of a Court of a District and Sessions Judge at Malda in the alternative for a Court of a Subordinate Judge at that station. These petitions are now under consideration."

PRINCIPALSHIPS OF COLLEGES HELD BY OFFICERS OF THE PROVINCIAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

LXVI.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to furnish a statement giving the names of all officers of the Provincial Educational Service who have held the post of principal of a college since the constitution of the Service in 1896 ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state how many of these officers satisfactorily discharged their duties as principals of colleges ?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state if any of the principalships in Government colleges in Bengal are now reserved for members of the Provincial Educational Service ?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state if it is not a fact that a certain number of the posts were ordered to be so reserved when the Service was constituted in 1896 ?

(e) If the answer to Questions (c) and (d) be in the affirmative, will the Government be pleased to state how many of these reserved posts have been filled by members of the Provincial Service and why the others have not been so filled ?

THE HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) A statement giving the information required is laid on the table.

(b) The records in the office of the Director of Public Instruction show that, with a few exceptions, the officers mentioned in the statement discharged their duties to the satisfaction of the officers who supervised their work.

(c), (d) & (e) Under the orders of the Secretary of State passed in 1896, the posts of Principal of the following colleges situated in this Presidency were reserved for the Provincial Educational Service :—

Hooghly.
Krishnagar.
Rajshahi.
The Sanskrit College.
The Bethune College.
Chittagong.

In 1909, the Secretary of State agreed to the transfer of the posts of Principal in the Hooghly and Krishnagar Colleges to the Indian Educational Service, and the Principalship of the Chittagong College was transferred to the Indian Educational Service in 1910. The colleges in which the posts of Principal are now reserved for the Provincial Educational Service are—

the Sanskrit College, the Rajshahi College, and
the Bethune College, and Provincial Educational Service officers actually fill these posts at the present time. Although the Principalships of the Hooghly and Krishnagar Colleges is reserved for members of the Indian Educational Service, no recruitment of Indian Educational Service officers has yet been made for these posts, and the appointments are still held by officers of the Provincial Educational Service."

CIVIL SUITS AND APPEALS IN THE COURTS OF THE DISTRICT AND SUBORDINATE JUDGES OF HOOGHLY.

The HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

LXVII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state the number of civil suits and appeals filed and disposed of in the Courts of the District and Subordinate Judges of Hooghly, and the total receipts from Court Fees Stamps in respect of the same during each of the last three years?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state how many of the said suits and appeals related to properties within, or causes of action arising out of, the district of Howrah, and what portions of the said total receipts from Court Fees Stamps were realised in respect of such suits and appeals?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a) and (b) A statement giving such information as is available is laid on the table. Separate figures showing Court fee receipts from suits, etc., connected with the Division of Howrah, cannot be given, as the registers of fees do not specify the suits in respect of which they are realised."

SUITS AND APPEALS RELATING TO HOWRAH.

CLASSIFICATION OF DISTRICTS UNDER THE BENGAL LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT ACT OF 1885 (BENGAL ACT III OF 1885).

The HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY asked :—

LXVIII.—With reference to the Rules made by the Local Government under clauses (g) (l) and (m) of section 138, Part IX of the Bengal Local Self-Government Act of 1885 (Ben. Act III of 1885), will the Government be pleased to state—

(a) the principles in accordance with which the different districts mentioned in Schedule A (Rule 1) are divided into classes I, II, and III?

(b) whether any of the districts mentioned in Schedule A have been raised to a higher class since the said Schedule was prepared in 1904, and if so, which of them and on what grounds?

(c) whether the list of Engineers mentioned in Rule 12 is still maintained in the office of the Chief Engineer, Bengal, and if so, in how many cases of vacancies during the last three years were applications invited from the candidates declared to be eligible under the list?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"(a) The main factor which regulates the classification of District Engineerships is the magnitude of the Public Works expenditure of the Boards concerned. Under proviso (2) of section 33 of the Local Self-Government Act, expenditure on Public Works establishment is limited to a maximum of 20 per cent. of the total amount available for expenditure on public works.

(b) A statement giving the information required is laid on the table. The necessity of securing the services of a more competent Engineer to cope with the development of the districts and the increase in expenditure on public works accounts for the altered classification.

(c) The list referred to is no longer maintained in the office of the Chief Engineer."

POST OF DIVISIONAL INSPECTOR OF SCHOOLS HELD BY OFFICERS OF THE PROVINCIAL EDUCATIONAL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI asked :—

LXIX.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to furnish a statement giving the names of all officers of the Provincial Educational Service who have held the post of a Divisional Inspector of Schools since the constitution of the Service?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state how many of these officers discharged their duties satisfactorily as Inspectors of Schools?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state if any officers of the Provincial Educational Service now held and have held permanently the post of a Divisional Inspector of Schools and how many in the capacity of a second Inspector or Additional Inspector of Schools?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) A statement giving the information required is laid on the table.

(b) The records in the office of the Director of Public Instruction show that, with a few exceptions, the officers mentioned in the statement discharged their duties to the satisfaction of the officers who supervised their work.

(c) The statement laid on the table in reply to the first part of this question shows what Provincial Educational Service officers have held permanently the post of a Divisional Inspector of Schools.

In West Bengal, no Provincial Educational Service officer now holds permanently the post of a Divisional Inspector. In East Bengal, one such post is now held by a Provincial Educational Service officer.

Three Provincial Educational Service officers now hold permanently the posts of Additional Inspector of Schools in West Bengal, and three Provincial Educational Service officers now hold permanently the post of 2nd Inspector of Schools in the Eastern Bengal Divisions."

APPOINTMENT OF A SUCCESSOR TO THE RETIRING DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION, BENGAL.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

LXX.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the rumour that, on the retirement of our Hon'ble colleague Mr. Küchler, Mr. Hornell, late of the Indian Educational Service, will succeed him as the Director of Public Instruction in Bengal?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether there is any truth in the rumour?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"(a) Government is aware of the rumour referred to.

(b) Government is not at present in a position to make any announcement regarding the appointment of a successor to the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler in the post of the Director of Public Instruction, Bengal."

WORK DONE BY THE STIPENDIARY AND HONORARY PRESIDENCY MAGISTRATES.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

LXXI.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing, year by year, the number of cases disposed of by each stipendiary Presidency Magistrate, by the Honorary Presidency Magistrates (single sitting and Bench), and by the Registrar, during the last five years, in the Calcutta Police Court, under—

(i) the Indian Penal Code (Act XLV of 1860);

(ii) the Cruelty to Animals Acts (Act XI of 1890 and Ben. Act I of 1869);

(iii) the Night charges; and

(iv) other charges?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"A statement giving the required information is laid on the table."

POSTS OF THE INDIAN CIVIL SERVICE OPENED TO MEMBERS OF THE PROVINCIAL SERVICE.

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HUQ asked :—

LXXIII—(a) Will the Government be pleased to state how many posts ordinarily held by members of the Indian Civil Service are now listed as open to the Provincial Service?

(b) How many and which of them have been filled up and how many and which remain to be filled up?

(c) Is it a fact that no single Muhammadan was permanently holding any of the listed posts open to the Provincial Executive Service during all the time that the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam remained in force, and that no Muhammadan has been appointed in a similar post in Bengal since the creation of the Presidency?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a) & (b) Four of the eight listed posts which have been provisionally sanctioned for the new Presidency of Bengal by the Government of India have been allotted to the Provincial Executive Service. All four posts have been filled up.

(c) The answer to the first portion of the question is in the negative. The post of Junior Secretary to the Board of Revenue which was a listed post in Eastern Bengal and Assam was held permanently in succession by Mr. Abdul Majid and Khan Bahadur Muhibuddin Ahmad.

The answer to the second part of the question is in the affirmative."

THE "NEAR EAST."

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HUQ asked :—

LXXIV.—(a) Is the Government aware that the paper called the "Near East" is regarded by Muhammadans as an anti-Moslem paper?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it consulted Moslem opinion before subscribing to this paper?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state how many copies of the paper are subscribed for and to whom they are distributed?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"(a) Government are not aware that the "Near East" is regarded by Musalmans as an anti-Moslem paper. On the contrary, it is understood that there has been a demand amongst Muhammadans, anxious to read it, for a reduction of its price, and it is believed that the news it disseminates is accurate and that its opinions are temperately expressed.

(b) The paper was selected for distribution by the Government of India, and this Government are not aware whether Moslem opinion was consulted in the matter by that Government.

(c) One hundred and fifty-three copies are being taken for distribution in Bengal. They will be distributed to selected Public reading rooms and libraries, educational institutions and Muhammadan associations."

MUHAMMADAN JAIL OFFICERS AND CLERKS.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

LXXV.—Will the Government be pleased to state the total number of jailors, deputy jailors, assistant jailors, and jail clerks in the Presidency, and how many of them are Muhammadans and how many are Hindus?

The Hon'ble MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"A statement giving the required information is laid on the table"

DACCA JAIL PRESS.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

LXXVI.—Will the Government be pleased to state the different kinds of printing work that are being done and will continue to be done in the Dacca Jail Press?

The Hon'ble MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"Printing of forms only is carried on at the Dacca Jail Press. This will continue till arrangements can be made by the Government of Bihar and Orissa for printing its own forms. The Dacca Jail Press will then be closed."

SUBORDINATE MEDICAL SERVICES OF BENGAL AND ASSAM.

The HON'BLE RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR asked :—

LXXVII.—(a) Will the Government be pleased to indicate the relation subsisting between the Subordinate Medical Services of Bengal and Assam (i) before 1905 ; (ii) on the 1st April, 1912 ; and (iii) now ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what was the principle on which allocation of Assistant Surgeons to Bengal and Assam was made on the recent re-formation of Assam into a separate administration ?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is a fact—

(i) that some Assistant Surgeons whose native province is Assam, and a few others who had served exclusively in Assam before the constitution of the Province of Eastern Bengal and Assam, have been left in the Bengal Presidency ; and (ii) that a number of Assistant Surgeons have been given over to Assam whose native province is Bengal, and some of whom had never served in Assam though recruited by the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"(a) Before 1905 the Subordinate Medical Services of Bengal and Assam were completely distinct and since 1st April 1912 the Services have again been completely separated.

The division of the cadre between Bengal and Assam was based on the actual appointments held by Assistant Surgeons in each Province on the 1st April 1912 and the leave reserve was divided between the two Provinces in that proportion. The question of the personnel was settled by the Inspectors-General of Civil Hospitals in consultation and the general principle observed was that, subject to the consideration of personal cases, each Assistant Surgeon was left where he was actually serving at the time.

(b) (i) Four Assistant Surgeons who are natives of Assam are at present serving in Bengal. They were originally recruited for service in the Province of Bengal and were assigned to Eastern Bengal and Assam in 1905. In the recent redistribution they have been assigned to this Province.

(c) (ii) There are undoubtedly some Assistant Surgeons at present in Assam whose native province is Bengal, but this Government is not in a position to say whether some of them had never served in Assam before the 1st April last."

DEARTH OF PURE DRINKING-WATER IN ASANSOL.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR asked :—

LXXVIII.—(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that for the last few years the people of Asansol have been suffering great inconvenience in the dry season from dearth of wholesome drinking water, and that they are entirely dependent on the Railway Company for the supply of such water ?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state what steps have been taken to remove the above inconvenience ?

The HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON replied :—

"The drinking water-supply of Asansol is drawn from wells chiefly and it is understood that the supply is not always sufficient. The Railway Company's supply is entirely a private one and is not at the disposal of the Municipality. The Municipality have had under their consideration a water-supply scheme, which has been prepared and submitted to Government, and the matter is at present under discussion."

INSPECTIONS MADE BY INSPECTING OFFICERS IN THE EDUCATION, REGISTRATION AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENTS.

The HON'BLE MR. GOLAM HOSSEIN CASSIM ARIFF asked :—

LXXIX.—Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement shewing the number of inspections made by each Inspecting Officer drawing Rs. 300 and upwards of the Education, Registration and Agricultural Departments during the nine months from 1st April to 31st December, 1912, and the number of days each such class of officer was out on tour during that period ?

The HON'BLE MR. KERR replied :—

"The statement required is placed on the table."

LEGISLATIVE BUSINESS.

THE BENGAL PUBLIC GAMBLING (AMENDMENT) BILL, 1913.

2. The Hon'ble Sir William Duke moved that the Report of the Select Committee on the Bill further to amend the law in force in Bengal relating to public gambling be taken into consideration.

The motion was put and agreed to.

3. The Hon'ble Sir William Duke also moved that the clauses of the Bill be considered in the form recommended by the Select Committee.

The motion was put and agreed to.

CLAUSE 2.

Definition of "gaming."

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "a regular" be substituted for the word "such" in clause 2 (a).

He said:—

"My Lord, I beg to move the first amendment standing in my name. I feel almost miserable. I am the only one who has sent in motions of amendments for which I am almost sorry. It shows how well the Select Committee has done its work and has earned our gratitude. We are also grateful for the very sympathetic way that, what I may call the jarring note, that with some hesitancy was raised on this side of the house has been met. It was anticipated by Sir William Duke and partially given effect to by the Select Committee. We all recognize that the Government, like ourselves, is anxious to provide as many safeguards against an evil as possible. They say that morally one is always entitled to offer his sacrificial dole at the tail end if he wishes to and the great thing is to allow it, and we don't want to interfere. There are safeguards and some have been provided in the same way as the Rishis of old in legislating for the evils tried to provide safeguards. The Rishis recognized the evils of gambling. They have demonstrated in our classical literature that show that the evil was more widespread than it was in the beginning. Things like that have always been recognized and provided for, and here also we have to do the same. The object of this amendment is that only on regular race meetings betting is to be allowed and not on days other than meetings, that is on trial days or experimental days. I am not very much acquainted with the technical names. I am sorry I cannot give you the correct phraseology. My education even in England was not perfected in the same way as my Hon'ble friend Mr. Chakravarti's has been, and therefore I am not able to give what I probably ought to have given. By the way, I have often been asked by the people outside how Mr. Chakravarti could have got such experience at that early age, considering his brilliant University career before he went to seek new pastures and green fields, not as green as in this country. Anyway, my education has not been so perfected as I would have wished it to be. But what I am anxious for is that nothing but regular race day meetings should be allowed under this exception, and that some provision should be made by virtue of which it would be possible to say that you cannot bet on trial or experimental day other than regular race days."

The HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said:—

"I do not think that anything will be gained by accepting this amendment, but possibly something might be lost. I think it is quite clear in the Bill as it stands that 'game' includes wagering or betting on horse races when it takes place on a race day. So far as I know there is no question of wagering or betting on trial races or experimental races. The only races we know of are the ones suggested in which Government gives sanction for the use of betting enclosures and regular races held in likeway under the auspices of regular stewards. If we import this word 'regular' we do not know where it will lead us. Instead of limiting anything it will in some way tend to open the door for more extension. A regular race need not necessarily refer to horse races, and the expression 'regular race' has no clear meaning. Seeing that every race is held under the stewards under clause 2 (b), and must be a regular race."

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari said :—

"My Lord, probably it was my ignorance that made me think that on trial days crowds gather round the race-course and betting goes on. At least that was my information. But as Sir William Duke is in a position to assure me on this point, I do not think that I will press the amendment."

The motion was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The following motion was, by leave of the President, withdrawn :—

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "to be" in clause 2 (a) be omitted.

Definition of common "gaming-house."

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the words "or vehicle" be inserted after the words "or space" in line 2 of the definition of "common gaming-house."

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari also moved that the word "vehicle" be inserted after the word "space" in line 5 of the definition of "common gaming-house."

He said :—

"My Lord, these two amendments may, with your Excellency's permission, be taken together, because they both stand on the same basis. I am quite aware, my Lord, that according to the fundamental principle of legislative drafting, the word 'place' would include all that need be provided for in a matter of this kind. But since other words have been introduced perhaps as a relic of the old laws, I am anxious that the word 'vehicle' should also be introduced and that for a special reason. A good amount of betting goes on in carriages closed or otherwise round about the race-courses. I know that betting used to go on in boats when boat racing was more popular in this part of the country, and we all know the difficulties of the Bombay Government on the dining-car betting on that side of the country. No doubt under a proper consideration of the clause as it stands, it would be possible to obtain a conviction even without introducing the word 'vehicle,' but my object is to give greater prominence to what is a known evil and draw attention to it not only of the authorities of the race-course, but also of the Police, and to point out how betting goes on to an inordinate extent in carriages round about the race-courses. It is with these objects in view that I desire to introduce this word in two places indicated in the two above amendments."

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke said :—

"I think the Hon'ble Member has correctly guessed the origin of the words as they stand in the Bill, and to some extent he has put his finger on weak places in the drafting when he said that these words are a relic of the past laws. The words in fact as they stand are more or less a relic of previous law, and it would have been more ideal drafting to have simply said that 'any gaming-house' meant any place whatever which was used for gaming, and then by way of explanation mentioning the places. But following the tradition of the former law, we have mentioned the different kinds of places, enumerated them there, and in order to make it completely comprehensive we have used the words 'every possible places'. But beginning to enumerate, we have only enumerated 'rooms, tents, walls or other enclosures.' I do not think I would be justified in resisting this amendment —to add the word 'vehicle.' I therefore propose to accept this amendment."

THE HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"My Lord, the difficulty I feel with regard to this matter is this that the explanation offered by Sir William Duke is in fact what was discussed in Committee that the words house, room, tent, or walled enclosure were perhaps superfluous. But the word 'vehicle' ordinarily means a conveyance by land and the precise difficulty that would arise by the introduction of that word when the question is debated in the Courts would be this, that it might be argued that the Legislature having intentionally included conveyance by land necessarily excludes conveyance by river and therefore boats should be excluded, but it is not intended to exclude boats either. The words as they stand are sufficient to include all cases and I think that the addition of the word proposed would create a difficulty as to whether the Legislature should not have intended to include conveyance by river. It is an amendment that would hardly be desirable. I was looking into the Legal Lexicon this morning and the word 'vehicle' I find is applied to conveyance by road. We discussed the matter in the Select Committee and we thought that conveyance by river ought not to be excluded, but that the definition as it stands includes a boat, and gambling by boat will not be excluded. That was the difficulty which I wanted to point out. However, if the Legal Advisers to Government are not impressed with that difficulty, I have nothing to say."

THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"We admit the difficulty to some extent, but we contend that everything is covered by 'any place whatsoever,' and I think we are prepared to take the risk of boats."

THE HON'BLE BABU DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

"I rise not by way of an answer because there is nothing to answer, as my amendment has been accepted by the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Bill, but may I suggest this that I did not intend to exclude boats or aeroplanes for that matter—aeroplanes may be fashionable ere long—but in view of the objection of my friend Babu Mahendra Nath Ray there may be something in it and I would ask the Government if it would extend their indulgence and put in the word 'conveyance' intead of 'vehicle.' Perhaps that would meet all objections."

THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"I am afraid at present it is not desirable to consider a fresh word in the Council. It has never been done and there is no knowing where it might lead to."

The motion was then put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari moved that the word "whether" be inserted between the words "used" and "for" in line 3 of the definition of "common gaming-house."

He said :—

"My object in moving this amendment is this :—In the clause as it stands it may be an answer that a gaming-house is not kept for the purpose of profit or gain and therefore it does not come within the purview of the law. My amendment seeks to remove the possibility of that plea and to provide that whether a house is kept for profit or not it is to be alike regulated by this definition. If that is accepted, the way that the amended clause will read: 'Common gaming-house' means any house, room, tent, or walled enclosure or space or any place whatsoever in which any instruments of gaming are kept or used whether for the profit or gain of the person owning, etc.' That would make it entirely comprehensive and would apply either to a house kept expressly for a gaming-house or a house kept merely for pleasure. So long as it satisfied the conditions of a common gaming-house it would be amenable to the consequences of the law."

THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"I am afraid I cannot admit that there is any difficulty if the word 'whether' is not added. It seems to me that nothing would be gained in the meaning by adding that word.

The amendment was then put and lost.

CLAUSE 2.

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "keeping or hiring" be substituted for the words "or keeping" in line 4 of the definition of "common gaming-house."

CLAUSE 4.

The Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari to move that the words "or consideration" be inserted after the word "thing" in line 2 of clause 4.

The Hon'ble Sir William Duke moved that the Bill, as settled in Council, be passed.

He said :—

"I think it is unnecessary to say more than very few words. Everything that was to be said about this legislation has been said already. We had desired to deal with one very well known evil, that particular craze for cotton gambling which became so notorious and troublesome a short time back, and we very gladly would have confined ourselves to the one evil which forced itself upon us. We desired not to legislate and not to do more than was necessary or to commit ourselves to legislation with unknown consequences, but also as reasonable persons we had to recognize that any one course of action is likely to have indirect as well as direct consequences and we felt that we should go somewhat further and we felt that we should very soon be faced with new developments which would arise by our closing these places, and therefore we had to make some provision to restrict race-betting in so far as it seemed to us that race-betting was likely to receive an indirect impulse from our action in putting a stop to other kinds of betting. We desired to be as fair as possible with legitimate racing and we tried to deal only with that kind of race-betting which is likely to lead to serious scandal. I think it has received the general assent of the Council, and the fact that it has not been seriously criticized by the Press and the fact that the principles have been generally accepted shows that we have more or less satisfactorily attained our object. I trust that the Bill will be passed into law and will be found useful, and I hope that it may not be found—as such legislation often is found—to leave loop-holes for the lawyer."

The motion was put and agreed to.

THE CALCUTTA MUNICIPAL (LOANS) BILL, 1913.

THE HON'BLE MR. STEPHENSON said :—

"With your Excellency's permission I desire to explain to the Council the reason why the proposal to take up the consideration of the Calcutta Loans Bill has been omitted from to-day's agenda.

"It was impossible for Government to accept the proposal originally made to postpone the consideration of this Bill before it had been referred to a Select Committee, partly because the motion then made proposed that the consideration of this question should be postponed until the General Act was amended, and partly also because it appeared to Government to be necessary to place before the Council full proposals to remedy the defects in the existing Act, which had been pressed on their attention by the Corporation, and also to secure a discussion of those proposals and their full examination in Select Committee.

"The Corporation, in addressing Government on this subject, made various proposals for amending the Bill, and the Select Committee have been able to meet their wishes on several points without affecting the main principles of the Bill. It is evident, however, that there is still a great deal of misunderstanding as to the intention, the scope and the effect of the Bill; and in these circumstances Government is unwilling to proceed further with it until ample opportunity has been given to all members of this Council to understand the provisions of the Bill and the changes that have been made in it by the Select Committee.

"At the same time Government is also of opinion that this procedure is only fair to the Bill itself, which they believe to be based on sound finance and to have been drafted in the best interests of the Corporation and the rate-payers of Calcutta. They also think that it embodies in the simplest and the most workable form the measures necessary to place the Sinking Fund of the Corporation on a proper basis, and to avoid in the future any repetition of that confusion which has occurred with reference to this Sinking Fund in the past.

"It is hoped that the further discussion on the subject of the Bill which will take place between this time and the date upon which it will be again placed before the Council will serve to elucidate the points at issue between Government and the Corporation, and will simplify the task of this Council in finally disposing of the Bill."

BENGAL BUDGET FOR 1913-14.

THE HON'BLE MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR of Burdwan said :—

"My Lord, following the precedent of past years, I rise to make some general observations on the Bengal budget which we are about to pass now. I shall begin with the temporary financial settlement made by our Government with the Government of India. I am sure everyone here will voice my feelings when I say that whilst we are grateful to the Imperial Government for the large grants it has made for education and sanitation in this Province, we cannot get over the fact that the present settlement is, to say the least, not a satisfactory one. The Government of India, as is well known, left Bengal in such a hurry last year, that it forgot even to set up the new Governor properly and with all that state that was necessary for the maintenance of his dignity and position. Be that, however, as it may, we are glad to find that some provisions have been made in the budget for the comfort and necessary expenditure of His Excellency the Governor; but what we now want is that the Governor should have sufficient funds at his disposal to meet the ever-increasing demands in every direction in the Presidency of Bengal, and my complaint is that the Financial Department of the Government of India have, by no means, been what I would term liberal in making this temporary settlement with our Government; for, as we well know, the bulk of the amount given is either ear-marked or for specific purposes. In my opinion the Government of India should grant larger amounts unrestricted for discretionary purposes.

"I now pass on to make some comments on the assignments for specific purposes made in the budget, as well as to dwell upon the merits of some of those purposes. I shall begin with the large grants, both recurring and non-recurring, for the Dacca University. I do not in the least grudge Dacca its proposed new University, but what I do advocate, and advocate strongly, is that the teaching arrangements there should not be so made as to make the competition between the older University of Calcutta and the yet-to-come University of Dacca unduly one-sided or unfair. In this connection, my Lord, having the fortune, or misfortune, to belong to what is known as the well-to-do classes, I cannot help making reference to the proposed well-to-do classes College in the Dacca University scheme. As everyone knows, I was one of the staunchest and strongest supporters of the Ranchi College scheme of Sir Andrew Fraser, and why was I so? Simply because my power of imagination helped me to outline a net-work of Colleges with, eventually, an University like Oxford of Cambridge for Indians at a healthy and at the same time secluded place like Ranchi. The scheme was, perhaps, too ambitious, and how the unsympathetic attitude of the Government of Sir Andrew Fraser's successor helped to practically kill the scheme is now a matter of history. From my support to the Ranchi College scheme your Lordship will be pleased to see that I did not support a narrow class College, and I do not support it now; in fact, I condemn, and very strongly too, a narrow class College like the proposed well-to-do classes College of the Dacca University scheme. There is no such widely-established aristocratic class in Bengal, or for that matter in the whole of India, which can be compared with the corresponding class in the British Isles. On the other hand, the title-holding zamindars or hereditary title-holding noblemen in this country have to seek marriage in their families every day from the ranks of what is known as the middle classes of India; that being so, and when the sons of noblemen in England, who certainly are not numerically so small as not to have a special College or University, when they do not think it infra-dig to go to Eton or Rugby, or to be educated in any of the public Universities of England, why should the sons of a very limited number of noblemen out here have Colleges for themselves? If I understood for one moment that their position were in any way defined like that of the sons of Chiefs in India, I might certainly have considered the matter in a different light; but when that is not the case, when in every walk of life they have to mix with the middle classes, when they have, if they are to be counted among the educated minds in the country, to practically throw in their lot with the cultured and educated men of the middle classes, why create an invidious distinction, the artificiality of which must be transparent to all? Why this obstacle in the way of allowing them to rub shoulders with every section of the community, when we know, and know well, that however so much title and wealth may rank high, without broad education and culture they count little in the real intellectual sphere of life. On the other hand, I should like to draw your Lordship's serious attention to the proposal made by my friends, Sir Rajendra Mukharjee, Mr. S. P. Sinha, Mr. S. R. Das and many other educated and well-to-do men in this Province, in the memorial that they have submitted to the Government, of which I too have the honour of being a signatory, to establish a good public School or College in a healthy place like Kurseong, or, if the scheme can get the support of the Bihar Government, in some healthy place in Bihar, in close proximity, however, to the boundaries of our Province. What we want is good public Schools or Colleges for those who, by paying most, can get their sons educated by the very best available teachers and professors, and get for their boys as good an English education as possible outside England, and not class Colleges.

"I see a provision in the budget for grants to be made for the construction of hostels outside Calcutta and Dacca, and I therefore beg the early attention of your Lordship's Government to the proposal of establishing a hostel for Mahomedan students at Burdwan. I know the Mahomedans there have already guaranteed the amount they were asked to find, and I am sure the helping hand of Government would at once enable them to realize their just and laudable aspiration of having a Moslem hostel for boys in the head-quarters of a district where the interests of Mahomedans are by no means either small or insignificant.

"Coming now to the grants for sanitation, I have, first of all, to express my satisfaction at the provision for a contribution of Rs. 33,300 to the Burdwan Municipality for the extension of water-supply. I know we could do good work with even double that amount, but, meanwhile, I am sure the other two non-official members in this Council who hail from Burdwan will agree with me in thinking that we are lucky to get some amount at any rate for a much needed project. I see a lump provision of Rs. 38,000 has been made for the pay of Sub-Overseers who might be employed in each Sub-division in Bengal to look into the real condition of rural water-supply. Whilst reserving my comments on the necessity or otherwise of this provision, and whilst expressing my deep gratification at the genuine interest that your Excellency is personally taking in the matters of sanitation and water-supply in rural areas, I cannot help remarking that simultaneously with these activities it is necessary to complete at an early date the Circle Officers' scheme for chaukidari unions and panchayets now being worked out by Mr. J. N. Gupta of the Indian Civil Service. The scheme in charge of Mr. Gupta is, I think, a very important one; for, if the Circle Officers can make themselves popular in the new work entrusted to them—and I do not see why that should not be possible—then the needs of rural areas might have every chance of being properly looked after, and Sub-Overseers and others whose services might be required could be more usefully employed than they are likely to be without the supervision of such Circle Officers. In connection with the problem of supplying good drinking water, I appeal to your Lordship to kindly give favourable consideration to the memorial submitted by the inhabitants on both sides of the Eden Canal in the Burdwan district.

"I frankly admit that I have been disappointed in the provisions made for medical relief in the Province; for, in the first place, I find Calcutta absorbing more than three-fourths of the sums provided for in the budget, whilst muffasal hospitals are getting very little, when they need most, and secondly, for the absence of any provisions for the extension of Tuberculosis hospitals in Bengal, when they are so urgently wanted.

"The other day I put a question in Council, asking for a list of ancient monuments as well as temples, shrines, etc., in the Province, which are wholly or partly maintained by Government, and I was pleasantly surprised to get a long list when I had fully expected to receive a very short one. I am at present going into the matter carefully, and probably, after due consideration, I shall come forward with a request to the Government to take over a few more of them under the protection of the Ancient Monuments Preservation Act. What I meanwhile wish to suggest is that from next year, in the Public Works portion of the budget, a table might be shown giving the following details:—

(1) The annual amount of contribution by the Government towards the upkeep of each such monument or building with their names.

(2) The amounts proposed to be spent during the year for the repairs and preservation of individual monuments or relics.

"Probably this might seem unnecessary to most people, but I am sure those who, like myself—I take it that your Lordship is interested too—are interested in the preservation of such buildings, would find some instructive pleasure in what to them must seem one really interesting page in the budget amidst sheets of dry facts and figures.

With these remarks, my Lord, I beg to support the passing of the budget as it now stands."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I understand the Hon'ble Mr. Chaplin, the Hon'ble Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur and the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari wish their speeches to be read. The Hon'ble Members ought to have been informed before but I remind them now that there is a time limit of 15 minutes for each speaker."

THE HON'BLE MR. A. W. C. CHAPLAIN said :—

My Lord, I noticed with pleasure that a sum of two lakhs has been set aside in the budget towards the improvement of the Dooars roads. The tea planting community, whom I have the honour to represent on this Council, will greatly appreciate this tangible proof that the road question in the Jalpaiguri district has at last received the serious attention of Government, and I hope that these two lakhs may be followed by further and much larger annual grants during the next few years ; also that it may be found possible to further supplement the present allotment during the current financial year.

"A comprehensive scheme of roads for the Dooars has now been submitted to Government, as invited by your Excellency on the occasion of your visit to Jalpaiguri in October last. The scheme has been drawn up by the local authorities, after full consideration of local conditions and requirements, in consultation with myself and the leading planters of the Jalpaiguri district. The costliness of the proposed programme is due partly to geographical conditions and partly to the inadequacy of the expenditure on communications made during past years ; but if carried out in its entirety, this scheme of roads will go far towards solving the vexed question of internal communications in the Jalpaiguri district, and the benefits which will result from its completion will assuredly justify the expenditure involved.

"I therefore beg for some assurance from Government that the proposed scheme will be definitely sanctioned during the year 1913-14, and that arrangements will be made to provide the required funds, so as to secure the completion of the programme during the next three or four years. I am of opinion that, taken as a whole, the amount allocated in the Public Works Department budget for roads and communications in the Province is relatively too small, and that it would be advantageous to increase it as a matter of general policy.

The HON'BLE RAI NALINAKSHA BASU BAHADUR said :—

MAY IT PLEASE YOUR EXCELLENCY,

"I feel great pleasure in congratulating the Hon'ble Members entrusted with the preparation of the Revised Financial Statement on the clearness with which they presented the financial position of the Province before the Council. The figures on both sides of it are so lucidly stated that even a new Member feels no difficulty in grasping them. It is a good augury that the first Financial Statement after the territorial redistribution represents a prosperous financial position of the Province. We have a very large amount at our command to meet many of its urgent needs. Before entering, however, into the several provisions made in the estimate I am bound to associate myself with my Hon'ble colleagues in expressing our deep gratitude to the Imperial Government for the generosity shown towards this Province by making liberal grants to it, a fact which evinces a sincere desire on their part to further its prosperity ; but I beg leave to submit that the financial relation between the Government of India and the Provincial Governments has not as yet been fully settled. In my humble opinion an appeal should be made to the Government of India to authorise the Provincial Governments to appropriate the revenue yielded by their respective provinces, subject to a certain specified percentage as their share of contribution to the Imperial revenue. On going through the statement I am bound to say that it is a matter of great satisfaction that we are able to start with a magnificent opening balance of Rs. 2,83,98,000 and that we expect to end the year also with a very substantial balance of Rs. 1,94,95,000, of which Rs. 1,43,67,000 however is ear-marked.

"On the receipt side of the estimate we find that during the period commencing from 1909-10 to 1912-13 the revenue under head "Excise" has risen from Rs. 57,66,000 to Rs. 1,35,00,000 and the estimated increase of the ensuing year has been put down to Rs. 1,38,55,000. One naturally views the above state of things with a degree of alarm. I humbly suggest that proper checks be placed against the manufacture and sale of intoxicants with a view to lessen their consumption, and attempts should be made to reduce the number of liquor shops and to further enhance the duties on their sale and to abandon the method of selling shops or licenses by auction.

"I am glad to know that under heads 'Education' and 'Medical' the receipts have increased by Rs. 56,000 and Rs. 69,000, respectively, in the present year. The expansion of revenue under these two heads shows the increase of students in schools and colleges which no doubt is a matter of satisfaction. I am glad also that there have been increases in the revenue under various other heads.

"I am however sorry that there have been increases on receipt side under heads 'Courts of Law' and 'Police' by Rs. 52,000 and Rs. 50,000, respectively. With regard to the first increase I do not find any information in connection with the larger realisation of fines this year. There can be no doubt whatever that adequate and deterrent punishment should be inflicted to prevent the repetition of offences and for preserving law and order, but one feels anxiety when he finds income from fines is going up year by year.

"As regards the increase of receipts under head 'Police' I find that the increase is due partially to the entertainment of additional police in Jessore, Madaripur and Munshiganj. No information can be gleaned from the Financial Statement to show the circumstances which led to the entertainment of the additional police in these places, but the fact that no trouble has been experienced in realizing the expense of the additional police goes to show how the people of this Province remains law-abiding under most trying circumstances.

"As regards the expenditure side I would like to confine my remarks on Education, Sanitation, Medical, Irrigation and Civil Works only. Under head '22—Education' I beg to state that within the period commencing from 1909-10 to 1912-13 the expenditure on this subject has increased from Rs. 51,00,000 to Rs. 78,15,000, and in this year the allotment has been enhanced to Rs. 1,34,88,000. This is a matter of great felicitation, and every one should be thankful to the Government for the increase in expenditure incurred on a subject which no doubt is the basis of elevating the people of this country to the level of an advanced nation, but even this large expenditure is quite inadequate to meet the educational demands of this vast country. True it is that, a great deal has been done, but much remains yet to be done in this matter.

"As regards popular education I beg leave to say that I fully concur with the Hon'ble Mr. Kuehler as to the principle enunciated by him for making over the school buildings of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions mentioned in his speech except those where they are in the possession of properly constituted managing body to the District Boards for maintenance and to constitute the schools located therein as Board Schools.

"Under head 'Female Education' I am sorry I am unable to find that any allotment has been made to any part of West Bengal except Calcutta. Female education is a crying want, and in my humble opinion more allotment should be made to enable people to do something in the matter. The Hon'ble Member in charge of Education will easily be able to increase the grants from some of the lump allotments or from the estimated balance.

"The spread of primary education is an absolute necessity and unless and until the number of school-going boys of this country represents a satisfactory percentage those who have the welfare of the country at heart cannot remain satisfied. Now that the Hon'ble Mr. Gokhale's Bill for compulsory education has been rejected, larger grants are required for the education of the masses, and I doubt not our Government are alive to this fact and will do what possibly can be done in this matter.

"The proposal to increase the remunerations of gurus to Rs. 8 and Rs. 10 has my full concurrence. I hope the Boards, who now will get the entire proceeds from P. W. Cess, will have not difficulty whatever to make a small general increase amounting on an average to Re. 1 a month on the stipends now paid to gurus and an additional increase of Rs. 2 in the case of trained gurus.

The grant allotted for Technical Schools seems entirely inadequate. In the proper sense of the word neither the Civil Engineering College nor the Survey and Engineering Schools attached to it can properly be called Technical Institutions. The institution at Asansol which imparts mining instruction may have a claim to such a name, but the amount allotted to it is insignificant. I hear there is likelihood of a better institution being established at the place to which larger grants will have to be made. There is also a proposal to establish a great Technical Institution in which instruction up to a high standard will be given on subjects such as Mechanical and Electrial Engineering, Technological Chemistry, and that the institute will be affiliated to the Calcutta University. This institute when established will no doubt be a great boon to the country, but how far it will succeed to meet the requirements of the country it is difficult to predict.

"I find that a proposal to appoint three additional Inspectresses for the efficient supervision of female education has been made, and it is sought to defray their salaries from the allotment of Rs. 1,07,000 under Female Education. On several previous occasions the attention of the authorities were drawn to the fact that the expenses for Direction and Inspection were getting entirely disproportionate to the expenditure on actual education, but the remarks were not considered valid. I would therefore remain silent after pointing out the fact that a very large portion of the allotment will be swallowed up by the pay of the Inspectresses.

On the head of 'secondry Aided Schools' I have to say a few words. Almost all the districts of the Province have the good fortune of possessing a zilla school at their capital towns. Burdwan had the good luck also of having such a school. I hear that about half a century back it was removed to Purulia, on the understanding that the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan would maintain a school equivalent in every respect to a zilla Government school. True it is that he still maintains a higher class English school and that two other such schools have sprung up here since then, but they are not able to meet the demand of this place, and the result is that a number of boys failing to obtain seats in any of these schools have to seek admission to schools elsewhere. One of these two other schools is owned and maintained by the local municipality, but owing to paucity of its funds it is unable to maintain it exactly on the footing of a zilla school—though it has been achieving brilliant results in the Matriculation examinations. I would humbly draw the attention of Government to the fact that the school has not a suitable house belonging to it and that its teachers are not well paid. I would therefore respectfully beg that the Government will kindly take the above facts into their consideration.

"Under head '24—Medical' I am very glad to note that the Government have most generously allowed the District Boards to appropriate the entire revenue derivable from the Public Work Cesses for sanitary improvements, rural water-supply, as well as for adopting measures to cope with malaria. There can be no doubt whatever that bodily health is the first requisite for life.

and it depends on the place we live in and the water we drink and the air we breathe. Although sanitation is a new science, it claims a very large number of intelligent votaries who have been convinced of its power of achieving a great success in the domain of health. I am very sorry to admit that the majority of the people of this country is entirely ignorant of sanitary laws, and it is very difficult to induce them to take intelligent interest in sanitary measures, and that introduction of sanitary improvements are often times thwarted by local apathy as well as by active opposition. It should be borne in mind that ignorance and apathy are two great enemies of all reforms,—ignorance of evil effects and the means of averting them; apathy from a sense of personal helplessness. I am glad, however, that some of our countrymen have been awakened to their duties in connection with sanitary reforms, and that the Government authorities have been able to convince them of the good effects of sanitary laws. I am very doubtful whether the majority of the townspeople are even aware of the awful insanitary condition of the places in which the village people live and the diluted "sewage" they drink. Dr. Gregg, who was formerly the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal stated, in one of his notes that the supply of wholesome water in sufficient quantity is a fundamental sanitary necessity, without it injury to health inevitably arises either from deficiency in quantity or from presence of impurities, and that he had no hesitation in attributing cholera, many forms of fever, dysentery, diarrhœa and other diseases principally to the water-supply which is obtained from tanks the water of which is too frequently, little better than diluted "sewage" abounding in animal and vegetable life, every shower of rain washing filth into it while the clothes and cooking utnesils cleaned in it contributed the modicum of filth.

"Being an inhabitant of Burdwan, which has acquired an unenviable notoriety, on account of the fever known as 'Burdwan fever' I can safely state that after the introduction of water-works in this town Burdwan has been able to get rid of its bad reputation and to put forward its claim of having become a healthy place again. Now that the income of the District Boards will be greatly augmented they will be in a position to do a great deal to introduce the supply of good potable water to rural areas. In almost every village there are still many tanks which have silted up which when re-excavated will be able to supply good drinking water. If the Boards follow the procedure which was followed at Burdwan sometime before a great number of silted up tanks can be utilized for drinking purpose in a very little time. The owners of these tanks can be very easily induced to re-excavate them and reserve its water for drinking purposes only if a quarter or a little more of the money required for re-excavating them be given to them on the condition that they would bind themselves not to fish in the tank more than once in two months and deter people either to wash or to clean utensils in it. As soon as good water is made available I believe half the number of diseases from which the villages suffer are likely to disappear. Next to water-supply the defective drainage of the villages is to be remedied. If any one takes the trouble to go through the literature of malarious fever he will be convinced that subsoil moisture arising from water-logged condition of a village makes it liable to malarial infection easily, and therefore best endeavours should be made to see that there may not be any accumulation of water in any part of a village, and that the rain water may easily pass away from it and fall into public drains. Now that a large number of unions are being established the members thereof will be able to do a good deal to deter the attack of the fell disease if any do their duties properly and efficiently with the money they will now receive from the Boards. In this connection it is not out of place to mention that the Eden Canal, which was originally made for the purpose of the supply of drinking water to villages through which it runs and which has now been converted into an irrigation channel, may be thoroughly cleaned by the removal of weeds, and sufficient water may be allowed to enter it through the Kanchannagore weir in order that it may be one of the sources of the supply of drinkable water.

"Under head 'No. 45 Civil Works.'—I may be pardoned to mention that the condition of the buildings in which the Judge's Court and the Subordinate Judge's Court are held at Burdwan is extremely wretched. The Judge's Court I hear was a part of a magazine in olden time which has been converted into a court-house—surely it might have been a very safe and suitable asylum of powder and balls, but certainly is not a fit and desirable temple for justice to sit and discharge the sacred duties.

"I may be allowed to mention that the appointment of overseers for reporting on the real condition of rural water-supply is not required. The work can very well be done by the overseers employed by the District Boards whose duties would be to supply drinkable water to the rural areas. The allotments under head "Contribution in aid of excluded local fund and municipalities" should have been, I respectfully submit, far greater than they are. The amount is Rs. 14,95,323, and it is to be distributed over a very large number of municipalities and District Boards. Before ending my remarks on this head I am bound to offer my heartfelt thanks for the grant of Rs. 33,300 made to the municipality of Burdwan of which I am a Commissioner for the extension of the water-supply of the town.

"I intended to make a few observations regarding the absence of any provision in the Financial Statement submitted to the Council regarding the separation of Judicial and Executive function, but having learnt the sad fate of the resolution on it moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerji before the Imperial Council I am bound to consider that the long expected boon is still outside the visible horizon—a fact which is likely to create a grievous disappointment in the minds of the people living throughout the length and breadth of this vast country and damp the spirit of all loyal subjects of His Gracious Majesty in India."

"Hon'ble Members have often been asked, and have sometimes asked one another, as to what good it does to move resolutions in connection with the Financial Statement or to make remarks in connection with the Budget. Some answer to their questions, the spirit of which is much indeed to be deprecated, has been given in the present Budget in the shape of a small provision for the regrading of the Munsifs' branch of the Subordinate Judicial Service. The complaints and grievances of the service have been and are many and of fairly long standing. But by degrees they are being redressed, though not always with commendable speed or in the best possible manner open under existing circumstances and conditions. It is not, however, possible that one service should be thoroughly improved, nay absolutely perfected, while many others, with possibly greater grievances, are waiting and the loudest and most obtrusive champions of particular services must allow Government reasonable latitude and discretion, both as to the method and extent as well as the timing of improvements. All things come—or ought to—to those that can wait, and members of the Subordinate Judicial Service are past masters in the game of patience, which is not only of mere skill but has involved, in many cases, almost life-long training. They may, however, congratulate themselves that things are seriously beginning to change, and one of their body has at last found his way up the High Court Bench, ascent to which had long been made particularly steep for them since a long forgotten failure. If the failure is not repeated and proper selection continues to be made one great grievance of the service will be removed. A member of the service is permanently on the Calcutta Small Causes Court Bench and another has been experimentally added. Here also the experiment will be anxiously watched, not the least by members of both the branches of the profession to which I belong, for their long admitted claims are still unrecognised.

"The question of the improvement of the Subordinate Judicial service has often been before the Bengal Council during the last five years, or rather the four years preceding the last year when there was no budget debate. No budget debate has been recently held without important issues in this concern being raised and carefully considered. The question has also been brought up from time to time in the shape of substantive resolutions and full information has been elicited. So much in fact has been said about the matter, that when the Public Service Commission did me the honour of asking me to submit views and schemes about the improvement of the service, for fear of repetition I felt myself at liberty to do no more than refer to what I had the honour of laying before this Council on previous occasions. The result of all this ventilation of the question and free and frank interchange of views and opinions, both in the Council Chamber and round the Secretariat table - particularly when Mr. Gourlay was in charge of this branch of the Secretariat—cleared up the ground considerably and helped in enlisting the more than active sympathy of Your Lordship's Government and that of Your Lordship's two predecessors, the untimely death of one of whom, Sir Edward Baker, which, all who knew him sincerely mourn, I desire to take this opportunity of paying my and my colleagues' tribute of respect to his memory. Untiring energies, thorough grasp of situations, reasoned sympathy, absolute directness of purpose and unfailing firmness characterised his career, and if Sir Edward's good fortune was not to be uniformly popular, he left many friends, particularly in the Educational Circles, where he attempted much good.

"We, and the members of the service have no reason, to complain so far, for we are fully pursuaded that all that this Government could do to relieve the situation has been attempted, and if these labours have not been successful, it is because of unfortunate clogging, up the line. In connection with the revised Financial Statement of 1910-11, I moved that "the Council should recommend to the Lieutenant-Governor that provision be made in the Budget for an additional sum of Rs. 50,000 under the heading 'Courts of Law,' for improvement of the status and prospects of the Judicial service of Bengal" on certain lines. The resolution had to be withdrawn, as usual, after explanation that the Government was not ready yet with its full scheme and the grant could not be sanctioned. We understood later on that the Government schemes were ready and were fairly in consonance with the views of the High Court, but the Government of India saw certain objections which had to be overcome. Relief was long in coming, and this year we have the partial satisfaction of noting that Rs. 50,000 has been budgeted which indicates that the difficulty with the Government of India has disappeared. Hon'ble Members who bring up questions and schemes for consideration of the Government cannot, therefore, complain that Government,—of course in its own time and of its own motion,—does not take suitable notice of reasonable suggestions. Year before last I drew attention, for example, to the condition of the Asansol Courts and asked for improvement, which I am glad to see has also been provided for this year. One could name adoption of many more ideas in this manner, if there were need. All this is satisfactory so far, and it makes it all the more obligatory upon us, and almost encourages us, to bring up our schemes in the best of our light and to submit our suggestions and to bide our time. But my Lord, what might have been good enough two years ago is not so now, and for the proper regrading of the service Rs. 50,000 will not suffice. Take for example the case of the first grade Munsifs. We long struggled here for a Rs. 500 grade, such as obtained in the then neighbouring province of East Bengal and Assam and in Burma. We were almost laughed out of Court,—I mean Council—and we have got the Rs. 500 grade now unexpectedly, because the two provinces have been brought together. But those who are in the grade are the relics of the East Bengal era. But we have also to do justice to their corresponding colleagues in West Bengal. And the tension in second and third grades have also to be relieved. We have been furnished with no details as to how the regrading is to be effected, and in the absence of these details I can only surmise and suggest the provision of a sum to, begin with, that will give the beginners the initial pay of Rs. 250 a month, such as their predecessors used to have and such as under a recent and better organisation, the Deputy Magistrate is getting. If this is done, as I suppose it must be, Rs. 25,000 out of the alotted Rs. 50,000 will be absorbed and the balance Rs. 25,000 will go an exceedingly small way in regrading the service proper in the upper grades. Though a larger grant could not be provided this year to cover the whole ground, view of and to assist future action, it is of the greatest importance to examine some aspects of the whole question, and this I shall attempt to do, as shortly as possible.

"The pendency of the proceedings of the Public Service Commission is of course a bar to an effectual and comprehensive survey. But what has transpired already before the Commission, affords enough food for reflection even reason for temporary action. In spite, therefore, of the pendency of the proceedings Your Lordship's Government has rightly felt that some relief is immediately needed, as the deliberations of the Commission may take some years, and may not be acted upon for some years more.

Among the witnesses examined by the Royal Commission in Calcutta in January last, there were only two members of the Indian Civil Service who dwelt at some length on the grievances of the Provincial Judicial Service. These were the Hon'ble Mr. Justice Sir Herbert Carnduff and Mr. A. H. Cuming, District Judge on special duty with the Government of Bengal, and both of them spoke of the urgent necessity of regrading the service, of abolishing the grade of Munsifs on Rs. 200, and granting other privileges to the service which it is not necessary to mention for our present purposes. Mr. Cuming, who was specially deputed to consider the question, spoke, among other things, as follows :—

'Owing to the late territorial redistribution, the prospects of the members of the Judicial Service who have been allotted to Bengal compare unfavourably with those of the officers allotted to Bihar and Orissa. This has caused a deep feeling of discontent among the officers allotted to Bengal. In order to remove what is undoubtedly a legitimate grievance, and to provide for the convenience of work, I propose to add six Sub-Judgeships to the Bengal cadre, to retain the grade of Rs. 500 for Munsifs, and to regrade the whole service in such a way that its average pay may be raised to the level of the pay of the officers in Bihar and Orissa. The pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs should be raised to Rs. 250.'

"There are very good grounds for the "deep feeling of discontent" alluded to by Mr. Cuming, for a perusal of the Civil List corrected up to the 1st January 1913, shows that a very large number of officers in the grades of Rs. 400, 300 and Rs. 250 are in those grades for six years and more, and, unless there is a speedy reorganization, they will have to continue in those grades indefinitely longer. The necessity for the reorganization of the service without further delay is therefore apparent, and by placing an additional grant of Rs. 50,000 in the budget estimates under the head of the Provincial Judicial Service, Government has recognized this necessity.

"The least that can be done, however, if any reorganization is to be made at all, is to place the Bengal officers on a par with those of Bihar in the matter of pay and promotion. From what follows it will be seen that an additional grant of one lakh of rupees in round numbers, that is double the sum allotted in the grant, would be indispensably necessary if the prospects of officers in the two provinces are to be approximately equalized. This will, no doubt, only afford a temporary relief, such as it appears to be the intention of the present budget grant to provide, and many larger questions affecting the service will still have to be left over for the consideration of the Royal Commission in the first instance, and ultimately of the Government and the Secretary of State for India. But for the present, a grant of one lakh of rupees might serve to allay, though not to remove altogether, the discontent which prevails among the Subordinate Judiciary of Bengal, specially in its lower ranks, so powerfully voiced by European Judicial Members of the Civil Service.

"The existing gradation of Subordinate Judges and Munsifs in the two Provinces of Bengal and Bihar and Orissa is as follows :—

BENGAL.

Subordinate Judges.

				Rs.
First grade ...	6	Drawing a total salary of	...	6,000
Second ,, ...	12	Ditto	ditto ...	9,600
Third ,, ...	24	Ditto	ditto ...	14,400
	42			30,000

Munsifs.

				Rs.
First grade ...	12	Drawing a total salary of	...	6,000
Second ,, ...	61	Ditto	ditto ...	24,400
Third ,, ...	70	Ditto	ditto ...	21,000
Fourth ,, ...	66	Ditto	ditto ...	16,500
Fifth ,, ...	36	Ditto	ditto ...	7,200
	245			75,100
GRAND TOTAL ...	287			1,05,100

BIHAR AND ORISSA.

Subordinate Judges.

				Rs.
First grade ...	2	Drawing a total salary of	...	2,000
Second ,, ...	6	Ditto	ditto ...	4,800
Third ,, ...	12	Ditto	ditto ...	7,200
Total ...	20			14,000

Munsifs.

				Rs.
First grade (on Rs. 500) nil.
Second ,, ...	20	Drawing a total salary of	...	8,000
Third ,, ...	19	Ditto	ditto ...	5,700
Fourth ,, ...	19	Ditto	ditto ...	4,750
Fifth ,, ...	10	Ditto	ditto ...	2,000
Total ...	68			20,450
GRAND TOTAL ...	88			34,450

"From the above tables we find that in Bihar and Orissa every officer has an average income of Rs. $\frac{34,450}{88}$ per mensem. To equalize the incomes of Bengal officers, who are 287 in number, with those of Bihar, we require Rs. $\frac{34,450}{88} \times 287 =$ Rs. 1,12,354 per mensem, (a). But the total monthly income of the whole Bengal Service amounts only to Rs. 1,05,100, (b). Therefore, deducting (b) from (a) the balance of Rs. 7,254 is the sum required to make the monthly incomes of the officers of both the Provinces nominally equal.

"But to make them really equal, a further sum of, say, Rs. 1,146 per mensem is, on a rough calculation, necessary to be placed at the disposal of the Bengal service, thus bringing the total to Rs. (7,254 + 1,146 =) Rs. 8,400 a month or Rs. 1,00,800 annually, for the following reasons :—

(a) The Bengal branch of the Provincial Judicial Service does not practically gain much in comparison with the Bihar branch by the fact of having a grade on Rs. 500. It will be found from a reference to the Civil List, that nearly all the officers in this grade are always officiating as Subordinate Judges. As such, they get an acting allowance of Rs. 100 only per mensem, whereas Munsifs in Bihar on Rs. 400 get an acting allowance of Rs. 160 per mensem under similar circumstances (vide Civil Service Regulations, article 141). So that the net gain in the grade of Rs. 500 is only Rs. 40 per post per mensem (Bengal Munsifs on Rs. 500 getting Rs. 600 as officiating Subordinate Judges, and Bihar Munsifs on Rs. 400 getting Rs. 560 as officiating Subordinate Judges) or Rs. 480 in all for the grade of 12 officers on Rs. 500, instead of Rs. 1,200, as would at first sight appear to be the case. In calculating the prospects of the two cadres this loss of Bengal officers of Rs. (1,200—480=) 720 per mensem, must be taken into account.

(b) Owing to the proportionately large number of Subordinate Judges in Bihar and Orissa, a Bihar officer will enjoy the higher grades of Subordinate Judgeships for a considerably longer period than his colleague in Bengal. Since the number of Subordinate Judges in Bengal cannot be increased beyond the actual requirements of the Presidency, this inequality cannot be got rid of, unless the Government thinks of giving some relief to the overworked Subordinate Judges of Bengal, or reduces the number of Munsifs entrusted with the power of Subordinate Judges in respect of suits above Rs. 1,000 and up to Rs. 2,000 in value. The result of this will be, that the Bihar officers will enjoy a higher pension (as compared with the Bengal officers) which is calculated under the Civil Service Regulations upon the salary earned by an officer during the last three years of his service

(c) For the same reason, Bihar officers will enjoy first class travelling allowance for a longer period, and a proportionately larger number of them will draw acting allowance as Subordinate Judges, than their brethren of Bengal.

"Though such a reorganization may equalize the financial prospects of officers in the two provinces, it will not compensate for the delay which a Bengal Munsif will be subjected to in attaining the higher dignity of Subordinate Judges, unless and until means can be found to add to the existing number of Subordinate Judges in the Presidency. There can be no satisfactory re-gradation of the service with only Rs. 1,00,800 more a year to spend. However, the following is the most convenient scheme that can be drawn up. The necessity for the abolition of the last grade of Munsifs on Rs. 200 has been repeatedly advocated, and recently by such eminent authorities as Sir Herbert Carnduff and Mr. Cuming. When the Provincial Judicial Service was last reorganized in 1902, besides certain additions in the ranks of the Subordinate Judges, the number of officers in the different grades was so distributed as to place the grades in a descending series, in order to admit of an easy flow of promotion. The same principles should be kept in view in every scheme of reorganization.

"In the present scheme of reorganization, the number and gradation of the Subordinate Judges would remain unchanged.

"As regards Munsifs a statement like the following would show the situation at a glance—

				Rs.
First grade	... 20	Drawing a total salary of	...	10,000
Second "	... 90	Ditto	ditto ...	36,000
Third "	... 75	Ditto	ditto ...	22,500
Fourth "	... 60	Ditto	ditto ...	15,000
	245			83,500	per mensem.
Present cost per mensem	...	...	...	75,100

∴ The additional cost (Rs. 83,500 – 75,100=) Rs. 8,400 per mensem or Rs. 1,00,800 per annum.

"Let us now see what improvement can be effected in the prospects of the Bengal service with a sum of Rs. 50,000 per annum allotted in this year's budget. We have seen that with less than double this sum no improvement is possible in the prospects of the Subordinate Judges. It is, therefore, impossible to strengthen their cadre with the sum earmarked for the improvement of the service. It must also be remembered that, under every one of the following schemes, the prospects of Bengal officers will remain much worse than those of Bihar.

"Retaining the Rs. 200 grade, and confining the increase only to the 1st grade on Rs. 500, we would have the following results—

	Rs.
I ...	... 500	...	... 26
II ...	... 400	...	... 61
III ...	... 300	...	... 70
IV ...	... 250	...	... 66
V ...	... 200	...	... 22
			245

Abolishing the last grade and confining the improvement to the intermediate grade, we should have—

I—Rupees 500	...	...	... 12
II— ,, 400	...	...	... 74
III— ,, 300	...	...	... 79
IV— ,, 250	...	...	... 80
		Total	... 245

Abolishing the last grade, and giving the benefit of the improvement to the upper grades, the result would be—

I—Rupees 500	...	...	... 21
II— ,, 400	...	...	... 62
III— ,, 300	...	...	... 70
IV— ,, 250	...	...	... 92
		Total	... 245

"I have attempted almost all the possible permutations and combinations with the limited grant of Rs. 50,000, and the result is satisfactory to no grade of the service and no branch. In all these schemes, the grades on Rs. 400, Rs. 300 and Rs. 250 will become very much congested. Under all these schemes, the additional cost will be Rs. 50,400 per annum.

"However, we must recognise the practical realities of the situation, and when the Government scheme of regrading is published in detail, probably some more light will be thrown on the situation. For the present, though no more than what has been done can this year be expected, the above facts may be of use in shaping the future course of improvement of the service.

"Turning to another important branch of public service, the Subordinate Civil Service, it is a matter of surprise and regret that the Budget contains no provision for its improvement.

"Formerly, Sub-Deputy Collectors used to be recruited from the ranks of Kanungos and sometimes of clerks, and the initial pay of Rs. 100 which was decided upon when the service first started was thought adequate at a time when the cost of living was comparatively low. Now, however, members of the Subordinate, as well as the Provincial Civil Service, are recruited from practically the same classes. They are about equally qualified men, and certainly equally share the responsiblities of various departments under the Government. Their qualifications both educational and social as also the nature of the work they have to do (both magisterial and collectorate), are about the same. The new condition of things demands that Sub-Deputy Collectors should live in a decent style, and even before the Prices of Food Enquiries Commission publish their report it will be accepted without hesitation that the starting pay of Rs. 100 is anything but adequate for decent living.

" It is unquestionable that the cost of living has gone up considerably, and in view of this fact, as well as the fact that the maximum pay of Sub-Deputy Collectors is Rs. 250, the pay of the lowest grade of Deputy Collectors has been rightly raised from Rs. 200 to Rs. 250. This increase in the initial pay of the Deputy Magistrate was needful to remove a glaring anomaly. There might be a Sub-Deputy Collector drawing Rs. 250 a month and a Deputy Collector drawing Rs. 200 a month in the same subdivision, which would be extremely embarrassing to the latter, if not to both. It was felt that this awkwardness and anomaly should be removed, and the Government was good enough to see the force of the contention often raised in the Council in this behalf and the initial pay was increased. I am glad to be able to observe once more that those who made themselves responsible for these and other contentions that are slowly finding acceptance in later years, if not the same year, are thankful for the steady recognition of the soundness of the lines taken by them. But there are other and greater anomalies in the train of this reform, which require consequential amendment.

" It is anomalous, for example, that Inspectors of Police whose status, both in service and also in society, is inferior to that of a Sub-Deputy Collector and who are not even gazetted officers, begin on Rs. 150 a month. And the Sub-Deputy Collector would look exceedingly small indeed to have to be stationed at a place where there was a hundred and fifty rupees Sub-Inspector of Police. Sub-Deputy Collectors are mostly graduates of good families, and they, in common with members of the upper service, are absolutely above reproach and suspicion as a rule, so far as purity of service is concerned. They have often to maintain two establishments, one at the place of business and another at home, over and above their travelling establishment. They have as many claims upon their purse as Deputy Magistrates, and must discharge them on almost the same scale. They have to maintain a turn-out and queipage and paraphernalia that must nearly equal the Deputy Magistrate's, and the class of work they do is nearly the same. The promotions from the Sub-Deputy Collectors' rank to that of the Deputy Collector are not yet very large and the attraction to the service is not enough for the best type of men in large numbers, though owing to general glutting of the service market the number of candidates is never small. The Deputy Collector has still many grievances to redress that will need attention in the near future, but the Sub-Deputy Collector's lot is harder still. They belong practically to the same service, come from the same class of men and work under practically the same conditions. It is of importance to the State that their recruitment should be on a more sound and satisfactory footing, particularly as the upward flow of promotion is and must be slow.

" In view of the above facts one is not far wrong in pressing that the initial pay of the Sub-Deputy Collector should be raised from Rs. 100 to Rs. 150. There are altogether 63 appointments in the 5th grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors, and to give effect to this proposal only a sum of Rs. 37,800 would be necessary. But mere raising of the initial pay would not fully meet the requirements of the case. The important question of their travelling allowance also would have to be seriously taken up.

" Formerly, Sub-Deputy Collectors were recruited from an inferior class of men who used to tour in bullock-carts, and sometimes also on foot. There thus came to be a wide difference in the halting and travelling allowance of Deputy Collectors and Sub-Deputy Collectors. This was not much of a grievance in the days when the tone of the service was not as high as it undoubtedly is today. As qualified men of better classes began to be drawn to the Subordinate Civil Service and when, under altered conditions, they had to work side by side with Deputy Collectors in various capacities and with equal responsibilities, the injustice of the difference was felt, and a Circular was issued in 1907 granting Sub-Deputy Collectors the same travelling allowance as that allowed to Deputy Collectors. On the strength of this circular, many Sub-Deputy Collectors drew travelling and also halting allowance on the same scale as that allowed to Deputy Collectors. When they had done so for about six months another circular was issued the same year to the effect that Sub-Deputy Collectors were to draw only travelling allowance on the same scale as Deputy Collectors but not halting allowance. This reversion to the old objectionable scale of halting allowances cannot be justified, for Sub-Deputy Collectors have to live, and do live, out in the distant mufassal in practically the same style as Deputy Collectors, and must do so not only for their own sake but for that of the service, the prestige of which must on no account be lowered in the eye, particularly of the village public. The present scale of haltage is 1 per cent. of their pay, that is to say, a Sub-Deputy Collector on Rs. 100 gets Re. 1, a Sub-Deputy Collector on Rs. 150 gets Re. 1-8, and so on. This is quite inadequate. One should have thought and expected that the lower the pay the higher would be the halting allowances, at least in the case of officers of this class who have to maintain a position in the eyes of an ignorant public. What is a rupee a day out in the mufassal, if that is to say you pay for everything that you get. Let the framers of the scale try it when they go out on tour next, and they will find, by the time that meal-time is over, that they must resort to the undignified procedure of begging or borrowing, if not to the unmagisterial proceeding of stealing. A rupee goes a very small way in these days, particularly out in the mufassal, and this was realized when the travelling allowance was equalized on the same scale as the Deputy Collector's. Matters would be particularly difficult if a Deputy Collector and a Collector were out on tour together, and were camping side by side. It would never do for the earthen pot to come to grief in full public view, and the Sub-Deputy's enforced modest fare at home has to be substantially augmented out on tour, not only to appease increasing animal hunger due to vigorous touring, but also for the sake of appearances. Their halting allowance should, therefore, be also raised to Rs. 3, as that of a Deputy Collector. There are 202 Sub-Deputy Collectors on the list, and as far as I can gather, five days of allowance a month will meet the requirements of the case. To give effect, therefore, to this proposal a sum of Rs. 36,360 would have to be provided. And we are sorry to miss both these items in the budget.

"Closely allied with this Executive branch of public service is the administration of criminal justice in Calcutta, regarding which we have had often to say a great deal in this Council. Hon'ble Members who had to complain must be relieved to find that there is a provision in the Budget for strengthening the ministerial staff of the Calcutta magistracy, but we miss all provision for improved Court accommodation without which the situation cannot be adequately coped with. We have had some valuable, though incomplete, information in answer to our questions in the Council regarding the growth of criminal work, and the part that Calcutta Honorary Magistrates take in coping with it.

"I took the liberty of drawing pointed attention of the Council to the deplorable state of affairs that existed in this connection two years ago. The Council was assured, I believe by the Hon'ble Mr. Duke on behalf of the Government, that the needful improvement would be effected, and the resolution was withdrawn. I believe that my Hon'ble friend paid a surprise visit, suitably attired, according to my informant in view of the assured stuffy character of the Courts—and though my suggestion about erecting temporary accommodation for the Honorary Courts on the roof of the Court stables did not quite find acceptance, it was not altogether unfavourably regarded. Other visits followed. Judges of the High Court, Secretaries, and Sessions Judges on deputation, have since been raising hopes by visits, surprise and otherwise, which have not been yet realized. After the Imperial desertion of Calcutta, location of the entire Court in Imperial looking buildings was talked of, but such close proximity of practical criminology with the southern sanctum sanctorum was successfully objected to, and the Collectorate Buildings in Dalhousie Square were the next objective of rumour. This prospect also proved illusory, and it appears that not only is there no glut in the Imperial Buildings market but Your Lordship's Secretariat Press will have to be located in some new buildings, for which ten lakhs out of the "free balance" is to be earmarked. The Police Court accommodation has therefore to be improved in situ unless, as another set of rumour has it, a partition of the Court is to be effected and the Nimtola Ghat Street White Elephant is to have a final justification. There is fortunately no indication yet in the Budget or outside irresponsible newspaper local columns, of this rumour having any foundation. If this proposal of partition is seriously put forward, there will be strong public objection to which due weight will undoubtedly be given. I have no right to anticipate matters, and may well be permitted to complain that though two years have elapsed absolutely nothing has been done to remove the state of things regarding which we had unequivocal official admission and assurances two years ago. The state of things which we then deplored have grown from bad to worse. The petty cases have swollen in number, owing to reasons that ought to be carefully enquired into, and the Court of one of the stipendiary Magistrates is occupied for the trial of these cases for several hours a day by the Registrar, with the result that the Magistrate has himself to do his own work in his stuffy chamber, access to which would be through this crowded court room. In this state of things it would be useless to expect that Honorary Magistrates could be given better accommodation than they were shown to have two years ago. Those who have the good or bad fortune of being summoned to sit have often to wait till another bench rises or can be adventurously hustled out, unless they choose to do their work also in chambers. If they can get hold of a court room the requisite clerical assistance may be, for the time being, wanting, for not only is the accommodation insufficient for the purpose but the ministerial staff also is hopelessly insufficient. The increase in the staff that has been budgetted is, I understand, not so much for the Honorary Courts as for the Stipendiary Courts; though no details have been given I believe I am right in thinking that what is aimed at is strengthening of the Registrar's office proper and of the fifth Stipendiary Magistrate who looks as if he has come to stay. If I am wrong in this surmise, and if the increase provided in the Budget is really for strengthening the Honorary Courts, we should be very glad indeed to have the assurance.

"There are now two bench clerks attached to the Court of Presidency Honorary Magistrates. One bench sits every day for the trial of fresh cases, and often there is a second bench for the trial of part-heard cases. The two bench clerks now combine the functions of bench clerk and interpreter when the two benches sit at the same time. With two other bench clerks, the requirements of four Honorary Magistrates' courts will be fully met, as considering the nature of the cases tried by them, one man can very well combine the functions of the interpreter and bench clerk. Two such men can be employed on Rs. 60 a month each. Two additional chuprasis would cost Rs. 14 per month, and one duftry for all the Honorary Magistrates' Courts, Rs. 10. The total additional expense in equipping four Honorary Magistrates' Courts cannot exceed Rs. 150 per month.

"This will afford necessary help as regards the staff. As regards the question of accommodation, matters are more serious. The stables will easily take another storey at an inconsiderable cost, and an overbridge will connect this new range with the main building at some convenient point. The police office buildings are going to be considerably improved according to the budget provision in that behalf, and, before that is done, it is essential that the more urgent improvement of the court premises should be effected. The police offices are no healthy an environment for the Police Court, and it would be a real improvement to take the Court bodily away from the police office. But since there is no possibility of that being done, such improvement in situ as is possible ought to be taken in hand without loss of time.

Taking a slice away to Nimtola would be worse than useless. It is neither dignified nor expedient for the Police Court cashier to come down to the yard bag in hand and collect the fines of the day on crowded days.

"My first and immediate suggestion, therefore, would be that the Fire Brigade should be located in more suitable quarters, preferably in the business parts of the town, where its service are worst and oftenest needed. The Nimtolla Ghat Street buildings or some of the Corporation pumping stations may be utilized for the purpose. The ground floor of the Police Court Buildings would be a tolerably good Court for the trial of petty cases and for some of the offices. The rooms on the upper floors thus released could, for the time being, serve as Courts for Honorary Magistrates, who are quite equal to much more and far better work than they are able to show under the existing depressing conditions.

"Large changes in the constitution of the Calcutta Police—which some say is not necessarily an improvement in all cases—have been recently made. The Superintendents and Inspectors have given place to Circle Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors and the latter is now the Thana Officer. The old-world Daroga has disappeared, as the Indian Police Commission of 1902 expressed itself against his continuance. Regarding Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors, the Commission were of opinion that it should be fixed at a higher scale than in the districts on consideration of the much greater cost of living. This principle was quite sound and was given effect to. Improvement was also effected in the case of the European members of the Police Force on similar lines, and in the present Budget has been rightly included fairly large provisions for improvement of the constable's lot, the details of which provisions were explained in connection with the Financial Statement and are still fresh in the minds of Hon'ble Members. These provisions taken together would appear to place the Calcutta Police on a fairly satisfactory basis. Listening, however, to the explanations regarding the improvement of the constable's position, one could not help being struck with indications of marked weakness in a material link of the chain, namely, the pay and grading of the officers known as the head-constable. According to recommendation 55 of the Police Commission, the recruitment of head-constables should be by promotion from the ranks, "except where it is impossible to find among constables a man qualified for the post of station writer." This recommendation has apparently reference more to the District Police than to the Presidency Police, and according to recommendation 62 "head-constables should be divided into three grades carrying pay at Rs. 15, Rs. 20, and Rs. 25 a month respectively." So far as Calcutta was concerned, the Commission approved of the proposal to abolish the ranks of native sergeant and corporal and substituted the head-constable, whose maximum pay was fixed at Rs. 25 with a minimum of Rs. 15. For the constable, the rates were fixed at Rs. 10, Rs. 11 and 12, and the Commission laid down that "endeavours must be made to enlist more Bengalis" and a belief was expressed that "more of them (Bengalis) would enter the force if they could serve as plain clothes men, in which capacity they could be specially useful." The 'plain clothes' idea was probably due to the notion that few Bengalis could be found willing to don the constables urdi for the monthly sum of Rs. 12. If so, the head-constable's urdi at Rs. 15 a month would not be attractive enough and you could not carry on the 'plain clothes' idea all along the line of constables and head-constables, if you did not want to convert the subordinate Police into an army of 'plain clothes' men. The need of more Bengalis being admitted, it is of importance that Bengalis of the right kind should be attracted and kept. In connection with the Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors grade the Commission rightly observed:—It is essential that the Commissioner of police "should have at hand a body of intelligent, trustworthy and influential native officers to whom he can turn with confidence for information and advice regarding popular movements and sentiments, while for detection of offences committed as a rule by natives of the locality, a native officer will ordinarily be more successful than the class of Europeans from whom Inspectors and Sub-Inspectors are drawn." In spite of this deliberate dictum the Bengali Inspector and Sub-Inspector is getting rarer and rarer every day in the Calcutta Police, though he is not quite a vanishing quantity yet. But that is not my present theme, and I refer to the opinion of the Commission not in this concern nor because by the wildest stretch of imagination can a head-constable be ranked as an "influential" officer whose "advice" the Commissioner will seek. But he is or ought to be "intelligent" and "trustworthy" in the words of the Commission whose "information" is uniformly received and acted upon and who is no less an important factor in the "detection of crimes" than the better paid and less numerous Sub-Inspector. To be able to have an "intelligent" and "trustworthy" Bengali officers for the pay ranging from Rs. 15 to 25, when the "greater cost of living in Presidency towns" which the Commission spoke of in 1902 is much greater, is a large and almost impossible order. In fixing this scale of pay and in abolishing the higher ranks of native sergeants, corporals or darogas, by whatever other name he was called, the Commission did not quite realize the effect of the change on the entire police force and forgot for the time being that the strength of a chain is the strength of its weakest part. In large thanas there may be a junior officer, but the ordinary administrative and routine work of the thana has increased so much, that it is not possible for the officer in charge of the thana or his junior to take up investigation or detective work, which must be and is largely if not invariably, delegated to the ill-paid head-constable, the temptation in whose way is necessarily large. A fairly good class of men have been drawn to this branch of the service, and it is not infrequent to come across members of respectable families in the head-constables' ranks, who now and again are undergraduates. Somehow or other there has been impression abroad that the Government recognize the hardship of their lot, and their status is to be improved. This has been keeping them on and should the hope prove illusory I am afraid the frequent resignations in the Police Forces which Sir William Duke referred to in another connection, will prove still more frequent in the near future. Occasional promotion of extra deserving officers to the Sub-Inspectors ranks may be an encouragement to the force but is not the whole solution. The gap between the head-constable's Rs. 25, and the Sub-Inspectors, Rs. 70, is far too large, and it would relieve the situation if the head-constables' maximum pay was raised to Rs. 35 and a special class of officers on pay ranging from Rs. 35 to Rs. 55 or even Rs. 50, was created. The constables and Inspector ranks have been now strengthened, but unless the head-constables position is bettered, the real weak spot of our police administration will assuredly continue. We should have expected in the Budget a recognition of this, and, if it is not forthcoming this year, I hope it will be taken seriously into consideration as soon as possible.

"Intimately connected with Police work as the theme of city morals, and I now turn to it for a moment. Temperance workers are thankful to the Provincial and the Imperial Governments as well as to the Secretary of State for India for the sympathetic treatment that their representations are beginning to receive. The Secretary of State recently told the London deputation that their suggestions would be communicated to the Government of India and the action that will follow will be watched with keen interest. While enough has not been done in the way of grappling with the Drink evil, another and a more insidious one has arisen and has grown into alarming proportions. The cocaine habits are having the people in their firm grip, and it is apprehended that the juvenile population, not excluding very young students in some cases, are a steady prey to the vice. The numerous pan shops along our streets and lanes are supposed to be recognized channels for dissemination of this fell drug, and owing to its small bulk, and odourless composition, the work of dissemination is easy. Cigarettes and harries are not all the poison that these shops traffic in, and their seemingly innocent occupation-in-chief is but a screen to their more nefarious and objectionable doings. School and college authorities have felt the mischief that these shops work in their neighbourhood, and it is time that a very strict watch was kept on all who traffic in this dangerous drug, whether in these shops or elsewhere. Newspaper reports about cocaine smuggling are numerous, and the department needs strengthening of a particular type which the special budget allotment of fifty thousand rupees for reorganizing the Excise Department ought to provide. The general scheme for appropriation of this large grant is, I believe, before the Government of India, and has not yet been passed. It is mixed up with the Salt Department in some way that has not been made quite clear, unless the two preventive departments are also to be mixed up. This is entirely a revenue matter, regarding which it is alike unnecessary and undesirable to offer opinions without full materials before us. The pay and prospects of the officers in the department may need bettering, and some of this fifty thousand rupees may go towards that, and very properly too. We want, however, some special agency to grapple with this particular cocaine evil, and unless it be grappled with early, the havoc will be great. Why our footpaths in the neighbourhood of Schools, Colleges, and Offices and on the way to them, should not be cleared of the objectionable blandishments of Pancallies—for the male Pancalla in his little shop is not the worst evil—is a question that even non-educational and non-temperance men have often asked, and if to them can be traced facilities for disposal of cocaine, they ought to be cleared out on the double quick.

"In regard to Excise, the Council may be congratulated upon the fact that each year sees more careful consideration of the policy under which the department should carry forward its heavy administrative responsibilities. There may be differences of opinion as to whether we should regret or rejoice in the ever-increasing revenue that flows from this source, but it must be a ground for general satisfaction that the economic and moral aspects of our Excise policy are receiving as great consideration as the fiscal.

"I rejoice, my Lord, in the very clear pronouncement made by the Secretary of State in reply to the temperance deputation that waited upon him last year to which I have already referred, he recognized the strength of the case for reform, and although he would not commit himself to a complete application of the principle of local option, he admitted the desirability of improving, as far as possible, the machinery of the Advisory Committees. It is, I think, a matter of regret that more publicity was not given to the appointment and work of these Committees in Bengal and in Calcutta; and especially that upon the Calcutta Committee no appointment was made of any member to represent the Temperance Sentiment in the Indian community, which is a growing factor in the public life of the province. The recent Calcutta Committee was absolutely without touch with the general public and even the interested and earnest temperance public. When I wrote to some of the official members of the Committee offering co-operation I had not even the courtesy of a bare reply or even acknowledgement. Excise officials are probably overworked, and the Budget provision that has been made for strengthening their staff ought to see an improvement. It needs to be recognized that every Municipal area for which an Advisory Committee has been appointed has some non-official influence and interest, and that, in view of the decision to maintain official majorities, with the Collector as the final authority, it is the more incumbent in the temperance interests of the community, that the representative character of non-official opinion should be strengthened. It may be many years before the temperance ideal of a non-revenue authority to decide the number of licenses and location of shops be granted. It will be in accord with the growing demand for recognition of Indian interests that local public opinion be permitted to voice its views and secure from the local Excise administration the application to each area concerned of the Government of India's oft avowed policy, to minimise temptation to those who do not drink, and to discourage excess among those who do.

"My Lord, I am expressing the views of many of my fellow workers in the cause of Temperance when I say we are grateful for the attention that is devoted to the economic aspects of the drink problem. This acknowledgment was frankly and willingly made by the members of the deputation to the Secretary of State, as well as in the recent Bankipore All-India Temperance Conference. We may congratulate ourselves that we are still free from delicacies like Club Milk Punch and dining-car gambling on an objectionally obtrusive and extensive scale. We believe, however, that that ever-growing section of the community leaving the villages and seeking employment in the manufacturing centres of life, are under special temptations to contract vices from which the simplicities of their village life guard them. A number of grog-shops in the immediate neighbourhood of mills and factories should be closed, and upon Advisory Committees in Municipalities containing a large working class population, some representative of employers of labour should certainly find a place.

"And is it not desirable that the system of Excise Advisory Committees be extended to all Municipalities in Bengal, and that they be granted power to deal not only with country liquor shops but with all licenses for the sale of intoxicants of every kind. The duty on foreign liquors has, we rejoice to notice, been recently raised, and it is difficult to say at once what the effect of this will be on the general situation; closer supervision will be necessary no doubt, which the enlarged budget grant ought to ensure. But closer and heartier public co-operation has also to be ensured and made easy.

"In quite a number of Excise reports in recent years the Commissioners have expressed the view that the statistics of conviction for drunkenness are of little use in estimating the extent of the drinking habit. Surely it is the duty of the department to make them of use. And until a more uniform policy is introduced into the Police Department and the Law Courts for arresting drunkards and the punishment of drunkenness, the figures are not worth tabulating. We have this somewhat remarkable fact that, while in the Calcutta area 7,000 persons were convicted of drunkenness, the Excise Department were only wide enough awake to find one of the retail vendors selling liquor to persons in an intoxicated condition. That is how excess used to be discouraged among those who drink in Calcutta. It is clearly desirable that some reforms be introduced for dealing with this vice and to ensure supply of statistical information of value. The reorganization grant ought to be helpful in this as well.

"While admitting the growing efficiency with which this great department is administered, and congratulating the Board upon the success of its work, I desire, My Lord, to close my remarks on this subject by re-affirming the conviction that the large expansion of Revenue points to the need of further reform in order to check the undoubted spread and, as many of us think, the deplorable increase in the drinking habit. The system of high license fees, the resultant of the auction system, cannot be much longer retained. It is an indefeasible method of increasing revenue. The hours of sale need to be limited specially on festive days, and a far larger measure of control needs to be taken from the Revenue Department and placed, with proper safeguards, into the hands of the local Committees or some other independent authority. The reference of the Secretary of State as a result of the recent deputation has, I believe, arrived and the peculiar characteristics of the Bengal Excise policy to which pointed reference was made, may now be adequately dealt with. We miss the genial and helpful presence of the Hon'ble Mr. Oldham who is a real friend of Temperance, in spite of occasional simulated pungency, and who is engaged in useful work elsewhere. The officer who has taken his place is now a member of Your Excellency's Council. I am sure this is an earnest, that the question is going to be dealt with as it should be in this province where, fortunately for it, the Temperance cause is gathering strength in the official circles, from the Governor and His Excellency's immediate surroundings downwards. The present Excise Commissioner and his predecessor who is also a Member of the Council are giving unmistakable indications of a strong desire to be in touch with public opinion.

"Much was said in connection with the Financial Statement regarding Education and the Educational Service, and that is a topic that need not here be again much further debated on. Hon'ble Members as well as members of the general public cannot, however, conceal from themselves the more than anxiety with which the situation is regarded because of the uncertitude as to how it is going to be directed. By way of voicing this, I ventured to ask a question in Council which was declared inadmissible owing to shortness of time. Another question on the subject to which the same objection did not apply, was admitted, the answer to which was awaited with concern. But no information is forthcoming and this uncertitude is making the portion intolerable. I shall not anticipate matters, and merely note that the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler's exuberent generosity, which bade me hope for more than I had asked for in my modesty, is to result in four senior Members of the Provincial Educational Service getting personal allowances of Rs. 150, a month, Rs. 200, to ten would have been nearer the mark if the long-standing vacancies were also filled up and intermediate indulgences were also shown all down the different grades. And there is no reason why these selected officers should not get acting allowance in the higher service which is within your lordships undernoted competence to give. There is a report that there is to be a general allowance to members of the Indian Educational Service with which I should have no quarrel, for I believe in better pay for all our professors and teachers no matter in what service or what grade. But it would be worse than a hardship if those who want it most were to indefinitely wait, and the better paid and the better situated members of the upper service were to have that which they should and could do without for the present.

"Five years have gone by since the promise of improving the pay and prospects of the Provincial Educational Service was given by the Hon'ble Mr. Streatfeild vide Calcutta Gazette April 15, 1908, Part IV A, page 99) and nothing has been done. The condition of the service was admittedly unsatisfactory even then, and the five years that followed has served to intensify the dissatisfaction.

"Some of the expectant officers have already retired from the Service during the past five years, and unless something is immediately done, some more who have been waiting and expecting must also soon retire.

"The officers of the Provincial Educational Service may be roughly divided into three classes :—

(1 Officers with European qualifications appointed direct to the higher grades.

(2 Officers appointed on an initial pay Rs. 150 prior to the last reorganization of the service.

(3 Officers appointed on an initial salary of Rs. 200 after the reorganization.

"Of these, the officers of the second class have been most unfairly treated. They were not only appointed on a salary of Rs. 150 to begin with, but were superseded by a very large number of officers, promoted over their heads from the Subordinate Service to the Rs. 200 grade in the Provincial Service, as well as by officers appointed direct to the higher grades from outside the service. This class includes many officers distinguished alike by high academic qualifications and by meritorious service. I beg particularly to emphasise the injustice with which they have been treated.

"Promotion has been very slow in the Provincial Educational Service particularly in the lower grades, the slowness being due to the fact, that, unlike the Executive and Judicial Services, the number of appointments in the higher grades is very small, and that these appointments are held by comparatively young officers.

"As regards Premchand Roychand students, their high academic qualifications were formerly recognized by Government by their being appointed direct to Rs. 250 grade.

"This privilege was withdrawn by Sir Alexander Pedler, on the ground that such direct appointments to a higher grade caused dissatisfaction in the lower grades. This withdrawal had the effect of preventing any Premchand Roychand students from claiming to be appointed at once on a salary of Rs. 250, but did not preclude the possibility of their getting some sort of preferential treatment, provided that, submitting to the initial salary of Rs, 150, they subseqently proved themselves completely satisfactory. There are at present four Premchand Roychand students in the Department, and two of them are included in the second class of officers. Some of these have exceptionally strong claims, and their special academic distinction and work may be recognized by granting them a personal allowance of Rs. 100 each.

"As regards the service as a whole, each officer ought to be granted an allowance equivalent to 25 per cent. of his salary, and the Rs. 350 grade should be converted into Rs. 400 grade.

"The cost of the scheme providing for an all-round increase will be considerable, and a scheme like the following may be considered when Government is deciding as to how the Government of India benefection is to be utilized—

		Rs.	Rs.
Class I Rs. 700—
Number of appointments ...	3 + 2 = 5	175 × 5 × 12	10,500
Increase of Rs. 175.
Class II Rs. 600—

"The claims of the Subordinate Service and the Inspecting staff have also to be carefully considered and recognized if efficient school work is to be ensured, without which University work is also bound to be a failure. I would avoid these details in view of the general scheme now to be framed. I would, however, in passing, submit for consideration as to whether in the interest of Primary Education, as well as education other than Primary, the Directorate of Primary Education ought not to be wholly separate.

"Large grants, we are glad to note, have been made towards encouragement of Athletics and Physical Education in which the growing interest of our boys and young men is remarkable. They have begun to get back our olden idea that the body and the mind must grow together, and neglect of health cannot make for intellectual, material or spiritual progress. When they apply themselves to it, they have demonstrated that they can succeed in the domains of study, and of athletics as well. This must appeal to our European friends, in many of whom we have active helpers of the cause of Physical Education. The recent disasters at Sibpur and Kumarkhali, which cast a deep gloom over many a Bengal household, but which had the redeeming feature of bringing out some of the best qualities of our young manhood, drew attention to the need of the lost arts of rowing and swimming being revived, and through the Hon'ble Mr. Maddox's kind help a good beginning has been made in Calcutta. The need of the health question being constantly, prominently and practically to the fore, is being bitterly felt all over the country, and a welcome feature of the situation is that the country is beginning to realize that it is not doing all that the Government is trying to do, not even nearly all that it can itself do of its own initiative and without Government aid. This was one of the leading themes at the recent Chittagong Literary Conference—the last of places, one would ordinarily have thought, for such a subject. The earnestness of the Venerable Babu Akshoy Kumar Sarkar who presided, reminded one of the propriety and efficacy of Ruskin methods of the near past and he was well supported. If literary gentlemen cannot always go out to the village jungle, spade in hand, they can influence public opinion and help in formation of up-to date and innocuous Khandah Dahan ideals that ought to have practical possibilities of great value. And their efforts may well be seconded and guided by a properly constituted, effective non-official Health Board for Bengal, which I am sure would find ready support at the hands of framers of schemes for dealing with the Government of India benefactions towards better sanitation of the country.

"I should like in conclusion to refer to Mr. Wigley's approaching retirement. His urbanity and ever ready capacity to take infinite pains has always struck all that had to do with him and we shall sorely miss him. We have done our absolute best to worry and annoy him, and if he could never be put out of temper it was not our fault. There is no need for the gratuitous assurance that we did not mean it and could not help ourselves. He knows, as well as the worst of us, how terribly handicapped we are, we who are our own individual councillors—for the whip has luckily not yet appeared—we who have to take our own initiative, we who are our own docketers, draftsmen, reference clerks, amanuenses, shorthand writers, copyists and latterly also even our own carriers. Some economist who failed to find Madras and Bombay precedents for what was an immemorial Bengal custom recently raised us to the last mentioned dignity in blissful misapprehension as to how he would fare if one of his own many peons was not forthcoming for an hour. Not a murmur was heard, not a protest-note, which speaks volumes for our discipline, and Mr. Wigley helped in lightening and brightening our lot. I must not in this connection exclude the devoted Press reporters whose flattering unravelling of our inky spider-crawls, obviates at times the need of prolonged vocal infliction on the Council. Mr. Wigley readily and willingly helped us all in our straits, and I repeat we shall sorely miss him. His capable and genial successor, whom we are glad to welcome, will have a proportionately difficult work."

The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid NAWAB ALI CHAUDHURI, Khan Bahadur, said :—

"My Lord, this is the first budget that has been submitted to this Council after the reconstitution of the Presidency of Bengal, and I congratulate the Hon'ble Member in charge of the portfolio in finance on his being able to present a very progressive budget. It is a matter of immense satisfaction that measures of vital concern to the people, are gradually receiving more and more attention at the hands of Government, and I sincerely hope that the benefits will be enjoyed by all sections of the people, and your Excellency's administration

Muhammadan minds. The correspondence columns of the local papers have repeatedly drawn public attention to the unsatisfactory condition to which the management has degenerated. The Government is aware of the fact that a non-official committee on behalf of the Moslem League investigated the problem, and the Muhammadans have with one mind demanded a reform in the management. I understand the Collector of Khulna had to suspend the Manager. I trust the Government will now publish authoritative details as to the actual state and management of the estate. The Muhammadans have all along advocated a commission to investigate the affairs of these endowments, and I hope Government will take early steps in the matter.

"Assistant Director of Muhammadan Education.—My Lord, it is a matter of extreme satisfaction that the Government has provided a sum of Rs. 9,000 for revision of the establishment of the Director of Public Instruction's office, including the Assistant Director of Public Instruction's for Muhammadan education. The appointment of a special officer for Muhammadan education has all along been advocated by Muhammadans. But it is essential that the officer should have the full power of initiative and control in all matters of Muhammadan education, that the officer may work out reforms and have a free hand in matters of Muhammadan education. In my opinion this officer should be able to shape the course of Muhammadan education in Bengal, and if such an officer be not availble within the Presidency, the appointment might be made from outside the province, preferably from Upper India. This is what has been all along wanted by the Muhammadans, and it would certainly disappoint them very sadly if the officer is not entrusted with such powers. The Government may not discover any tangible semblance of that feeling of disappointment, but the feeling will remain as strong as ever.

"Moslem Institute.—My Lord, I sincerely rejoice to find that the aspect of social life among students has not been overlooked, and there has been an increment in the recurring grant of the Calcutta University Institute from Rs. 1,200 to Rs. 2,400. I think I would fail in my duty if I did not mention here something about the Moslem institute. This institute has been serving a very useful purpose among Muhammadan students in Calcutta in the work of promoting friendly feelings, social intercourse and esprit de corps. It is the only place where the social and corporate life among our students is being developed in various ways. True it is that theoretically the University Institute is open to all; but owing to the fact that the University Institute is situated miles off from the Madrasa and the hostels, it is a physical impossibility for them to join the University Institute. The Moslem Institute is therefore the only place where Muhammadan students can come and meet. But the financial difficulty is a great bar to its improvement. Though the Muhammadan students are mostly poor, and it is therefore necessary that the rate of subscription should be very low, the annual rate of subscription is Rs. 2 in the Moslem Institute, whereas it is only Re. 1 in the University Institute. I understand that the institute contemplates further increasing the rate, as it is impossible under the present financial condition to fully meet their charges. There are more than 700 Muhammadan college students in Calcutta; and in order to draw them to take part in the social and corporate life of students, the institute must decrease the rate of subscription to at least Re. 1, which they cannot do under the present financial condition. The University Institute received a grant of two lakhs and the Moslem Institute Rs. 15,000 only for building purposes, for which I express the gratitude of Muhammadan students to the Government. The University Institute will further receive a sum of Rs. 200 a month, and surely the Moslem Institute, which receives only Rs. 25 a month, has some claim on Government for a larger recurring grant.

"Hostels.—My Lord, I am glad to find that Government has sanctioned Rs. 91,000 for the extension of the Baker Madrasa Hostel, and a sum of Rs. 2,336 has been provided for its recurring charges. The demand for accommodation by Muhammadan students in hostels and colleges has gone on at a rapid rate, and last year a number of students were refused admission by many colleges and hostels. The difficulty of Muhammadan students at the beginning of the session, who mostly hail from the mufassal and come for the first time to Calcutta, is unspeakable. The Hon'ble the Director of Public Instruction admitted that even this additional grant will not fully meet the demand. But, my Lord, I am to emphasise the necessity of having some Muhammadan hostels in the neighbourhood of College Square where the colleges are situated. The Baker Hostel is about two miles off from College Square. If our students are to reside there and come to college near College Square, their health and physique will fast deteriorate. As a matter of fact, already this process has been going on, and if the Hon'ble the Director of Public Instruction consults the students, he will be able to realise the situation fully. I am sorry I am to carry this Council to some details. In the Madrasa hostels food is supplied at about 9-30 A.M. If the colleges sit at ten, and if the Muhammadan students are to attend their classes and if they cannot afford to pay their tramway fare, which is unfortunately the fact in most cases, they are to come at a running speed about two miles immediately after their breakfast. Will any one say whether this will not have an undermining influence on their health?

"The classes of science students are mostly up till 5 P.M. That means they are to go without any refreshment from 10 A.M. to 5 P.M. for seven hours. Our senior students, the graduates, cannot be expected to take advantage of their college libraries, and so a research spirit is not developed among them if they are to remain far away from their colleges. These are facts which cannot be denied.

"Presidency College.—My Lord, it is a matter of extreme regret that the Presidency College has not yet provided for any accommodation of Muhammadan students in the neighbourhood of the college. I cannot imagine why the provision of a Muhammadan Hostel has not been included in the Presidency College improvement scheme. The Muhammadan students of the Presidency College cannot be expected to come to college from a place about two miles off from the Madrasa hostels, where of course the students of the College are given preference. The number of Muhammadan students is about 150, and I think it is a great hardship to them if some accommodation is not made for them in the neighbourhood of the college. The extension of the Hindu hostel is included in the Presidency College extension scheme, and the interests of the Muhammadan students should not be lost sight of. I earnestly pray that a Muhammadan hostel may be included in the extension scheme. If the Government do not erect a Muhammadan hostel in their own college, specially when Muhammadans are so backward in higher education, certainly the Muhammadans can with full justice claim a separate allotment of the grant for collegiate education, to be specially spent for higher collegiate education among their students. It is not doing them any favour, but the barest justice. I must in this connection thank the Government for imposing the obligation of providing one-fifth of available seats for Muhammadan students in the hostels attached to some of the private colleges in Calcutta.

"It may be argued that in view of the fact that the Madrasa might and should, in future, be raised to the status of a college, it is necessary that the hostels should all be erected near the Madrasa that it may be easy to start a residential college; but, my Lord, I think even then the Muhammadan students will have to go, and should go, to the Presidency College. This college is even now the premier college in India, and is destined in a few years to take its rank as a first-class institution. "The physical laboratory is even now in extent and equipment probably deserving recognition among the best in the world." Practically the Madrasa can never be such an institution. It will therefore be suicidal to Muhammadans if they deprive themselves of the benefits of such efficient science study and post-graduate study in the Presidency College. It will be therefore imperative for Muhammadan students to go always to the Presidency College, and I think there should be now a change of policy, and a residential hostel for Muhammadan students should be provided near the Presidency College. A hostel must be built sooner or later, and the sooner the better.

"Muhammadan College in Calcutta.—My Lord, as to the establishment of a Muhammadan college in Calcutta, I must frankly say that it is useless for us to hope that we will get a really first-class college, neither is it very much necessary. But the urgent necessity of a college in Calcutta up to B.A. classes has been admitted on all hands. We want an Arts college in Intermediate and B.A. For science, graduate and post-graduate study our students must go to the Presidency and the University classes in the interest of real education. The number of Muhammadan students in the science classes of the Presidency College should therefore be necessarily greater. I think that the course of events in the past will convince anyone that there is now a clear case for starting a Muhammadan college in Calcutta in Intermediate Arts and B.A. classes. I hope Government will take active steps in the matter. The point was also emphasised by my hon'ble friend Dr. Sarbadhikari.

"Dacca University.—My Lord, I am glad to find that the proposed University at Dacca is to be an accomplished fact, and provision has been made for this in the budget. But I must frankly confess that the subsequent decision of the Government to confine the operations of the University to the Municipal limits of Dacca has disappointed the high hopes that had been raised in Eastern Bengal at the time of the initial announcement of the establishment of the University. It is a matter of extreme regret that even as it is, some features of the University at Dacca, which concern the Muhammadans specially, have been subjected to much uncalled-for criticism.

"My Lord, as a humble member of the Dacca University Committee, it is needless for me to state here that I heartily approved to the recommendations made therein. I beg to deal here with only those points which specially concern the Muhammadans and about which much have been written and spoken.

"Muhammadan College.—My Lord, the Muhammadan College has been indicted for being likely to widen the difference between the Hindu and Muhammadan students, "that it will tend to accentuate and emphasise whatever true, faint, shadowy causes of cleavage there may now exist between the Hindus and Muhammadans of Bengal." Nothing is far from my desire than that the Hindus and Muhammadans will not live in harmony and brotherly feelings. But I do not believe that the mere fact that the students will read in separate colleges often lectured by the same professor, often in the University classes with other students, taking part in the University life and in sports, games, pastimes, debates with other students, tends to accentuate the difference. Speaking on behalf of Muhammadans, I can say that the Muhammadans will never entertain any such feelings. They cannot do so. It is an insult to their education that they will, and I believe there will be no narrow and prejudiced training.

"My Lord, I cannot imagine how, in an educational institution such as we are going to have, there will be any fomenting of racial feelings. If that be the case, I think we may fairly bid adieu to all ideas of real progress. Besides, there is a very widespread demand in all directions for religious training, leading to the very commendable and widespread activities which have brought about the agitation for sectarian universities.

"Our Hindu friends have had the Sanskrit College for over half a century. We have never grudged them all the advantages they have derived from such a sectarian institution. The Muhammadan College at Dacca will be what the Hindu College has all along been here, and I do not understand how our critics can justify the objections that they have raised against an institution which will serve a similar purpose for the Muhammadan community. The Sanskrit College, Calcutta Madrasa, Hindu School, Metropolitan Institution, and a number of others conducted on exclusive lines have not led to the growth of sectarian feeling or animosity, and I do not understand why a Muhammadan College in Dacca conducted on less exclusive lines should lead to such an untoward result.

"Department of Islamic Studies.—My Lord, the department of Islamic studies has been objected to in some quarters. In the interests of Muhammadan education, it is essential to modernise the course of Madrasa curriculum. We must sit at the feet of the ancient sages and scholars to get a glimpse of our sacred lore. Muhammadans must know Islam with all its developments, and all other knowledge must lead to that end. It is an attempt to reconcile the demands of Occidental and Oriental learnings on modern lines. I cannot add anything more than quote the words of Dr. Ghosh. I hope that, under the proposed scheme, both good public servants and suitable recruits for the learned profession will turn out, by the Dacca University, men in no way inferior to their brother graduates in general culture or in the intellectual equipment so essential to success either in the public service or in the learned professions under modern conditions. To-day, under the new impulse of life and thought, all minds in the East are going to their ancient lore, and this is our justification for a Board of Islamic studies in the new University.

"Representation of Muhammadans in the Convocation.—My Lord, the special representation of Muhammadans in the Convocation of the Dacca University has been denounced by doctrinaire politicians. My Lord, the Muhammadans have learnt a lesson from the University of Calcutta where, even sixty years after, everyone knows how the Muhammadans fare at the time of the election of Fellows. Till now not a single Muhammadan has succeeded in entering the Senate by the open door of election. If these are their chances so far as the Senate is concerned, their opportunities for entering the Syndicate can be better imagined than described. The Muhammadans must be allowed to take part in the administrative life of the University. That is an aspiration and privilege of educated minds. If the Muhammadans are to be allowed to participate, they must frankly be told how they can otherwise secure effective representation.

"Vernacular.—My Lord, it has been contended that the Bengali language may be vitiated by enriching its vocabulary in order to make it suitable to Muhammadans, Buddhists and many other communities. It is not proposed to change the structure, form and syntax of the language, but to introduce such words as will convey sentiments and traditions peculiar to different communities. Those who are aware of the genesis of the Bengali languages need not fear anything from such incorporation. A living language must express the floating ideas and thoughts of the people. Language must be shaped according to ideas, and not vice versâ. The present vernacular of Bengal cannot convey an image of those sentiments and thoughts which are the product of mighty minds among Mussalmans and many other communities. To speak of the Muhammadans, who form more than 50 per cent. of the total population, they have a right to shape the language according to their needs. Language is the birthright of every man. It is in the national interests of the country that the Bengali language should enrich itself by borrowing freely subjects, ideas and words from other sources. The English language is the richest language in the world, but the percentage of pure Anglo-Saxon words is not very great. The incorporation of foreign words has made the English language what it is, and I think we should take a lesson from this.

"I may, however, add that this is in strict adherence to the resolution of Earl of Mayo in 1871, which says "that greater encouragement should be given to the creation of a vernacular literature for Muhammadans—a measure the importance of which was specially urged upon the Government of India by Her Majesty's Secretary of State on more than one occasion."

"General Administration and the Public Service.—My Lord, I now come to the general administration and the public service. I venture to state that this year's budget provides for a large expenditure in the reorganisation of all services, recruitment and additions in the number of officers which is, I efficiency of administration. But consideration that numerical strength more especially in a country

I venture to remark that in in public services both in the other day, we were informed that Executive Service, 4 are Muham-Subordinate Executive Service, out madans and 38 are Hindus.
only 10 are Muhammadans and 38 are Hindus.
Government cannot merely look after the interest in State patronage. My Lord, this is a dissent from. The efficiency of administration, such as the British administration is, depends decisively on the representation of different elements in it, provided they possess the requisite minimum-qualification. It is on this principle that I advocate the adequate representation of the British element in the administration, and it is on this principle that it seems that the witnesses recently examined before the Royal Public Service Commission pressed for the maintenance of the British element in the administration, and, My Lord, it is on this principle also, on behalf of the Muhammadan community who form more than 50 per cent. of the population in your Excellency's charge, that I press for the adequate representation of the Muhammadan element, not only for the sake of justice and fair play to the Muhammadans, but for the sake of purity, efficiency and stability of the administration. The fact that this principle has not been sufficiently borne in mind by recent administrators in India accounts, in my humble opinion, for many unfortunate complications and problems that are unceasingly occupying the Government's attention. The number of Muhammadans in Government service is about nothing. That is the situation in Education, Excise, Judicial, Police, Ministerial, the Railways, Courts, Secretariat, Agricultural, Revenue—almost all departments. My Lord, Mr. Mohamed Ali, in his minute to the Dacca University Report, has added a significant sentence. He says that "it is not always possible to affect, by means of Government edicts, the idea and notions of individual officers from whose individual discretion in matters of State patronage there is no appeal." If Government collects statistics for the number of Muhammadan officers in all sorts of services, from high to low, Imperial, Provincial and Subordinate, the situation will speak for itself. My Lord, I do not think there has been any want of Muhammadan candidates. Even if it is so, that is due to the fact that vacancies, specially in the subordinate and ministerial offices, are not properly advertised. In most cases it is notified outside the office room, and it is not unfrequent that a softened nepotism takes place. The circulars by Lord Dufferin, Sir Rivers Thompson, Sir Charles Elliott and the Eastern Bengal Government are more or less treated as dead letters, and the paragraph regarding Muhammadan employment for insertion in divisional reports is now conspicuous by its absence. May I not beg your Excellency to order the enforcement of those circulars?

"My Lord, I wish to mention another fact, and that is about the qualifications of the candidates in the public services. I am not ashamed to say that the Muhammadans are still comparatively backward in education, and it is not unusual that in a service that can be fairly worked up with a certain standard of University qualifications, even admitting for argument's sake that the hall-mark of the University is the sole criterion of efficiency, candidates with nothing but high University qualifications from other communities apply for it. This has no doubt put the Muhammadans at a very great disadvantage in respect to those services. Muhammadans have only the other day begun to take the blessings of education, and the other communities began it half a century back. If a minimum standard of qualification is not prescribed for all Government services, a great injustice will have been done to Muhammadans. My Lord, I should not also disguise the fact that an impression is spreading that Muhammadan officers do not receive fair treatment from Government, as they lack certain undefinable subtle qualifications which are foreign to their tradition. Is it not anomalous that whilst in other provinces where the Muhammadans form the minority, they hold a fair share of the listed appointments open to the Provincil Civil Service; here in the province under your Excellency where the Muhammadans form the majority, they are not to be found at present in any such listed post, except one who is a District Judge, though there are about 60 Muhammadans in the Provincial Service. I therefore hope that in the distribution of State patronage, high or low, the administrative machinery will be adjusted that in the matter of public services the Muhammadans may get a fair chance in its essence and not form merely.

"Local Self-Government.—My Lord, a large portion of allotment to District, Municipal and Local Boards are meant for purposes of education, sanitation, etc., in local areas, and it is important that in the distribution of these bodies the various communities could have their due share. This can hardly be possible, unless the various communities are adequately and proportionately represented in these bodies. Lord Minto, in reply to the deputation of the leading Muhammadans of India at Simla in 1906, struck the real keynote of the problem that "the initial rungs in the ladder of self-government ought to be found in the Municipality and District Boards."

"The principle of communal representation, as regards the Muhammadans, has been accepted as a settled policy of the Government in respect of Imperial and Provincial Councils. It seems, my Lord, to be an anomaly that, while it has been so accepted in regard to these Councils dealing with important questions of policy, it has not yet been extended to other local self-governing bodies dealing with parochial matters of everyday concern. It cannot be argued that whilst the Muhammadans are qualified for the higher representative bodies, they are not fit to share in the deliberations of humbler local self-governing bodies. Yet what is the fact? Muhammadans are conspicuous by their absence from these bodies, as a recent statement placed before this Council would indicate. It shows that, under the existing system of election, the Muhammadans cannot find their way in adequate numbers to these Boards, though they are quite competent to deal with parochial matters, such as education, sanitation, water-supply, conservancy, building, public safety, railway, assessment and taxation. It would serve no useful purpose, and lead to controversy to analyse the causes that shut out Muhammadans from these local bodies in spite of their being qualified. But it emphasises the necessity of conceding communal representation in respect to these local bodies on lines similar to those of the Legislative Councils. These local bodies are the nurseries of self-government, and, with the new impulse in life and thought, Muhammadans have a right to demand the benefits of political education. Modern India has long outgrown the stage when she will tolerate with equanimity that her money will be spent by others even for her benefit. She must be allowed to have her voice heard. The Muhammadans have breathed the air of a progressive democracy, and if in the local administrative or deliberate assemblies they are not adequately represented, they have a right to refuse to allow their purse to be exploited for the benefit of others. Such is the spirit of the times, and the pioneers are not Muhammadans. I cannot imagine how the Indians, who clamour for self-government on the plea that they must participate more actively in the administration of the country, and that they must manage their own affairs, can consistently resist the plea of the Muhammadans for more representation in the Local, District and Municipal Boards on almost analogous grounds.

"My Lord, the doctrine of laissez-faire has done much good, but much mischief has been created by inconsistent adherents of the doctrine. There is a class of people to whom the question of special rspresentation is a heresy. They will find no good in it. I am no believer in that theory. I can imagine that the world would develop cosmopolitan fraternity if real individualism is cultured. Progress is not the issue of the survival of the fittest, but of harmony. Hindus and Muhammadans may be separately represented by separate members; still I find no bar to their ultimate fusion and unity. It is, therefore, no sacrifice of the ultimate principle if two communities are separately represented, and I hope your Excellency's Government will soon grant this real boon to the Muhammadans in these Local, Municipal and District Boards. This year from the whole field of mixed electorate in Bengal the Muhammadans could send only one representative to this Council, and even then the heart-burnings both in the Press and on the platform have made it a hotbed for any Muhammadan to try his chances in the general electorate. It shows the clear necessity of the effective representation of Muhammadans by means other than ordinary ones.

"My Lord, the recognition of the claims of my community cannot be made in a stronger language than in the words of Lord Morley, when, in moving the second reading of the Indian Councils Bill in the House of Lords on February 23rd, 1909, the Secretary of State said :—

'The Muhammadans demand . . . . . the election of their own representatives to these Councils in all the stages just as in Cyprus, where I think the Muhammadans vote by themselves. They have nine votes and the non-Muhammadans three, or the other way about; so in Bohemia, where the Germans vote alone and have their own register. Therefore we are not without a parallel for the idea of a separate register. Secondly, they want a number of seats in excess of their numerical strength. These two demands we are quite ready, and intend, to meet to the full.'

"The Decentralisation Commission was no less emphatic on the point and recommended that, "as regards the methods of election, we are in entire accord with the Resolution of 1882, as to the impossibility of laying down any general system and the desirability of trying different schemes in different localities, including methods of proportional representation, and election by castes, occupations, etc. Having regard to the very different circumstances of different areas, we think it essential that the system adopted in each should be such as to provide for the due representation of different communities, creeds and interests. It has always been recognized that it is the duty of the British administration to protect the interests of the various communities in India, and to secure impartial treatment to all.

"It may be mentioned here that a class system of representation, which exists in Rangoon and in some of the Punjab municipalities, was found by the Royal Commission to have worked fairly satisfactorily.

"Sanitation.—My Lord, the question of sanitation is a question of life and death to the people. Good drainage, pure water-supply, conservancy, jungle-cutting, medical aid in malarial tracts, dredging of choked-up rivers and khals, cleansing of villages and towns, are measures that are becoming matters of first-rate necessity day after day. Year after year, when we pass our days in devising schemes to combat malaria, people are dying by hundreds and thousands. My Lord, the process of desolation has been going on for years.

"I am glad to find that there has been a provision of Rs. 5,08,300, for sanitation and vaccinations, and a lump grant of Rs. 6,75,000 and a recurring grant of Rs. 5,00,000 for sanitation, though the amount is not sufficient to fully grapple with the situation. My Lord, we must make our homes happy and content, loyal and peaceful. If instead of a people strong, happy and cheerful, we find a band of persons whose only asset is spleen, liver and remittant fever, what is the future of the people? The report of the Sanitary Commissioner is one of sadness and pain. My Lord, there has been going on a sort of infant butchery in Bengal. Fever is rife in its worst form. It is a fact that our Municipalities and District Boards are more and more becoming conscious of this, but I regret to find that the total amount of expenditure in 1911-12 is only Rs. 25,528 by the District Board. It is a fact that our District Boards are greatly handicapped in formulating definite schemes and projects, owing to want of funds at their disposal. I hope that the Government will see that the allotments to sanitation may be further added.

"Malaria.—My Lord, I now come to treat the question of malaria. There is no gainsaying the fact that there has been going on a steady and slow process of deterioration in the health and vigour of the people. Malaria is now a scourge to every household in Bengal. Here in the midst of a town, well supplied with water and drainage and conservancy, we do not know the extent of suffering that our people, especially of rural areas, have been suffering from this scourge. They have no organ to ventilate their suffering. Their woes and cries do not penetrate the town where we decide and discuss such problems. I find that in the budget there has been a decrease in the purchase of quinine, I believe; that is an economy which is neither wise nor desirable. In this connection I think Government should adopt the method of selling quinine by treatments as adopted by the Eastern Bengal Government. The Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam undertook the scheme of meeting the problem by incurring a large expenditure, and it would be regrettable if the method is discontinued and an economy is made by entirely abolishing the system.

"Co-operative Credit.—In the budget there has been a provision of Rs. 75,000 for the Department of the Co-operative Credit. The question of co-operative credit is of vital importance to the people who are practically steeped in debt. The cruel hands of the mahajans do not give peace to the peasants, who are proverbially very much peaceful and innocent, and any measure that will save them from the grasping hands of the mahajans must be hailed with joy. The movement of co-operative credit is the popular movement in Bengal. It is therefore gratifying to learn that there has been a marked progress both intensive and extensive. This movement is full of possibilities. It combines the resources and the credit of the people for getting loans on better terms without running the risk of paying a usurious rate of interest. I proposed last year that steps should be taken to educate and train the people in this direction, and occasional lectures among the masess and the distribution of the pamphlets would be of much help. The essence of co-operation, namely, neighbourly knowledge and supervision, should be taught to the agriculturists.

"Agriculture.—My Lord, our country is agricultural, and we must for a long time remain so. Agricultural production is the mainstay of our national life. It is unnecessary to say that Indian agricultural condition can be improved almost to an unlimited degree. But the soil is in a process of deterioration, cattle is diminishing and people are becoming poorer. There is no system of manuring, no process of selecting seeds and cattle and no breeding of live-stock. Custom is still prevalent in its worst form. My Lord, our gross receipts from land revenue are about three crores. We must return a part to them in the shape of giving facilities for better production. The Department of Agriculture has been budgeted for Rs. 4,84,000. But more than half of this goes towards the pay of officers. But I do not grudge that, provided the resources can admit other necessary expenditure. It is true that we have model farms in six towns of the Presidency. I cannot, however, believe that they really serve the purpose. The bond of conservation has not yet allowed the people to take advantage of these farms; what should be done on the direction is to appoint lecturers, paid and honorary, who will make occasional tours in villages to demonstrate to the villagers the actual method of improvement. My Lord, our educated men are becoming more and more conscious of the claims of agriculture, and the Government will easily find a number of honorary lecturers ready to devote a part of their time in practical demonstrations if they are financially strengthened and trained for some time. I think there is room for development in this direction.

"My Lord, I think it is necessary that the curriculum of our rural primary schools should be so modified, and specially the teachers should be so trained that there may not be merely a theoretical training to peasant boys. There should be an agricultural reader for teachers, which should be so drawn as to give a good idea of what kinds of crops are grown in particular soils and in particular seasons and what the best methods of improvement to obtain a larger yield are.

"My Lord, I think Government should now formulate its agricultural policy, and gradually evolve a system that will go to improve the agricultural outlook of the Presidency. Our Presidency is rich with fertile soils, and we happen to possess the most fertile plain of the country. There is no reason why we cannot improve them. Side by side with agricultural schools, colleges and farms the work lies in the field, and the sooner it begins, the better for all.

"Police.—My Lord, it is with joy that I have welcomed the budget grant of Rs. 2,92,014 for reorganizing the Subordinate police and Rs. 4,49,555 for the River police in Eastern Bengal. Those who have been familiar with the state of affairs in that unfortunate part of the Presidency will fully recognise the immediate necessity of adequate allotments for the abovementioned purpose. The strengthening of the police force to maintain peace and order and to afford security to life and property has been again and again advocated in the districts of Eastern Bengal, and the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam was gradually organising a system of police force in order and to meet crime and dacoities so prevalent in that part of the country. The energy with which that Government was handling the problem, side by side with the statement submitted by the Hon'ble Mr. Ariff the other day in this Council to a question, will indicate the magnitude of the task to be accomplished. It further shows the necessity of immediate reorganization of the whole police force in that part of the Presidency. The proportion of police in the province of Eastern Bengal and Assam was, in 1911, 1 for 8·2 square miles and 1 for 3,011·3 number of persons, whereas in Bengal it is 1 to 5·0 and 1 to 2,242. The Government Resolution of 17th October 1912 rightly says :—"The reform which is really essential for efficient Police administration in Eastern Bengal with its vast waterways is the constitution of effective force of River police." Excepting these two major heads of expenditure, the budget provides for reorganization and increase in the rate of pay of a large section of the police force. My Lord, it is a matter of notoriety that the efficiency of the average Policemen is much below the standard, and I will not grudge anything that will improve their status. My Lord, whatever might be the record of work or report in blue books, the police in this country are not all that a well-wisher of the country would wish them to be. I do not mean to place the entire blame on the police, but it would be squeamish to deny that they are altogether blameless. I will, therefore, welcome any remedial measures that the Government intends to take in the matter with this large provision in the budget. We have granted from 76 lakhs in 1909 to about 96 lakhs in 1913, and let us wait and see the result.

"My Lord I am afraid, I have tired your Excellency's patience, but I could not avoid this in view of the larger issues that are awaiting your Excellency's decision ; and I have tried to add my humble reflections as to the problems and the ways of meeting them."

The Hon'ble MAULVI MUSHARRAF HUSAIN said :—

"My Lord, before entering into my actual remarks on the Provincial Budget of 1913-14, I think it my duty, as a Member of the Finance Committee, to accord my hearty thanks to the Hon'ble Sir William Duke, our President, for the kindness and sympathy he has shown in taking suggestions of non-official Members of the Committee so far as they relate to the real welfare of the people at large.

"My Lord, the attitude of your Excellency's Government has been one of genuine sympathy towards the aspirations of a people whom benign Providence has placed under your care. Government in a country like ours, with people of different races got together by circumstances, over which the present generation of the people has practically no control, with distinct ideals, and in various degrees of civilization and enlightenment, is indeed a difficult task. Self-preservation, degenerating in many cases into selfish motives, may sometimes lead one community in the higher stage of education and enlightenment to find fault with such a Government for its noble and sincere attempts for raising the status of another equally numerous community in matters of education and enlightenment. My Lord, the sincere well-wishers of mankind belonging to all the communities residing in the world must sincerely regret such unjust criticisms, and humanity expects that the people who are in the lower grade of education should receive substantial aid from Government to better their condition.

"My Lord, it has pained me very much to find that, for the establishment of a University at Dacca and for Government's accepting recommendations of the Dacca University Committee to found a college, exclusively for the Muhammadans, to encourage Islamic study in the said University and to introduce some words of Arabic and Persian origin in the Bengali language, the Government has been subjected to a great deal of unjust and unjustifiable criticism. My Lord, if the Sanskrit College of Calcutta, which is entirely a Government institution and which is exclusively pupiled by students of one community (not to speak of other private exclusive Hindu colleges), is existing without causing any friction between Hindus and Muhammadans, I do not know how a special Muhammadan College at Dacca can create such a friction. If the English language is getting richer day by day by addition of new words from various origins and is not suffering in consequence, I do not see how the introduction of words from Arabic and Persian origin conveying senses which no Bengali word conveys can injure the Bengali language instead of enriching it. My Lord, the people of the East regard religion as the first thing to attend to, and Muhammadans are not naturally exceptions to that. Imbibed with this spirit, a great many of our youths are now receiving high education, both secular and religious, through the medium of Arabic—an education which is in no way inferior to that which we get from Universities through the medium of English; and if such boys are given sufficiently thorough knowledge of the English language, I see no reason why they should not be permitted to enjoy the advantages which boys of the latter class obtain from Government. With these remarks, my Lord, I beg to take this opportunity to support and thank Government for the proposed establishment of a University at Dacca, for which your Excellency's Government has handsomely provided this year in this budget, on behalf of the Muhammadans of the Rajshahi Division, whom I have the honour to represent in this Council.

"My Lord, if I may be permitted to convey the feelings of the Muhammadans of Bengal towards the Dacca University I must frankly admit that they are those of mingled pleasure and pain. Though we are glad that a University is going to be established at Dacca, we are sorry to find that it is going to be confined within the four walls of the Dacca town. The Muhammadans of Eastern Bengal, who form the bulk of the population there, would have been highly pleased if all the schools and colleges, at least of the three divisions of Eastern Bengal, would have been allowed to be affiliated to the Dacca University and to impart the character of education which the Dacca University aims at imparting. My Lord, I cannot finish the subject without praying that in the management of the University of Dacca the Muhammadan element should be allowed to find its proper place.

"Now, my Lord, I beg to turn to the head "Provincial rates." My Lord, it was a subject of criticism for a very long time that injustice was done to the District Boards for their not being allowed the full enjoyment of road-cess. My Lord, I am extremely thankful to God to find that that complaint has been removed by a revered, sympathetic and kind-hearted ruler like yourself.

"Forest and Excise—It is gratifying to note that the Government of India have thought it proper to allow the whole of the income under these heads to form part of our Provincial revenue.

"Public Works—My Lord, as a member of the planting community of the Western Duars, I must express my sincere gratitude towards your Excellency's Government for your providing two lakhs of rupees this year for the improvement of the road-communication of the district of Jalpaiguri. It is indeed a proof of your Excellency's sincere desire to meet the wishes of the people for their welfare. This sympathetic action of your Excellency has led us to believe that now, that a thorough scheme of improvement of road-communication has reached your Excellency's Government, your Excellency's Government will find materials to remove the grievances of the people of Jalpaiguri in the matter of road-communication; and your Excellency's Government will provide more money in future years to put the road-communication of the district on a thorough, scientific and business-like basis. Hon'ble Members coming from the other parts of Bengal are aware that Western Duars was not a part of India till very recently when it was taken up after the Bhutan War in the year 1863, if I remember right. This part of the district was entirely jungly when the Government took it up. No road was existing when the Bhutan Government ceded it. No serious step was taken up by Government previously to laying out the roads there systematically. It is indeed a great pleasure, my Lord, to find that your Excellency's Government has now taken up the subject of road-communication of Jalpaiguri in right earnest, for which act of kindness we shall always be grateful to your Excellency.

"General.—My Lord, as the present Government of India is very sympathetic towards the people, and aims at the establishment of provincial autonomy, I believe I am justified in remarking that the autonomy which may be granted should first be financial autonomy. My Lord, whenever your Excellecy's Government wants to undertake any work for the welfare of the people placed under your charge, your Excellency's Government has to rely on some grant from the Imperial Government. My Lord, such sort of grant sometimes we may get and sometimes we may be refused. Is it not, under such circumstances, my Lord, desirable, that your Excellency's Government should move the Imperial Government to give us at least half the share of the revenue derived from Bengal railways and from salt to enable your Excellency's Government to look to the growing needs of the people in matters of sanitation and education, and for the safety of the people from the hands of the newly-formed armed young dacoits?"

The PRESIDENT said :—

"Gentlemen, I think it will be convenient if I make a statement now. We will now go on with the discussion of the budget. At about 4 o'clock, which I understand will be a convenient hour, I shall set aside the rules in order to give an opportunity to the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan to move a resolution, which he wishes to move. After that has been disposed of, I shall adjourn the house until Friday, as I understand it will suit the convenience of many of the members."

The Hon'ble RAJA HRISHIKESH LAHA said :—

"My Lord, it is with great pleasure that I welcome the first budget which has been introduced into the first Legislative Council of the new province of Bengal, showing an opening balance of Rs. 2,83,98,000 and a closing balance of Rs. 1,94,95,000. Though there was no formal budget in respect of the year that is about to close, yet the experimental budget framed by the Government of India, in consultation with the Local Government, has resulted in an unexpected benefit for our province. We have the great advantage on starting with a large opening balance which, with the assignments sanctioned by the Imperial Government for the year 1913-14, will enable your Excellency's Government to initiate many works of public improvement, specially if the matter of water-supply and sanitation. We are deeply gratiful to the Imperial Government for providing to a certain extent for the crying needs of the province which could not be taken up before for want of necessary funds. I beg to offer your Excellency's Government my respectful congratulations for the tentative settlement for three years by which the whole of the Public Works cesses amounting to Rs. 31,35,000 have been made over to the Local Government. The financial statement shows that there is a free balance of Rs. 51,28,000, but it seems there is a fly in the ointment. In his speech, the Hon'ble Sir William Duke has said that 20 lakhs would be allotted to the Ranchi asylum, 10 lakhs to a new press and 10 lakhs to buildings in East Bengal. This will swallow up nearly the whole of the above amount.

leaving a small balance of Rs. 11,28,000. The airy castle we built, that with such a large amount at our disposal we would be able to utilise it by dredging silted-up rivers and by re-opening choked-up waterways for transport facilities, has vanished into thin air. It is no doubt true that the dredging of several rivers has been provided for in the budget, but the expenditure allotted for the improvement of waterways is but small. We shall be glad to know what would be the future policy of Government in carrying out any big project that might be recommended by the Waterways Standing Committee. The prospect of doing the work from revenue is remote; but if we have to depend upon doles from the Government of India, the inconvenience and loss which merchants and traders suffer for want of convenient waterways may not be removed in the near future.

"We beg to express our deep sense of gratitude to the Government of India for the additional assignment of Rs. 41,00,000 on account of education. The terms of the grant, if any, are not known to us: we, however, presume that your Excellency's Government has been left unfettered to deal with the sum in the best way it can to promote the cause of education, and we hope that a major portion of the amount would be allotted to the promotion of primary and technical education.

"The most gratifying feature of the whole budget is the transfer of the entire estimated collection of the Public Works cess amounting to Rs. 31,35,000 to the District Boards, but so far we see that only Rs. 50,000 has been granted to the District Boards for improvement of water-supply in rural areas. If this sum is distributed to the various Boards, the share of each would be small. When the Sub-Overseers who have been appointed in each sub-division shall have submitted their reports on the real condition of rural water-supply, I hope that further allotments will be made, as I am sure that the District Boards will be able to utilise a major portion of the provincial rates in the way of excavating new and old tanks if they take up the matter in right earnest. Now that the summer season is approaching, the scarcity of good drinking water would be greatly felt; and if something be done in this direction without much loss of time, the people will be greatly relieved and the ravages of the diseases which are caused by drinking filthy water might be mitigated to some extent. Moreover, we thank Government for thus making local self-government a real thing, and I hope that the District Boards will exercise their tact and judgment in using the money in a way which will effectively improve the sanitary condition of rural areas placed under their charge. In this connection I should observe that the District Boards have been requested, if I am correctly informed, to engage Sanitary Inspectors for the purpose of looking after the sanitation of the rural areas, and I hope that in the matter of their salary the Government will make the same concession to the Boards as they have done in respect of Health Officers in mufassal municipalities, that is by bearing half the amount of their pay.

"Among the assignments received from the Imperial revenue, there is an amount of Rs. 60,000 as contribution for Famine Relief scheme. But so far as we are aware there is no apprehension of a famine anywhere in the province of Bengal. An explanation therefore is desirable on this head. I hope that the country would remain prosperous and there would be no famine, and that the money might be allowed to be utilised to some useful purpose.

"Under the head of "Law and Justice—Courts of Law" there is an allotment of Rs. 1,632 for additional establishment in the Presidency Magistrate's Court. No reason has been assigned for this allotment. There is, however, a rumour to the effect that the Presidency Magistate's Court would be splitted up and located in the North and South Divisions of Calcutta, but I do not know whether any value is to be attached to it. At any rate, this provision requires some explanation.

"I am glad to observe that the amounts of Rs. 1,00,000 and Rs. 52,000 have been placed at the disposal of Divisional Commissioners and District Magistrates respectively for petty local works of improvement. This is a move in the right direction. This grant would save a [illegible] correspondence, and at the same time these officers would be in a position to carry out urgent and important petty works of improvement at their discretion, which they hitherto could not do without the sanction of superior authorities."

The Hon'ble RAI HARI MOHAN CHANDRA BAHADUR, said :—

"MY LORD, I congratulate Your Excellency's Government on the very prosperous Budget presented to the Council, but with your Lordship's permission I take the liberty of making a few observations.

"MY LORD, the questions of water-supply, sanitation (which term includes drainage and jungle-clearing), and medical relief have passed the stage of academic discussion. The necessity for action has been recognized by successive Governments and it has now become clamant. The only point which remains to be settled is how and in what way the requirements should be met. My Lord, small allotments for experimental jungle-clearing here and there, clearing one part of a river or canal, leaving the other part equally bad untouched, or anti-malarial measures in one part of a locality leaving the other equally unhealthy, uncared for, however welcome, are, for practical purposes, insufficient and not of much use.

"MY LORD, I consider that jungle-clearing, as an experimental measure, is unnecessary, because I believe it is already known that by clearing jungle unhealthy places can be made healthier. No money should, I think, be spent for jungle-clearing as an experimental measure.

"Rupees 50,000 have been allotted for clearing the bed of the Saraswati river, district Howrah. The Saraswati is, I believe, a part of the Eden Canal Scheme; and I would respectfully submit that the scheme for clearing the bed of the entire Eden Canal which, I understand, is in an equally bad condition, should be taken in hand along with the Saraswati. I have been assured by a gentleman familiar with the Eden Canal that, unless the whole scheme from the weir at the head of the canal be taken in hand, the mere clearing of the bed of the Saraswati, which is lower down the Eden Canal, would not be of much use; and unless there be a fair supply of Damodar water into the Eden Canal, the Saraswati will shortly relapse into the same condition as it is now in.

"Rupees 30,562 have been provided for "anti-malarial measures in Eastern Bengal." My Lord, I see no reason why Western Bengal, which contains some of the worst malarious districts, should be excluded from the benefit of the measures contemplated. Then, again, Rs. 1,000 have been provided for "anti-malarious measures" in the Western Duars of the Jalpaiguri district. But, my Lord, I see no reason why a similar grant should not be made for the Darjeeling Terai, which is notorious for its deadly climate and high death-rate.

"MY LORD, it seems to me that these provisions here and there have been made in the absence of a matured scheme for dealing with the subject as a whole, apparently owing to the lack of uniform interest in the matter in all parts of the country.

"MY LORD, the Hon'ble Babu Ananda Chandra Roy very rightly said that, in matters of water-supply and sanitation, the head-quarters of the subdivisions, where there are no municipalities, should not be lost sight of. But, my Lord, the Hon'ble Member's proposal does not go far enough. From my experience of Northern and Eastern Bengal I can say that there is a large number of trade centres, which are so many small towns in the country, which also require attention.

"In the circumstances, my Lord, it seems to me absolutely necessary to make a complete survey of the situation, and the sub-overseers about to be appointed to enquire and report on the real condition of rural water-supply may be entrusted with the duty of reporting on the requirements of the country under the heads of sanitation and medical relief also.

"My Lord, I respectfully submit that it is extremely desirable to have a Central Board consisting chiefly of non-official members to systemetically deal with matters of water-supply, sanitation and medical relief of the Province. The reports of the sub-overseers might be appropriately submitted, through the Subdivisional and District Officers and Divisional Commissioners, to the Central Board, and the Central Board might be left to collate them and, in consultation with the District Boards and Municipalities, to frame complete schemes of amelioration of the unhealthy tracts under the three heads, district by district, showing the estimated cost of each work, the amount which the local authorities and the people likely to be benefited are prepared to contribute towards the schemes, and what financial aid could reasonably be granted by Government, and submit the schemes to Government for sanction and allotment of funds, stating the relative importance and urgency of the schemes, and then Government may pass the necessary orders. When a scheme is sanctioned and funds allotted, it should be carried out. I may be permitted to suggest that the Central Board should discharge, with respect to the whole Province, functions analogous to those which the Improvement Trust has been doing in respect to Calcutta, and, later on, the Central Board may be vested with powers to supervise the workings of the District Boards and Municipalities in all departments.

"My Lord, Bengal would not be freed of the malarial pest unless systematic and vigorous efforts are made for the entire Province.

"My Lord, as the Hon'ble Sir William Duke very rightly observed the other day that, not 50, but very much more than 50 dispensaries are required to meet the demand for medical relief, I am humbly, yet strongly, of opinion that arrangements should be made to open as many new dispensaries as possible every year. My Lord, there are parts of the country where not a dose of quinine can be had either for love or for money, in spite of the systematic measures adopted by the Government for the sale of pice packets of the drug through the agency of the post offices. The luxury of fully equipped dispensaries in masonary buildings should, for the present, be abandoned. Poor villagers would be equally grateful with less ambitious but equally useful institutions in the shape of small dispensaries in sheds of corrugated iron roof and mat ceiling with medicines for the prevaling diseases. This would meet a real want and serve to mitigate human suffering to an appreciable extent. One such dispensary at the head-quarters of each thana would be a good beginning.

"My Lord, the lower grade ministerial officers and menial servants of Government are in very straitened circumstances on account of the high prices of food grains. The provision of Rs. 3,60,000 for payment of grain compensation allowance to these officers and menials, therefore, is a most benevolent act of your Excellency's Government. But, my Lord, I had ample opportunities of seeing with my own eyes the pathetic struggle for existence these lower grade ministerial officers and menial servants have to encounter, and I am, therefore, in a position to assure your Excellency's Government that the pay which these hard-worked men get is totally inadequate for providing themselves and their families with the barest necessaries of life. I, therefore, most earnestly and respectfully submit to your Excellency's Government that the time has come to seriously consider whether the minimum pay of the ministerial officers in all departments should not be fixed at Rs. 10 and that of a chaprasi at Rs. 10 per month.

"My Lord, Rs. 5,300 have been allotted for the construction of residences for the 1st and 2nd Munsifs of Basirhat. My Lord, the want of residences for Munsifs is a long standing one. The allotment should, I think, be increased, and at least ten buildings should be made during 1913-14 and an equal number every year until the demand is completely met. There are Munsifs at places where no accommodation beyond that furnished in miserable huts is available.

"My Lord, the want of a building for the Jalpaiguri High School is very keenly felt. The school is now being held in the hostel and a thatched building, to the great inconvenience of all concerned. I do not know whether the sum of Rs. 22,600 allotted for the building would be sufficient for its completion. I respectfully submit that the grant should be increased, if necessary, and provision made for completion of the building within 1913-14."

The Hon'ble DR. NILRATAN SARKAR, said :—

"My Lord, I rejoice with my hon'ble friends over the highly satisfactory character of the Budget which the Hon'ble Sir William Duke has been able to present us this year. When we remember to what large an extent the present prosperous state of our finance is due to the benefactions of the Imperial Government, we are naturally thankful to the quarter to which our thanks are so eminently due, and we trust the horn of plenty will never fail at Delhi.

"Gratified as we cannot but be for the large Imperial allotments specially for purposes of education and sanitation, I personally attach great importance to one small item which, far from representing any revenue, stands for a welcome decrease of 7 lakhs on the receipt side of our provincial accounts for 1912-13. I hope that there will never be any occasion for our budget to take account of the sale-proceeds of the land and buildings of the Sibpur Engineering College, and that the non-receipt of the Secretary of State's sanction to the sale of the college premises will prove to be the precursor of the contract being rescinded. Creditable as have been the past records of the Engineering College at Sibpur, the unjustifiable manner in which it has recently been sought to be condemned in certain quarters makes us quite apprehensive about the future of engineering education in Bengal. In 1899, while discussing the Budget, Sir John Woodburn from his exalted place paid a glowing tribute to this institution : "The longer I know it," observed His Honour, "and the more I know of it, the higher does my opinion of its value grow. It is the only school in my knowledge every one of whose pupils gets employment the moment he successfully passes its curriculum. That is the sufficient and certain evidence that it fulfils a great public want. The field for men of engineering attainments is growing faster in Bengal than our schools enable us to fill it. Railway construction, railway maintenance, railway management, works, public and private, large and small factories, mines—the list is a long and splendid one, and our supply of men is not equal to the demand." My Lord, I cannot add anything to this remark regarding the Engineering College considered in its relation to the industrial condition of Bengal, which, to my mind, not only still holds good, but is much more apposite to-day than it was thirteen years back. Coming to a later period, we find Mr. Nathan in his quinquennial review of 1902 stating that "there are wide openings for employment for engineers trained in India. The most important demand is for the Public Works Department and for the railways ; many other engineers find work under local boards and some of the larger municipalities, and an increasing number are employed in private, industrial and commercial concerns, such as cotton and jute mills, steamer companies, etc., etc." Again, we read that "at the end of the quinquennium arrangements were made to provide a wider field of practical training and additional avenues of employment for students of the Sibpur College."

"In the address which the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon delivered on the occasion of the distribution of prizes at the Sibpur Engineering College in August, 1912, he said that "with the great and growing city of Calcutta in our midst, and with the wealth and intellect of Bengal demanding employment, there can be no talk of check and no suggestion of reaction in our methods of dealing with industrial education."

"But with all this, we cannot altogether ignore the cry that has been raised in certain quarters that the Sibpur Engineering College has almost failed of its purpose, inasmuch as there is no adequate scope for the employment of its alumni who, it is sometimes further alleged by implication, are not sufficiently competent for the work for which they are turned out. Indeed, some people seem to find in these unfounded allegations an argument for limiting the output of engineers in Bengal in the name of greater efficiency and of the true interests of the profession. As to the system of teaching obtaining in the college, only the other day such a high authority as Sir Thomas Holland bore testimony to its high character in comparison with that prevailing in English institutions. If, however, there is room for improvement, what is there to prevent such improvement being made in the existing college itself? It may well be pointed out here that the real demand for trained engineers cannot be measured only by the number of appointments on the cadre of the Public Works Department. Nor should the Government form any idea of it by attaching too much importance to the reluctance of European factory masters, who are not often able to look at the matter from the Indian point of view, to appoint Indian engineers. Even taking the number of responsible appointments held by the students of Sibpur in the Public Works Department and the District Engineering and other quasi-Government establishments, there seems to be no justification for pessimism in this respect. And I do not see why Sibpur cannot reasonably claim three out of the nine higher appointments that the Government of India annually fills by recruitment from the Indian colleges.

"As far as one can judge, however, the Government does not share these gloomy views. The grounds on which the contemplated removal of the Engineering College from Sibpur was represented as being called for in a Government Resolution dated 20th January, 1912, and which, I venture to submit, do not constitute a good case, were that the present site of the college was unhealthy, that its surroundings were unsuitable, that its present buildings were inadequate, and that the site was required by the Port Commissioners. I do not propose to take up the time of your Lordship's Council by entering into a detailed examination of the validity or otherwise of these grounds. But I may point out that the sanitary condition of the place has improved considerably during recent years, that the surroundings of the college may be improved by removing the trenching ground elsewhere at a nominal cost, and that additional buildings may be erected and grounds opened out in the adjoining place originally occupied by the Agricultural Farm at a moderate cost. And if the Port authorities find it possible to spare the site, the difficulties of the situation will disappear. If, however, your Excellency's Government after due consideration decides upon the removal of the college from its present site, I would urge the claims of Calcutta—the great and growing city of Calcutta, as the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon puts it—as being most suited for the requirements of the Engineering College. As it is proposed to establish a Government Technological Institute and a University College of Science and Technology in this city, the idea of associating the Civil Engineering College with these institutions, on the lines of the Imperial College of Science and Technology of London, is perfectly legitimate. Lieut.-Col. Atkinson and Mr. Dawson, in their report on the technical education inquiry, has given expression to an opinion "that a well-equipped institution is of vital necessity to Bengal, and one should be established with sections for civil engineering and industrial chemistry," and that "this institute should be located in an easily accessible site on the outskirts of Calcutta." This report further says that "engineering education of every grade should be concentrated when possible in large colleges where the lower classes can obtain the advantage of the traditions, ideals, moral training, and, above all, the supervision of a high grade competent staff, which can only be met with in large institutions in India." Messrs. Atkinson and Dawson are in favour of an institution "in which more than one professional subject was undertaken. As much of the elementary theoretical work is common," they observe, "the saving in staff will be obvious, and the efficiency greater." The Engineering College has been the only residential College near Calcutta; but even if residential facilities were not as tempting in Calcutta as one would wish, I would ask the authorities to attach due weight to the consideration that it is in Calcutta alone that the professors and teachers can keep in close and living touch with practical engineering—a condition that is demanded in all American engineering colleges and in many English Colleges and evidently desired also by Principal Heaton himself.

"I had the honour some time ago to move a resolution in this Council asking for fifty additional dispensaries in the mufassal, which, however, was negatived. In opposing this motion of mine, the Hon'ble Sir William Duke was pleased to observe as follows :—"The responsibility of providing medical aid is one that I think Government has never accepted directly, and I am afraid it would not accept direct responsibility for it now."

"It would certaintly be desirable that local and municipal bodies should, as far as possible, accept this responsibility. But when it is found that Government not unoften stretches its helping hand to the people in matters for which direct responsibility belongs to the local bodies, one may be pardoned if he asks for help from Government, specially where the local bodies are unable to cope with the evil. The Hon'ble Sir William Duke recognizes that many rural areas are really very insalubrious, and dispensaries in this Presidency are few and far between. It may as well be pointed out that the number of dispensaries belonging to class I—which are defined in an official publication as "State dispensaries which are open to the poorer classes of the public and maintained by Provincial funds"—are only 23 in this Presidency, excluding Calcutta. The corresponding figure for Bombay, excluding the city of Bombay, is 42. Again the total Government contribution towards the maintenance of dispensaries in the Bengal Presidency, excluding Calcutta, was about a lakh and a half in 1911, out of the total receipts of the year on the mufassal dispensary account amounting to a little over 10 lakhs. In Bombay, excluding the city, Government contributed as much as nearly five lakhs and a half for a far smaller population out of a total receipt of 14 lakhs and a half in the same year. Even if the question of direct responsibility of Government in the matter of medical relief be left out of consideration, a good deal more of pecuniary help can very legitimately be asked for. I hope I do not lay myself open to blame in cherishing a desire to emulate another Presidency in this matter. Indeed, I have in my favour the weighty precedent of the Hon'ble Member in charge, who seeks to appoint an Indian Medical Service officer as personal assistant to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals on the analogy of the sister Presidencies. Once again I invite the attention of your Lordship's Government to the great paucity of medical relief in the mufassal, with the sincere hope that the claims of the helpless sick will receive due consideration at your hands.

"My Lord, as regards the large sanitation grants, permit me to express a hope that disproportionately large sums will not be spent upon staff and establishment to the prejudice of actual water-supply and drainage and anti-malarial works. In this matter, as well as in education, we, people of Bengal, have as our only motto "economy combined with efficiency." A highly paid staff does not necessarily mean good work. The crying needs of the country are pure water-supply and drainage and also relief from malaria. Your Lordship's Government has taken up all the three questions in right earnest. With regard to the last, Government has appointed a provincial committee for leading the anti-malarial campaign. Their work has been necessarily slow, but it is expected that the committee will exert their utmost to fight malaria.

"In this connexion it would not be supurfluous to draw your Lordship's attention to the specific recommendations of the Imperial Malaria Conference of 1909 to the effect that each Local Government should make a special allotment of funds every year for the investigation of the problems connected with malaria and measures of prevention. The Conference further urged that the prevention of malaria had a strong claim upon all surpluses and increases of revenue, and that municipal councils and local boards should be urged to set apart funds for the prevention of malaria.

"It is desirable, my Lord, that as regards the other items of sanitary improvement, namely, water-supply and drainage, similar committees consisting of official and non-official members should be appointed with large powers to decide important questions independently.

"As malaria is the besetting evil of village life in Bengal, tuberculosis has already become the scourge of our town populations. The rapid growth of towns and industrial centres in recent years, the strife and strain of modern life, the social and economical conditions amidst which we are living, and the inadequacy of sanitary measures to meet the requirements of fast developing centres of population have combined to foster the growth of tuberculosis in urban areas to an alarming extent. In Calcutta the deaths recorded from tuberculosis have risen from a little over 6 per cent. of the total deaths in 1909 to 8 per cent. in 1912, this latter figure having been maintained for the last three years. Considering that in a large number of cases deaths are not returned correctly, it is obvious that the danger has already assumed grave proportions and is growing every day. And unless we try to check it further progress now, the day may not be far distant when it would hold a good number of the people of Bengal in its deadly grip. My Lord, other countries had towns and industrial centres equally bad on this account, but by sheer sanitary efforts the disease has been almost stamped out in many of them. May I hope that under your Government a crusade will be started to fight this scourge of civilised humanity. Bombay has the credit of setting on foot the first movement of its kind in India, and it is expected that your Lordship's Government will not be slow to profit by her example. Calcutta, or for the matter of that Bengal, should have a strong committee of official and non-official members whose duty will be to conduct a regular and well-organized campaign against tuberculosis, and sufficieent funds should be placed at their disposal.

"Before bringing my observations to a close, I would in connexion with the educational allotment for the year advert for a moment to the tendency which has become evident of recent times in certain high quarters to lay down principles in regard to the maintenance of our secondary schools, having the effect of fixing a high minimum of expenditure therefor. Bengal could not have been what she is to-day, if at the outset of the educational movement these high financial tests had been insisted upon as regards the conduct of her numerous secondary schools. From ancient times "plain-living and high-thinking" has been the guiding principle of our race. Like individuals, races have sometimes to struggle with poverty on the way towards their destiny. And I trust that under your Excellency's Government artificial financial barriers will not be allowed to stem the tide of educational progress in this Province."

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM said :—

"My Lord, we have reached the final stage of the Budget and, in discussing it on this occasion, under our rules, we are permitted to traverse a much wider ground than what we could do before. We are allowed to refer to important administrative issues arising out of the Budget and, my Lord, I desire to take advantage of this opportunity to make some observations which have occurred to me in connection with the points mentioned in the Budget.

"My Lord, I join my hon'ble colleagues in expressing our gratitude to the Government of India for their liberal and munificent grants for education and sanitation. These are questions of the gravest concern to the people of this Province, and we are indebted to your Excellency's Government for giving these matters their special attention and a prominent place in the financial statement of the current year.

"The community to which I have the honour to belong is backward in education, and as such the question of education is a matter of the utmost importance to the members thereof. I hope, my Lord, that a fair and reasonable portion of the increased grant, both Imperial and Provincial, made for education will be applied for the improvement and extension of primary and secondary education in this Province. There is a general complaint, my Lord, that, of late, the inspecting staff of the Education Department has been strengthened beyond all proportions. The number of inspecting officers in almost all districts of Bengal has been more than doubled and in some cases trebled, whereas there has been no appreciable improvement in the teaching staff in the existing primary and secondary schools and, although the demand for education has greatly increased of late years, the spread and extension of education has not been proportionate to that demand. The teachers, the men actually engaged in the work of teaching, especially in primary and secondary schools, are very poorly and miserably paid, and they have, for all practical purposes, no future prospects. The result is that the work of teaching does not attract capable and well-qualified men and, in consequence, the quality of education imparted in these schools is not what we should desire it to be. My Lord, I do not wish it to be understood for a moment that I, in any way, underrate the value of the work of inspection and supervision, but what I desire to place before the Council is that there ought to be a corresponding improvement in the pay and prospects of the teachers of our schools, and that facilities should be provided, as far as practicable, for further extension and spread of education.

"My Lord, I highly appreciate the anxiety shown by the Department of Education to have the schools located in suitable premises and well equipped with furniture, and we are grateful to Government for the liberal grants made for that purpose. But at the same time, I humbly submit that the rules and conditions, which the Education Department has laid down in this connection, may, with advantage, be occasionally relaxed in cases where it is found that a too rigid insistence on them would stand in the way of further extension of the area of education. My Lord, there is another complaint I desire to make, and that is that the number of text-books and the multiplicity of subjects taught in the lower classes of our high schools and in primary schools unduly tax the memory and the brain of our boys. My Lord, the Muhammadans of this Presidency are deeply grateful to your Excellency's Government for the creation and establishment of the office of Deputy Director of Muhammadan education. It will, we hope and trust, greatly help the spread and advancement of education among Muhammadans. I humbly beg to submit, however, that, in order to give the Muhammadans the full advantage of the services of the Deputy Director, the appointment should be given to a Musalman. Himself a member of the community, he will be best fitted to realise the difficulties which the Muhammadan boys have to meet with, to sympathise with their aspirations, to know their wants and needs, and thereby help to popularise education among the Muhammadans. In the Department there are well-qualified Muhammadans who have distinguished themselves by their services, any one of whom would, I am sure, creditably discharge the duties of this office, and there are also distinguished Muhammadan scholars and educationists outside the Department whose services, if necessary, may be utilised for the purpose. My Lord, the Hon'ble the Director of Public Instruction has given us the assurance that hostels for Muhammadan boys will be provided in some of the centres of education and provision will be made for the creation of scholarships for Muhammadan boys. This Council was told the other day that allotments have already been made for a few Muhammadan hostels. I hope, my Lord, that, in making further allotments, provision will be made for the building of a Muhammadan hostel at Burdwan where the Muhammadan community is prepared to meet a portion of the costs.

"My Lord, I know that the need for Muhammadan hostels is very keenly felt in many other places, and if I specially mention Burdwan, it is because from my intimate knowledge of the place. I know that, although high education has made a very fair progress among the Muhammadans of that district, the further extension of education is hindered for want of a suitable accommodation for Muslim boys at the headquarters.

"My Lord, I hope that, while considering the question of granting facilities for the education of Muhammadan boys, your Excellency's Government will be pleased to direct their attention to the teaching of Arabic, Persian and Urdu in our public schools. My Lord, I humbly submit that inspecting officers, while on tour, would do well to consult the local Muhammadans about their educational wants and needs. The information thus collected will be of great help to the Government in ascertaining the actual requirements of Muhammadans and the nature and scope of the facilities that should be provided for the spread and advancement of education among them.

"While speaking on the question of Muhammadan education, I beg to draw the attention of your Excellency's Government to the fact that the annual grant for the Moslem Institute is very inadequate and insufficient. The members of this Institute, in order to keep it going, have to pay a much higher rate of subscription than the members of the Calcutta University Institute. The Muhammadan students, who are generally poor, find it very difficult to maintain the Institution and are handicapped in their work for want of funds. The sphere of usefulness of this Institute can only be increased and extended if Government comes forward with a more liberal grant for its maintenance.

"Sanitation and Water-supply—The people of this Presidency are under a deep debt of gratitude to you, my Lord, for the personal interest your Excellency has been taking in the question of sanitation in general and rural water-supply in particular. The chief sources of water-supply in this Province are our rivers. Most of these rivers have silted up. This has not only affected the supply of water, but these rivers no longer serve as a system of natural drainage of the country. Whatever may be the other causes, the present deplorable condition of the rivers is to a great extent responsible for the spread of diseases and the general insanitary condition of rural areas. I humbly submit, my Lord, that means should be found for opening up some of these rivers, wherever possible and convenient. Government have made liberal grants to Municipalities and District Boards which will enable these self-governing bodies to undertake various works of sanitary improvement. In order that the rural population may get full advantage of these grants, village unions should be more extensively and numerously organised and established, and these unions should be entrusted with the work of sanitary improvement in their respective areas and given the necessary funds for the purpose. In this connection, my Lord, I humbly beg to submit that there ought to be a rule to the effect that a reasonable percentage of the cesses and rates collected from each village or local area should be spent in that village or that area for local improvement. While speaking of District Boards and Municipalities I cannot help referring to the fact that Muhammadans are very poorly represented on these local self-governing bodies, and that instances are not rare where Muhammadan interests have been allowed to suffer for want of adequate and proper representation. I hope the matter will receive the attention of your Excellency's Government. As a resident of the Burdwan district, I feel it my duty to express our gratitude to your Excellency's Government for the grants made to the Burdwan, Kalna and Katwa Municipalities for water-supply and drainage. My Lord, the people of Burdwan complain that the orders of the Government with regard to the appropriation of the total cess receipts of the Asansol Subdivision for work of the Subdivision place an unnecessary restriction on the discretion and authority of the District Board in its dealings with a subordinate body and are not fair to the people of the other subdivisions who have so long liberally contributed towards the various improvements carried out in the Asansol Subdivision which until recently was not able to pay its own way. The District Board has submitted a representation to your Excellency's Government for the reconsideration of the orders, and I hope the matter will receive a kind and favourable consideration. There is a general complaint that the election rolls of Local Boards are not properly published and, although the provisions of the rules are theoretically complied with, the public are not afforded sufficient facilities for getting these lists properly corrected and modified. I humbly beg to suggest, my Lord, that these rules may be printed by the Collectors of districts, and the lists sold to the public at a nominal price to meet the expenses. This will remove a reasonable and a legitimate grievance. My Lord, I beg to draw the attention of your Excellency's Government to the case of the Asansol Municipality. When it was first created, Asansol was only a small Railway settlement, and it was then thought desirable not to introduce the system of election in that Municipality, but since then the town of Asansol has much grown and is now the headquarters of an important subdivision. It has now very large and extensive business transactions, a large population of respectable Indians, and I think, my Lord, that the time has come when the system of election should be introduced in this Municipality.

"Before I conclude, my Lord, I would invite the attention of the Government to the fact that the Musalmans are very poorly represented in the ministerial establishments in public offices. From the statements recently placed on the table of this Council it will be found that the percentage of the Muhammadans so employed is very low. My Lord, I beg to submit that for their maintenance and for their advancement it is necessary that the Musalmans should get their full share of appointments in the public services of the Province. My Lord, we have been told again and again that if Musalmans qualify themselves by education they will get their due share of the loaves and fishes of office, but, my Lord, I can say without fear of contradiction that at the present day there is no dearth of qualified Musalmans for employment in the ministerial establishment, and if a statement were prepared, it would be found that the non-Moslems now so employed are generally not better qualified than the Muhammadans already in those offices, or who seek employment therein. I trust the matter will receive consideration.

"The Department of Registration, my Lord, is one of the important branches of administration, but the department has not received that attention and notice which it certainly deserves. There is a feeling both among the officers of the department and the public that it is a neglected branch of the administration. The chief complaint is that the ministerial establishment in the Registration offices is very ill paid and hard-worked. A few years back a Commission was appointed by Government to enquire into the grievances of the ministerial establishment of all branches of Administration. The Commission's report was duly considered by Government and the ministerial establishment was thoroughly reorganised; but for reasons which the public have not been able to ascertain, nothing has so far been done to improve the position of the ministerial establishment of the Registration offices, and the result is that the work of the department suffers, and the public who have to deal with this department are put to inconvenience and trouble, and the morale of the department is also deteriorating. In these days, my Lord, of high prices, I humbly submit that clerks and ministerial officers should under no circumstances receive an emolument of less than Rs. 25 a month. Another grievance in connection with this department is about the accommodation of Registration offices. These offices at present are located in hired houses—generally thatched mud-houses and sometimes mat-houses—and thefts of money and records are not uncommon.

"My Lord, there is a general complaint about the principle on which the Chaukidari taxes are imposed in the villages, and there is much discontent among the village people on account of the manner in which Chaukidari taxes are levied and collected; and there is no arrangement for auditing the accounts of these taxes. I take the liberty to suggest that the maximum of the Chaukidari tax should be raised in order to relieve the poorer section of the village population of the burden of the taxes. The maximum is now very low.

"In conclusion, I beg to thank your Excellency's Government for the provision made in the Budget for the supply of drinking water to rural population and for the arrangements made for the general survey of the Province for water-supply. I take the liberty to suggest that in the western part of the Province the excavation and re-excavation of tanks should be encouraged and undertaken as the people here are not accustomed to the use of wells. In order that raiyats may undertake the excavation or re-excavation of tanks, such works should be treated as improvements of the holding under the Bengal Tenancy Acts.

"With these words, my Lord, I beg to support the passing of the Budget as it now stands."

The Hon'ble BABU MOHENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"My Lord, I beg to offer a few general comments on the Budget.

"The most striking features of the Budget this year are undoubtedly the large non-recurring assignments from Imperial Revenues, specially under the three heads of Education, Sanitation and Discretionary grants and also the large recurring assignment from the same source in connection with the remission of appropriations from cesses. We congratulate ourselves on this. But our congratulations must needs be tempered by the melancholy reflexion that in regard to expenditures under most of these heads, the hands of the Provincial Government appear to be very much fettered. The fear which was expressed by the Royal Commission upon Decentralization that the "policy of doles."—

> "gives a handle for, and does in effect lead to, increased interference by the Government of India in the detailed expenditure of the money thus granted" has been amply realized.

"On the other hand, the Government of India in their memorable despatch of the 25th of August 1911 expressed the hope that by the transfer of their seat to Delhi—

> "at last India would consist of a number of administrations, autonomous in all provincial affairs, with the Government of India above them all, and possessing power to interfere in case of misgovernment, but ordinarily restricting their functions to matters of Imperial concern."

"But the hope thus expressed it seems is not likely to be realized within a measurable distance of time.

"To come to the figures, out of the non-recurring assignment of Rs. 75 lakhs for education, the Government is permitted to spend during the year Rs. 24,80,000 only, the details of schemes in regard to which do not appear to have yet been settled, leaving a large balance of Rs. 50,20,000, which may be spent in future years, if not withdrawn for Imperial purposes. Similar remarks apply to the assignment of Rs. 20 lakhs for sanitation, out of which Rs. 6,75,000 only may be spent during the year.

"Now it is admitted on all hands that the needs of both education and sanitation in the Province are great and urgent, and this husbanding of resources for the distant future does not appear to me, if I may say so respectfully, justified by the circumstances.

"The estimated expenditure on education is Rs. 1,34,88,000 out of the total estimated expenditure under all heads of Rs. 6,82,09,000, or a little over 19 per cent. This is a very liberal provision. But I find that over Rs. 32 lakhs out of this consist of lump provisions for non-recurring expenditure and over Rs. 13 lakhs consist of lump provisions for recurring grants—over Rs. 45 lakhs altogether. We have no idea whatsoever from the Budget as to how this large sum is going to be spent, or whether, for want of proper and definite schemes, a considerable portion of it may not be left unspent in the course of the year. This, I venture to submit, is not at all satisfactory. Nor can I forget a fact which is still fresh in our mind—that the humble efforts on the part of some of the non-official members to present for the consideration of the Government proposals for definite allotments on education, sanitation and medicine out of these recurring and non-recurring assignments did not generally meet with that response which perhaps they had a right to expect.

"My Lord, I am one of those who are strongly of opinion that there is no room in this Council for the grouping or division of members into parties and anti-parties. It will be in the highest degree fallacious to copy here from European and American constitutions the system of the Government and and the opposition. We are all here—officials and non-officials—to further by mutual co-operation the best interests of Government. But the co-operation must be mutual. It would be bad policy—Your Excellency will permit me humbly and respectfully to submit—to develop in the non-official members—or official members for the matter of that—an abnormal taste for frequent divisions or for the charms of the division bell.

"I crave for future years a more sympathetic treatment by Government of the proposals that might be made by us in respect of budget allotments—made mostly in consonance with which we conceive to be legitimate popular demands.

"If by the attitude of Government in regard to such matters the non-official members or any considerable section of them are driven to form themselves into a party, it would not be, I am convinced, conducive to the best interests of good government.

"With these few remarks, I beg to approve of the Budget generally."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH BANARJI said :—

"My Lord, this is the first budget which has been presented to this Council of reunited Bengal now raised to the status of Presidency Government, and as such, my Lord, the budget is likely to be scanned with considerable care and scrutiny. A budget, usually speaking, is not an object of interesting study to the general public, but a budget often embodies a policy and principles which stand out in striking preeminence from amid the dry and dusty mass of figures and statistics. My Lord, the word 'sanitation' is graven deep in every line of the policy of your Excellency's Government, and I take it that sanitation is also one of the main features of the policy of the Government of India. My Lord, under existing conditions, the policy of this Government is largely determined by the policy of the Government of India, but, my Lord, I claim some measure of independence in adapting the behests of the Imperial policy to local conditions and environments and in initiating measures demanded by local requirements and needs. The budget, my Lord, thanks to the liberality of the Government of India, is a prosperity budget. It discloses a closing cash balance of 2 crores and 83 lakhs of rupees for the year 1912-13, and after expenditure upon important heads and in regard to important matters, a closing balance of 1 crore and 93 lakhs of rupees for the year 1913-14. I am sure the Council and the country are very grateful to the Government of India for their generosity. But, my Lord, I confess that I do not like these doles. Charity in the case of individuals is honourable to the giver and beneficial to the receiver; but charity in the case of a great Government is a doubtful and even a demoralizing boon. We ought to have our own money to be able to spend it in our own way, according to our lights and subject to the necessary safeguards and to the necessary measure of supervision. My Lord, the surpluses of the Government of India, I hope and trust, will be recurring, and if they are recurring, as I believe they will be—because the railway receipts have been underestimated,—then, as the Hon'ble Sir William Duke has pointed out with convincing force, instead of grants being made to us, we ought to receive increasing shares of expanding revenue. That would be economical from every point of view, and would represent an expansion of provincial self-government, to which we all look forward with interest and expectancy. My Lord, it seems to me, having regard to the fact that our provincial contract is only for a limited period extending to the year 1915, and that it will be necessary for us to revise the provincial contract, that your Excellency's Government should take this Council into its confidence and formulate a scheme of provincial settlement with the full weight and authority of this Council and behind it the weight and authority of the country. My Lord, whatever differences of opinion there may exist between the Indian and the non-Indian element, between the official and the non-official element in this Council, I am sure that there is absolutely no difference in the view which prevails on both sides of this House that the provincial finances should grow, and that their growth is necessary for the highest interests of provincial progress. My Lord, therefore, I venture to submit respectfully that we should formulate in this Council a scheme of provincial settlement to be submitted to the Government of India for their acceptance, and that it should be done early. We have to revise the settlement in 1915, and I think we ought to be able to present a scheme in the year 1914. My Lord, it seems to me that in this connection we may perhaps take note of an important scheme of provincial settlement which was sketched out by Sir Charles Elliott and the Finance Committee that was appointed by Lord Dufferin in 1884. Sir Charles Elliott recommended that there should be no divisions between the provinces and the Imperial Government, that provincial revenues should go to the provinces, Imperial revenues should go to the Imperial Government, but that if there should be any deficit in Imperial revenue, that deficit should constitute the first charge upon the provincial surplus. My Lord, this is the system which prevails in Germany, and I believe in some of the Federal States of the American Republic. There is no reason why it should not be tried here. It would avoid all complications and complaints, and it would lead to provincial autonomy, to which my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray, referred in such eloquent terms, and which has been promised to us by the memorable despatch of August, 1911. My Lord, if this is done, it will be the first step towards financial autonomy, and financial autonomy must be the basis of provincial autonomy which will come in its own good time.

"My Lord, with reference to some items in the budget, permit me to call attention to the account of loans which appears at page 12. At page 12, paragraph 21, we find an account given of advances of loans to be made to municipalities and other public bodies. We find also an interest charge of Rs. 1,85,000 provided. With reference to this interest, I have a question or two to ask. Do these loans come out of the provincial surplus, and if they do not, why should they not? I am sure we ought not to go to the Government of India for these loans. We should advance them out of the provincial surplus, so that we may be in a position to receive the interest for ourselves. This is a suggestion which I venture to submit for the consideration of the official members on the other side of this House.

"At page 63, a statement is given of the different items of expenditure under the head of Education. I will not read it, because it is not necessary for my present purpose. I have a Resolution in this connection, and I have no desire to anticipate the terms of that Resolution, and if I were to do so, your Lordship would probably rule me out of order. There is one matter in connection with these items to which I desire to call attention. I find, my Lord, that a sum of Rs. 3,78,500 is provided as savings. Now I may take it that the whole of the educational grant for the year 1913-14 minus Rs. 3,78,000, in other words, a sum of Rs. 1,34,88,000, we are going to spend in 1913-14. If we are not going to spend that amount in 1913-14, the term 'saving' has no meaning; Rs. 3,78,500 represents the savings, which means that the whole of the grant minus this sum, in other words, a crore and 34 lakhs of rupees will be spent in 1913-14. Then, in the same page, we find certain items entered in the revised estimates, and against these items we have got the expression 'lump provision'. Now, my Lord, the revised estimates refer to money which has already been spent. I believe the details are in the office; this expression seems to me, under the circumstances, to be meaningless. I hope an explanation will be forthcoming.

'Then, my Lord, we find in the same page (63)—in fact this is a page of riveting interest, because it sets forth the details of educational expenditure, and my friend, the Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar, has referred to it—the amount of Rs. 2,84,000 is budgetted for expenditure on the Sibpur College. My Lord, I desire to thoroughly associate myself with the observations which fell from my friend. He has in this Council repeated what the public think with regard to the Sibpur Engineering College. There would go forth a strong voice of protest from the educated public of Bengal if any attempt were made to transfer the Sibpur College from the vicinity of Calcutta. Have an Engineering College at Dacca if you like, but on no account transfer this college from the neighbourhood of Calcutta. Not only is the presence of such a college in close proximity to an industrial centre like Calcutta indispensably necessary, but what is to become of the Calcutta University with its emasculated faculty of engineering? I therefore desire to associate myself with the observations which have fallen from my friend, the Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar, in regard to this matter.

"My Lord, I desire further to support Dr. Nilratan Sarkar's observations on secondary education. My Lord, we are a poor people. Poverty and learning in this country have been indissolubly associated. In our language, which will be familiar to all Indian members, Lakshmi and Saraswati never go together. The goddess of learning and the goddess of riches stand quite apart at a measureable distance. Then, my Lord, to add to the expense of secondary education by providing for the entertainment of highly-paid teachers in secondary schools, seems to me to be wholly inconsistent with those traditions of learning which we hold so dear.

"My Lord, at page 63, we find a sum of Rs. 72,000 budgetted for technical and industrial schools. Having regard to our great needs this is a very small sum in the budget of the premier province of the Indian empire for industrial and technical schools. I am surprised at this small provision. I want to know what has become of that comprehensive and that very complete report which was drawn up by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming. It was an admirable report which we all read with great pleasure and interest, and we expected great things from that report, but somehow or other we find it is still in the archives of the Secretariat, and it shows no signs of emerging from them. We ought to know what steps are going to be taken, and I hope an explanation will be forthcoming with regard to this matter.

"Then I come to the question of fisheries. The Government of Bengal thought so much of this matter that at one time they deputed an officer of the standing of Sir Krishna Govinda Gupta who was at that time a member of the Board of Revenue to be in charge of the Fisheries Department. But now, my Lord, what is the sum provided in this year's budget in respect of fisheries? Rupees 98,000, and of the Rs. 98,000 Rs. 45,000, are to be spent on the purchase of a steam-launch for the use of the Director of Fisheries; in other words, a grant of the magnificent sum of Rs. 53,000 is all that is to be spent on the Fisheries Department, and the fact remains that the supply of fish is steadily diminishing. The number of fishermen that used to live on the banks of the river is not what it used to be, and the fishing trade is rapidly declining because there are no fish to be had in the river. What is this due to? Is it due to the septic tanks which have been installed on both banks of the river, or is it due to any other cause? I think this is a department which deserves the fostering care of the Government. It is a matter which has been agitating the public mind, and public opinion is very strong upon it, and I trust the Government will be able to give a satisfactory answer on this point too.

"Then I come to police expenditure. That is going up by leaps and bounds. Last year—to-day is the 2nd of April—it was 88 lakhs (I am not giving the exact figures); this year it has gone up to 98 lakhs, which is an increase of 10 lakhs. May I enquire from the Hon'ble Member in charge of that department whether the efficiency of the police force has increased in proportion to the expenditure of money? We hear of dacoities in Eastern Bengal; we hear of dacoities in Western Bengal; we hear of dacoities in the 24-Parganas. You have only to look at the newspapers, and you will find accounts of dacoities and robberies every day. What does that testify to? The inability of the police to trace the crimes and to detect the criminals. They talk of the co-operation of the people. Surely the dacoits do not take the people into their confidence; they do not hold meetings and have confabulations with the people. The fault is that of the police. If there was greater police skill, and they possessed greater detective ability, this state of things would disappear; at any rate there would be an appreciable decrease in crimes of this kind.

"There are one or two other points with regard to police expenditure which deserve notice. On page 17 of the Budget Report I find, 'Purchase of new boxes for keeping confidential papers by investigating police officers, Rs. 10,000.' Had these police officers no boxes before? I have never found this item in any other budget that I have come across. I should like to know why there is this new departure. Were these boxes stolen by anybody? I think this is a matter which needs an explanation.

"Here is another interesting grant or annual subsidy which equally deserves notice: 'Travelling allowance to hockey teams in Eastern Bengal, Rs. 9,300.' What have the hockey teams got to do with the Police Department? We ought to know something about these hockey teams and why any money is advanced to them. As I have said, the police expenditure is expanding, but the efficiency of the police is not growing, and that is a matter which requires serious consideration.

"I must hasten because the bell will soon be rung. There is a sum of Rs. 32,000 provided for strengthening the staff of Munsifs and Rs. 50,000 for the regrading of Munsifs. I am sure these are items of expenditure which the public will approve of. The Munsifs are a most hard-worked body of people, and many of them die from the strain of overwork. Work done at high pressure is work badly done. Therefore it seems to me that in the interests of efficiency it is a matter of the first importance that the staff of Munsifs should be strengthened, and I hope that a 500-rupee grade for Munsifs will be created in Bengal. I trust that this item does not mean that merely the Munsifs of Eastern Bengal will be brought over to the Civil List and paid Rs. 500. I was reading the very interesting speech which my friend here, the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari, was to have made. With reference to the Judicial service he says that this provision is wholly inadequate, and that at least one lakh of rupees ought to be provided. But we have to be thankful for small mercies such as we receive them, and we have to be grateful for the sum which has been allotted. Then I find that two residences have to be constructed at Basirhat for Munsifs, while there are to be five residences for subdivisional officers. I think the Munsifs stand more in need of residences than the subdivisional officers because the Munsifs are stationed in out-of-the-way places. I hope the Government will deal with Executive and Judicial officers in the same spirit and put them on the same footing as regards the facilities which the Government are going to afford to them.

"There is another item which struck me as curious, and that is a sum of Rs. 43,000 provided in the budget for the Collector's bungalow at Barisal. On one occasion in 1906 I had occasion to visit the Collector's bungalow at Barisal under circumstances of compulsion, and I can testify to the fact that it is a fairly comfortable bungalow. It is provided by a private landlord and the Collector pays a moderate rent. Why should the Government go out of its way to provide bungalows for Collectors when they can be supplied by private enterprise? Is it a legacy of the old Government of Eastern Bengal devolving upon us? I hope and trust that in any case expenditure of this kind will not be encouraged by Government.

"One word about the Kanungos. These men constitute a subordinate class of public officers below Sub-Deputy Collectors. The last grade is Rs. 50, and the first is Rs. 75. They have no promotion nor even the prospects of promotion. Formerly they used to be promoted to the grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors, and the present Personal Assistant to the Commissioner of the Chota Nagpur Division who is a Deputy Collector was once a Kanungo. I plead the cause of these men, and I think their pay and prospects ought to be improved and that they should be raised to the grade of Sub-Deputy Collectors on promotion, or if that is not found practicable, another equivalent grade should be made for them.

"There are two other matters which I desire to call attention to. I find provision has been made for the revision of the chaukidari panchayat. We ought to know something about this. The details of the scheme ought to be placed before the Council.

"My friend Raja Hrishikesh Laha pleaded for the extension of waterways in this province, and I support him. In a country like India, in a province like Bengal, with its vast distances and its magnificent rivers, the efficiency of the waterways is a matter of the first importance. They afford cheap transport, they develop inland trade and constitute a perennial water-supply. The great rivers are fast silting up which will obstruct drainage, and the question of sanitation is thus intimately connected with waterways. I urged this question before the Imperial Legislative Council, and I desire to renew my appeal here in the full confidence that your Excellency's Government, having regard to its intimate connection with sanitation and the general wants of the country, will do the needful.

"With these observations I desire to congratulate the Hon'ble Member in charge on the excellent budget which he has presented."

The Hon'ble Raja Mahendra Ranjan Ray Chaudhuri said :—

"My Lord, as observations of a general character, touching on the various branches of the administration are permissible on an occasion like the present, I would much like to, with your Excellency's permission, avail myself of this opportunity for the purpose for a few minutes. At the very outset I desire, on behalf of my constituency and myself to express our grateful thanks to the Imperial Government for the liberal financial support they have given our province, and to this Government for the very fair manner in which it has distributed the Imperial grants. But, my Lord, this system of giving financial support is far from satisfactory and is also not in keeping with the dignity of the local Government. I need hardly say that I refer to the present system of doling out grants. Our Government has a right to expect a far more free hand in the department of its own finances. In a word our Province must be allowed a few real and substantial forward steps towards the attainment of financial autonomy. It is a matter of great satisfaction to the people of Bengal to find that the two questions, namely, education and rural sanitation, are receiving the increasing attention of the Government. People all over the land appear to be seized with a sudden and unrestrainable desire to acquire education. They seem to realise at last that knowledge is the source of all true power; and the popular demand to place it within the reach of all classes and communities is daily growing more clamant than ever. It is, my Lord, a very big question, but whether it will be of ultimate advantage to the country or not, the demand has to be met. The expenditure that Government has resolved to incur in carrying out educational reforms and measures during the ensuing year leaves nothing to be desired; but, the expenditure on the improvement of rural sanitation is comparatively small; though the question is, to my thinking, even more important and pressing than that of education. It is a question of life and death. Whereas education means, perhaps, only a higher standard of life and level of thought. I earnestly hope that rural sanitation and village drinking water will receive much more liberal consideration at the hands of the Government in the near future. We should also very much like to see a large expenditure in the medical department. The country requires far more hospitals and dispensaries than there are already.

"My Lord, I find that the Government is going to spend a large sum in order to reorganise and improve the Police Force of the Presidency.

Increase of efficiency in the Police is certainly very necessary, but this can only take place with the increase of Public confidence in that body ; and mere enhancement of pay and prospects or addition to the strength of the Force cannot go far enough in winning the confidence of the people. To win that, the Police must make themselves regarded far more as the friends of the people than as a kind of "lord high protector". The overbearing and swaggering spirit that is so noticeable in the mufassal amongst its rank and file must cease ; and unless that becomes the case, no amount of reforms will remedy the present state of affairs. Civility, courtesy and an honest desire to serve and befriend the people will, I am sure, very quickly establish the desired relations between the public and the Police Force. My Lord, much of the difficulty that one hears so much of in these days as being encountered in the various departments of the Administration would quickly disappear, if the responsible officers of the State, especially those exercising executive powers, would bring in a little more feeling into their daily work, and gather up enough courage to be duly civil and courteous to the people who come in contact with them in their daily business. The personal ideas may be most suitable in some branches of the Administration, but I fear they can be carried too far in the executive branch. They are apt to deteriorate into repellent coarseness. A kind word and a little courtesy very often accomplish wonders. My Lord, what a magical effect true kindness and fellow feeling have in strengthening the position of a Government, though alien it may be, has been abundantly and unquestionably demonstrated by that happy and never-to-be-forgotten visit to India last year of our august and devotedly-loved Sovereigns, the King-Emperor and Queen-Empress, and quite recently when your Excellency visited some of the districts. The Royal Visit has been of such immense good to this country that as time goes on its innumerable beneficial effects are more and more clearly and palpably realised. Half the trouble of governing India would vanish if Their Majesties' servants in this country would unreservedly and honestly try to follow the noble and magnanimous examples set by Their Imperial Majesties in dealing with their Indian subjects.

"The Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, in the course of his interesting speech to-day, has very strongly condemned the proposed scheme of a college for the well-to-do classes at Dacca. I am sorry I cannot agree with the views he has expressed in this matter. Dacca may not be a suitable place for the establisment of such a college, and doubtless a hill station like Kurseong would prove an ideal spot for a college of the kind proposed. But the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur is emphatically opposed to the principle that underlies the scheme. It would hardly be proper for me to take up the further time of this Council to-day by entering into an elaborate controversy over this question. There are a good many points upon which much can be said in favour of the college, and I feel sure, enough has already been said through the medium of the Press, and during the public discussion that followed the announcement by His Excellency the Viceroy, to show that the necessity for such a college does exist. I do not think it is intended to make it entirely exclusive and therefore it is perhaps not quite right to say that the college is meant solely for the sons of the well-to-do or landholding classes. Their grievance, if I may be permitted to use that term, is that, although they can afford a superior kind of education for their children, they have no facilities to obtain it for them, and the proposed college, I think, only meets this complaint ; and anyone able to pay the price for the education that will be imparted there will, if I am not very much mistaken in my information, find the portals of the institution open to his sons ; and how there can be any objection to a college of this kind I fail to understand."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"The discussion on the Budget will now be adjourned until the 4th instant. Meanwhile, I suspend the rules of business for the Maharaja of Burdwan to move the Resolution that stands in his name."

The Hon'ble Sir Bijay Chand Mahab, K.C.S.I., K.C.I.E., I.O.M., Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, moved the following Resolution :—

That in view of the approaching retirement of Mr. F. G. Wigley, Bar-at-Law, C.I.E., who has been Secretary to this Council and its predecessors for a period of over 17 years, this Council desires to place on record its high sense of appreciation of the invaluable services rendered by him throughout that period, and to express the hope that he may be afforded further opportunities of utilizing in England the wide and varied legislative experience which he has acquired with such zeal and energy during his long tenure of his present post.

He said :—

"My Lord, this Resolution hardly needs any speech from me, because it is one of those resolutions that commends itself to all, and we non-official members particularly are in more ways than one most grateful to Mr. Wigley for the manifold services rendered by him to us, both individually and collectively, during his long tenure of office. Mr. Wigley has now been out in India, off and on, for a period of over 40 years, of which term he has spent over 17 years in the Legislative Department of the Government of Bengal. It was on the 20th March, 1896, that he joined as Secretary in the Legislative Department, becoming Secretary to the Council towards the end of 1900. Mr. Wigley has further earned distinction as an editor of legal literature, and the long roll of his learned publications is well known to all those who have had any concern with the Indian Statute book or the Codes of Bengal or her sister provinces. Mr. Wigley, I hope, when he gets to England, will be deputed to the work of consolidating the Indian Statutes—a duty he is eminently qualified to perform, and whose initiation is sorely needed. I take it that Mr. Wigley is the first Secretary to a Provincial Legislative Council who has been the recipient of the distinction of the Companionship of the Indian Empire, and the members of this Council all feel that that distinction was fully earned and reflects credit upon themselves also. But it is not only this side of Mr. Wigley's career, my Lord, that appeals to us—non-official members—particularly. It is his unfailing courtesy, his desire to help us whenever we ask him for assistance, and the quiet unassuming way in which he has done his work, not only in the Council Chamber but in Select Committee, where, perhaps, his work was even more appreciated than in the Council Chamber. Having regard to all these rare and valuable qualities, we feel that, by the retirement of Mr. Wigley, we are not only losing a lawyer whose able assistance and legal acumen were of the greatest value to us—budding legislators—but also a personal friend whose departure is a matter of regret to all members of this Council. I understand that my friend Mr. Watson is going to succeed him. Mr. Watson has had valuable legislative experience himself and has been acting on and off in the Legislative Department for the last 15 months or more, and I hope that the testimony that this Council is going to bear to Mr. Wigley's work to-day will help him also in the new line of work which he has chosen for himself; in such we wish him every success. We also wish our friend Mr. Wigley a pleasant voyage home, every happiness in future, and ample opportunity for much further good work in England. These are the few remarks that I wish to make before Mr. Wigley takes leave of us."

The Hon'ble Mr. Norman McLeod said :—

"My Lord, I beg to support the Resolution moved by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan. I do not think that I can add anything to what has already been said by my friend, the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan. But as one of the first elected members of the enlarged Council, I should like to add my personal testimony to the value of Mr. Wigley's services to this Council. I consider his long record of service here to have been of invaluable benefit to the Council, and I heartily join in the wish which the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan has expressed for his welfare and for the enjoyment of the leisure he has so well earned. And in doing so, I am happy to welcome his successor."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banarji said :—

"My Lord, I desire to support the Resolution which has been moved by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan. My Lord, I have known Mr. Wigley much longer than most of the members of this House. He joined the Council in 1896. I was a member of the Council in 1896, and I endorse every word that has fallen from the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan in praise of Mr. Wigley. His great knowledge, his unfailing courtesy, his ready willingness to help members seeking his advice have won for him an unstinted measure of our confidence and respect. And I am sure we are glad of this opportunity of according our tribute of respect and admiration for the good qualities which he has displayed as Secretary to the Council. My Lord, it is not an easy matter to please a Council consisting of over 50 members. Yet this almost impossible task Mr. Wigley has achieved by his urbanity, by his geniality, by the sweetness of his temper and by his readiness to help us in every difficulty. We are grateful to the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan for giving us this opportunity for recording our vote of confidence in Mr. Wigley. I am sure we all join him in wishing Mr. Wigley long life and prosperity in the old country, coupled with the hope that he will not altogether forget the interests of India in his retirement. We welcome his successor, Mr. Watson."

The Hon'ble Mr. Apcar said :—

"My Lord, I wish to join my voice with that of the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan in supporting this resolution. My services in this Council do not take me back to quite as remote a period as that mentioned by my Hon'ble friend seated in front of me, but it extends to within two years of it at least. And I think perhaps that it will not be thought inappropriate if I bear tribute to the anxious care in the discharge of his duties, the constant readiness to assist non-official members, and the distinguished learning and experience which Mr. Wigley has throughout his long spell of office always displayed, to the very great advantage of the members of this Council. I join in the good wishes that have been expressed on his retirement, and I welcome his successor."

The Hon'ble Mr. Golam Hossein Cassim Ariff said :—

"My Lord, as a member of the last Bengal Legislative Council, I beg to associate myself with the remarks which have fallen from the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan as regards the distinguished and much appreciated services rendered by Mr. Wigley as Secretary to that Council and its present successor. Mr. Wigley has ever been courteous to non-official members, and ready and willing to help them whenever his services were requisitioned.

"I beg to support the Resolution moved by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan, and I do so with very great pleasure."

The Hon'ble Mr. Byomkesh Chakravarti said :—

"My Lord, I did not at first desire to intervene in this debate, but I feel that I cannot refrain from so doing, for my knowledge of Mr. Wigley dates from a time anterior to his first occupation of his present post to those halcyon days, in fact, when he and I were members of the Calcutta Bar together in the early nineties. It was then that I first came to know Mr. Wigley and to appreciate his fine qualities. My Lord, every member who has spoken about Mr. Wigley has alluded to his many qualities, amongst them, to his sweetness of temper. But there is one quality in him that nobody has alluded to. Hon'ble members are probably not aware, and I may disclose the fact to the Council, that Mr. Wigley is a great musician. He plays admirably on the violin, and, as Socrates always maintained was bound to be the case, the sweetness of his temper is partially due to his distinguished musical attainments." (Laughter.)

The Hon ble SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"My Lord, much has been said about our friend, Mr. Wigley, in many quarters and I have very little to say. But I cannot let the occasion pass in silence. Something has to be said on behalf of myself and my official colleagues. I have worked with Mr. Wigley for the last five years, and I know that no labour has ever been too great for him to undertake and no hours too long, and that any amount of pains which might be required has always been cheerfully given. There is much also that I might say as regards his disposition. But, having regard to all that has been said on this point, I think I need not say more than that those who have had occasion to work with Mr. Wigley have invariably formed a very high opinion as to the quality of his work. I believe there were days when the drafting of the Acts of the Bengal Legislative Council did not command much respect. Those days, however, soon passed when Mr. Wigley, came on the scene, and I believe that the standard of our provincial drafting is now at least as high as that of any similar legislative body in the East. It is, Sir, a great satisfaction to us in saying farewell to know that he is going to undertake some legislative work at home which promises to be of great importance, and which, I believe, will be both congenial to him and redound to his personal advantage. We wish him every good fortune in future."

The Resolution was then put to the vote and unanimously carried.

MR. WIGLEY, with the permission of the President, replied as follows :—

"Your Excellency and gentlemen, I thank you very heartily for the signal honour which you have done me and for the very kind things that you have said. I have no words to express my feelings at all adequately. I will only say that this is one of the proudest days of my life and that the record of what has been said by individual members and the record of the collective action of the Council on this occasion will be read with the greatest gratification by the members of my family and will be passed down to my children's children as a treasure worthy of being permanently preserved."

The Council was then adjourned to Friday, the 4th April, 1913, at 11 A.M.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.
THE SECOND SCHEDULE.
THE THIRD SCHEDULE.
THE FOURTH SCHEDULE.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part I.—Preliminary.—Sections 1-3. Part II.—Constitution and Incorporation—Section 4.)

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other Associations.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to Trading Companies and other associations; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

PART I.

PRELIMINARY.

Short title, commencement and extent.

1. (1) This Act may be called the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(2) It shall come into force on the first day of April 1914; and (3) It extends to the whole of British India including British Baluchistan and the Santhal Parganas.

Definitions.

2. In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "articles" means the articles of association of a company as originally framed or as altered by special resolution, including, so far as they apply to the company, the regulations contained (as the case may be) in Table B in the Schedule annexed to Act No. XIX of 1857 or in Table A in the First Schedule annexed to the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or in Table A in the First Schedule annexed to this Act

(2) "company" means a company formed and registered under this Act or an existing company:

(3) "the Court" means the Court having jurisdiction under this Act:

(4) "debenture" includes debenture stock:

(5) "director" includes any person occupying the position of a director by whatever name called:

(6) "District Court" means the principal Civil Court of original jurisdiction in a district, but does not include a High Court in the exercise of its ordinary original civil jurisdiction:

(7) "existing company" means a company formed and registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act or Acts repealed thereby, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882:

(8) "Insurance company" means a company that carries on the business of insurance either solely or in common with any other business or businesses:

(9) "manager" includes any person occupying the position of a manager by whatever name called and whether under a contract of service or not:

(10) "memorandum" means the memorandum of association of a company as originally framed or as altered in pursuance of the provisions of this Act:

(11) "officer" includes any director, manager or secretary but, save in sections 235, 236, and 237, does not include an auditor.

(12) "prescribed" means, as respects the provisions of this Act relating to the rules made by the High Court, and as respects the other provisions of this Act, prescribed by the Governor General in Council:

(13) "private company" means a company which

(i) by its articles—

(a) restricts the right to transfer its shares; and

(b) limits the number of its members (exclusive of persons who are in the employ of the company) to fifty; and

(c) prohibits any invitation to the public to subscribe for any shares or debentures of the company: and

(ii) continues to observe such restrictions, limitations and prohibitions:

Provided that where two or more persons hold one or more shares in a company jointly they shall, for the purposes of this definition, be considered as a single member:

(14) "prospectus" means any prospectus, notice, circular, advertisement or other invitation, offering to the public for subscription or purchase any shares or debentures of a company:

(15) "the registrar" means a registrar or assistant registrar performing under this Act the duty of registration of companies: and (16) "share" means share in the share capital of the company, and includes stock except when a distinction between stock and shares is expressed or implied.

Jurisdiction of the Courts.

3. (1) The Court having jurisdiction under this Act shall be the High Court having jurisdiction in the place at which the registered office of the company is situate:

Provided that the Local Government may, by notification in the local official Gazette and subject to such restrictions and conditions as it thinks fit, empower any District Court to exercise all or any of the jurisdiction by this Act conferred upon the Court, and in that case such District Court shall, as regards the jurisdiction so conferred, be the Court in respect of all companies having their registered offices in the district.

(2) For the purposes of jurisdiction to wind up companies, the expression 'registered office' means the place which has longest been the registered office of the company during the six months immediately preceding the presentation of the petition for winding up.

(3) Nothing in this section shall invalidate a proceeding by reason of its being taken in a wrong Court.

PART II.

CONSTITUTION AND INCORPORATION.

Prohibition of partnerships exceeding certain number.

4. (1) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than ten persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part II.—Constitution and Incorporation.—Sections 5-11.)

company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other Act of the Governor General in Council, or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

(2) No company, association or partnership consisting of more than twenty persons shall be formed for the purpose of carrying on any other business that has for its object the acquisition of gain by the company, association or partnership, or by the individual members thereof, unless it is registered as a company under this Act, or is formed in pursuance of an Act of Parliament or some other Act of the Governor General in Council or of Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

Memorandum of Association.

Mode of forming incorporated company.

5. Any seven or more persons (or, where the company to be formed will be a private company, any two or more persons) associated for any lawful purpose may, by subscribing their names to a memorandum of association and otherwise complying with the requirements of this Act in respect of registration, form an incorporated company, with or without limited liability (that is to say), either—

(i) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to the amount, if any, unpaid on the shares respectively held by them (in this Act termed a company limited by shares) ; or

(ii) a company having the liability of its members limited by the memorandum to such amount as the members may respectively thereby undertake to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up (in this Act termed a company limited by guarantee) ; or

(iii) a company not having any limit on the liability of its members (in this Act termed an unlimited company).

Memorandum of company limited by shares.

6. In the case of a company limited by shares—

(1) the memorandum shall state—

(i) the name of the company, with "Limited" as the last word in its name ;

(ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate ;

(iii) the objects of the company ;

(iv) that the liability of the members is limited ;

(v) the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered, and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount :

(2) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share :

(3) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Memorandum of company limited by guarantee.

7. In the case of a company limited by guarantee—

(1) the memorandum shall state—

(i) the name of the company, with "Limited" as the last word in its name ;

(ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate ;

(iii) the objects of the company ;

(iv) that the liability of the members is limited ;

(v) that each member undertakes to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up while he is a member, or within one year afterwards, for payment of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before he ceases to be a member, and of the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, such amount as may be required, not exceeding a specified amount :

(2) if the company has a share capital—

(i) the memorandum shall also state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered and the division thereof into shares of a fixed amount ;

(ii) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share ;

(iii) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Memorandum of unlimited company.

8. In the case of an unlimited company—

(1) the memorandum shall state—

(i) the name of the company ;

(ii) the province in which the registered office of the company is to be situate ;

(iii) the objects of the company ;

(2) if the company has a share capital—

(i) no subscriber of the memorandum shall take less than one share ;

(ii) each subscriber shall write opposite to his name the number of shares he takes.

Signature of memorandum.

9. The memorandum shall be signed by each subscriber in the presence of at least one witness who shall attest the signature.

Restriction on alteration of memorandum.

10. A company shall not alter the conditions contained in its memorandum except in the cases and in the mode and to the extent for which express provision is made in this Act.

Name of company and change of name.

11. (1) A company shall not be registered by a name identical with that by which a company in existence is already registered, or so nearly resembling that name as to be calculated to deceive, except where the company in existence is in the course of being dissolved and signifies its consent in such manner as the registrar requires.

(2) If a company, through inadvertence or otherwise, is, without such consent as aforesaid, registered by a name identical with that by which a company in existence is previously registered, or so nearly resembling it as to be calculated to deceive, the first-mentioned company may, with the sanction of the registrar, change its name.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part II.—Constitution and Incorporation.—Sections 12-16.)

(3) A company shall not be registered by a name which contains any of the following words, namely:—"Crown", "Emperor", "Empire", "Empress", "Imperial", "King", "Queen", "Royal", or words expressing or implying the sanction, approval or patronage of the Crown or the Government of India or a Local Government, except where the Governor General in Council signifies his consent to the use of such words as part of the name of the company by order in writing under the hand of one of the Secretaries to the Government of India:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to companies registered before the commencement of this Act.

(4) Any company may, by special resolution and subject to the approval of the Local Government signified in writing, under the hand of one of the Secretaries to such Government, change its name.

(5) Where a company changes its name, the registrar shall enter the new name on the register in place of the former name, and shall issue a certificate of incorporation altered to meet the circumstances of the case. On the issue of such a certificate, the change of name shall be complete.

(6) The change of name shall not affect any rights or obligations of the company, or render defective any legal proceedings by or against the company; and any legal proceedings that might have been continued or commenced against it by its former name may be continued or commenced against it by its new name.

Alteration of memorandum.

12. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, a company may, by special resolution, alter the provisions of its memorandum so as to change the place of the registered office from one province to another, or with respect to the objects of the company, so far as may be required to enable it—

(a) to carry on its business more economically or more efficiently; or

(b) to attain its main purpose by new or improved means; or

(c) to enlarge or change the local area of its operations; or

(d) to carry on some business which under existing circumstances may conveniently or advantageously be combined with the business of the company; or (e) to restrict or abandon any of the objects specified in the memorandum.

(2) The alteration shall not take effect until and except in so far as it is confirmed by the Court on petition.

(3) Before confirming the alteration, the Court must be satisfied—

(a) that sufficient notice has been given to every holder of debentures of the company, and to any persons or class of persons whose interests will, in the opinion of the Court, be affected by the alteration; and

(b) that, with respect to every creditor who in the opinion of the Court is entitled to object and who signifies his objection in manner directed by the Court, either his consent to the alteration has been obtained or his debt or claim has been discharged or has determined, or has been secured to the satisfaction of the Court:

Provided that the Court may, in the case of any person or class, for special reasons, dispense with the notice required by this section.

Power of Court when confirming alteration.

13. The Court may make an order confirming the alteration either wholly or in part, and on such terms and conditions as it thinks fit, and may make such order as to costs as it thinks proper.

Exercise of discretion by Court.

14. The Court shall, in exercising its discretion under sections 12 and 13, have regard to the rights and interests of the members of the company or of any class of them, as well as to the rights and interest of the creditors, and may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the proceedings in order that an arrangement may be made to the satisfaction of the Court for the purchase of the interests of dissentient members; and may give such directions and make such orders as it may think expedient for facilitating or carrying into effect any such arrangement:

Provided that no part of the capital of the company may be expended in any such purchase.

Procedure on confirmation of the alteration.

15. (1) A certified copy of the order confirming the alteration, together with a printed copy of the memorandum as altered, shall, within three months from the date of the order, be filed by the company with the registrar, and he shall register the same, and shall certify the registration under his hand, and the certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to the alteration and the confirmation thereof have been complied with, and thenceforth the memorandum so altered shall be the memorandum of the company.

(2) Where the alteration involves a transfer of the registered office from one province to another, a certified copy of the order confirming such change shall be filed by the company with the registrar in each of such provinces, and each of such registrars shall register the same, and shall certify under his hand the registration thereof, and the registrar for the province from which such office is transferred shall send to the registrar for the other province all documents relating to the company registered or filed in his office.

(3) The Court may by order at any time extend the time for the filing of documents with the registrar under this section for such period as the Court thinks proper.

Effect of failure to register within three months.

16. No such alteration shall have any operation until registration thereof has been duly effected in accordance with the provisions of section 15, and if such registration is not effected within three months next after the date of the order of the Court confirming the alteration, or within such further time as may be allowed by the Court in accordance with the proviproceedings connected therewith shall, at the expiration of such period of three months or such further time, as the case may be, become absolutely null and void :

Provided that the Court may, on sufficient cause shown, revive the order on application made within a further period of one month.

Articles of Association.

Registration of articles.

17. (1) There may, in the case of a company limited by shares, and there shall, in the case of a company limited by guarantee or unlimited, be registered with the memorandum, articles of association signed by the subscribers to the memorandum and prescribing regulations for the company.

(2) Articles of association may adopt all or any of the regulations contained in Table A in the First Schedule.

(3) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, the articles, if the company has a share capital, shall state the amount of share capital with which the company proposes to be registered.

(4) In the case of an unlimited company or a company limited by guarantee, if the company has not a share capital, the articles shall state the number of members with which the company proposes to be registered, for the purpose of enabling the registrar to determine the fees payable on registration.

Application of Table A

18. In the case of a company limited by shares and registered after the commencement of this Act, if articles are not registered, or, if articles are registered, in so far as the articles do not exclude or modify the regulations in Table A in the First Schedule, those regulations shall, so far as applicable, be the regulations of the company in the same manner and to the same extent as if they were contained in duly registered articles.

Form and signature of articles.

19. Articles shall—

(a) be printed ;

(b) be divided into paragraphs numbered consecutively ; and

(c) be signed by each subscriber of the memorandum of association in the presence of at least one witness who must attest the signature.

Alteration of articles by special resolution

20. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act and to the conditions contained in its memorandum, a company may by special resolution alter or add to its articles ; and any alteration or addition so made shall be as valid as if originally contained in the articles, and be subject in like manner to alteration by special resolution.

(2) The power of altering articles under this section shall, in the case of any company formed and registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, extend to altering any provisions in Table B annexed to Act XIX of 1857, and shall also, in the case of an unlimited company formed and registered under the said Acts or either of them, extend to altering any regulations relating to the amount of capital or its distribution into shares, notwithstanding that those regulations are contained in the memorandum.

General Provisions.

Effect of memorandum and articles

21. (1) The memorandum and articles shall, when registered, bind the company and the members thereof to the same extent as if they respectively had been signed by each member and contained a covenant on the part of each member, his heirs, and legal representatives, to observe all the provisions of the memorandum and of the articles, subject to the provisions of this Act.

(2) All money payable by any member to the company under the memorandum or articles shall be a debt due from him to the company.

Registration of memorandum and articles

22. The memorandum and the articles (if any) shall be filed with the registrar for the province in which the registered office of the company is stated by the memorandum to be situate, and he shall retain and register them.

Effect of registration.

23. (1) On the registration of the memorandum of a company, the registrar shall certify under his hand that the company is incorporated, and in the case of a limited company that the company is limited.

(2) From the date of incorporation mentioned in the certificate of incorporation, the subscribers of the memorandum, together with such other persons as may from time to time become members of the company, shall be a body corporate by the name contained in the memorandum, capable forthwith of exercising all the functions of an incorporated company, and having perpetual succession and a common seal, but with such liability on the part of the members to contribute to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up as is mentioned in this Act.

Conclusiveness of certificate of incorporation

24. (1) A certificate of incorporation given by the registrar in respect of any association shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act in respect of registration and of matters precedent and incidental thereto have been complied with, and that the association is a company authorised to be registered and duly registered under this Act.

(2) A declaration by an advocate, attorney or pleader entitled to appear before a High Court who is engaged in the formation of a company, or by a person named in the articles as a director, manager or secretary of the company, of compliance with all or any of the said requirements shall be filed with the registrar, and the registrar may accept such a declaration as sufficient evidence of compliance.

Copies of memorandum and articles to be given to members

25. (1) Every company shall send to every member, at his request, and on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may prescribe, a copy of the memorandum and of the articles (if any).

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable for each offence to a fine not exceeding ten rupees.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part II.—Constitution and Incorporation.—Sections 26-32.)

Associations not for Profit.

Power to dispense with "Limited" in name of charitable and other companies.

26. (1) Where it is proved to the satisfaction of the Local Government that an association capable of being formed as a limited company has been or is about to be formed for promoting commerce, art, science, charity, or any other useful object, and applies or intends to apply its profits (if any) or other income in promoting its objects, and to prohibit the payment of any dividend to its members, the Local Government may, by license under the hand of one of its Secretaries, direct that the association be registered as a company with limited liability, without the addition of the word "Limited" to its name, and the association may be registered accordingly.

(2) A license by the Local Government under this section may be granted on such conditions and subject to such regulations as the Local Government thinks fit, and those conditions and regulations shall be binding on the association, and shall, if the Local Government so directs, be inserted in the memorandum and articles, or in one of those documents.

(3) The association shall on registration enjoy all the privileges of limited companies, and be subject to all their obligations, except those of using the word "Limited" as any part of its name, and of publishing its name, and of filing lists of members and directors and managers with the registrar.

(4) A license under this section may at any time be revoked by the Local Government, and upon revocation the registrar shall enter the word "Limited" at the end of the name of the association upon the register, and the association shall cease to enjoy the exemptions and privileges granted by this section :

Provided that, before a license is so revoked, the Local Government shall give to the association notice in writing of its intention, and shall afford the association an opportunity of submitting a representation in opposition to the revocation.

Companies limited by Guarantee.

Provisions as to companies limited by guarantee.

27. (1) In the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, and registered after the commencement of this Act, every provision in the memorandum or articles or in any resolution of the company purporting to give any person a right to participate in the divisible profits of the company otherwise than as a member shall be void.

(2) For the purpose of the provisions of this Act relating to the memorandum of a company limited by guarantee and of this section, every provision in the memorandum or articles, or in any resolution, of any company limited by guarantee and registered after the commencement of this Act, purporting to divide the undertaking of the company into shares or interests, shall be treated as a provision for a share capital, notwithstanding that the nominal amount or number of [illegible]

PART III.

SHARE CAPITAL, REGISTRATION OF UNLIMITED COMPANY AS LIMITED AND UNLIMITED LIABILITY OF DIRECTORS.

Distribution of Share Capital.

Nature of shares.

28. (1) The shares or other interest of any member in a company shall be moveable property, transferable in manner provided by the articles of the company.

(2) Each share in a company having a share capital shall be distinguished by its appropriate number.

Certificate of shares or stock.

29. A certificate, under the common seal of the company, specifying any shares or stock held by any member, shall be prima facie evidence of the title of the member to the shares or stock therein specified.

Definition of member.

30. (1) The subscribers of the memorandum of a company shall be deemed to have agreed to become members of the company, and on its registration shall be entered as members in its register of members.

(2) Every other person who agrees to become a member of a company, and whose name is entered in its register of members, shall be a member of the company.

Register of members.

31. (1) Every company shall keep in one or more books a register of its members, and enter therein the following particulars :—

(i) the names and addresses, and the occupations, if any, of the members, and, in the case of a company having a share capital, a statement of the shares held by each member, distinguishing each share by its number, and of the amount paid or agreed to be considered as paid on the shares of each member ;

(ii) the date at which each person was entered in the register as a member ;

(iii) the date at which any person ceased to be a member.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues ; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Annual list of members and summary.

32. (1) Every company having a share capital shall once at least in every year make a list of all persons who on the day of the first or only ordinary general meeting in the year, are members of the company, and of all persons who have ceased to be members since the date of the last return or (in the case of the first return) of the incorporation of the company

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part III.—Share Capital, Registration of Unlimited Company as Limited and Unlimited Liability of Directors.—Sections 32-38.)

(2) The list shall state the names, addresses, and occupations of all the past and present members therein mentioned, and the number of shares held by each of the existing members at the date of the return, specifying shares transferred since the date of the last return or (in the case of the first return) of the incorporation of the company by persons who are still members and persons who have ceased to be members respectively and the dates of registration of the transfers, and shall contain a summary distinguishing between shares issued for cash and shares issued as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and specifying the following particulars : —

(a) the amount of the share capital of the company, and the number of the shares into which it is divided ;

(b) the number of shares taken from the commencement of the company up to the date of the return ;

(c) the amount called up on each share ;

(d) the total amount of calls received ;

(e) the total amount of calls unpaid ;

(f) the total amount of the sums if any paid by way of commission in respect of any shares or debentures, or allowed by way of discount in respect of any debentures, since the date of the last return ;

(g) the total number of shares forfeited ;

(h) the total amount of shares or stock for which share-warrants are outstanding at the date of the return ;

(i) the total amount of share-warrants issued and surrendered respectively since the date of the last return ;

(k) the number of shares or amount of stock comprised in each share-warrant ;

(l) the names and addresses of the persons who at the date of the return are the directors of the company and of the persons (if any) who at the said date are the managers of the company ; and

(m) the total amount of debt due from the company in respect of all mortgages and charges which are required to be registered with the registrar under this Act.

(3) The above list and summary shall be contained in a separate part of the register of members, and shall be completed within seven days after the day of the first or only ordinary general meeting in the year, and the company shall forthwith file with the registrar a copy signed by a director or by the manager or the secretary of the company, together with a certificate from such director, manager or secretary that the list and summary state the facts as they stood on the day aforesaid.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Trusts not to be entered on register.

33. No notice of any trust, expressed, implied or constructive, shall be entered on the register, or be receivable by the registrar.

Registration of transfer at request of transferor.

34. On the application of the transferor of any share or interest in a company, the company shall enter in its register of members the name of the transferee in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the application for the entry were made by the transferee.

Transfer by legal representative.

35. A transfer of the share or other interest of a deceased member of a company made by his legal representative shall, although the legal representative is not himself a member be as valid as if he had been a member at the time of the execution of the instrument of transfer.

Inspection of register of members.

36. (1) The register of members, commencing from the date of the registration of the company, shall be kept at the registered office of the company, and, except when closed under the provisions of this Act, shall during business hours (subject to such reasonable restrictions, as the company in general meeting may impose, so that not less than two hours in each day be allowed for inspection) be open to the inspection of any member gratis, and to the inspection of any other person on payment of one rupee, or such less sum as the company may prescribe, for each inspection.

(2) Any member or other person may require a copy of the register, or of any part thereof, or of the list and summary required by this Act, or any part thereof, on payment of six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(3) If any inspection or copy required under this section is refused, the company shall be liable for each refusal to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall be liable to the like penalty, and the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the register.

Power to close register.

37. A company may, on giving notice by advertisement in some newspaper circulating in the district in which the registered office of the company is situate, close the register of members for any time or times not exceeding in the whole thirty days in each year.

Power of Court to rectify register.

38. (1) If—

(a) the name of any person is fraudulently or without sufficient cause entered in or omitted from the register of members of a company ; or

(b) default is made or unnecessary delay takes place in entering on the register the fact of any person having ceased to be a member, the person aggrieved, or any member of the company, or the company, may apply to the Court for rectification of the register.

(2) The Court may either refuse the application, or may order rectification of the register and payment by the company of any damages sustained

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part III.—Share Capital, Registration of Unlimited Company as Limited and Unlimited Liability of Directors.—Sections 39-47.)

by any party aggrieved, and may make such order as to costs as it in its discretion thinks fit.

(3) On any application under this section the Court may decide any question relating to the title of any person who is a party to the application to have his name entered in or omitted from the register, whether the question arises between members or alleged members, or between members or alleged members on the one hand and the company on the other hand; and generally may decide any question necessary or expedient to be decided for rectification of the register:

Provided that the Court may direct an issue to be tried in which any question of law may be raised; and an appeal from the decision on such an issue shall lie in the manner directed by the Court of Civil Procedure, 1908, on the grounds mentioned in section 100 of that Code.

Notice to registrar of rectification of register.

39. In the case of a company required by this Act to file a list of its members with the registrar, the Court, when making an order for rectification of the register, shall, by its order, direct notice of the rectification to be filed with the registrar.

Register to be evidence.

40. The register of members shall be prima facie evidence of any matters by this Act directed or authorised to be inserted therein.

Power for company to keep branch register in the United Kingdom.

41. (1) A company having a share capital may, if so authorised by its articles, cause to be kept in the United Kingdom a branch register of members in this Act called a British register).

(2) The company shall, within one month from the date of the opening of any British register, file with the registrar notice of the situation of the office where such register is kept and, in the event of any change in the situation of such office or of its discontinuance, shall within one month from the date of such change or discontinuance, as the case may be, file notice of such change or discontinuance.

(3) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Regulations as to British register.

42. (1) A British register shall be deemed to be part of the company's register of members in this section called the principal register).

(2) It shall be kept in the same manner in which the principal register is by this Act required to be kept, except that the advertisement before closing the register shall be inserted in some newspaper circulating in the locality wherein the British register is kept.

(3) The company shall transmit to its registered office in India a copy of every entry in its British register as soon as may be after the entry is made; and shall cause to be kept at such office, duly entered up from time to time, a duplicate of its British register, and the duplicate shall, for all the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be part of the principal register.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this section with respect to the duplicate register, the shares registered in a British register shall be distinguished from the shares registered in the principal register, and no transaction with respect to any share registered in a British register shall, during the continuance of that registration, be registered in any other register.

(5) The company may discontinue to keep any British register, and thereupon all entries in that register shall be transferred to the principal register.

(6) Subject to the provisions of this Act, any company may, by its articles, make such regulations as it may think fit respecting the keeping of a British register.

Issue of share-warrants to bearer.

43. A company limited by shares, if so authorised by its articles, may, with respect to any fully paid-up shares, or to stock, issue under its common seal a warrant stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares or stock therein specified, and may provide by coupons or otherwise, for the payment of the future dividends on the shares or stock included in the warrant, in this Act termed a share-warrant.

Effect of share-warrant.

44. A share-warrant shall entitle the bearer thereof to the shares or stock therein specified, and the shares or stock may be transferred by delivery of the warrant.

Registration of name of bearer of share-warrant.

45. The bearer of a share-warrant shall, subject to the articles of the company, be entitled, on surrendering it for cancellation to have his name entered as a member in the register of members; and the company shall be responsible for any loss incurred by any person by reason of the company entering in its register the name of a bearer of a share-warrant in respect of the shares or stock therein specified without the warrant being surrendered and cancelled.

Position of bearer of share-warrant.

46. The bearer of a share-warrant may, if the articles of the company so provide, be deemed to be a member of the company within the meaning of this Act, either to the full extent or for any purposes defined in the articles, except that he shall not be qualified in respect of the shares or stock specified in the warrant for being a director or manager of the company, in cases where such a qualification is required by the articles.

Entries in register when share-warrant issued.

47. (1) On the issue of a share-warrant, the company shall strike out of its register of members the name of the member then entered therein as holding the shares or stock specified in the warrant as if he had ceased to be a member, and shall enter in the register the following particulars, namely:—

(i) the fact of the issue of the warrant;

(ii) a statement of the shares or stock included in the warrant, distinguishing each share by its number; and

(iii) the date of the issue of the warrant.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every

be divided and the amount of each share, and the amount (if any) at the date of the registration deemed to be paid up on each share, shall register the order and minute.

(2) On the registration, and not before, the resolution for reducing share capital as confirmed by the order so registered shall take effect.

(3) Notice of the registration shall be published in such manner as the Court may direct.

(4) The registrar shall certify under his hand the registration of the order and minute, and his certificate shall be conclusive evidence that all the requirements of this Act with respect to reduction of share capital have been complied with, and that the share capital of the company is such as is stated in the minute.

Minute to form part of memorandum.

62. (1) The minute when registered shall be deemed to be substituted for the corresponding part of the memorandum of the company, and shall be valid and alterable as if it had been originally contained therein, and shall be embodied in every copy of the memorandum issued after its registration.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Liability of members in respect of reduced shares.

63. (1) A member of the company, past or present, shall not be liable in respect of any share to any call or contribution exceeding in amount the difference (if any) between the amount paid, or (as the case may be) the reduced amount, if any, which is to be deemed to have been paid, on the share and the amount of the share as fixed by the minute:

Provided that, if any creditor, entitled in respect of any debt or claim to object to the reduction of share capital, is by reason of his ignorance of the proceedings for reduction, or of their nature and effect with respect to his claim not entered on the list of creditors, and, after the reduction, the company is unable, within the meaning of the provisions of this Act with respect to winding up by the Court, to pay the amount of his debt or claim, then—

(i) every person who was a member of the company at the date of the registration of the order for reduction and minute, shall be liable to contribute for the payment of that debt, or claim an amount not exceeding the amount which he would have been liable to contribute if the company had commenced to be wound up on the day before that registration; and

(ii) if the company is wound up the Court, on the application of any such creditor and proof of his ignorance as aforesaid, may, if it thinks fit, settle accordingly a list of persons so liable to contribute, and make and enforce calls and orders on the contributories settled on the list as if they were ordinary contributories in a winding up.

(2) Nothing in this section shall affect the rights of the contributories among themselves.

Penalty on concealment of name of creditor.

64. If any officer of the company wilfully conceals the name of any creditor entitled to object to the reduction, or wilfully misrepresents the nature or amount of the debt or claim of any creditor, or if any officer of the company abets any such concealment or misrepresentation as aforesaid, every such officer shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

Publication of reasons for reduction.

65. In any case of reduction of share capital, the Court may require the company to publish as the Court directs the reasons for reduction, or such other information in regard thereto as the Court may think expedient with a view to give proper information to the public, and, if the Court thinks fit, the causes which led to the reduction.

Increase and reduction of share capital in case of a company limited by guarantee having a share capital

66. A company limited by guarantee and registered after the commencement of this Act may, if it has a share capital and is so authorised by its articles, increase or reduce its share capital in the same manner and subject to the same conditions in and subject to which a company limited by shares may increase or reduce its share capital under the provisions of this Act.

Registration of Unlimited Company as Limited.

Registration of unlimited company as limited.

67. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, any company registered as unlimited may register under this Act as limited, or any company already registered as a limited company may re-register under this Act, but the registration of an unlimited company as a limited company shall not affect any debts, liabilities, obligations or contracts incurred or entered into by, to, with or on behalf of, the company before the registration, and those debts, liabilities, obligations and contracts may be enforced in manner provided by Part VIII of this Act in the case of a company registered in pursuance of that Part.

(2) On registration in pursuance of this section, the registrar shall close the former registration of the company, and may dispense with the delivery to him of copies of any documents with copies of which he was furnished on the occasion of the original registration of the company; but, save as aforesaid, the registration shall take place in the same manner and shall have effect as if it were the first registration of the company under this Act.

Power of limited company to provide for reserve share capital on registration

68. An unlimited company having a share capital may, by its resolution for registration as a limited company in pursuance of this Act, do either or both of the following things, namely:—

(a) increase the nominal amount of its share capital by increasing the nominal amount of each of its shares, but subject to the condition that no part of the amount by which its capital is so increased shall be capable of being called

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Parts III and IV—Share Capital, Registration of Unlimited Company as Limited and Unlimited Liability of Directors—Management and Administration. —Sections 69-74.)

up except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up;

(b) provide that a specified portion of its uncalled share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up.

Reserve Liability of Limited Company.

Reserve liability of limited company.

69. A limited company may by special resolution determine that any portion of its share capital which has not been already called up shall not be capable of being called up, except in the event and for the purposes of the company being wound up, and thereupon that portion of its share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event and for the purposes aforesaid.

Unlimited Liability of Directors.

Limited company may have directors with unlimited liability.

70. (1) In a limited company the liability of the directors or of any director, may, if so provided by the memorandum, be unlimited.

(2) In a limited company in which the liability of any director is unlimited, the directors of the company (if any) and the member who proposes a person for election or appointment to the office of director shall add to that proposal a statement that the liability of the person holding that office will be unlimited, and the promoters and officers of the company, or one of them, shall, before the person accepts the office or acts therein, give him notice in writing that his liability will be unlimited.

(3) If any director or proposer makes default in adding such a statement, or if any promoter or officer of the company makes default in giving such a notice, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees and shall also be liable for any damage which the person so elected or appointed may sustain from the default, but the liability of the person elected or appointed shall not be affected by the default.

Special resolution of limited company making liability of directors unlimited.

71. (1) A limited company, if so authorised by its articles, may, by special resolution, alter its memorandum so as to render unlimited the liability of its directors or of any director.

(2) Upon the confirmation of any such special resolution, the provisions thereof shall be as valid as if they had been originally contained in the memorandum, and a copy thereof shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the memorandum issued after the confirmation of the lution.

(3) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

PART IV.

MANAGEMENT AND ADMINISTRATION.

Office and Name.

Registered office of company.

72. (1) Every company shall have a registered office to which all communications and notices may be addressed.

(2) Notice in writing of the situation of the registered office, and of any change therein, shall be filed with the registrar who shall record the (3) If a company carries on business without complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which it so carries on business.

Publication of name by a limited company.

73. Every limited company—

(a) shall paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name on the outside of every office or place in which its business is carried on, in a conspicuous position, in letters easily legible and in English characters, and also, if the registered office be situate in a place beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a High Court, in the characters of one of the vernacular languages used in that place;

(b) shall have its name engraven in legible characters on its seal;

(c) shall have its name mentioned in legible English characters in all bill-heads and letter paper and in all notices, advertisements and other official publications of the company, and in all bills of exchange, hundis, promissory notes, endorsements, cheques and orders for money or goods purporting to be signed by or on behalf of the company, and in all bills of parcels, invoices, receipts and letters of credit of the company.

Penalties for non-publication of name.

74. (1) If a limited company does not paint or affix, and keep painted or affixed, its name in manner directed by this Act, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for not so painting or affixing its name, and for every day during which its name is not so kept painted or affixed, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

(2) If any officer of a limited company, or any person on its behalf, uses or authorises the use of any seal purporting to be a seal of the company whereon its name is not so engraven as aforesaid, or issues or authorises the issue of any bill-head, letter paper, notice, advertisement or other official publication of the company, or signs or authorises to be signed on behalf of the company any bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, endorsement, cheque or order for money or goods, or issues or authorises to be issued any bill of parcels, invoice, receipt or letter of credit of the company, wherein its name is not mentioned in manner aforesaid, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, and shall further be personally liable to the holder of any such bill of exchange, hundi, promissory note, cheque or order for money or goods, for the amount thereof, unless the same is duly paid by the company.

Publication of authorised as well as subscribed and paid-up capital.

75. (1) Where any notice, advertisement or other official publication of a company contains a statement of the amount of the authorised capital of the company, such notice, advertisement or other official publication shall also contain a statement in an equally prominent position and in equally conspicuous characters of the amount of the capital which has been subscribed and the amount paid up.

(2) Any company which makes default in complying with the requirements of this section and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

Meetings and Proceedings.

Annual general meeting.

76. (1) A general meeting of every company shall be held once at the least in every year, and not more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting, and, if not so held, the company and every officer of the company, who is knowingly a party to the default, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(2) When default has been made in holding a meeting of the company in accordance with the provisions of this section, the Court may, on the application of any member of the company, call or direct the calling of a general meeting of the company.

Statutory meeting of company.

77. (1) Every company limited by shares and registered after the commencement of this Act shall, within a period of six months from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business, hold a general meeting of the members of the company which shall be called the statutory meeting.

(2) The directors shall, at least ten days before the day on which the meeting is held, forward a report (in this Act called "the statutory report") to every member of the company and to every other person entitled under this Act to receive it.

(3) The statutory report shall be certified by not less than two directors of the company or, where there are less than two directors, by the sole director and shall state—

(a) the total number of shares allotted, distinguishing shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and stating in the case of shares partly paid up the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which they have been allotted;

(b) the total amount of cash received by the company in respect of all the shares allotted distinguished as aforesaid;

(c) an abstract of the receipts of the company whether from its share capital or from debentures, and of the payments made thereout, up to a date within seven days of the date of the report, exhibiting under distinctive headings the receipts of the company from shares and debentures and other sources, the payments made thereout and particulars concerning the balance remaining in hand and an account or estimate of the preliminary expenses of the company;

(d) the names, addresses and descriptions of the directors, auditors (if any), managers (if any) and secretary of the company;

(e) the particulars of any contract, the modification of which is to be submitted to the meeting for its approval, together with the particulars of the modification or proposed modification.

(4) The statutory report shall, so far as it relates to the shares allotted by the company and to the cash received in respect of such shares and to the receipts and payments of the company on capital account, be certified as correct by the auditors (if any) of the company.

(5) The directors shall cause a copy of the statutory report, certified as by this section required, to be filed with the registrar forthwith after the sending thereof to the members of the company.

(6) Every director of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits a default in complying with the provisions of sub-section (2) or sub-section (5) shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(7) The directors shall cause a list showing the names, descriptions and addresses of the members of the company, and the number of shares held by them respectively, to be produced at the commencement of the meeting, and to remain open and accessible to any member of the company during the continuance of the meeting.

(8) The members of the company present at the meeting shall be at liberty to discuss any matters relating to the formation of the company, or arising out of the statutory report, whether previous notice has been given or not, but no resolution of which notice has not been given in accordance with the articles may be passed.

(9) The meeting may adjourn from time to time, and at any adjourned meeting any resolution of which notice has been given in accordance with the articles, either before or subsequently to the former meeting, may be passed, and the adjourned meeting shall have the same powers as an original meeting.

(10) If a petition is presented to the Court in manner provided by Part V for winding up the company on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting, the Court may, instead of directing that the company be wound up, give directions for the statutory report to be filed or a meeting to be held, or make such other order as may be just.

(11) The provisions of this section as to the forwarding and filing of the statutory report shall not apply in the case of a private company

Calling of extraordinary general meeting on requisition.

78. (1) Notwithstanding anything in the articles, the directors of a company which has a share capital shall, on the requisition of the holders of not less than one-tenth of the issued share capital of the company upon which all calls or other sums then due have been paid, forthwith proceed to call an extraordinary general meeting of the company.

(2) The requisition must state the objects of the meeting, and must be signed by the requisitionists and deposited at the registered office of the company, and may consist of several documents in like form, each signed by one or more requisitionists.

(3) If the directors do not proceed within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition being so deposited to cause a meeting to be called, the requisitionists, or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting, but in either case any meeting so called shall be held within three months from the date of the deposit of the requisition.

(4) If at any such meeting a resolution requiring confirmation at another meeting is passed, the directors shall forthwith call a further extraordinary general meeting for the purpose of considering the resolution and, if thought fit, of confirming it as a special resolution and, if the directors do not call the meeting within seven days from the date of the passing of the first resolution, the requisitionists, or a majority of them in value, may themselves call the meeting.

(5) Any meeting called under this section by the requisitionists shall be called in the same manner, as nearly as possible, as that in which meetings are to be called by directors.

Provisions as to meetings and votes.

79. In default of, and subject to, any regulations in the articles,—

(i) a meeting of a company may be called by fourteen days' notice in writing, served on every member in manner in which notices are required to be served by Table A in the First Schedule;

(ii) five members may call a meeting;

(iii) any person elected by the members present at a meeting may be chairman thereof; and (iv) every member shall have one vote.

Representation of companies at meeting of other companies of which they are members.

80. A company which is a member of another company may, by resolution of the directors, authorise any of its officials or any other person to act as its representative at any meeting of that other company, and the person so authorised shall be entitled to exercise the same powers on behalf of the company which he represents as if he were an individual shareholder of that other company.

Extraordinary and special resolution.

81. (1) A resolution shall be an extraordinary resolution when it has been passed by a majority of not less than three-fourths of such members entitled to vote as are present in person or by proxy (where proxies are allowed) at a general meeting of which notice specifying the intention to propose the resolution as an extraordinary resolution has been duly given.

(2) A resolution shall be a special resolution when it has been—

(a) passed in manner required for the passing of an extraordinary resolution; and

(b) confirmed by a majority of such members entitled to vote as are present in person or by proxy (where proxies are allowed) at a subsequent general meeting, of which notice has been duly given, and held after an interval of not less than fourteen days, nor more than one month, from the date of the first meeting

(3) At any meeting at which an extraordinary resolution is submitted to be passed or a special resolution is submitted to be passed or confirmed, a declaration of the chairman on a show of hands that the resolution is carried shall, unless a poll is demanded, be conclusive evidence of the fact without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against the resolution.

(4) At any meeting at which an extraordinary resolution is submitted to be passed or a special resolution is submitted to be passed or confirmed, a poll may be demanded by three persons for the time being entitled according to the articles to vote, unless the articles of the company require a demand by such number of such persons, not in any case exceeding five, as may be specified in the articles.

(5) In a case where, if a poll is demanded, it may in accordance with the articles be taken in such manner as the chairman may direct; it may, if the chairman so directs, be taken at the meeting at which it is demanded.

(6) When a poll is demanded in accordance with this section, in computing the majority on the poll, reference shall be had to the number of votes to which each member is entitled by the articles of the company.

(7) For the purposes of this section notice of a meeting shall be deemed to be duly given and the meeting to be duly held when the notice is given and the meeting held in manner provided by the articles.

Registration and copies of special and extraordinary resolutions.

82. (1) A copy of every special and extraordinary resolution shall, within fifteen days from the confirmation of the special resolution or from the passing of the extraordinary resolution, as the case may be, be printed or typewritten and filed with the registrar who shall record the same.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 83-87.)

(2) Where articles have been registered, a copy of every special resolution for the time being in force shall be embodied in or annexed to every copy of the articles issued after the date of the resolution.

(3) Where articles have not been registered, a copy of every special resolution shall be forwarded in print to any member at his request, on payment of one rupee or such less sum as the company may direct.

(4) If a company makes default in so filing with the registrar a copy of a special or extraordinary resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(5) If a company makes default in embodying in or annexing to a copy of its articles or in forwarding in print to a member when required by this section a copy of a special resolution, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding ten rupees for each copy in respect of which default is made.

(6) Every officer of a company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits any default by the company in complying with the requirements of this section shall be liable to the like penalty as is imposed by this section on the company for that default.

Minutes of proceedings of meetings and directors.

83. (1) Every company shall cause minutes of all proceedings of general meetings and of its directors to be entered in books kept for that purpose.

(2) Any such minute, if purporting to be signed by the chairman of the meeting at which the proceedings were had, or by the chairman of the next succeeding meeting, shall be evidence of the proceedings.

(3) Until the contrary is proved, every general meeting of the company or meeting of directors in respect of the proceedings whereof minutes have been so made shall be deemed to have been duly called and held, and all proceedings had thereat to have been duly had, and all appointments of directors or liquidators shall be deemed to be valid.

Restrictions on appointment or advertisement of director.

84. (1) A person shall not be capable of being appointed director of a company by the articles, and shall not be named as a director or proposed director of a company in any prospectus issued by or on behalf of the company or in relation to any intended company or in any statement in lieu of prospectus filed by or on behalf of a company, unless, before the registration of the articles or the publication of the prospectus, or the filing of the statement in lieu of prospectus, as the case may be, he has, by himself or by his agent authorised in writing—

(i) signed and filed with the registrar a consent in writing to act as such director; and

(ii) save in the case of a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital, either signed the memorandum for a number of shares not less than his qualification (if any), or signed and filed with the registrar a contract in writing to take from the company and pay for his qualification shares (if any).

(2) On the application for registration of the memorandum and articles of a company the applicant shall file with the registrar a list of the persons who have consented to be directors of the company, and, if this list contains the name of any person who has not so consented, the applicant shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company nor to a prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company after the expiration of one year from the date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

Qualification of director.

85. (1) Without prejudice to the restrictions imposed by section 84, it shall be the duty of every director who is by the articles required to hold a specified share qualification, and who is not already qualified, to obtain his qualification within two months after his appointment, or such shorter time as may be fixed by the articles.

(2) The office of director of a company shall be vacated if the director does not, within two months from the date of his appointment, or within such shorter time as may be fixed by the articles, obtain his qualification, or if after the expiration of such period or shorter time he ceases at any time to hold his qualification; and a person vacating office under this section shall be incapable of being re-appointed director of the company until he has obtained his qualification.

(3) If, after the expiration of the said period or shorter time, any unqualified person acts as a director of the company, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day between the expiration of the said period or shorter time and the last day on which it is proved that he acted as a director.

Validity of acts of directors.

86. The acts of a director shall be valid notwithstanding any defect that may afterwards be discovered in his appointment or qualification: Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to give validity to acts done by a director after the appointment of such director has been shown to be invalid.

List of directors to be sent to registrar.

87. (1) Every company shall keep at its registered office a register containing the names and addresses and the occupations of its directors, and file with the registrar a copy thereof, and from time to time file with the registrar notice of any change among its directors or managers.

(2) If default is made in complying with this section, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default, shall be liable to the like penalty.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 88-93.)

Contracts.

Form of contracts.

88. (1) Contracts on behalf of a company may be made as follows (that is to say) :—

(i) any contract which, if made between private persons, would be by law required to be in writing, signed by the parties to be charged therewith, may be made on behalf of the company in writing signed by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged ;

(ii) any contract which, if made between private persons, would by law be valid although made by parol only, and not reduced into writing, may be made by parol on behalf of the company by any person acting under its authority, express or implied, and may in the same manner be varied or discharged.

(2) All contracts made according to this section shall be effectual in law, and shall bind the company and its successors and all other parties thereto, their heirs, or legal representatives as the case may be.

Bills of exchange and promissory notes.

89. A bill of exchange, hundi or promissory note shall be deemed to have been made, drawn, accepted or endorsed on behalf of a company if made, drawn, accepted or endorsed in the name of, or by or on behalf or on account of, the company by any person acting under its authority, express or implied.

Execution of deeds abroad.

90. A company may, by writing under its common seal, empower any person, either generally or in respect of any specified matters, as its attorney, to execute deeds on its behalf in any place not situate in British India ; and every deed signed by such attorney, on behalf of the company, and under his seal, where sealing is required, shall bind the company, and have the same effect as if it were under its common seal.

Power for company to have official seal for use abroad.

91. (1) A company whose objects require or comprise the transaction of business beyond the limits of British India may, if authorised by its articles, have for use in any territory, district or place not situate in British India, an official seal, which shall be a facsimile of the common seal of the company, with the addition on its face of the name of every territory, district or place where it is to be used.

(2) A company having such an official seal may, by writing under its common seal, authorise any person appointed for the purpose in any territory, district or place not situate in British India to affix the same to any deed or other document to which the company is party in that territory, district or place.

(3) The authority of any such agent shall, as between the company and any person dealing with the agent, continue during the period (if any) mentioned in the instrument conferring the authority, or if no period is there mentioned then until notice of the revocation or determination of the agent's authority has been given to the person dealing with him

(4) The person affixing any such official seal shall, by writing under his hand, on the deed or other document to which the seal is affixed, certify the date and place of affixing the same.

(5) A deed or other document to which an official seal is duly affixed shall bind the company as if it had been sealed with the common seal of the company.

Prospectus.

Filing of prospectus.

92. (1) Every prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company or in relation to any intended company shall be dated, and that date shall, unless the contrary be proved, be taken as the date of publication of the prospectus.

(2) A copy of every such prospectus, signed by every person who is named therein as a director or proposed director of the company, or by his agent authorised in writing, shall be filed for registration with the registrar on or before the date of its publication, and no such prospectus shall be issued until a copy thereof has been so filed for registration.

(3) The registrar shall not register any prospectus unless it is dated, and the copy thereof signed, in manner required by this section.

(4) Every prospectus shall state on the face of it that a copy has been filed for registration as required by this section.

(5) If a prospectus is issued without a copy thereof being so filed, the company, and every person who is knowingly a party to the issue of the prospectus, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day from the date of the issue of the prospectus until a copy thereof is so filed.

Specific requirements as to particulars of prospectus.

93. (1) Every prospectus issued by or on behalf of a company, or by or on behalf of any person who is or has been engaged or interested in the formation of the company, shall state—

(a) the contents of the memorandum, with the names, descriptions and addresses of the signatories and the number of shares subscribed for by them respectively ; and the number of founders or management or deferred shares (if any) and the nature and extent of the interest of the holders in the property and profits of the company ; and

(b) the number of shares (if any) fixed by the articles as the qualification of a director, and any provision in the articles as to the remuneration of the directors ; and

(c) the names, descriptions and addresses of the directors or proposed directors and of the managers or proposed managers (if any) ; and

The Indian Companies Act 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Section 94.)

(d) the minimum subscription on which the directors may proceed to allotment, and the amount payable on application and allotment on each share; and in the case of a second or subsequent offer of shares the amount offered for subscription on each previous allotment made within the two preceding years, and the amount actually allotted, and the amount (if any) paid on the shares so allotted and

(e) the number and amount of shares and debentures which within the two preceding years have been issued, or agreed to be issued, as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, and in the latter case the extent to which they are so paid up, and in either case the consideration for which those shares or debentures have been issued or agreed to be issued; and

(f) the names and addresses of the vendors of any property purchased or acquired by the company, or proposed so to be purchased or acquired, which is to be paid for wholly or partly out of the proceeds of the issue offered for subscription by the prospectus, or the purchase or acquisition of which has not been completed at the date of issue of the prospectus, and the amount payable in cash, shares or debentures to the vendor, and where there is more than one separate vendor or the company is a sub-purchaser, the amount so payable to each vendor: Provided that where the vendors or any of them are a firm, the members of the firm shall not be treated as separate vendors; and

(g) the amount (if any) paid or payable as purchase-money in cash, shares or debentures, for any such property as aforesaid, specifying the amount (if any) payable for goodwill; and

(h) the amount (if any) paid within the two preceding years or payable, as commission for subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, for any shares in, or debentures of, the company, or the rate of any such commission: Provided that it shall not be necessary to state the commission payable to sub-underwriters; and

(i) the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses; and

(k) the amount paid within the two preceding years or intended to be paid to any promoter, and the consideration for any such payment; and

(l) the dates of, and parties to, every material contract, and a reasonable time and place at which any material contract or a copy thereof may be inspected: Provided that this requirement shall not apply to a contract entered into in the ordinary course of the business carried on or intended to be carried on by the company, or to any contract entered into more than two years before the date of issue of the prospectus; and

(m) the names and addresses of the auditors (if any) of the company; and

(n) full particulars of the nature and extent of the interest (if any) of every director in the promotion of, or in the property proposed to be acquired by, the company, or, where the interest of such a director consists in being a partner in a firm, the nature and extent of the interest of the firm, with a statement of all sums paid or agreed to be paid to him or to the firm in cash or shares or otherwise by any person either to induce him to become, or to qualify him as, a director, or otherwise for services rendered by him or by the firm in connection with the promotion or formation of the company; and

(o) where the company is a company having shares of more than one class, the right of voting at meetings of the company conferred by the several classes of shares respectively.

(2) Where any such prospectus as is mentioned in this section is published as a newspaper advertisement, it shall not be necessary in the advertisement to specify the contents of the memorandum, or the signatories thereto, and the number of shares subscribed for by them.

(3) This section shall not apply to a circular or notice inviting existing members or debenture holders of a company to subscribe either for shares or for debentures of the company, whether with or without the right to renounce in favour of other persons.

(4) The requirements of this section as to the memorandum and the qualification, remuneration and interest of directors, the names, descriptions and addresses of directors or proposed directors, and of managers or proposed managers, and the amount or estimated amount of preliminary expenses, shall not apply in the case of a prospectus issued more than one year after the date at which the company is entitled to commence business.

(5) Nothing in this section shall limit or diminish any liability which any person may incur under the general law or this Act apart from this section.

Meaning of "vendor" in section 93.

94. For the purposes of section 93 every person shall be deemed to be a vendor who has entered into any contract, absolute or conditional, for the sale or purchase, or for any option of purchase, of any property to be acquired by the company, in any case where—

(a) the purchase-money is not fully paid at the date of issue of the prospectus; or

(b) the purchase-money is to be paid or satisfied wholly or in part out of the proceeds of the issue offered for subscription by the prospectus; or

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 95-100.)

(e) the contract depends for its validity or fulfilment on the result of that issue.

Application of section 93 to the case of property taken on lease.

95. Where any of the property to be acquired by the company is to be taken on lease, section 93 shall apply as if the expression "vendor" included the lessor, and the expression "purchase-money" included the consideration for the lease, and the expression "sub-purchaser" included a sub-lessee.

Invalidity of certain conditions as to waiver or notice.

96. Any condition requiring or binding any applicant for shares or debentures to waive compliance with any requirements of section 93, or purporting to affect him with notice of any contract, document or matter not specifically referred to in the prospectus, shall be void.

Saving in certain cases of non-compliance with section 93.

97. In the event of non-compliance with any of the requirements of section 93, a director or other person responsible for the prospectus shall not incur any liability by reason of the non-compliance, if he proves that—

(a) as regards any matter not disclosed, he was not cognisant thereof; or

(b) the non-compliance arose from an honest mistake of fact on his part:

Provided that, in the event of non-compliance with the requirements contained in clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 93, no such director or other person shall incur any liability in respect of the non-compliance unless it be proved that he had knowledge of the matters not disclosed.

Obligations of companies where no prospectus is issued.

98. (1) A company which does not issue a prospectus on or with reference to its formation shall not allot any of its shares or debentures unless before the first allotment of either shares or debentures there has been filed with the registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus signed by every person who is named therein as a director or a proposed director of the company or by his agent authorised in writing, in the form and containing the particulars set out in the Second Schedule.

(2) This section shall not apply to a private company or to a company which has allotted any shares or debentures before the commencement of this Act or, in so far as it relates to the allotment of shares to a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital.

Restriction on alteration of terms mentioned in prospectus or statement in lieu of prospectus.

99. A company shall not, at any time, vary the terms of a contract referred to in the prospectus or statement in lieu of prospectus, except subject to the approval of the company in general meeting.

Liability for statements in prospectus.

100. (1) Where a prospectus invites persons to subscribe for shares in or debentures of a company every person who is a director of the company at the time of the issue of the prospectus, and every person who has authorised the naming of himself and is named in the prospectus as a director or as having agreed to become a director either immediately or after an interval of time, and every promoter of the company, and every person who has authorised the issue of the prospectus, shall be liable to pay compensation to all persons who subscribe for any shares or debentures on the faith of the prospectus for all loss or damage they may have sustained by reason of any misleading or untrue statement therein, or in any report or memorandum appearing on the face thereof, or by reference incorporated therein or issued therewith, unless it is proved—

(a) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert or of a public official document or statement, that he had reasonable ground to believe and did up to the time of the allotment of the shares or debentures, as the case may be, believe that the statement fairly represented the facts or was true;

(b) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement by or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a report or valuation of an expert, that it fairly represented the statement, or was a correct and fair copy of or extract from the report or valuation: Provided that the director, person named as director, promoter or person who authorised the issue of the prospectus shall be liable to pay compensation as aforesaid if it is proved that he had no reasonable ground to believe that the person making the statement, report or valuation was competent to make it; and

(c) with respect to every misleading or untrue statement purporting to be a statement made by an official person or contained in what purports to be a copy of or extract from a public official document, that it was a correct and fair representation of the statement or copy of or extract from the document:

or unless it is proved—

(c) that having consented to become a director of the company he withdrew his consent before the issue of the prospectus, and that it was issued without his authority or consent; or

(ii) that the prospectus was issued without his knowledge or consent, and that on becoming aware of its issue, he forthwith gave a reasonable public notice that it was issued without his knowledge or consent; or

(iii) that, after the issue of the prospectus and before allotment thereunder, he, on becoming aware of any misleading or untrue statement therein, withdrew his consent thereto, and gave reasonable public notice of the withdrawal, and of the reason therefor.

(2) Where a company existing at the commencement of this Act has issued shares or debentures, and for the purpose of obtaining further capital by subscriptions for shares or debentures issues a prospectus, a director shall not be liable in respect of any statement therein, unless he has authorised the issue of the prospectus, or has adopted or ratified it.

(3) Where the prospectus contains the name of a person as a director of the company, or as having agreed to become a director thereof, and he has not consented to become a director, or has withdrawn his consent before the issue of the prospectus, and has not authorised or consented to the issue thereof, the directors of the company, except any without whose knowledge or consent the prospectus was issued, and any other person who authorised the issue thereof, shall be liable to indemnify the person named as aforesaid against all damages, costs and expenses to which he may be made liable by reason of his name having been inserted in the prospectus, or in defending himself against any suit or legal proceedings brought against him in respect thereof.

(4) Every person who, by reason of his being a director or named as a director, or as having agreed to become a director, or of his having authorised the issue of the prospectus, becomes liable to make any payment under this section, may recover contribution, as in cases of contract, from any other person who, if sued separately, would have been liable to make the same payment, unless the person who has become so liable was, and that other person was not, guilty of fraudulent misrepresentation.

(5) For the purposes of this section—

(a) the expression "promoter" means a promoter who was a party to the preparation of the prospectus, or the portion thereof containing the misleading or untrue statement, but does not include any person by reason of his acting in a professional capacity for persons engaged in procuring the formation of the company;

(b) the expression "expert" includes engineer, valuer, accountant and any other person whose profession gives authority to a statement made by him.

Allotment.

101. (1) No allotment shall be made of any share capital of a company offered to the public for subscription, unless the following conditions have been complied with, namely:—

Restriction as to allotment.

(a) the amount (if any) fixed by the memorandum or articles and named in the prospectus as the minimum subscription upon which the directors may proceed to allotment; or

(b) if no amount is so fixed and named, then the whole amount of the share capital so offered for subscription, has been subscribed, and the sum payable on application for the amount so fixed and named or for the whole amount offered for subscription, has been paid to and received in cash by the company.

(2) The amount so fixed and named and the whole amount aforesaid shall be reckoned exclusively of any amount payable otherwise than in cash, and is in this Act referred to as the minimum subscription.

(3) The amount payable on application on each share shall not be less than five per cent. of the nominal amount of the share.

(4) If the conditions aforesaid have not been complied with on the expiration of one hundred and twenty days after the first issue of the prospectus, all money received from applicants for shares shall be forthwith repaid to them without interest, and, if any such money is not so repaid within one hundred and thirty days after the issue of the prospectus, the directors of the company shall be jointly and severally liable to repay that money with interest at the rate of seven per cent. per annum from the expiration of the one hundred and thirtieth day: Provided that a director shall not be liable if he proves that the loss of the money was not due to any misconduct or negligence on his part.

(5) Any condition requiring or binding any applicant for shares to waive compliance with any requirement of this section shall be void.

(6) This section, except sub-section (3) thereof, shall not apply to any allotment of shares subsequent to the first allotment of shares offered to the public for subscription.

(7) In the case of the first allotment of share capital payable in cash of a company which does not issue any invitation to the public to subscribe for its shares, no allotment shall be made unless the minimum subscription (that is to say)—

(a) the amount (if any) fixed by the memorandum or articles and named in the statement in lieu of prospectus as the minimum subscription upon which the directors may proceed to allotment; or has been subscribed and an amount not less than five per cent. of the nominal amount of each share payable in cash has been paid to and received by the company.

(8) Sub-section (7) shall not apply to a private company or to a company which has allotted any shares or debentures before the commencement of this Act.

102. (1) An allotment made by a company to an applicant in contravention of the provisions of section 101 shall be voidable at the instance of the applicant within one month after the holding of the statutory meeting of the company and not later, and shall be so voidable notwithstanding that the company is in course of being wound up.

Effect of irregular allotment

(2) If any director of a company knowingly contravenes or permits or authorises the contravention of any of the provisions of section 101 with respect to allotment, he shall be liable to compensate the company and the allottee respectively, for any loss, damages or costs which the company or the allottee may have sustained or incurred thereby: Provided that proceedings to recover any such loss, damages or costs shall not be commenced after the expiration of two years from the date of the allotment.

103. (1) A company shall not commence any business or exercise any borrowing powers unless—

Restriction on commencement of business.

(a) shares held subject to the payment of the whole amount thereof in cash have

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 103-105.)

been allotted to an amount not less in the whole than the minimum subscription; and

(b) every director of the company has paid to the company on each of the shares taken or contracted to be taken by him, and for which he is liable to pay in cash, a proportion equal to the proportion payable on application and allotment on the shares offered for public subscription or, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, on the shares payable in cash; and

(c) there has been filed with the registrar a duly verified declaration by the secretary or one of the directors, in the prescribed form, that the aforesaid conditions have been complied with; and

(d) in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, there has been filed with the registrar a statement in lieu of prospectus.

(2) The registrar shall, on the filing of a duly verified declaration, in accordance with the provisions of this section certify that the company is entitled to commence business, and that certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the company is so entitled:

Provided that, in the case of a company which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares, the registrar shall not give such a certificate unless a statement in lieu of prospectus has been filed with him.

(3) Any contract made by a company before the date at which it is entitled to commence business shall be provisional only, and shall not be binding on the company until that date, and on that date it shall become binding.

(4) Nothing in this section shall prevent the simultaneous offer for subscription or allotment of any shares and debentures or the receipt of any money payable on application for debentures.

(5) If any company commences business or exercises borrowing powers in contravention of this section, every person who is responsible for the contravention shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the contravention continues.

(6) Nothing in this section shall apply to a private company, or to a company registered before the commencement of this Act which does not issue a prospectus inviting the public to subscribe for its shares or, in so far as its provisions relate to shares, to a company limited by guarantee and not having a share capital.

104. (1) Whenever a company having a share capital makes any allotment of its shares, the company shall, within one month thereafter,—

Return as to allotments.

(a) file with the registrar a return of the allotments, stating the number and nominal amount of the shares comprised in the allotment, the names, addresses and descriptions of the allottees, and the amount (if any) paid or due and payable on each share; and

(b) in the case of shares allotted as fully or partly paid up otherwise than in cash, produce for the inspection and examination of the registrar a contract in writing constituting the title of the allottee to the allotment together with any contract of sale, or for services or other consideration in respect of which that allotment was made, such contracts being duly stamped, and file with the registrar copies verified in the prescribed manner of all such contracts and a return stating the number and nominal amount of shares so allotted, the extent to which they are to be treated as paid up, and the consideration for which they have been allotted.

(2) Where such a contract as above-mentioned is not reduced to writing, the company shall, within one month after the allotment, file with the registrar the prescribed particulars of the contract stamped with the same stamp-duty as would have been payable if the contract had been reduced to writing, and these particulars shall be deemed to be an instrument within the meaning of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, and the registrar may, as a condition of filing the particulars, require that the duty payable thereon be adjudicated under section 31 of that Act. II of 1899

(3) If default is made in complying with the requirements of this section, every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues:

Provided that, in case of default in filing with the registrar within one month after the allotment any document required to be filed by this section, the company, or any person liable for the default, may apply to the Court for relief, and the Court, if satisfied that the omission to file the document was accidental or due to inadvertence or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may make an order extending the time for the filing of the document for such a period as the Court may think proper.

Commissions and Discounts.

105. (1) It shall be lawful for a company to pay a commission to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any shares in the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, if the payment of the commission is authorised by the articles, and the commission paid or agreed to be paid does not exceed the amount or rate so authorised and if the amount or rate per cent. of the commission paid or agreed to be paid is—

Power to pay certain commissions and prohibition of payment of all other commissions, discounts, etc.

(a) in the case of shares offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the prospectus; or

(b) in the case of shares not offered to the public for subscription, disclosed in the statement in lieu of prospectus, or in a statement in the prescribed form signed in like manner as a statement in lieu of

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 106-109.)

prospectus and filed with the registrar and, where a circular or notice, not being a prospectus inviting subscription for the shares is issued, also disclosed in that circular or notice.

(2) Save as aforesaid, no company shall apply any of its shares or capital money either directly or indirectly in payment of any commission, discount or allowance, to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any shares of the company, or procuring, or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any shares in the company, whether the shares or money be so applied by being added to the purchase-money of any property acquired by the company or to the contract price of any work to be executed for the company, or the money be paid out of the nominal purchase-money or contract price, or otherwise.

(3) Nothing in this section shall affect the power of any company to pay such brokerage as it has heretofore been lawful for a company to pay, and a vendor to, promoter of, or other person who receives payment in money or shares from, a company shall have and shall be deemed always to have had power to apply any part of the money or shares so received in payment of any commission, the payment of which, if made directly by the company, would have been legal under this section.

Statement in balance-sheet as to commissions and discounts.

106. Where a company has paid any sums by way of commission in respect of any shares or debentures, or allowed any sums by way of discount in respect of any debentures, the total amount so paid or allowed or so much thereof as has not been written off, shall be stated in every balance-sheet of the company until the whole amount thereof has been written off.

Payment of interest out of Capital.

Power of company to pay interest out of capital in certain cases.

107. Where any shares of a company are issued for the purpose of raising money to defray the expenses of the construction of any works or buildings or the provision of any plant which cannot be made profitable for a lengthened period, the company may pay interest on so much of that share capital as is for the time being paid up for the period and subject to the conditions and restrictions in this section mentioned, and may charge the same to capital as part of the cost of construction of the work or building, or the provision of plant:

Provided that—

(1) no such payment shall be made unless the same is authorised by the articles or by special resolution;

(2) no such payment, whether authorised by the articles or by special resolution, shall be made without the previous sanction of the Local Government, which sanction shall be conclusive evidence for the purposes of this section that the shares of the company, in respect of which such sanction is given, have been issued for a purpose specified in this section;

(3) before sanctioning any such payment, the Local Government may, at the expense of the company, appoint a person to inquire and report to such Local Government as to the circumstances of the case, and may, before making the appointment, require the company to give security for the payment of the costs of the inquiry;

(4) the payment shall be made only for such period as may be determined by the Local Government; and such period shall in no case extend beyond the close of the half-year next after the half-year during which the works or buildings have been actually completed or the plant provided;

(5) the rate of interest shall in no case exceed four per cent. per annum or such lower rate as the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, prescribe;

(6) the payment of the interest shall not operate as a reduction of the amount paid up on the shares in respect of which it is paid;

(7) the accounts of the company shall show the share capital on which, and the rate at which, interest has been paid out of capital during the period to which the accounts relate;

(8) nothing in this section shall affect any company to which the Indian Railway Companies Act, 1890, or the Indian Tramways Act, 1902, applies. X of 18 IV of 1

Certificates of Shares, etc.

Limitation of time for issue of certificates.

108. (1) Every company shall, within three months after the allotment of any of its shares, debentures or debenture stock, and within three months after the registration of the transfer of any such shares, debentures or debenture stock, complete and have ready for delivery the certificates of all shares, the debentures, and the certificates of all debenture stock allotted or transferred, unless the conditions of issue of the shares, debentures or debenture stock otherwise provide.

(2) If default is made in complying with the requirements of this section, the company, and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Information as to Mortgages, Charges, etc.

Certain mortgages and charges to be void if not registered.

109. Every mortgage or charge created after the commencement of this Act by a company and being either—

(a) a mortgage or charge for the purpose of securing any issue of debentures; or

(b) a mortgage or charge on uncalled share capital of the company; or

(c) a mortgage or charge on any immoveable property wherever situate, or any interest therein; or

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 109-113.)

(d) a mortgage or charge on any book debts of the company; or (e) a floating charge on the undertaking or property of the company; shall, so far as any security on the company's property or undertaking is thereby conferred, be void against the liquidator and any creditor of the company, unless the prescribed particulars of the mortgage or charge, together with the instrument (if any) by which the mortgage or charge is created or evidenced, or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner are filed with the registrar for registration in manner required by this Act within twenty-one days after the date of its creation, but without prejudice to any contract or obligation for repayment of the money thereby secured, and when a mortgage or charge becomes void under this section, the money secured thereby shall immediately become payable:

Provided that—

(i) in the case of a mortgage or charge created out of British India comprising solely property situate outside British India, twenty-one days after the date on which the instrument or copy could, in due course of post, and if despatched with due diligence, have been received in British India shall be substituted for twenty-one days after the date of the creation of the mortgage or charge, as the time within which the particulars and instrument or copy are to be filed with the registrar; and

(ii) where the mortgage or charge is created in British India but comprises property outside British India the instrument creating or purporting to create the mortgage or charge or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner may be filed for registration notwithstanding that further proceedings may be necessary to make the mortgage or charge valid or effectual according to the law of the country in which the property is situate, and

(iii) where a negotiable instrument has been given to secure the payment of any book debts of a company, the deposit of the instrument for the purpose of securing an advance to the company shall not for the purposes of this section be treated as a mortgage or charge on those book debts; and

(iv) the holding of debentures entitling the holder to a charge on immoveable property shall not be deemed to be an interest in immoveable property.

Particulars in case of series of debentures entitling holders pari passu.

110. Where a series of debentures containing, or giving by reference to any other instrument, any charge to the benefit of which the debenture-holders of that series are entitled pari passu is created by a company, it shall be sufficient for the purposes of section 109 if there are filed with the registrar within twenty-one days after the execution of the deed containing the charge or, if there is no such deed, after the execution of any debentures of the series, the following particulars:—

(a) the total amount secured by the whole series; and

(b) the dates of the resolutions authorising the issue of the series and the date of the covering deed if any by which the security is created or defined; and

(c) a general description of the property charged; and

(d) the names of the trustees (if any) for the debenture-holders;

together with the deed or a copy thereof verified in the prescribed manner containing the charge, or if there is no such deed, one of the debentures of the series, and the registrar shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter those particulars in the register:

Provided that, where more than one issue is made of debentures in the series, there shall be filed with the registrar for entry in the register particulars of the date and amount of each issue, but an omission to do this shall not affect the validity of the debentures issued.

Particulars in case of commission, etc., on debentures.

111. Where any commission, allowance or discount has been paid or made either directly or indirectly by the company to any person in consideration of his subscribing or agreeing to subscribe, whether absolutely or conditionally, for any debentures of the company, or procuring or agreeing to procure subscriptions, whether absolute or conditional, for any such debentures, the particulars required to be filed for registration under sections 109 and 110 shall include particulars as to the amount or rate per cent of the commission, discount or allowance so paid or made, but an omission to do this shall not affect the validity of the debentures issued:

Provided that the deposit of any debentures as security for any debt of the company shall not for the purposes of this provision be treated as the issue of the debentures at a discount.

Register of mortgages and charges.

112. (1) The registrar shall keep, with respect to each company a register in the prescribed form of all the mortgages and charges created by the company after the commencement of this Act and requiring registration under section 109, and shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter in the register, with respect to every such mortgage or charge, the date of creation, the amount secured by it, short particulars of the property mortgaged or charged, and the names of the mortgagees or persons entitled to the charge.

(2) After making the entry required by subsection (1), the registrar shall return the instrument (if any) or the verified copy thereof, as the case may be, filed in accordance with the provisions of section 109 or section 110 to the person filing the same.

(3) The register kept in pursuance of this section shall be open to inspection by any person on payment of the prescribed fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection.

Index to register of mortgages and charges.

113. The registrar shall keep a chronological index, in the prescribed form and with the prescribed particulars, of the mortgages or charges registered with him.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 114-122.)

114. The registrar shall give a certificate under his hand of the registration of any mortgage or charge registered in pursuance of section 109, stating the amount thereby secured, and the certificate shall be conclusive evidence that the requirements of sections 109 to 112 as to registration have been complied with.

Certificate of registration.

115. The company shall cause a copy of every certificate of registration given under section 114, to be endorsed on every debenture or certificate of debenture stock which is issued by the company, and the payment of which is secured by the mortgage or charge so registered:

Endorsement of certificate of registration on debenture or certificate of debenture stock.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be construed as requiring a company to cause a certificate of registration of any mortgage or charge so given to be endorsed on any debenture or certificate of debenture stock which has been issued by the company before the mortgage or charge was created.

116. (1) It shall be the duty of the company to file with the registrar for registration the prescribed particulars of every mortgage or charge created by the company and of the issues of debentures of a series, requiring registration under section 109, but registration of any such mortgage or charge may be effected on the application of any person interested therein.

Duty of company and right of interested party as regards registration.

(2) Where the registration is effected on the application of some person other than the company, that person shall be entitled to recover from the company the amount of any fees properly paid by him to the registrar on the registration.

117. Every company shall cause a copy of every instrument creating any mortgage or charge requiring registration under section 109, to be kept at the registered office of the company: Provided that, in the case of a series of uniform debentures, a copy of one such debenture shall be sufficient.

Copy of instrument creating mortgage or charge to be kept at registered office.

118. (1) If any person obtains an order for the appointment of a receiver of the property of a company, or appoints such a receiver under any powers contained in any instrument, he shall, within fifteen days from the date of the order or of the appointment under the powers contained in the instrument, file notice of the fact with the registrar, and the registrar shall, on payment of the prescribed fee, enter the fact in the register of mortgages and charges.

Registration of appointment of receiver.

(2) If any person makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

119. (1) Every receiver of the property of a company who has been appointed under the powers contained in any instrument, and who has taken possession, shall once in every half-year while he remains in possession, and also on ceasing to act as receiver, file with the registrar an abstract in the prescribed form of his receipts and payments during the period to which the abstract relates, and shall also on ceasing to act as receiver file with the registrar notice to that effect, and the registrar shall enter the notice in the register of mortgages and charges.

Filing of accounts of receivers.

(2) Every receiver who makes default in complying with the provisions of this section shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

120 The Court, on being satisfied that the omission to register a mortgage or charge within the time required by section 109, or that the omission or mis-statement of any particular with respect to any such mortgage or charge, was accidental, or due to inadvertence or to some other sufficient cause, or is not of a nature to prejudice the position of creditors or shareholders of the company, or that on other grounds it is just and equitable to grant relief, may, on the application of the company or any person interested, and on such terms and conditions as seem to the Court just and expedient, order that the time for registration be extended, or, as the case may be that the omission or mis-statement be rectified, and may make such order as to the costs of the application as it thinks fit.

Rectification of register of mortgages.

121. The registrar may, on evidence being given to his satisfaction that the debt for which any registered mortgage or charge was given has been paid or satisfied, order that a memorandum of satisfaction be entered on the register, and shall if required furnish the company with a copy thereof.

Entry of satisfaction.

122. (1) If any company makes default in filing with the registrar for registration the particulars—

Penalties

(a) of any mortgage or charge created by the company; or

(b) of the issues of debentures of a series, requiring registration with the registrar under the foregoing provisions of this Act, then, unless the registration has been effected on the application of some other person, the company, and every officer of the company or other person who is knowingly a party to the default, shall on conviction be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(2) Subject as aforesaid, if any company makes default in complying with any of the requirements of this Act as to the registration with the registrar of any mortgage or charge created by the company, the company, and every officer of the company, who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

(3) If any person knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the delivery of any debenture or certificate of debenture stock requiring registration with the registrar under the foregoing provisions of this Act without a copy of the certificate of registration being endorsed upon it, he shall, without prejudice to any other liability, be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 123-127.)

123. (1) Every limited company shall keep a register of mortgages and enter therein all mortgages and charges specifically affecting property of the company, giving in each case a short description of the property mortgaged or charged, the amount of the mortgage or charge and (except in the case of securities to bearer) the names of the mortgagees or persons entitled thereto.

Company's register of mortgages.

(2) If any director, manager or other officer of the company knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the omission of any entry required to be made in pursuance of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

124. (1) The copies kept at the registered office of the company in pursuance of section 117 of instruments creating any mortgage or charge requiring registration under this Act with the registrar and the register of mortgages kept in pursuance of section 123, shall be open at all reasonable times to the inspection of any creditor or member of the company without fee, and the register of mortgages shall also be open to the inspection of any other person on payment of such fee, not exceeding one rupee for each inspection, as the company may prescribe.

Right to inspect copies of instruments creating mortgages and charges and company's register of mortgages.

(2) If inspection of the said copies or register is refused, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees and a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall incur the like penalty, and in addition to the above penalty, the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the copies or register.

125. (1) Every register of holders of debentures of a company shall, except when closed in accordance with the articles during such period or periods (not exceeding in the whole thirty days in any year) as may be specified in the articles be open to the inspection of the registered holder of any such debentures, and of any holder of shares in the company, but subject to such reasonable restrictions as the company may in general meeting impose, so that at least two hours in each day are appointed for inspection, and every such holder may require a copy of the register or any part thereof on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

Right to inspect the register of debenture-holders and to have copies of trust-deed.

(2) A copy of any trust-deed for securing any issue of debentures shall be forwarded to every holder of any such debentures at his request on payment in the case of a printed trust-deed of the sum of one rupee or such less sum as may be prescribed by the company, or, where the trust-deed has not been printed, on payment of six annas for every one hundred words or fractional part thereof required to be copied.

(3) If inspection is refused, or a copy is refused or not forwarded, the company shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees, and to a further fine not exceeding twenty rupees for every day during which the refusal continues, and every officer of the company who knowingly authorises or permits the refusal shall incur the like penalty, and the Court may by order compel an immediate inspection of the register.

Debentures and Floating Charges.

126. A condition contained in any debentures or in any deed for securing any debentures, whether issued or executed before or after the passing of this Act, shall not be invalid by reason only that thereby the debentures are made irredeemable or redeemable only on the happening of a contingency, however remote, or on the expiration of a period however long.

Perpetual debentures.

127 (1) Where either before or after the commencement of this Act a company has redeemed any debentures previously issued, the company, unless the articles or the conditions of issue expressly otherwise provide, or unless the debentures have been redeemed in pursuance of any obligation on the company so to do (not being an obligation enforceable only by the person to whom the redeemed debentures were issued or his assigns) shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to keep the debentures alive for the purposes of re-issue, and where a company has purported to exercise such a power the company shall have power, and shall be deemed always to have had power, to re-issue the debentures either by re-issuing the same debentures or by issuing other debentures in their place, and upon such re-issue the person entitled to the debentures shall have, and shall be deemed always to have had, the same rights and priorities as if the debentures had not previously been issued.

Power to re-issue redeemed debentures in certain cases.

(2) Where with the object of keeping debentures alive for the purpose of re-issue they have, either before or after the commencement of this Act, been transferred to a nominee of the company, a transfer from that nominee shall be deemed to be a re-issue for the purposes of this section.

(3) Where a company has, either before or after the commencement of this Act, deposited any of its debentures to secure advances from time to time on current account or otherwise, the debentures shall not be deemed to have been redeemed by reason only of the account of the company having ceased to be in debit whilst the debentures remained so deposited.

(4) The re-issue of a debenture or the issue of another debenture in its place under the power by this section given to, or deemed to have been possessed by, a company, whether the re-issue or issue was made before or after the commencement of this Act, shall be treated as the issue of a new debenture for the purposes of stamp-duty, but it shall not be so treated for the purposes of any provision limiting the amount or number of debentures to be issued

Provided that any person lending money on the security of a debenture re-issued under this section which appears to be duly stamped may give the debenture in evidence in any proceedings for enforcing his security without payment of the stamp-duty or any penalty in respect thereof, unless he had notice or, but for his negligence, might have discovered, that the debenture was not duly stamped, but in any such case the company

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 128-134.)

shall be liable to pay the proper stamp-duty and penalty.

(5) Nothing in this section shall prejudice—

(a) the operation of any decree or order of a Court of competent jurisdiction pronounced or made before the twenty-fifth day of February, 1910, as between the parties to the proceedings in which the decree or order was made, and any appeal from any such decree or order shall be decided as if this Act had not been passed; or

(b) any power to issue debentures in the place of any debentures paid off or otherwise satisfied or extinguished, reserved to a company by its debentures or the securities for the same.

Specific performance of contract to subscribe for debentures.

128. A contract with a company to take up and pay for any debentures of the company may be enforced by a decree for specific performance.

Payments of certain debts out of assets subject to floating charge in priority to claims under the charge.

129. (1) Where either a receiver is appointed on behalf of the holders of any debentures of a company secured by a floating charge, or possession is taken by or on behalf of those debenture-holders of any property comprised in or subject to the charge, then, if the company is not at the time in course of being wound up, the debts which in every winding up are under the provisions of Part V relating to preferential payments to be paid in priority to all other debts, shall be paid forthwith out of any assets coming to the hands of the receiver or other person taking possession as aforesaid in priority to any claim for principal or interest in respect of the debentures.

(2) The periods of time mentioned in the said provisions of Part V shall be reckoned from the date of the appointment of the receiver or of possession being taken as aforesaid, as the case may be.

(3) Any payments made under this section shall be recouped, as far as may be, out of the assets of the company available for payment of general creditors.

Statements, Books and Accounts.

Company to keep proper books of account

130. Every company shall keep proper books of account in which shall be entered full, true and complete accounts of the affairs and transactions of the company.

Annual balance-sheet

131. (1) Every company shall, once at least in every year and at intervals of not more than fifteen months, cause the accounts of the company to be balanced and a balance-sheet to be prepared.

(2) The balance-sheet shall be audited by the auditor of the company as hereinafter provided, and the auditor's report shall be attached thereto, or there shall be inserted at the foot thereof a reference to the report, and the report shall be read before the company in general meeting and shall be open to inspection by any member of the company.

(3) Every company other than a private company shall send a copy of such balance-sheet so audited to the registered address of every member of the company at least seven days before the meeting at which it is to be laid before the members of the company, and shall deposit a copy at the registered office of the company for the inspection of the members of the company during a period of at least seven days before that meeting.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

Contents of balance-sheet.

132. (1) The balance-sheet shall contain a summary of the property and assets and of the capital and liabilities of the company giving such particulars as will disclose the general nature of those liabilities and assets and how the value of the fixed assets has been arrived at.

(2) The balance-sheet shall be in the form marked F in the Third Schedule or as near thereto as circumstances admit.

Authentication of balance-sheet.

133. (1) Save as provided by sub-section (2) the balance-sheet shall—

(i) in the case of a banking company, be signed by the manager (if any) and, where there are more than three directors of the company, by at least three of those directors and, where there are not more than three directors, by all the directors;

(ii) in the case of any other company, be signed by two directors or, when there are less than two directors, by the sole director and by the manager (if any) of the company.

(2) When the total number of directors of the company for the time being in British India is less than the number of directors whose signatures are required by sub-section (1), then the balance-sheet shall be signed by all the directors for the time being in British India, or, if there is only one director for the time being in British India, by such director, but in such a case there shall be subjoined to the balance-sheet a statement signed by such directors or director explaining the reason for non-compliance with the provisions of sub-section (1).

(3) If any copy of a balance-sheet which has not been signed as required by this section is issued, circulated or published, the company and every officer of the company who is knowingly a party to the default shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

Copy of balance-sheet and auditor's report to be forwarded to the registrar.

134. (1) After the balance-sheet has been laid before the company at the general meeting, a copy thereof signed by the manager or secretary of the company shall be filed with the registrar at the same time as the copy of the annual list of members and summary prepared in accordance with the requirements of section 32.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 135-139.)

(2) If the general meeting before which a balance-sheet is laid does not adopt the balance-sheet, a statement of that fact and of the reasons therefor shall be annexed to the balance-sheet and to the copy thereof required to be filed with the registrar.

(3) This section shall not apply to a private company.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, the company and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty as is provided by section 32 for a default in complying with the provisions of that section.

Right of member of company to copies of the balance-sheet and the auditor's report.

135. Save as otherwise provided in this Act, any member of a company shall be entitled to be furnished with copies of the balance-sheet and the auditor's report at a charge not exceeding six annas for every hundred words or fractional part thereof.

Statement to be published by Banking and certain other Companies.

Certain companies to publish statement in schedule.

136. (1) Every company being a limited banking company or an insurance company or a deposit, provident or benefit society shall, before it commences business, and also on the first Monday in February and the first Monday in August in every year during which it carries on business, make a statement in the form marked G in the Third Schedule, or as near thereto as circumstances will admit.

(2) A copy of the statement shall be displayed and, until the display of the next following statement, kept displayed in a conspicuous place in the registered office of the company, and in every branch office or place where the business of the company is carried on.

(3) Every member and every creditor of the company shall be entitled to a copy of the statement on payment of a sum not exceeding eight annas.

(4) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to the like penalty.

(5) This section shall not apply to a life assurance company or provident insurance society to which the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, or of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912, as the case may be, to the annual statements to be made by such company or society apply with or without modifications, if the company or society complies with those provisions.

Investigation by the Registrar.

Power of registrar to call for information or

137. (1) Where the registrar, on perusal of any document which a company is required to submit to him under the provisions of this Act, is of opinion that any information or explanation is necessary in order that such document may afford full particulars of the matter to which it purports to relate, he may, by a written order call on the company submitting the document to furnish in writing such information or explanation within such time as he may specify in his order.

(2) On the receipt of an order under sub-section (1), it shall be the duty of all persons who are or have been officers of the company to furnish such information or explanation to the best of their power.

(3) If any such person refuses or neglects to furnish any such information or explanation, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence.

(4) On receipt of such information or explanation the registrar may annex the same to the original document submitted to him; and any additional document so annexed by the registrar shall be subject to the like provisions as to inspection and the taking of copies as the original document is subject.

(5) If such information or explanation is not furnished within the specified time, or if after perusal of such information or explanation the registrar is of opinion that the document in question discloses an unsatisfactory state of affairs, or that it does not disclose a full and fair statement of the matters to which it purports to relate, the registrar shall report in writing the circumstances of the case to the Local Government.

Inspection and Audit.

Investigation of affairs of company by inspectors.

138. The Local Government may appoint one or more competent inspectors to investigate the affairs of any company and to report thereon in such manner as the Local Government may direct—

(i) in the case of a banking company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-fifth of the shares issued;

(ii) in the case of any other company having a share capital, on the application of members holding not less than one-tenth of the shares issued;

(iii) in the case of a company not having a share capital, on the application of not less than one-fifth in number of the persons on the company's register of members

(iv) in the case of any company, on a report by the registrar under section 137, sub-section (5).

Application for inspection to be supported by evidence.

139. An application by members of a company under section 138 shall be supported by such evidence as the Local Government may require for the purpose of showing that the applicants have good reason for, and are not actuated by malicious motives in, requiring the investigation; and the Local Government may, before appointing an inspector, require the applicants to give security for payment of the costs of the inquiry.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 141-144.)

140. (1) It shall be the duty of all persons who are or have been officers of the company to produce to the inspectors all books and documents in their custody or power relating to the company.

Inspection of books and examination of officers.

(2) An inspector may examine on oath any such person in relation to its business, and may administer an oath accordingly.

(3) If any person refuses to produce any book or document which under this section it is his duty to produce, or to answer any question relating to the affairs of the company, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees in respect of each offence.

141. (1) On the conclusion of the investigation the inspectors shall report their opinion to the Local Government, and a copy of the report shall be forwarded by the Local Government to the registered office of the company, and a further copy shall, at the request of the applicants for the investigation, be delivered to them.

Results of examination how dealt with.

(2) The report shall be written or printed, as the Local Government directs.

(3) All expenses of, and incidental to, the investigation shall be defrayed by the applicants unless the Local Government directs the same to be paid by the company, which the Local Government is hereby authorised to do.

142. (1) A company may by special resolution appoint inspectors to investigate its affairs.

Power of company to appoint inspectors.

(2) Inspectors so appointed shall have the same powers and duties as inspectors appointed by the Local Government, except that, instead of reporting to the Local Government, they shall report in such manner and to such persons as the company in general meeting may direct.

(3) All persons who are or have been officers of the company shall incur the like penalties in case of refusal to produce any book or document required to be produced to inspectors so appointed, or to answer any question, as they would have incurred if the inspectors had been appointed by the Local Government.

143. A copy of the report of any inspectors appointed under this Act, authenticated by the seal of the company whose affairs they have investigated, shall be admissible in any legal proceeding as evidence of the opinion of the inspectors in relation to any matter contained in the report.

Report of inspectors to be evidence.

144. (1) No person shall be appointed or act as an auditor of any company other than a private company unless he holds a certificate from the Local Government entitling him to act as an auditor of companies:

Qualifications and appointment of auditors.

Provided that the Governor General in Council may, by notification in the Gazette of India, declare that the members of any institution or association specified in such notification shall be entitled to be appointed and to act as auditors of companies throughout British India.

(2) The Local Government shall, by notification in the local official Gazette, make rules providing for the grant of certificates entitling the holders thereof to act as auditors of companies, and may by such rules provide the conditions and restrictions on and subject to which such certificate shall be granted. The holder of such a certificate shall be entitled to act as an auditor of companies throughout British India unless such certificate restricts or limits the exercise of the right.

(3) Every company shall at each annual general meeting appoint an auditor or auditors to hold office until the next annual general meeting.

(4) If an appointment of an auditor is not made at an annual general meeting, the Local Government may, on the application of any member of the company, appoint an auditor of the company for the current year, and fix the remuneration to be paid to him by the company for his services.

(5) The following persons: that is to say,

(i) a director or officer of the company; and

(ii) a partner of such director or officer; and

(iii) in the case of a company other than a private company, any person in the employment of such director or officer, shall not be appointed auditors of the company.

(6) A person, other than a retiring auditor, shall not be capable of being appointed auditor at an annual general meeting unless notice of an intention to nominate that person to the office of auditor has been given by a member of the company to the company not less than fourteen days before such annual general meeting, and the company shall send a copy of any such notice to the retiring auditor, and shall give notice thereof to its members either by advertisement or in any other mode allowed by the articles not less than seven days before the annual general meeting:

Provided that, if after notice of the intention to nominate an auditor has been given to the company, an annual general meeting is called for a date fourteen days or less after the notice has been given, the requirements of this section as to time in respect of such a notice shall be deemed to have been satisfied, and the notice to be sent or given by the company may, instead of being sent or given within the time required by this section, be sent or given at the same time as the notice of the annual general meeting.

(7) The first auditors of the company may be appointed by the directors before the statutory meeting, and if so appointed shall hold office until the first annual general meeting, unless previously removed by a resolution of the members of the company in general meeting, in which case such members at that meeting may appoint auditors.

(8) The directors may fill any casual vacancy in the office of auditor, but while any such vacancy continues, the surviving or continuing auditor or auditors (if any) may act.

(9) The remuneration of the auditors of a company shall be fixed by the company in general meeting, except that the remuneration of any auditors appointed before the statutory meeting, or to fill any casual vacancy, may be fixed by the directors.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IV.—Management and Administration.—Sections 145-153.)

145. (1) Every auditor of a company shall have a right of access at all times to the books and accounts and vouchers of the company, and shall be entitled to require from the directors and officers of the company such information and explanation as may be necessary for the performance of the duties of the auditors.

Powers and duties of auditors.

(2) The auditors shall make a report to the members of the company on the accounts examined by them, and on every balance-sheet laid before the company in general meeting during their tenure of office, and the report shall state—

(a) whether or not they have obtained all the information and explanations they have required; and

(b) whether, in their opinion, the balance-sheet referred to in the report is drawn up in conformity with the law; and

(c) whether such balance-sheet exhibits a true and correct view of the state of the company's affairs according to the best of their information and the explanations given to them, and as shown by the books of the company.

(3) In the case of a banking company, if the company has branch banks beyond the limits of India, it shall be sufficient if the auditor is allowed access to such copies of and extracts from the books and accounts of any such branch as have been transmitted to the head office of the company in British India.

146. (1) Holders of preference shares and debentures of a company shall have the same right to receive and inspect the balance-sheets of the company and the reports of the auditors and other reports as is possessed by the holders of ordinary shares in the company.

Rights of preference shareholders, etc., as to receipt and inspection of reports, etc.

(2) This section shall not apply to a private company, nor to a company registered before the commencement of this Act.

Carrying on business with less than the legal minimum of members.

147. If at any time the number of members of a company is reduced, in the case of a private company, below two, or in the case of any other company, below seven, and it carries on business for more than six months while the number is so reduced, every person who is a member of the company during the time that it so carries on business after those six months and is cognisant of the fact that it is carrying on business with fewer than two members or seven members, as the case may be, shall be severally liable for the payment of the whole debts of the company contracted during that time, and may be sued for the same without joinder in the suit of any other member.

Liability for carrying on business with fewer than seven or, in the case of a private company, two members.

Service and Authentication of Documents.

148. A document may be served on a company by leaving it at, or sending it by post to, the registered office of the company.

Service of documents on company.

149. A document may be served on the registrar by sending it to him by post, or delivering it to him, or by leaving it for him at his office.

Service of documents on registrar.

150. A document or proceeding requiring authentication by a company may be signed by a director, secretary or other authorised officer of the company, and need not be under its common seal.

Authentication of documents.

Tables, Forms and Rules as to prescribed matters.

151. (1) The forms in the Third Schedule or forms as near thereto as circumstances admit shall be used in all matters to which those forms refer.

Application and alteration of tables and forms, and power to make rules as to prescribed matters.

(2) The Governor General in Council may alter any of the tables and forms in the First Schedule, so that he does not increase the amount of fees payable to the registrar in the said Schedule mentioned, and may alter or add to the forms in the Third Schedule.

(3) Any such table or form, when altered, shall be published in the Gazette of India, and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act but no alteration made by the Governor General in Council in Table A in the First Schedule shall affect any company registered before the alteration, or repeal, as respects that company, any portion of that table.

(4) In addition to the powers hereinbefore conferred by this section, the Governor General in Council may make rules providing for all or any matters which by this Act are to be prescribed by his authority.

(5) Every such rule shall be published in the Gazette of India, and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

Arbitration and Compromise.

152. (1) A company may by written agreement refer to arbitration, in accordance with the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899, an existing or future difference between itself and any other company or person.

Power for companies to refer matters to arbitration.

IX of 1899.

(2) Companies, parties to the arbitration, may delegate to the arbitrator power to settle any terms or to determine any matter capable of being lawfully settled or determined by the companies themselves, or by their directors or other managing body.

(3) The provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899, other than those restricting the application of the Act in respect of the subject-matter of the arbitration, shall apply to all arbitrations between companies and persons in pursuance of this Act.

IX of 1899.

153. (1) Where a compromise or arrangement is proposed between a company and its creditors or any class of them, or between the company and its members or any class of them, the Court may, on the application in a summary way of the company or of any creditor or member of the company or, in the case of a company being wound up, of the liquidator, order a meeting of the creditors or class of creditors, or of the members of the company or class of members, as the case may be, to be called, held and conducted in such manner as the Court directs.

(2) If a majority in number representing three-fourths in value of the creditors or class of creditors, or members or class of members, as the case may be, present either in person or by proxy at the meeting, agree to any compromise or arrangement, the compromise or arrangement shall, if sanctioned by the Court, be binding on all the creditors or the class of creditors, or on all the members or class of members, as the case may be, and also on the company, or, in the case of a company in the course of being wound up, on the liquidator and contributories of the company.

(3) In this section the expression "company" means any company liable to be wound up under this Act.

Conversion of private company into public company.

Conversion of private into public company

154. (1) A private company may, subject to anything contained in its memorandum or articles, by a special resolution and by filing with the registrar a copy of such resolution and also such a statement in lieu of prospectus as the company, if a public company, would have had to file before allotting any of its shares or debentures, together with such a duly verified declaration as the company, if a public company, would have had to file before commencing business, turn itself into a public company.

(2) Upon the filing of the documents mentioned in sub-section (1), the registrar shall record the change in his books relating to the company

PART V.

WINDING UP.

Preliminary.

Mode of winding up.

155. (1) The winding up of a company may be either—

(i) by the Court; or

(ii) voluntary; or

(iii) subject to the supervision of the Court.

(2) The provisions of this Act with respect to winding up apply, unless the contrary appears, to the winding up of a company in any of these modes

Contributories.

Liability as contributories of present and past members.

156. (1) In the event of a company being wound up, every present and past member shall, subject to the provisions of this section, be liable to contribute to the assets of the company to an amount sufficient for payment of its debts and liabilities and the costs, charges and expenses of the winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves, with the qualifications following (that is to say):—

(i) a past member shall not be liable to contribute if he has ceased to be a member for one year or upwards before the commencement of the winding up;

(ii) a past member shall not be liable to contribute in respect of any debt or liability of the company contracted after he ceased to be a member;

(iii) a past member shall not be liable to contribute unless it appears to the Court that the existing members are unable to satisfy the contributions required to be made by them in pursuance of this Act;

(iv) in the case of a company limited by shares, no contribution shall be required from any member exceeding the amount (if any) unpaid on the shares in respect to which he is liable as a present or past member;

(v) in the case of a company limited by guarantee, no contribution shall be required from any member exceeding the amount undertaken to be contributed by him to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up;

(vi) nothing in this Act shall invalidate any provision contained in any policy of insurance or other contract whereby the liability of individual members on the policy or contract is restricted, or whereby the funds of the company are alone made liable in respect of the policy or contract;

(vii) a sum due to any member of a company in his character of a member, by way of dividends, profits or otherwise, shall not be deemed to be a debt of the company payable to that member in a case of competition between himself and any other creditor not a member of the company; but any such sum may be taken into account for the purpose of the final adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves.

(2) In the winding up of a company limited by guarantee which has a share capital, every member of the company shall be liable, in addition to the amount undertaken to be contributed by him to the assets of the company in the event of its being wound up, to contribute to the extent of any sums unpaid on any shares held by him.

Liability of directors whose liability is unlimited.

157. In the winding up of a limited company any director whether past or present, whose liability is, in pursuance of this Act, unlimited, shall, in addition to his liability (if any) to contribute as an ordinary member, be liable to make a further contribution as if he were at the commencement of the winding up a member of an unlimited company:

Provided that—

(i) a past director shall not be liable to make such further contribution if he has ceased to hold office for a year or upwards before the commencement of the winding up;

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 158-166.)

(ii) a past director shall not be liable to make such further contribution in respect of any debt or liability of the company contracted after he ceased to hold office;

(iii) subject to the articles a director shall not be liable to make such further contribution unless the Court deems it necessary to require that contribution in order to satisfy the debts and liabilities of the company, and the costs, charges and expenses of the winding up.

Meaning of "contributory."

158. The term "contributory" means every person liable to contribute to the assets of a company in the event of its being wound up, and, in all proceedings for determining and in all proceedings prior to the final determination of the persons who are to be deemed contributories, includes any person alleged to be a contributory.

Nature of liability of contributory.

159. (1) The liability of a contributory shall create a debt accruing due from him at the time when his liability commenced, but payable at the times when calls are made for enforcing the liability.

(2) No claim founded on the liability of a contributory shall be cognizable by any Court of Small Causes sitting outside the Presidency-towns.

Contributories in case of death of member.

160. (1) If a contributory dies either before or after he has been placed on the list of contributories, his legal representatives and his heirs shall be liable in a due course of administration to contribute to the assets of the company in discharge of his liability and shall be contributories accordingly.

(2) If the legal representatives or heirs make default in paying any money ordered to be paid by them, proceedings may be taken for administering the property of the deceased contributory, whether moveable or immoveable, or both, and of compelling payment thereout of the money due.

Contributories in case of insolvency of member.

161. If a contributory is adjudged insolvent either before or after he has been placed on the list of contributories, then—

(1) his assignees shall represent him for all the purposes of the winding up, and shall be contributories accordingly, and may be called on to admit to proof against the estate of the insolvent, or otherwise to allow to be paid out of his assets in due course of law, any money due from the insolvent in respect of his liability to contribute to the assets of the company; and

(2) there may be proved against the estate of the insolvent the estimated value of his liability to future calls as well as calls already made.

Winding up by Court.

Circumstances in which company may be wound up by Court.

162. A company may be wound up by the Court—

(i) if the company has by special resolution resolved that the company be wound up by the Court:

(ii) if default is made in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting:

(iii) if the company does not commence its business within a year from its incorporation, or suspends its business for a whole year:

(iv) if the number of members is reduced, in the case of a private company, below two or, in the case of any other company, below seven:

(v) if the company is unable to pay its debts:

(vi) if the Court is of opinion that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up.

Company when deemed unable to pay its debts.

163. A company shall be deemed to be unable to pay its debts—

(i) if a creditor, by assignment or otherwise, to whom the company is indebted in a sum exceeding five hundred rupees then due, has served on the company, by leaving the same at its registered office, a demand under his hand requiring the company to pay the sum so due and the company has for three weeks thereafter neglected to pay the sum, or to secure or compound for it to the reasonable satisfaction of the creditor; or

(ii) if execution or other process issued on a decree or order of any Court in favour of a creditor of the company is returned unsatisfied in whole or in part; or

(iii) if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the company is unable to pay its debts, and, in determining whether a company is unable to pay its debts, the Court shall take into account the contingent and prospective liabilities of the company.

Winding up may be referred to District Court.

164. Where the High Court makes an order for winding up a company under this Act, it may, if it thinks fit, direct all subsequent proceedings to be had in a District Court; and thereupon such District Court shall, for the purpose of winding up the company, be deemed to be "the Court" within the meaning of this Act, and shall have, for the purposes of such winding up, all the jurisdiction and powers of the High Court.

Transfer of winding up from one District Court to another.

165. If during the progress of a winding up in a District Court it is made to appear to the High Court that the same could be more conveniently prosecuted in any other District Court having jurisdiction to wind up companies, the High Court may transfer the same to such other Court, and thereupon the winding up shall proceed in such other District Court.

Provisions as to applications for winding up.

166. An application to the Court for the winding up of a company shall be by petition presented, subject to the provisions of this section, either by the company, or by any creditor or creditors (including any contingent or prospective creditor or creditors), contributory or contributories, or by all or any of those parties, together or separately :

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 167-175.)

Provided that—

(a) a contributory shall not be entitled to present a petition for winding up a company unless —

(i) either the number of members is reduced, in the case of a private company, below two, or, in the case of any other company, below seven ; or

(ii) the shares in respect of which he is a contributory or some of them either were originally allotted to him or have been held by him, and registered in his name, for at least six months during the eighteen months before the commencement of the winding up, or have devolved on him through the death of a former holder ;

(b) a petition for winding up a company on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting shall not be presented by any person except a shareholder, nor before the expiration of fourteen days after the last day on which the meeting ought to have been held ;

(c) the Court shall not give a hearing to a petition for winding up a company by a contingent or prospective creditor until such security for costs has been given as the Court thinks reasonable and until a primâ facie case for winding up has been established to the satisfaction of the Court.

167. An order for winding up a company shall operate in favour of all the creditors and of all the contributories of the company as if made on the joint petition of a creditor and of a contributory.

Effect of winding up order.

168. A winding up of a company by the Court shall be deemed to commence at the time of the presentation of the petition for the winding up.

Commencement of winding up by Court

169. The Court may, at any time after the presentation of the petition for winding up a company under this Act, and before making an order for winding up the company, upon the application of the company or of any creditor or contributory of the company, restrain further proceedings in any suit or proceeding against the company, upon such terms as the Court thinks fit

Court may grant injunction.

170. (1) On hearing the petition the Court may dismiss it with or without costs, or adjourn the hearing conditionally or unconditionally, or make any interim order or any other order that it deems just, but the Court shall not refuse to make a winding up order on the ground only that the assets of the company have been mortgaged to an amount equal to or in excess of those assets, or that the company has no assets.

Powers of Court on hearing petition.

(2) Where the petition is presented on the ground of default in filing the statutory report or in holding the statutory meeting, the Court may order the costs to be paid by any persons who, in the opinion of the Court, are responsible for the default.

171. When a winding up order has been made, no suit or other legal proceeding shall be proceeded with or commenced against the company except by leave of the Court, and subject to such terms as the Court may impose.

Suits stayed on winding up order.

172. (1) On the making of a winding up order, it shall be the duty of the company forthwith to file with the registrar a copy of the order, and the petitioner in the winding up proceedings may so file a copy.

Copy of winding up order to be filed with registrar.

(2) On the filing of a copy of a winding up order, the registrar shall make a minute thereof in his books relating to the company, and shall notify in the local official Gazette that such an order has been made.

(3) Such order shall be deemed to be notice of discharge to the servants of the company, except when the business of the company is continued.

173. The Court may at any time after an order for winding up, on the application of any creditor or contributory, and on proof to the satisfaction of the Court that all proceedings in relation to the winding up ought to be stayed, make an order staying the proceedings, either altogether or for a limited time, on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit.

Power of Court to stay winding up.

174. The Court may, as to all matters relating to a winding up, have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories as proved to it by any sufficient evidence.

Court may have regard to wishes of creditors or contributories.

Official Liquidators.

175. (1) For the purpose of conducting the proceedings in winding up a company and performing such duties in reference thereto as the Court may impose, the Court may appoint a person or persons, to be called an official liquidator or official liquidators.

Appointment of official liquidator.

(2) The Court may make such an appointment provisionally at any time after the presentation of a petition and before the making of an order for winding up.

(3) If more persons than one are appointed to the office of official liquidator, the Court shall declare whether any act by this Act required or authorised to be done by the official liquidator is to be done by all or any one or more of such persons.

(4) The Court may determine whether any, and what, security is to be given by any official liquidator on his appointment.

(5) The acts of an official liquidator shall be valid notwithstanding any defect that may afterwards be discovered in his appointment ; Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall be deemed to give validity to acts done by an official liquidator after his appointment has been shown to be invalid

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 176-183.)

(6) A receiver shall not be appointed of assets in the hands of an official liquidator.

Resignations, removals, filling up vacancies and compensation.

176. (1) Any official liquidator may resign or be removed by the Court on due cause shown.

(2) Any vacancy in the office of an official liquidator appointed by the Court shall be filled up by the Court.

(3) There shall be paid to the official liquidator such salary or remuneration, by way of percentage or otherwise, as the Court may direct; and, if more liquidators than one are appointed, such remuneration shall be distributed amongst them in such proportions as the Court directs.

Official liquidator

177. The official liquidator shall be described by the style of the official liquidator of the particular company in respect of which he is appointed, and not by his individual name.

Custody of company's property

178. (1) The official liquidator shall take into his custody, or under his control, all the property, effects and actionable claims to which the company is or appears to be entitled.

(2) If no official liquidator is appointed, or during any vacancy in such appointment, all the property of the company shall be deemed to be in the custody of the Court.

Powers of official liquidator

179. The official liquidator shall have power, with the sanction of the Court, to do the following things:—

(a) to institute or defend any suit or prosecution, or other legal proceeding, civil or criminal, in the name and on behalf of the company;

(b) to carry on the business of the company so far as may be necessary for the beneficial winding up of the same;

(c) to sell the immoveable and moveable property of the company by public auction or private contract, with power to transfer the whole thereof to any person or company, or to sell the same in parcels;

(d) to do all acts and to execute, in the name and on behalf of the company, all deeds receipts, and other documents, and for that purpose to use, when necessary, the company's seal;

(e) to prove, rank and claim in the insolvency of any contributory, for any balance against his estate, and to receive dividends in the insolvency, in respect of that balance, as a separate debt due from the insolvent, and rateably with the other separate creditors;

(f) to draw, accept, make and indorse any bill of exchange, hundi or promissory note in the name and on behalf of the company, with the same effect with respect to the liability of the company as if the bill, hundi or note had been drawn, accepted, made or indorsed by or on behalf of the company in the course of its business;

(g) to raise on the security of the assets of the company any money requisite;

(h) to take out, in his official name, letters of administration to any deceased contributory, and to do in his official name any other act necessary for obtaining payment of any money due from a contributory or his estate which cannot be conveniently done in the name of the company; and in all such cases the money due shall, for the purpose of enabling the liquidator to take out the letters of administration or recover the money, be deemed to be due to the liquidator himself: Provided that nothing herein empowered shall be deemed to affect the rights, duties and privileges of any Administrator General;

(i) to do all such other things as may be necessary for winding up the affairs of the company and distributing its assets.

Discretion of official liquidator.

180. The Court may provide by any order that the official liquidator may exercise any of the above powers without the sanction or intervention of the Court, and, where an official liquidator is provisionally appointed, may limit and restrict his powers by the order appointing him.

Provision for legal assistance to official liquidator.

181. The official liquidator may, with the sanction of the Court, appoint an advocate, attorney or pleader entitled to appear before the Court to assist him in the performance of his duties: Provided that, where the official liquidator is an attorney, he shall not appoint his partner, unless the latter consents to act without remuneration.

Official books to be kept by liquidator in winding up.

182. The official liquidator of a company which is being wound up by the Court shall keep, in manner prescribed, proper books in which he shall cause to be made entries or minutes of proceedings at meetings, and of such other matters as may be prescribed, and any creditor or contributory may, subject to the control of the Court, personally or by his agent inspect any such books.

Exercise and control of liquidator's powers.

183. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Act the official liquidator of a company which is being wound up by the Court shall, in the administration of the assets of the company and in the distribution thereof among its creditors, have regard to any directions that may be given by resolution of the creditors or contributories at any general meeting.

(2) The official liquidator may summon general meetings of the creditors or contributories for the purpose of ascertaining their wishes, and it shall be his duty to summon meetings at such times as the creditors or contributories, by resolution, may direct, or whenever requested in writing to do so by one-tenth in value of the creditors or contributories, as the case may be.

(3) The official liquidator may apply to the Court in manner prescribed for directions in relation to any particular matter arising in the winding up.

(4) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the official liquidator shall use his own discretion in the administration of the assets of the company and in the distribution thereof among the creditors.

(5) If any person is aggrieved by any act or decision of the official liquidator, that person may apply to the Court, and the Court may confirm, reverse or modify the act or decision complained of, and make such order as it thinks just in the circumstances.

Ordinary powers of Court.

Settlement of list of contributories and application of assets.

184. (1) As soon as may be after making a winding up order, the Court shall settle a list of contributories, with power to rectify the register of members in all cases where rectification is required in pursuance of this Act, and shall cause the assets of the company to be collected and applied in discharge of its liabilities.

(2) In settling the list of contributories, the Court shall distinguish between persons who are contributories in their own right and persons who are contributories as being representatives of or liable for the debts of others.

Power to require delivery of property.

185. The Court may, at any time after making a winding up order, require any contributory for the time being settled on the list of contributories and any trustee, receiver, banker, agent, or officer of the company to pay, deliver, surrender or transfer forthwith, or within such time as the Court directs, to the official liquidator any money, property or documents in his hands to which the company is prima facie entitled.

Power to order payment of debts by contributory.

186. (1) The Court may, at any time after making a winding up order, make an order on any contributory for the time being settled on the list of contributories to pay, in manner directed by the order, any money due from him or from the estate of the person whom he represents to the company exclusive of any money payable by him or the estate by virtue of any call in pursuance of this Act.

(2) The Court in making such an order may, in the case of an unlimited company, allow to the contributory by way of set-off any money due to him or to the estate which he represents from the company on any independent dealing or contract with the company, but not any money due to him as a member of the company in respect of any dividend or profit; and may, in the case of a limited company, make to any director whose liability is unlimited or to his estate the like allowance:

Provided that in the case of any company, whether limited or unlimited, when all the creditors are paid in full, any money due on any account whatever to a contributory from the company may be allowed to him by way of set-off against any subsequent call.

Power of Court to make calls.

187. (1) The Court may, at any time after making a winding up order, and either before or after it has ascertained the sufficiency of the assets of the company, make calls on and order payment thereof by all or any of the contributories for the time being settled on the list of the contributories to the extent of their liability, for payment of any money which the Court considers necessary to satisfy the debts and liabilities of the company, and the costs, charges and expenses of winding up, and for the adjustment of the rights of the contributories among themselves.

(2) In making the call the Court may take into consideration the probability that some of the contributories may partly or wholly fail to pay the call.

Power to order payment into bank.

188. The Court may order any contributory, purchaser or other person from whom money is due to the company to pay the same into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras, or the Bank of Bombay, as the case may be, or any branch thereof, respectively, to the account of the official liquidator instead of to the official liquidator, and any such order may be enforced in the same manner as if it had directed payment to the official liquidator.

Regulation of account with Court.

189. All moneys, bills, hundis, notes and other securities paid and delivered into the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras or the Bank of Bombay, or any branch thereof, respectively, in the event of a company being wound up by the Court, shall be subject in all respects to the orders of the Court.

Order on contributory conclusive evidence.

190. (1) An order made by the Court on a contributory shall (subject to any right of appeal) be conclusive evidence that the money, if any, thereby appearing to be due or ordered to be paid is due.

(2) All other pertinent matters stated in the order shall be taken to be truly stated as against all persons, and in all proceedings whatsoever.

Power to exclude creditors not proving in time.

191. The Court may fix a time or times within which creditors are to prove their debts or claims, or to be excluded from the benefit of any distribution made before those debts are proved.

Adjustment of rights of contributories.

192. The Court shall adjust the rights of the contributories among themselves, and distribute any surplus among the persons entitled thereto.

Power to order costs.

193. The Court may, in the event of the assets being insufficient to satisfy the liabilities, make an order as to the payment out of the assets of the costs, charges and expenses incurred in the winding up in such order of priority as the Court thinks just.

Dissolution of company.

194. (1) When the affairs of a company have been completely wound up, the Court shall make an order that the company be dissolved from the date of the order, and the company shall be dissolved accordingly.

(2) The order shall be reported within fifteen days of the making thereof by the official liquidator to the registrar, who shall make in his books a minute of the dissolution of the company.

(3) If the official liquidator makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which he is in default.

Extraordinary Powers of Court.

Power to summon persons suspected of having property of company.

195. (1) The Court may, after it has made a winding up order, summon before it any officer of the company or person known or suspected to have in his possession any property of the company, or supposed to be indebted to the company, or any person whom the Court deems capable of giving information concerning the trade, dealings, affairs or property of the company.

(2) The Court may examine him on oath concerning the same, either by word of mouth or on written interrogatories, and may reduce his answers to writing and require him to sign them.

(3) The Court may require him to produce any documents in his custody or power relating to the company; but, where he claims any lien on documents produced by him, the production shall be without prejudice to that lien, and the Court shall have jurisdiction in the winding up to determine all questions relating to that lien.

(4) If any person so summoned, after being tendered a reasonable sum for his expenses, refuses to come before the Court at the time appointed, not having a lawful impediment (made known to the Court at the time of its sitting, and allowed by it), the Court may cause him to be apprehended and brought before the Court for examination.

Power to order public examination of promoters, directors, etc.

196. (1) When an order has been made for winding up a company by the Court, and the official liquidator has applied to the Court stating that in his opinion a fraud has been committed by any person in the promotion or formation of the company or by any director or other officer of the company in relation to the company since its formation, the Court may, after consideration of the application, direct that any person who has taken any part in the promotion or formation of the company, or has been a director, manager or other officer of the company, shall attend before the Court on a day appointed by the Court for that purpose, and be publicly examined as to the promotion or formation or the conduct of the business of the company, or as to his conduct and dealings as director, manager or other officer thereof.

(2) The official liquidator shall take part in the examination, and for that purpose may, if specially authorised by the Court in that behalf, employ such legal assistance as may be sanctioned by the Court.

(3) Any creditor or contributory may also take part in the examination either personally or by any person entitled to appear before the Court.

(4) The Court may put such questions to the person examined as the Court thinks fit.

(5) The person examined shall be examined on oath, and shall answer all such questions as the Court may put or allow to be put to him.

(6) A person ordered to be examined under this section may at his own cost employ any person entitled to appear before the Court, who shall be at liberty to put to him such questions as the Court may deem just for the purpose of enabling him to explain or qualify any answers given by him: Provided that if he is, in the opinion of the Court, exculpated from any charges made or suggested against him, the Court may allow him such costs as in its discretion it may think fit.

(7) Notes of the examination shall be taken down in writing, and shall be read over to or by, and signed by, the person examined, and may thereafter be used in evidence against him in civil proceedings, and shall be open to the inspection of any creditor or contributory at all reasonable times.

(8) The Court may, if it thinks fit, adjourn the examination from time to time.

(9) An examination under this section may, if the Court so directs, and subject to any rules in this behalf, be held before any District Judge or before any officer of the High Court, being an official referee, master, registrar or deputy registrar, and the powers of the Court under this section as to the conduct of the examination, but not as to costs, may be exercised by the person before whom the examination is held.

Power to arrest absconding contributory.

197. The Court, at any time either before or after making a winding up order on proof of probable cause for believing that a contributory is about to quit British India or otherwise to abscond, or to remove or conceal any of his property, for the purpose of evading payment of calls or of avoiding examination respecting the affairs of the company, may cause the contributory to be arrested and his books and papers and moveable property to be seized, and him and them to be safely kept until such time as the Court may order.

Saving of other proceedings.

198. Any powers by this Act conferred on the Court shall be in addition to, and not in restriction of, any existing powers of instituting proceedings against any contributory or debtor of the company, or the estate of any contributory or debtor, for the recovery of any call or other sums.

Enforcement of and Appeal from Orders.

Power to enforce orders.

199. All orders made by a Court under this Act may be enforced in the same manner in which decrees of such Court made in any suit pending therein may be enforced.

Order made in any Court to be enforced by other Courts.

200. Any order made by a Court for or in the course of the winding up of a company shall be enforced in any place in British India other than that in which such Court is situate, by the Court that would have had jurisdiction in respect of such company if the registered office of the company had been situate at such other place, and in the same manner in all respects as if such order had been made by the Court that is hereby required to enforce the same.

Mode of dealing with orders to be enforced by other Courts.

201. Where any order made by one Court is to be enforced by another Court, a certified copy of the order so made shall be produced to the proper officer of the Court required to enforce the same, and the production of such certified copy shall be sufficient evidence of such order having been made: and thereupon the last-mentioned Court shall take the requisite steps in the matter for enforcing the order, in the same manner as if it were the order of the Court enforcing the same.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 202-209.)

Appeals from orders.

202. Re-hearings of, and appeals from, any order or decision made or given in the matter of the winding up of a company by the Court may be had in the same manner and subject to the same conditions in and subject to which appeals may be had from any order or decision of the same Court in cases within its ordinary jurisdiction.

Voluntary winding up.

Circumstances in which company may be wound up voluntarily.

203. A company may be wound up voluntarily—

(1) when the period (if any) fixed for the duration of the company by the articles expires, or the event (if any) occurs, on the occurrence of which the articles provide that the company is to be dissolved and the company in general meeting has passed a resolution requiring the company to be wound up voluntarily;

(2) if the company resolves by special resolution that the company be wound up voluntarily;

(3) if the company resolves by extraordinary resolution to the effect that it cannot by reason of its liabilities continue its business, and that it is advisable to wind up.

Commencement of voluntary winding up.

204. A voluntary winding up shall be deemed to commence at the time of the passing of the resolution authorising the winding up.

Effect of voluntary winding up on status of company.

205. When a company is wound up voluntarily, the company shall, from the commencement of the winding up, cease to carry on its business, except so far as may be required for the beneficial winding up thereof:

Provided that the corporate state and corporate powers of the company shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in its articles, continue until it is dissolved.

Notice of resolution to wind up voluntarily.

206. (1) Notice of any special resolution or extraordinary resolution for winding up a company voluntarily shall be given by the company within ten days of the passing of the same by advertisement in the local official Gazette, and also in some newspaper (if any) circulating in the district where the registered office of the company is situate.

(2) If a company makes default in complying with the requirements of this section, it shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues; and every officer of the company who knowingly and wilfully authorises or permits the default shall be liable to a like penalty.

Consequences of voluntarily winding up.

207. The following consequences shall ensue on the voluntary winding up of a company:—

(i) the assets of the company shall be applied in satisfaction of its liabilities pari passu and, subject thereto, shall, unless the articles otherwise provide, be distributed among the members according to their rights and interests in the company;

(ii) the company in general meeting shall appoint one or more liquidators for the purpose of winding up the affairs and distributing the assets of the company, and may fix the remuneration to be paid to him or them;

(iii) on the appointment of a liquidator all the powers of the directors shall cease, except so far as the company in general meeting, or the liquidator, sanctions the continuance thereof;

(iv) the liquidator may, without the sanction of the Court, exercise all powers by this Act given to the official liquidator in a winding up by the Court;

(v) the liquidator may exercise the powers of the Court under this Act of settling a list of contributories, and of making calls, and shall pay the debts of the company, and adjust the rights of the contributories among themselves;

(vi) the list of contributories shall be prima facie evidence of the liability of the persons named therein to be contributories;

(vii) when several liquidators are appointed, every power hereby given may be exercised by such one or more of them as may be determined by the company at the time of their appointment, or in default of such determination by any number not less than two;

(viii) if from any cause whatever there is no liquidator acting, the Court may, on the application of a contributory, appoint a liquidator; and

(ix) the Court may, on cause shown, remove a liquidator, and appoint another liquidator.

Notice by liquidator of his appointment.

(1) The liquidator in a voluntary winding up shall, within twenty-one days after his appointment, file with the registrar a notice of his appointment in the form prescribed.

(2) If the liquidator fails to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

Rights of creditors in a voluntary winding up.

209. (1) Every liquidator appointed by a company in a voluntary winding up shall, within seven days from his appointment, send notice by post to all persons who appear to him to be creditors of the company that a meeting of the creditors of the company will be held on a date, not being less than twenty-one days nor more than one month after his appointment, and at a place and hour, to be specified in the notice, and shall also advertise notice of the meeting once in the local official Gazette and once at least in some newspaper if any circulating in the district where the registered office or principal place of business of the company was situate.

(2) At the meeting to be held in pursuance of the foregoing provisions of this section the creditors shall determine whether an application shall be made to the Court for the appointment of any person as liquidator in the place of, or jointly with, the liquidator appointed by the company, and, if the creditors so resolve, an application may be made accordingly to the Court at any time not later than fourteen days after the date of the meeting, by any creditor appointed for the purpose at the meeting:

Provided that the Court may, by order at any time, extend the time for making an application under this sub-section for such period as the Court thinks proper.

(3) On any such application the Court may make an order either for the removal of the liquidator appointed by the company and for the appointment of some other person as liquidator or for the appointment of some other person to act as liquidator jointly with the liquidator appointed by the company, or such other order as, having regard to the interests of the creditors and contributories of the company, may seem just.

(4) The Court shall make such order as to the costs of the application as it may think fit, and, if it is of opinion that, having regard to the interests of the creditors in the liquidation, there were reasonable grounds for the application, may order the costs of the application to be paid out of the assets of the company, notwithstanding that the application is dismissed or otherwise disposed of adversely to the applicant.

210. (1) If a vacancy occurs by death, resignation or otherwise in the office of liquidator appointed by the company in a voluntary winding up the company in general meeting may, subject to any arrangement with its creditors, fill the vacancy.

Power to fill vacancy in office of liquidator.

(2) For that purpose a general meeting may be called by any contributory or, if there were more liquidators than one, by the continuing liquidators.

(3) The meeting shall be held in manner prescribed by the articles, or in such manner as may, on application by any contributory or by the continuing liquidators, be determined by the Court.

211. (1) A company about to be, or in course of being, wound up voluntarily may, by extraordinary resolution, delegate to its creditors, or to any committee of them, the power of appointing liquidators or any of them, and of supplying vacancies among the liquidators, or enter into any arrangement with respect to the powers to be exercised by the liquidators, and the manner in which they are to be exercised.

Delegation of authority to appoint liquidators.

(2) Any act done by creditors in pursuance of any such delegated power shall have the same effect as if it had been done by the company.

212. (1) Any arrangement entered into between a company about to be, or in the course of being, wound up voluntarily and its creditors shall, subject to any right of appeal under this section, be binding on the company if sanctioned by an extraordinary resolution, and on the creditors if acceded to by three-fourths in number and value of the creditors.

Arrangement when binding on creditors.

(2) Any creditor or contributory may, within three weeks from the completion of the arrangement, appeal to the Court against it, and the Court may thereupon, as it thinks just, amend, vary or confirm the arrangement.

213. (1) Where a company is proposed to be, or is in course of being, wound up altogether voluntarily, and the whole or part of its business or property is proposed to be transferred or sold to another company (in this section called the transferee company) the liquidator of the first-mentioned company (in this section called the transferor company) may, with the sanction of a special resolution of that company conferring either a general authority on the liquidator or an authority in respect of any particular arrangement, receive, in compensation or part compensation for the transfer or sale, shares, policies or other like interests in the transferee company, for distribution among the members of the transferor company, or may enter into any other arrangement whereby the members of the transferor company may, in lieu of receiving cash, shares, policies or other like interests, or in addition thereto, participate in the profits of, or receive any other benefit from, the transferee company.

Power for liquidators to accept shares, etc., as consideration for sale of property of company.

(2) Any sale or arrangement in pursuance of this section shall be binding on the members of the transferor company.

(3) If any member of the transferor company who did not vote in favour of the special resolution at either of the meetings held for passing and confirming the same expresses his dissent therefrom in writing addressed to the liquidator, and left at the registered office of the company within seven days after the confirmation of the special resolution, he may require the liquidator either to abstain from carrying the resolution into effect, or to purchase his interest at a price to be determined by agreement or by arbitration in manner hereinafter provided.

(4) If the liquidator elects to purchase the member's interest, the purchase-money must be paid before the company is dissolved, and be raised by the liquidator in such manner as may be determined by special resolution.

(5) A special resolution shall not be invalid for the purposes of this section by reason that it is passed before or concurrently with a resolution for winding up the company, or for appointing liquidators; but if an order is made within a year for winding up the company by or subject to the supervision of the Court, the special resolution shall not be valid unless sanctioned by the Court.

214. (1) The price to be paid for the purchase of the interest of any dissentient member may be determined by agreement. If the parties dispute about the same, such dispute shall be settled by arbitration.

Mode of determining price.

(2) The provisions of the Indian Arbitration Act, 1899, other than those restricting the application of the Act in respect of the subject-matter of the arbitration, shall apply to all arbitrations in pursuance of this section. IX of 1899

The Indians Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 215-224.)

215. (1) Where a company is being wound up voluntarily, the liquidator or any contributory or creditor may apply to the Court to determine any question arising in the winding up, or to exercise as respects the enforcing of calls, or any other matters, all or any of the powers which the Court might exercise if the company were being wound up by the Court.

Power to apply to Court.

(2) The Court, if satisfied that the determination of the question or the required exercise of power will be just and beneficial, may accede wholly or partially to the application on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks fit, or may make such other order on the application as the Court thinks just.

216. (1) Where a company is being wound up voluntarily, the liquidator may, from time to time, summon general meetings of the company for the purpose of obtaining the sanction of the company by special or extraordinary resolution, or for any other purposes he may think fit.

Power of liquidator to call general meeting.

(2) In the event of the winding up continuing for more than one year, the liquidator shall summon a general meeting of the company at the end of the first year from the commencement of the winding up, and of each succeeding year, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, and shall lay before the meeting a statement in the prescribed form containing the prescribed particulars with respect to the proceedings in and the position of the liquidation.

217. (1) In the case of every voluntary winding up, as soon as the affairs of the company are fully wound up, the liquidator shall make up an account of the winding up, showing how the winding up has been conducted and the property of the company has been disposed of; and thereupon shall call a general meeting of the company for the purpose of laying before it the account, and giving any explanation thereof.

Final meeting and dissolution.

(2) The meeting shall be called by advertisement, specifying the time, place and object thereof, and published one month at least before the meeting in the manner specified in section 206.

(3) Within one week after the meeting, the liquidator shall file with the registrar a return of the holding of the meeting, and of its date, and in default of so doing, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

(4) The registrar on the filing of the return shall forthwith register it, and, on the expiration of three months from the registration of the return, the company shall be deemed to be dissolved:

Provided that the Court may, on the application of the liquidator or of any other person who appears to the Court to be interested, make an order deferring the date at which the dissolution of the company is to take effect for such time as the Court thinks fit.

(5) It shall be the duty of the person on whose application an order of the Court under sub-section (4) is made, within twenty-one days after the making of the order, to file with the registrar a certified copy of the order, and if that person fails so to do, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

218. All costs, charges and expenses properly incurred in the voluntary winding up of a company including the remuneration of the liquidator, shall be payable out of the assets of the company in priority to all other claims at the date of the winding up.

Cost of voluntary liquidation.

219. The voluntary winding up of company shall not bar the right of any creditor or contributory to have it wound up by the Court, if the Court is of opinion, in the case of an application by a creditor, that the rights of the creditor or, in the case of an application by a contributory, that the rights of the contributories will be prejudiced by a voluntary winding up.

Saving for rights of creditors and contributories.

220. Where a company is being wound up voluntarily, and an order is made for winding up by the Court, the Court may, if it thinks fit, by the same or any subsequent order, provide for the adoption of all or any of the proceedings in the voluntary winding up.

Power of Court to adopt proceedings of voluntary winding up.

Winding up subject to supervision of Court.

221. When a company has by special or extraordinary resolution resolved to wind up voluntarily, the Court may make an order that the voluntary winding up shall continue, but subject to such supervision of the Court, and with such liberty for creditors, contributories or others to apply to the Court, and generally on such terms and conditions as the Court thinks just.

Power to order winding up subject to supervision

222. A petition for the continuance of a voluntary winding up subject to the supervision of the Court shall, for the purpose of giving jurisdiction to the Court over suits, be deemed to be a petition for winding up by the Court.

Effect of petition for winding up subject to supervision.

223. The Court may, in deciding between a winding up by the Court and a winding up subject to supervision, in the appointment of liquidators, and in all other matters relating to the winding up subject to supervision, have regard to the wishes of the creditors or contributories as proved to it by any sufficient evidence.

Court may have regard to wishes of creditors and contributories.

224. (1) Where an order is made for a winding up subject to supervision, the Court may by the same or any subsequent order appoint any additional liquidator.

Power for Court to appoint or remove liquidators

(2) A liquidator appointed by the Court under this section shall have the same powers, be subject to the same obligations, and in all respects stand in the same position as if he had been appointed by the company.

(3) The Court may remove any liquidator so appointed by the Court or any liquidator continued under the supervision order, and fill any vacancy occasioned by the removal, or by death or resignation

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 225-230.)

225. (1) Where an order is made for a winding up subject to supervision, the liquidator may, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Court, exercise all his powers, without the sanction or intervention of the Court, in the same manner as if the company were being wound up altogether voluntarily.

Effect of supervision order.

(2) Except as provided in sub-section (1), and save for the purposes of section 196, any order made by the Court for a winding up subject to the supervision of the Court shall for all purposes, including the staying of suits and other proceedings, be deemed to be an order of the Court for winding up the company by the Court, and shall confer full authority on the Court to make calls, or to enforce calls made by the liquidators, and to exercise all other powers which it might have exercised if an order had been made for winding up the company altogether by the Court.

(3) In the construction of the provisions whereby the Court is empowered to direct any act or thing to be done to or in favour of the official liquidator, the expression "official liquidator" shall be deemed to mean the liquidator conducting the winding up, subject to the supervision of the Court.

226. Where an order has been made for the winding up of a company subject to supervision, and an order is afterwards made for winding up by the Court, the Court may, by the last-mentioned order or by any subsequent order, appoint the voluntary liquidators or any of them, either provisionally or permanently, and either with or without the addition of any other person, to be official liquidator in the winding up by the Court.

Appointment in certain cases of voluntary liquidators to office of official liquidators.

Supplemental Provisions.

227. (1) In the case of voluntary winding up every transfer of shares, except transfers made to or with the sanction of the liquidator, and every alteration in the status of the members of the company made after the commencement of the winding up shall be void.

Avoidance of transfers, etc., after commencement of winding up.

(2) In the case of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, every disposition of the property (including actionable claims) of the company, and every transfer of shares, or alteration in the status of its members, made after the commencement of the winding up shall, unless the Court otherwise orders, be void.

228. In every winding up (subject in the case of insolvent companies to the application in accordance with the provisions of this Act of the law of insolvency) all debts payable on a contingency, and all claims against the company, present or future, certain or contingent, shall be admissible to proof against the company, a just estimate being made, so far as possible, of the value of such debts or claims as may be subject to any contingency or for some other reason do not bear a certain value.

Debts of all descriptions to be proved.

229. In the winding up of an insolvent company the same rules shall prevail and be observed with regard to the respective rights of secured and unsecured creditors and to debts provable and to the valuation of annuities and future and contingent liabilities as are in force for the time being under the law of insolvency with respect to the estates of persons adjudged insolvent; and all persons who in any such case would be entitled to prove for and receive dividends out of the assets of the company may come in under the winding up, and make such claims against the company as they respectively are entitled to by virtue of this section.

Application of insolvency rules in winding up of insolvent companies.

230. (1) In a winding up there shall be paid in priority to all other debts—

Preferential payments.

(a) all revenue, taxes, cesses and rates, whether payable to the Crown or to a local authority, due from the company at the date hereinafter mentioned and having become due and payable within the twelve months next before that date;

(b) all wages or salary of any clerk or servant in respect of service rendered to the company within the two months next before the said date, not exceeding one thousand rupees for each clerk or servant; and

(c) all wages of any labourer or workman, not exceeding five hundred rupees for each, whether payable for time or piecework, in respect of services rendered to the company within the two months next before the said date.

(2) The foregoing debts shall—

(a) rank equally among themselves and be paid in full, unless the assets are insufficient to meet them, in which case they shall abate in equal proportion; and

(b) so far as the assets of the company available for payment of general creditors are insufficient to meet them, have priority over the claims of holders of debentures under any floating charge created by the company, and be paid accordingly out of any property comprised in or subject to that charge.

(3) Subject to the retention of such sums as may be necessary for the costs and expenses of the winding up, the foregoing debts shall be discharged forthwith so far as the assets are sufficient to meet them.

(4) In the event of a landlord or other person distraining or having distrained on any goods or effects of the company within three months next before the date of a winding up order, the debts to which priority is given by this section shall be a first charge on the goods or effects so distrained on, or the proceeds of the sale thereof:

Provided that in respect of any money paid under any such charge the landlord or other person shall have the same rights of priority as the person to whom the payment is made.

(5) The date hereinbefore in this section referred to is—

(a) in the case of a company ordered to be wound up compulsorily which had not previously commenced to be wound up voluntarily, the date of the winding up order; and

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 231-237.)

(b) in any other case, the date of the commencement of the winding up.

231. (1) Any transfer, delivery of goods, payment, execution or other act relating to property which would, if made or done by or against an individual, be deemed in his insolvency a fraudulent preference, shall, if made or done by or against a company, be deemed, in the event of its being wound up, a fraudulent preference of its creditors, and be invalid accordingly.

Fraudulent preference.

(2) For the purposes of this section the presentation of a petition for winding up in the case of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, and a resolution for winding up in the case of a voluntary winding up, shall be deemed to correspond with the act of insolvency in the case of an individual.

(3) Any transfer or assignment by a company of all its property to trustees for the benefit of all its creditors shall be void.

232. (1) Where any company is being wound up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, any attachment, distress or execution put in force without leave of the Court against the estate or effects of the company after the commencement of the winding up shall be void.

Avoidance of certain attachments, executions, etc.

(2) Nothing in this section applies to proceedings by the Government.

233. Where a company is being wound up a floating charge on the undertaking or property of the company created within three months of the commencement of the winding up shall, unless it is proved that the company immediately after the creation of the charge was solvent, be invalid except to the amount of any cash paid to the company at the time of, or subsequently to the creation of, and in consideration for, the charge, together with interest on that amount at the rate of five per cent. per annum.

Effect of floating charge.

234. (1) The liquidator may, with the sanction of the Court when the company is being wound up by the Court or subject to the supervision of the Court, and with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company in the case of a voluntary winding up, do the following things or any of them :—

General scheme of liquidation may be sanctioned.

(i) pay any classes of creditors in full ;

(ii) make any compromise or arrangement with creditors or persons claiming to be creditors or having or alleging themselves to have any claim, present or future, whereby the company may be rendered liable ;

(iii) compromise all calls and liabilities to calls, debts and liabilities capable of resulting in debts, and all claims, present or future, certain or contingent subsisting or supposed to subsist between the company and a contributory or alleged contributory or other debtor or person apprehending liability to the company, and all questions in any way relating to or affecting the assets or the winding up of the company, on such terms as may be agreed, and take any security for the discharge of any such call, debt, liability or claim, and give a complete discharge in respect thereof.

(2) The exercise by the liquidator of the powers of this section shall be subject to the control of the Court, and any creditor or contributory may apply to the Court with respect to any exercise or proposed exercise of any of these powers.

235. (1) Where, in the course of winding up a company, it appears that any person who has taken part in the formation or promotion of the company, or any past or present director, manager or liquidator, or any officer of the company, has misapplied or retained or become liable or accountable for any money or property of the company, or been guilty of any misfeasance or breach of trust in relation to the company, the Court may, on the application of the liquidator, or of any creditor or contributory, examine into the conduct of the promoter, director, manager, liquidator or officer, and compel him to repay or restore the money or property or any part thereof respectively with interest at such rate as the Court thinks just, or to contribute such sum to the assets of the company by way of compensation in respect of the misapplication, retainer, misfeasance or breach of trust as the Court thinks just.

Power of Court to assess damages against delinquent directors, etc.

(2) This section shall apply notwithstanding that the offence is one for which the offender may be criminally responsible.

(3) The Indian Limitation Act, 1908, shall apply to an application under this section as if such application were a suit. IX of 190

236. If any director, manager, officer or contributory of any company being wound up destroys, mutilates, alters or falsifies or fraudulently secretes any books, papers or securities, or makes, or is privy to the making of, any false or fraudulent entry in any register book of account or document belonging to the company with intent to defraud or deceive any person, he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Penalty for falsification of books

237. (1) If it appears to the Court in the course of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court that any past or present director, manager, officer or member of the company has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally responsible, the Court may, on the application of any person interested in the winding up, or of its own motion, direct the official liquidator or the liquidator (as the case may be) to prosecute for the offence, and may order the costs and expenses to be paid out of the assets of the company

Prosecution of delinquent directors, etc.

(2) If it appears to the liquidator in the course of a voluntary winding up that any past or present director, manager, officer or member of the company has been guilty of any offence in relation to the company for which he is criminally responsible, the liquidator, with the previous sanction of the Court, may prosecute the offender, and all expenses properly incurred by him in the prosecution shall be payable out of the assets of the company in priority to all other liabilities.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Sections 238-246.)

238. If any person, upon any examination upon oath authorised under this Act, or in any affidavit, deposition or solemn affirmation, in or about the winding up of any company under this Act, or otherwise in or about any matter arising under this Act, intentionally gives false evidence, he shall be liable to imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Penalty for false evidence.

239. (1) Where by this Act the Court is authorised in relation to winding up to have regard to the wishes of creditors or contributories, as proved to it by any sufficient evidence, the Court may, if it thinks fit for the purpose of ascertaining those wishes, direct meetings of the creditors or contributories to be called, held and conducted in such manner as the Court directs, and may appoint a person to act as chairman of any such meeting and to report the result thereof to the Court.

Meetings to ascertain wishes of creditors or contributories.

(2) In the case of creditors, regard shall be had to the value of each creditor's debt.

(3) In the case of contributories, regard shall be had to the number of votes conferred on each contributory by the articles.

240. Where any company is being wound up, all documents of the company and of the liquidators shall, as between the contributories of the company, be prima facie evidence of the truth of all matters purporting to be therein recorded.

Documents of company to be evidence

241. After an order for a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, the Court may make such order for inspection by creditors and contributories of the company of its documents as the Court thinks just, and any documents in the possession of the company may be inspected by creditors or contributories accordingly, but not further or otherwise.

Inspection of documents

242. (1) When a company has been wound up and is about to be dissolved, the documents of the company and of the liquidators may be disposed of as follows (that is to say :—

Disposal of documents of company

(a) in the case of a winding up by or subject to the supervision of the Court, in such way as the Court directs ;

(b) in the case of a voluntary winding up, in such way as the company by extraordinary resolution directs.

(2) After three years from the dissolution of the company, no responsibility shall rest on the company or the liquidators, or any person to whom the custody of the documents has been committed, by reason of the same not being forthcoming to any person claiming to be interested therein.

243. (1) Where a company has been dissolved, the Court may, at any time within two years of the date of the dissolution, on an application being made for the purpose by the liquidator of the company or by any other person who appears to the Court to be interested, make an order, upon such terms as the Court thinks fit, declaring the dissolution to have been void, and thereupon such proceedings may be taken as might have been taken if the company had not been dissolved.

Power of Court to declare dissolution of company void.

(2) It shall be the duty of the person on whose application the order was made, within twenty-one days after the making of the order, to file with the registrar a certified copy of the order, and if that person fails so to do, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day during which the default continues.

244. (1) Where a company is being wound up, if the winding up is not concluded within one year after its commencement, the liquidator shall, at such intervals as may be prescribed, until the winding up is concluded, file with the registrar a statement in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars with respect to the proceedings in and position of the liquidation.

Information as to pending liquidations.

(2) Any person stating himself in writing to be a creditor or contributory of the company shall be entitled, by himself or by his agent, at all reasonable times, on payment of the prescribed fee, to inspect the statement, and to receive a copy thereof or extract therefrom; but any person untruthfully so stating himself to be a creditor or contributory shall be deemed to be guilty of an offence under section 182 of the Indian Penal Code, and shall be punishable accordingly on the application of the liquidator. XLV of 1860

(3) If a liquidator fails to comply with the requirements of this section, he shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees for each day during which the default continues.

245. (1) Any affidavit required to be sworn under the provisions or for the purposes of this Part may be sworn in British India, or elsewhere within the dominions of His Majesty, before any Court, Judge or person lawfully authorised to take and receive affidavits, or in any part of India other than British India before any Court authorised or continued by the Governor General in Council, or in any place outside His Majesty's dominions before any of His Majesty's Consuls or Vice-Consuls.

Court or person before whom affidavit may be sworn.

(2) All Courts, Judges, Justices, Commissioners and persons acting judicially in British India shall take judicial notice of the seal or stamp or signature (as the case may be) of any such Court, Judge, person, Consul or Vice-Consul, attached, appended or subscribed to any such affidavit, or to any other document to be used for the purposes of this Part.

Rules.

246. (1) The High Court may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act and with the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, concerning the mode of proceedings to be had for winding up a company in such Court and in the Courts subordinate thereto, and for giving effect to the provisions hereinbefore contained as to the reduction V of 1908

Power of High Court to make rules.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part V.—Winding up.—Section 247. Part VI.—Registration Office and Fees.—Section 248.)

of the capital and the sub-division of the shares of a company.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the High Court may by such rules enable or require all or any of the powers and duties conferred and imposed on the Court by this Act, in respect of the matters following, to be exercised or performed by the official liquidator, and subject to the control of the Court, that is to say, the powers and duties of the Court in respect of—

(a) holding and conducting meetings to ascertain the wishes of creditors and contributories;

(b) settling lists of contributories and rectifying the register of members where required, and collecting and applying the assets;

(c) requiring delivery of property or documents to the liquidator;

(d) making calls;

(e) fixing a time within which debts and claims must be proved:

Provided that the official liquidator shall not, without the special leave of the Court, rectify the register of members, and shall not make any call without the special leave of the Court.

Removal of defunct Companies from Register.

Registrar may strike defunct company off register.

247. (1) Where the registrar has reasonable cause to believe that a company is not carrying on business or in operation, he shall send to the company by post a letter inquiring whether the company is carrying on business or in operation.

(2) If the registrar does not within one month of sending the letter receive any answer thereto, he shall within fourteen days after the expiration of the month send to the company by post a registered letter referring to the first letter, and stating that no answer thereto has been received and that, if an answer is not received to the second letter within one month from the date thereof, a notice will be published in the local official Gazette with a view to striking the name of the company off the register.

(3) If the registrar either receives an answer from the company to the effect that it is not carrying on business or in operation, or does not within one month after sending the second letter receive any answer, he may publish in the local official Gazette, and send to the company by post a notice that, at the expiration of three months from the date of that notice, the name of the company mentioned therein will, unless cause is shown to the contrary, be struck off the register and the company will be dissolved.

(4) If, in any case where a company is being wound up, the registrar has reasonable cause to believe either that no liquidator is acting or that the affairs of the company are fully wound up, and the returns required to be made by the liquidator have not been made for a period of six consecutive months after notice by the registrar demanding the returns has been sent by post to the company, or to the liquidator at his last known place of business, the registrar may publish in the local official Gazette and send to the company a like notice as is provided in the last preceding sub-section.

(5) At the expiration of the time mentioned in the notice the registrar may, unless cause to the contrary is previously shown by the company, strike its name off the register, and shall publish notice thereof in the local official Gazette, and, on the publication in the local official Gazette of this notice, the company shall be dissolved: Provided that the liability (if any) of every director and member of the company shall continue and may be enforced as if the company had not been dissolved.

(6) If a company or any member or creditor thereof feels aggrieved by the company having been struck off the register, the Court, on the application of the company or member or creditor, may, if satisfied that the company was at the time of the striking off carrying on business or in operation, or otherwise that it is just that the company be restored to the register, order the name of the company to be restored to the register, and thereupon the company shall be deemed to have continued in existence as if its name had not been struck off; and the Court may by the order give such directions and make such provisions as seem just for placing the company and all other persons in the same position as nearly as may be as if the name of the company had not been struck off.

(7) A letter or notice under this section may be addressed to the company at its registered office, or, if no office has been registered, to the care of some director, manager or other officer of the company, or, if there is no director, manager or other officer of the company whose name and address are known to the registrar, may be sent to each of the persons who subscribed the memorandum, addressed to him at the address mentioned in the memorandum.

PART VI.

PART VII.

APPLICATION OF ACT TO COMPANIES FORMED AND REGISTERED UNDER FORMER COMPANIES ACTS.

Application of Act to companies formed under former Companies Acts.

250. In the application of this Act to existing companies, it shall apply in the same manner in the case of a limited company, other than a company limited by guarantee, as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as a company limited by shares; in the case of a company limited by guarantee as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as a company limited by guarantee; and, in the case of a company other than a limited company, as if the company had been formed and registered under this Act as an unlimited company:

Provided that—

(1) nothing in Table A in the First Schedule shall apply to a company formed and registered under Act XIX of 1857 and Act VII of 1860, or either of them, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or the Indian Companies Act, 1882;

(2) reference, express or implied, to the date of registration shall be construed as a reference to the date at which the company was registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860, or either of them, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or the Indian Companies Act, 1882, as the case may be.

Application of Act to companies registered but not formed under former Companies Acts.

251. This Act shall apply to every company registered but not formed under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or the Indian Companies Act, 1882, in the same manner as it is hereinafter in this Act declared to apply to companies registered but not formed under this Act:

X of 1882 VI

Provided that reference, express or implied, to the date of registration shall be construed as a reference to the date at which the company was registered under the said Acts or any of them.

Mode of transferring.

252. A company registered under Act XIX of 1857 and Act VII of 1860 or either of them may cause its shares to be transferred in the manner hitherto in use, or in such other manner as the company may direct.

PART VIII.

COMPANIES AUTHORISED TO REGISTER UNDER THIS ACT.

Companies capable of being registered.

253. (1) With the exceptions and subject to the provisions mentioned and contained in this section,—

(i) any company consisting of seven or more members, which was in existence on the first day of May eighteen hundred and eighty-two, including any company registered under Act No. XIX of 1857 and Act No. VII of 1860 or either of them, and notice of its intention so to register to every person who has a banking account with the company, either by delivery of the notice to him, or by posting it to him at, or delivering it at, his last known address.

(2) If the company omits to give the notice required by this section, then as between the company and the person for the time being interested in the account in respect of which the notice ought to have been given, and so far as respects the account down to the time at which notice is given, but not further or otherwise, the certificate of registration with limited liability shall have no operation.

Exemption of certain companies from payment of fees.

260. No fees shall be charged in respect of the registration in pursuance of this Part of a company if it is not registered as a limited company, or if before its registration as a limited company the liability of the shareholders was limited by some Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council or by Letters Patent.

Addition of "Limited" to name

261. When a company registers in pursuance of this Part with limited liability, the word "Limited" shall form and be registered as part of its name.

Certificate of registration of existing companies

262. On compliance with the requirements of this Part with respect to registration, and on payment of such fees, if any, as are payable under Table B in the First Schedule, the registrar shall certify under his hand that the company applying for registration is incorporated as a company under this Act, and in the case of a limited company that it is limited, and thereupon the company shall be incorporated, and shall have perpetual succession and a common seal.

Vesting of property on registration

263. All property, moveable and immoveable, including all interests and rights in, to and out of property, moveable and immoveable, and including obligations and actionable claims as may belong to or be vested in a company at the date of its registration in pursuance of this Part, shall, on registration, pass to and vest in the company as incorporated under this Act for all the estate and interest of the company therein.

Saving of existing liabilities.

264. The registration of a company in pursuance of this Part shall not affect the rights or liabilities of the company in respect of any debt or obligation incurred or any contract entered into, by, to, with, or on behalf of, the company before registration.

Continuation of existing suits.

265. All suits and other legal proceedings which at the time of the registration of a company in pursuance of this Part are pending by or against the company, or the public officer or any member thereof, may be continued in the same manner as if the registration had not taken place; nevertheless execution shall not issue against the effects of any individual member of the company on any decree or order obtained in any such suit or proceeding; but, in the event of the property and effects of the company being insufficient to satisfy the decree or order, an order may be obtained for winding up the company.

Effect of registration under Act.

266. When a company is registered in pursuance of this Part—

(i) all provisions contained in any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnery, Letters Patent, or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, including, in the case of a company registered as a company limited by guarantee, the resolution declaring the amount of the guarantee, shall be deemed to be conditions and regulations of the company, in the same manner and with the same incidents as if so much thereof as would, if the company had been formed under this Act, have been required to be inserted in the memorandum, were contained in a registered memorandum, and the residue thereof were contained in registered articles;

(ii) all the provisions of this Act shall apply to the company and the members, contributories and creditors thereof, in the same manner in all respects as if it had been formed under this Act, subject as follows (that is to say):—

(a) the regulations in Table A in the First Schedule shall not apply unless adopted by special resolution;

(b) the provisions of this Act relating to the numbering of shares shall not apply to any joint-stock company whose shares are not numbered;

(c) subject to the provisions of this section, the company shall not have power to alter any provision contained in any Act of Parliament or Act of the Governor General in Council relating to the company;

(d) subject to the provisions of this section, the company shall not have power, without the sanction of the Governor General in Council, to alter any provision contained in any Letters Patent relating to the company;

(e) the company shall not have power to alter any provision contained in a Royal Charter or Letters Patent with respect to the objects of the company;

(f) in the event of the company being wound up, every person shall be a contributory, in respect of the debts and liabilities of the company contracted before registration, who is liable to pay or contribute to the payment of any debt or liability of the company contracted before registration, or to pay or contribute to the payment of any sum for the adjustment of the rights of the members among themselves in respect of any such debt or liability; or to pay or contribute to the payment of the costs and expenses of winding up the company, so far as relates to such debts or liabilities as aforesaid; and every contributory shall be liable to contribute to the assets of the company, in the course of the winding up, all sums due from him in respect of any such liability as aforesaid; and in the event of the death or insolvency of any contributory, the provisions of this Act with respect to the legal representatives and heirs of deceased contributories, and with reference to the assignees of insolvent contributories, shall apply;

(iii) the provisions of this Act with respect to—

(a) the registration of an unlimited company as limited;

(b) the powers of an unlimited company on registration as a limited company to increase the nominal amount of its share capital and to provide that a portion of its share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event of winding up;

(c) the power of a limited company to determine that a portion of its share capital shall not be capable of being called up except in the event of winding up;

shall apply notwithstanding any provisions contained in any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, Royal Charter, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnery, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company;

(iv) nothing in this section shall authorise the company to alter any such provisions contained in any deed of settlement, contract of co-partnery, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, as would, if the company had originally been formed under this Act, have been required to be contained in the memorandum and are not authorised to be altered by this Act;

(v) nothing in this Act shall derogate from any lawful power of altering its constitution or regulations which may by virtue of any Act of Parliament, Act of the Governor General in Council, deed of settlement, contract of co-partnery, Letters Patent or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, be vested in the company.

Power to substitute memorandum and articles for deed of settlement.

267. (1) Subject to the provisions of this section, a company registered in pursuance of this Part may by special resolution alter the form of its constitution by substituting a memorandum and articles for a deed of settlement.

(2) The provisions of this Act with respect to confirmation by the Court and registration of an alteration of the objects of a company shall, so far as applicable, apply to an alteration under this section with the following modifications:—

(a) there shall be substituted for the printed copy of the altered memorandum required to be filed with the registrar a printed copy of the substituted memorandum and articles; and,

(b) on the registration of the alteration being certified by the registrar, the substituted memorandum and articles shall apply to the company in the same manner as if it were a company registered under this Act with that memorandum and those articles, and the company's deed of settlement shall cease to apply to the company.

(3) An alteration under this section may be made either with or without any alteration of the objects of the company under this Act.

(4) In this section the expression "deed of settlement" includes any contract of co-partnery or other instrument constituting or regulating the company, not being an Act of Parliament, an Act of the Governor General in Council, a Royal Charter or Letters Patent.

Power of Court to stay or restrain proceedings.

268. The provisions of this Act with respect to staying and restraining suits and legal proceedings against a company at any time after the presentation of a petition for winding up and before the making of a winding up order shall, in the case of a company registered in pursuance of this Part, where the application to stay or restrain is by a creditor, extend to suits and legal proceedings against any contributory of the company.

Suits stayed on winding up order.

269. Where an order has been made for winding up a company registered in pursuance of this Part, no suit or other legal proceeding shall be commenced or proceeded with against the company or any contributory of the company in respect of any debt of the company, except by leave of the Court, and subject to such terms as the Court may impose.

PART IX.

WINDING UP OF UNREGISTERED COMPANIES.

Meaning of "unregistered company."

270. For the purposes of this Part, the expression "unregistered company" shall not include a railway company incorporated by Act of Parliament or by an Act of the Governor General in Council, nor a company registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1866, or under any Act repealed thereby, or under the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or under this Act, but, save as aforesaid, shall include any partnership, association or company consisting of more than seven members. X of 1866. VI of 1882.

Winding up of unregistered companies.

271. (1) Subject to the provisions of this Part, any unregistered company may be wound up under this Act, and all the provisions of this Act with respect to winding up shall apply to an unregistered company, with the following exceptions and additions:—

(i) an unregistered company shall, for the purpose of determining the Court having jurisdiction in the matter of the winding up, be deemed to be registered in the province where its principal place of business is situate or, if it has a principal place of business situate in more than one province, then in each province where it has a principal place of business; and the principal place of business situate in that province in which proceedings are being instituted shall, for all the purposes of the winding up, be deemed to be the registered office of the company;

(Part IX.—Winding up of Unregistered Companies.—Sections 271—275.)

(ii) no unregistered company shall be wound up under this Act voluntarily or subject to supervision;

(iii) the circumstances in which an unregistered company may be wound up are as follows (that is to say):—

(a) if the company is dissolved, or has ceased to carry on business or is carrying on business only for the purpose of winding up its affairs;

(b) if the company is unable to pay its debts;

(c) if the Court is of opinion that it is just and equitable that the company should be wound up;

(iv) an unregistered company shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be unable to pay its debts—

(a) if a creditor, by assignment or otherwise, to whom the company is indebted in a sum exceeding five hundred rupees then due has served on the company, by leaving at its principal place of business, or by delivering to the secretary, or some director, manager or principal officer of the company, or by otherwise serving in such manner as the Court may approve or direct, a demand under his hand requiring the company to pay the sum so due, and the company has for three weeks after the service of the demand neglected to pay the sum, or to secure or compound for it to the satisfaction of the creditor;

(b) if any suit or other legal proceeding has been instituted against any member for any debt or demand due or claimed to be due, from the company or from him in his character of member, and notice in writing of the institution of the suit or other legal proceeding having been served on the company by leaving the same at its principal place of business or by delivering it to the secretary, or some director, manager or principal officer of the company or by otherwise serving the same in such manner as the Court may approve or direct, the company has not within ten days after service of the notice paid, secured or compounded for the debt or demand, or procured the suit or other legal proceeding to be stayed or obtained satisfaction against the suit or other legal proceeding, and against all costs, damages and expenses to be incurred by him by reason of the same;

(c) if execution or other process issued on a decree or order obtained in any Court in favour of a creditor against the company, or any member thereof as such, or any person authorised to be sued as nominal defendant on behalf of the company, is returned unsatisfied; and

(d) if it is otherwise proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the company is unable to pay its debts.

(2) Nothing in this Part shall affect the operation of any enactment which provides for any partnership, association or company being wound up, or being wound up as a company or as an unregistered company, under any enactment repealed by this Act, except that references in any such first-mentioned enactment to any such repealed enactment shall be read as references to the corresponding provision (if any) of this Act.

Contributories in winding up of unregistered companies.

272. (1) In the event of an unregistered company being wound up, every person shall be deemed to be a contributory who is liable to pay or contribute to the payment of any debt or liability of the company, or to pay or contribute to the payment of any sum for the adjustment of the rights of the members among themselves, or to pay or contribute to the payment of the costs and expenses of winding up the company, and every contributory shall be liable to contribute to the assets of the company all sums due from him in respect of any such liability as aforesaid.

(2) In the event of any contributory dying or being adjudged insolvent, the provisions of this Act with respect to the legal representatives and heirs of deceased contributories, and to the assignees of insolvent contributories shall apply.

Power to stay or restrain proceedings.

273. The provisions of this Act with respect to staying and restraining suits and legal proceedings against a company at any time after the presentation of a petition for winding up and before the making of a winding up order shall in the case of an unregistered company, where the application to stay or restrain is by a creditor, extend to suits and legal proceedings against any contributory of the company.

Suits stayed on winding up order.

274. Where an order has been made for winding up an unregistered company, no suit or other legal proceeding shall be proceeded with or commenced against any contributory of the company in respect of any debt of the company, except by leave of the Court, and subject to such terms as the Court may impose.

Directions as to property in certain cases.

275. If an unregistered company has no power to sue and be sued in a common name, or if for any reason it appears expedient, the Court may by

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part IX.—Winding up of Unregistered Companies—Section 276. Part X.—Companies established outside British India.—Section 277.)

able or immoveable, including all interests and rights in, to and out of property, moveable and immoveable, and including obligations and actionable claims as may belong to the company or to trustees on its behalf, is to vest in the official liquidator by his official name, and thereupon the property or the part thereof specified in the order shall vest accordingly; and the official liquidator may, after giving such indemnity (if any) as the Court may direct, bring or defend in his official name any suit or other legal proceeding relating to that property, or necessary to be brought or defended for the purposes of effectually winding up the company and recovering its property.

Provisions of this Part cumulative.

276. The provisions of this Part with respect to unregistered companies shall be in addition to, and not in restriction of, any provisions hereinbefore in this Act contained with respect to winding up companies by the Court, and the Court or official liquidator may exercise any powers or do any act in the case of unregistered companies which might be exercised or done by it or him in winding up companies formed and registered under this Act; but an unregistered company shall not, except in the event of its being wound up, be deemed to be a company under this Act, and then only to the extent provided by this Part.

PART X.

Cognizance of offences.

278. (1) No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try any offence against this Act.

(2) If any offence which by this Act is declared to be punishable by fine only is committed by any person within the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William, Madras and Bombay, such offence shall be punishable upon summary conviction by any Presidency Magistrate of the place at which such Court is held.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, every offence against this Act shall, for the purposes of the said Code, be deemed to be non-cognizable.

Applications of fines.

279. The Court imposing any fine under this Act may direct that the whole or any part thereof be applied in or towards payment of the costs of the proceedings, or in or towards the rewarding of the person on whose information the fine is recovered.

Power to require limited company to give security for costs.

280. Where a limited company is plaintiff or petitioner in any suit or other legal proceeding, any Court having jurisdiction in the matter may, if it appears that there is reason to believe that the company will be unable to pay the costs of the defendant if successful in his defence, require sufficient security to be given for those costs, and may stay all proceedings until the security is given.

Power of Court to grant relief in certain cases.

281. If in any proceeding before any Court against a director of a company for negligence or breach of trust it appears to such Court that the director is or may be liable in respect of the negligence or breach of trust, but has acted honestly and reasonably, and ought fairly to be excused for the negligence or breach of trust, that Court may relieve him, either wholly or partly, from his liability on such terms as the Court may think proper.

Penalty for false statement.

282. Whoever in any return, report, certificate, balance-sheet or other document, required by or for the purposes of any of the provisions of this Act wilfully makes a statement false in any material particular, knowing it to be false, shall be punishable with imprisonment of either description for a term which may extend to three years, and shall also be liable to fine.

Penalty for improper use of word "Limited."

283. If any person or persons trade or carry on business under any name or title of which "Limited" is the last word, that person or those persons shall, unless duly incorporated with limited liability, be liable to a fine not exceeding fifty rupees for every day upon which that name or title has been used.

Saving of pending proceedings for winding up.

284. The provisions of this Act with respect to winding up shall not apply to any company of which the winding up has commenced before the commencement of this Act, but every such company shall be wound up in the same manner and with the same incidents as if this Act had not been passed, and, for the purposes of the winding up, the Indian Companies Act, 1882 shall be deemed to remain in full force. VI of 1882

Saving of document.

285. Every instrument of transfer or other document made before the commencement of this Act in pursuance of any enactment hereby repealed, shall be of the same force as if this Act had not been passed, and for the purposes of that instrument or document the repealed enactment shall be deemed to remain in full force.

Former registration offices, registers, and registrars continued.

286. (1) The offices existing at the commencement of this Act for registration of joint-stock companies shall be continued as if they had been established under this Act.

(2) Registers of companies kept in any such existing offices shall respectively be deemed part of the registers of companies to be kept under this Act.

(3) The existing registrars, assistant registrars and officers in those offices shall, during the pleasure of the Local Government, hold the offices and receive the salaries hitherto held and received by them but subject to any regulations of the Local Government with regard to the execution of their duties.

Savings for Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, and Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912.

287. Nothing in this Act shall affect the provisions of the Indian Life Assurance Companies Act, 1912, or of the Provident Insurance Societies Act, 1912. VI of 1912 V of 1912

Construction of "registrar of joint-stock companies" in Act XXI of 1860.

288. In sections 1 and 18 of Act No. XXI of 1860 (for the registration of Literary, Scientific and Charitable Societies), the words "registrar of joint-stock companies" shall be construed to mean the registrar under this Act.

Act not to apply to Banks of Bengal, Madras or Bombay.

289. Save as provided in sections 188 and 189, nothing in this Act shall be deemed to apply to the Bank of Bengal, the Bank of Madras and the Bank of Bombay.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(Part XI.—Supplemental.—Section 290.—The First Schedule.)

290. (1) The enactments mentioned in the Fourth Schedule are hereby repealed to the extent specified in the fourth column thereof :

Repeal of Acts and Savings.

Provided that the repeal shall not affect—

(a) the incorporation of any company registered under any enactment hereby repealed; nor

(b) Table B in the Schedule annexed to Act No. XIX of 1857, or any part thereof, so far as the same applies to any company existing at the commencement of this Act ; nor

(c) Table A in the First Schedule annexed to the Indian Companies Act, 1882, or any part thereof so far as the same applies to any company existing at the commencement of this Act.

(2) All fees directed, resolutions passed and other things duly done under any enactment hereby repealed, shall be deemed to have been directed, passed or done under this Act.

(3) The mention of particular matters in this section or in any other section of this Act shall not prejudice the general application of section 6 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, with regard to the effect of repeals.

SCHEDULES.

THE FIRST SCHEDULE.

(See sections 2, 17, 18, 79, 266.)

TABLE A.

REGULATIONS FOR MANAGEMENT OF A COMPANY LIMITED BY SHARES.

Preliminary.

1. In these regulations, unless the context otherwise requires, expressions defined in the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof in force at the date at which these regulations become binding on the company, shall have the meanings so defined ; and words importing the singular shall include the plural, and vice versâ, and words importing the masculine gender shall include females, and words importing persons shall include bodies corporate.

Business.

2. The directors shall have regard to the restrictions on the commencement of business imposed by section 103 of the Indian Companies Act 1913, if, and so far as, those restrictions are binding upon the company.

Shares.

3. Subject to the provisions, if any, in that behalf of the memorandum of association of the company, and without prejudice to any special rights previously conferred on the holders of existing shares in the company, any share in the company may be issued with such preferred, deferred or other special rights, or such restrictions, whether in regard to dividend, voting, return of share capital, or otherwise, as the company may from time to time by special resolution determine.

4. If at any time the share capital is divided into different classes of shares, the rights attached to any class (unless otherwise provided by the terms of issue of the shares of that class) may be varied with the consent in writing of the holders of three-fourths of the issued shares of that class, or with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution passed at a separate general meeting of the holders of the shares of the class. To every such separate general meeting the provisions of these regulations relating to general meetings shall mutatis mutandis apply, but so that the necessary quorum shall be two persons at least holding or representing by proxy one-third of the issued shares of the class.

5. No share shall be offered to the public for subscription except upon the terms that the amount payable on application shall be at least five per cent of the nominal amount of the share ; and the directors shall, as regards any allotment of shares, duly comply with such of the provisions of sections 101 and 104 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, as may be applicable thereto.

6. Every person whose name is entered as a member in the register of members shall, without payment, be entitled to a certificate under the common seal of the company specifying the share or shares held by him and the amount paid up thereon : Provided that, in respect of a share or shares held jointly by several persons, the company shall not be bound to issue more than one certificate, and delivery of a certificate for a share to one of several joint-holders shall be sufficient delivery to all.

7. If a share certificate is defaced, lost or destroyed, it may be renewed on payment of such fee, if any, not exceeding eight annas, and on such terms, if any, as to evidence and indemnity as the directors think fit.

8. No part of the funds of the company shall be employed in the purchase of, or in loans upon the security of, the company's shares.

Lien.

9. The company shall have a lien on every share (not being a fully-paid share) for all moneys (whether presently payable or not) called or payable at a fixed time in respect of that share, and the company shall also have a lien on all shares (other than fully-paid shares) standing registered in the name of a single person, for all moneys presently payable by him or his estate to the company ; but the directors may at any time declare any share to be wholly or in part exempt from the provisions of this clause. The company's lien, if any, on a share shall extend to all dividends payable thereon.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

10. The company may sell, in such manner as the director thinks fit any shares on which the company has a lien, but no sale shall be made unless some sum in respect of which the lien exists is presently payable, nor until the expiration of fourteen days after a notice in writing, stating and demanding payment of such part of amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, has been given to the registered holder for the time being of the share, or the person entitled by reason of his death or insolvency to the share.

11. The proceeds of the sale shall be applied in payment of such part of the amount in respect of which the lien exists as is presently payable, and the residue shall (subject to a like lien for sums not presently payable as existed upon the shares prior to the sale) be paid to the person entitled to the shares at the date of the sale. The purchaser shall be registered as the holder of the shares, and he shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money, nor shall his title to the shares be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the sale.

Calls on Shares.

12. The directors may from time to time make calls upon the members in respect of any moneys unpaid on their shares, provided that no call shall exceed one-fourth of the nominal amount of the share, or be payable at less than one month from the last call; and each member shall (subject to receiving at least fourteen days' notice specifying the time or times of payment) pay to the company at the time or times so specified the amount called on his shares.

13. The joint-holders of a share shall be jointly and severally liable to pay all calls in respect thereof.

14. If a sum called in respect of a share is not paid before or on the day appointed for payment thereof, the person from whom the sum is due shall pay interest upon the sum at the rate of five per cent. per annum from the day appointed for the payment thereof to the time of the actual payment, but the directors shall be at liberty to waive payment of that interest wholly or in part.

15. The provisions of these regulations as to payment of interest shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had become payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

16. The directors may make arrangements on the issue of shares for a difference between the holders in the amount of calls to be paid and in the times of payment.

17. The directors may, if they think fit, receive from any member willing to advance the same all or any part of the moneys uncalled and unpaid upon any shares held by him; and upon all or any of the moneys so advanced may (until the same would, but for such advance, become presently payable) pay interest at such rate (not exceeding, without the sanction of the company in general meeting, six per cent.) as may be agreed upon between the member paying the sum in advance and the directors.

Transfer and transmission of shares.

18. The instrument of transfer of any share in the company shall be executed both by the transferor and transferee, and the transferor shall be deemed to remain holder of the share until the name of the transferee is entered in the register of members in respect thereof.

19. Shares in the company shall be transferred in the following form, or in any usual or common form which the directors shall approve:

I, A B of , in consideration of the sum of rupees paid to me by C D of (hereinafter called "the said transferee"), do hereby transfer to the said transferee the share [or shares] numbered in the undertaking called the Company, Limited, to hold unto the said transferee, his executors, administrators and assigns, subject to the several conditions on which I held the same at the time of the execution thereof, and I, the said transferee, do hereby agree to take the said share [or shares] subject to the conditions aforesaid. As witness our hands the day of Witness to the signatures of, etc.

20. The directors may decline to register any transfer of shares, not being fully-paid shares, to a person of whom they do not approve, and may also decline to register any transfer of shares on which the company has a lien. The directors may also suspend the registration of transfers during the fourteen days immediately preceding the ordinary general meeting in each year. The directors may decline to recognise any instrument of transfer unless—

(a) a fee not exceeding two rupees is paid to the company in respect thereof; and

(b) the instrument of transfer is accompanied by the certificate of the shares to which it relates, and such other evidence as the directors may reasonably require to show the right of the transferor to make the transfer.

21. The executors or administrators of a deceased sole holder of a share shall be the only persons recognised by the company as having any title to the share. In the case of a share registered in the names of two or more holders, the survivors or survivor, or the executors or administrators of the deceased survivor, shall be the only persons recognised by the company as having any title to the share.

22. Any person becoming entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member shall, upon such evidence being produced as may from time to time be required by the directors, have the right, either to be registered as a member in respect of the share or, instead of being registered himself, to make such transfer of the share as the deceased or insolvent person could have made; but the directors shall, in either case, have the same right to decline or suspend registration as they would have had in the case of a transfer of the share by the deceased or insolvent person before the death or insolvency.

23. A person becoming entitled to a share by reason of the death or insolvency of the holder shall be entitled to the same dividends and other advantages to which he would be entitled if he were the registered holder of the share, except that he shall not, before being registered as a member in respect of the share, be entitled in respect of it to exercise any right conferred by membership in relation to meetings of the company.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

Forfeiture of shares.

24. If a member fails to pay any call or instalment of a call on the day appointed for payment thereof, the directors may, at any time thereafter during such time as any part of such call or instalment remains unpaid, serve a notice on him requiring payment of so much of the call or instalment as is unpaid, together with any interest which may have accrued.

25. The notice shall name a further day (not earlier than the expiration of fourteen days, from the date of the notice) on or before which the payment required by the notice is to be made, and shall state that, in the event of non-payment at or before the time appointed, the shares in respect of which the call was made will be liable to be forfeited.

26. If the requirements of any such notice as aforesaid are not complied with, any share in respect of which the notice has been given may at any time thereafter, before the payment required by the notice has been made, be forfeited by a resolution of the directors to that effect.

27. A forfeited share may be sold or otherwise disposed of on such terms and in such manner as the directors think fit, and at any time before a sale or disposition the forfeiture may be cancelled on such terms as the directors think fit.

28. A person whose shares have been forfeited shall cease to be a member in respect of the forfeited shares, but shall, notwithstanding, remain liable to pay to the company all moneys which, at the date of forfeiture, were presently payable by him to the company in respect of the shares, but his liability shall cease if and when the company receive payment in full of the nominal amount of the shares.

29. A duly verified declaration in writing that the declarant is a director of the company, and that a share in the company has been duly forfeited on a date stated in the declaration, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated as against all persons claiming to be entitled to the share, and that declaration, and the receipt of the company for the consideration, if any, given for the share on the sale or disposition thereof, shall constitute a good title to the share, and the person to whom the share is sold or disposed of shall be registered as the holder of the share and shall not be bound to see to the application of the purchase-money (if any), nor shall his title to the share be affected by any irregularity or invalidity in the proceedings in reference to the forfeiture, sale or disposal of the share.

30. The provisions of these regulations as to forfeiture shall apply in the case of non-payment of any sum which, by the terms of issue of a share, becomes payable at a fixed time, whether on account of the amount of the share, or by way of premium, as if the same had been payable by virtue of a call duly made and notified.

Conversion of shares into stock.

31. The directors may, with the sanction of the company previously given in general meeting, convert any paid-up shares into stock, and may with the like sanction re-convert any stock into paid-up shares of any denomination.

32. The holders of stock may transfer the same, or any part thereof, in the same manner, and subject to the same regulations, as, and subject to which, the shares from which the stock arose might previously to conversion have been transferred, or as near thereto as circumstances admit; but the directors may from time to time fix the minimum amount of stock transferable, and restrict or forbid the transfer of fractions of that minimum, but the minimum shall not exceed the nominal amount of the shares from which the stock arose.

33. The holders of stock shall, according to the amount of the stock held by them, have the same rights, privileges and advantages as regards dividends, voting at meetings of the company, and other matters, as if they held the shares from which the stock arose, but no such privilege or advantage (except participation in the dividends and profits of the company) shall be conferred by any such aliquot part of stock as would not, if existing in shares, have conferred that privilege or advantage.

34. Such of the regulations of the company (other than those relating to share warrants), as are applicable to paid-up shares shall apply to stock, and the words "share" and "shareholder" therein shall include "stock" and "stockholder."

Share-warrants.

35. The company may issue share-warrants, and accordingly the directors may in their discretion, with respect to any share which is fully paid up, on application in writing signed by the person registered as holder of the share, and authenticated by such evidence (if any) as the directors may from time to time require as to the identity of the person signing the request, and on receiving the certificate (if any) of the share, and the amount of the stamp-duty on the warrant and such fee as the directors may from time to time require, issue under the company's seal a warrant, duly stamped, stating that the bearer of the warrant is entitled to the shares therein specified, and may provide by coupons or otherwise for the payment of dividends, or other moneys, on the shares included in the warrant.

36. A share-warrant shall entitle the bearer to the shares included in it, and the share shall be transferred by the delivery of the share-warrant, and the provisions of the regulations of the company with respect to transfer and transmission of shares shall not apply thereto.

37. The bearer of a share-warrant shall, on surrender of the warrant to the company for cancellation, and on payment of such sum as the directors may from time to time prescribe, be entitled to have his name entered as a member in the register of members in respect of the shares included in the warrant.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

38. The bearer of a share-warrant may at any time deposit the warrant at the office of the company, and so long as the warrant remains so deposited, the depositor shall have the same right of signing a requisition for calling a meeting of the company, and of attending and voting and exercising the other privileges of a member at any meeting held after the expiration of two clear days from the time of deposit, as if his name were inserted in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the deposited warrant. Not more than one person shall be recognised as depositor of the share-warrant. The company shall, on two days' written notice, return the deposited share-warrant to the depositor.

39. Subject as herein otherwise expressly provided, no person shall, as bearer of a share-warrant, sign a requisition for calling a meeting of the company, or attend, or vote or exercise any other privilege of a member at a meeting of the company, or be entitled to receive any notices from the company; but the bearer of a share-warrant shall be entitled in all other respects to the same privileges and advantages as if he were named in the register of members as the holder of the shares included in the warrant, and he shall be a member of the company.

40. The directors may from time to time make rules as to the terms on which if they shall think fit a new share-warrant or coupon may be issued by way of renewal in case of defacement, loss or destruction.

Alteration of Capital.

41. The directors may, with the sanction of an extraordinary resolution of the company, increase the share capital by such sum, to be divided into shares of such amount, as the resolution shall prescribe.

42. Subject to any direction to the contrary that may be given by the resolution sanctioning the increase of share capital, all new shares shall, before issue, be offered to such persons as at the date of the offer are entitled to receive notices from the company of general meetings in proportion, as nearly as the circumstances admit, to the amount of the existing shares to which they are entitled. The offer shall be made by notice specifying the number of shares offered, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted, will be deemed to be declined, and after the expiration of that time, or on the receipt of an intimation from the person to whom the offer is made that he declines to accept the shares offered, the directors may dispose of the same in such manner as they think most beneficial to the company. The directors may likewise so dispose of any new shares which (by reason of the ratio which the new shares bear to shares held by persons entitled to an offer of new shares) cannot, in the opinion of the directors, be conveniently offered under this article.

43. The new shares shall be subject to the same provisions with reference to the payment of calls, lien, transfer, transmission, forfeiture and otherwise as the shares in the original share capital.

44. The company may, by special resolution, —

(a) consolidate and divide its share capital into shares of larger amount than its shares;

(b) by sub-division of its existing shares or any of them, divide the whole or any part of its share capital into shares of smaller amount than is fixed by the memorandum of association, subject, nevertheless, to the provisions of paragraph (d) of sub-section (1) of section 50 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913;

(c) cancel any shares which, at the date of the passing of the resolution, have not been taken or agreed to be taken by any person;

(d) reduce its share capital in any manner and with, and subject to, any incident authorised, and consent required, by law.

General Meetings.

45. The statutory general meeting of the company shall be held within the period required by section 77 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

46. A general meeting shall be held once in every year at such time (not being more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting) and place as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, or, in default, at such time in the month following that in which the anniversary of the company's incorporation occurs, and at such place as the directors shall appoint. In default of a general meeting being so held, a general meeting shall be held in the month next following, and may be called by any two members in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings are to be called by the directors.

47. The above-mentioned general meetings shall be called ordinary meetings; all other general meetings shall be called extraordinary.

48. The directors may, whenever they think fit, call an extraordinary general meeting, and extraordinary general meetings shall also be called on such requisition, or in default, may be called by such requisitionists, as provided by section 78 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913. If at any time there are not within British India sufficient directors capable of acting to form a quorum, any director or any two members of the company may call an extraordinary general meeting in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings may be called by the directors.

Proceedings at General Meeting.

49. Fourteen days' notice at the least (exclusive of the day on which the notice is served or deemed to be served, but inclusive of the day for which notice is given) specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting and, in case of special business, the general nature of that business, shall be given in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, to such persons as are, under the regulations of the company, entitled to receive such notices from the company; but the non-receipt of the notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

50. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an extraordinary meeting, and all that is transacted at an ordinary meeting with the exception of sanctioning a dividend, the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the directors and auditors, the election of directors and other officers in the place of those retiring by rotation, and the fixing of the remuneration of the auditors.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

51. No business shall be transacted at any general meeting unless a quorum of members is present at the time when the meeting proceeds to business; save as herein otherwise provided, three members personally present shall be a quorum.

52. If within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum is not present, the meeting, if called upon the requisition of members, shall be dissolved; in any other case, it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the next week at the same time and place, and, if at the adjourned meeting a quorum is not present within half an hour from the time appointed for the meeting, the members present shall be a quorum.

53. The chairman, if any, of the board of directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the company.

54. If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present within fifteen minutes after the time appointed for holding the meeting, or is unwilling to act as chairman, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman.

55. The chairman may, with the consent of any meeting at which a quorum is present (and shall if so directed by the meeting), adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place. When a meeting is adjourned for ten days or more, notice of the adjourned meeting shall be given as in the case of an original meeting. Save as aforesaid, it shall not be necessary to give any notice of an adjournment or of the business to be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

56. At any general meeting a resolution put to the vote of the meeting shall be decided on a show of hands, unless a poll is (before or on the declaration of the result of the show of hands) demanded by at least three members, and, unless a poll is so demanded, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has, on a show of hands, been carried, or carried unanimously, or by a particular majority or lost, and an entry to that effect in the book of the proceedings of the company shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of, or against, that resolution.

57. If a poll is duly demanded, it shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

58. In the case of an equality of votes, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, the chairman of the meeting at which the show of hands takes place, or at which the poll is demanded, shall be entitled to a second or casting vote.

59. A poll demanded on the election of a chairman or on a question of adjournment shall be forthwith. A poll demanded on any other question shall be taken at such time as the chairman of the meeting directs.

Votes of Members.

60. On a show of hands every member present in person shall have one vote. On a poll every member shall have one vote for each share of which he is the holder.

61. In the case of joint-holders, the vote of the senior who tenders a vote, whether in person or by proxy, shall be accepted to the exclusion of the votes of the other joint-holders; and for this purpose seniority shall be determined by the order in which the names stand in the register of members.

62. A member of unsound mind, or in respect of whom an order has been made by any Court having jurisdiction in lunacy, may vote, whether on a show of hands or on a poll, by his committee or other legal guardian, and any such committee or guardian may, on a poll, vote by proxy.

63. No member shall be entitled to vote at any general meeting unless all calls or other sums presently payable by him in respect of shares in the company have been paid.

64. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy: Provided that no company shall vote by proxy as long as a resolution of its directors in accordance with the provisions of section 80 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, is in force.

65. The instrument appointing a proxy shall be in writing under the hand of the appointor or of his attorney duly authorised in writing, or, if the appointor is a corporation, either under the common seal, or under the hand of an officer or attorney so authorised. No person shall act as a proxy unless either he is entitled on his own behalf to be present and vote at the meeting at which he acts as proxy, or he has been appointed to act at that meeting as proxy for a corporation.

66. The instrument appointing a proxy and the power-of-attorney or other authority (if any), under which it is signed or a notarially certified copy of that power or authority shall be deposited at the registered office of the company not less than seventy-two hours before the time for holding the meeting at which the person named in the instrument proposes to vote, and in default the instrument of proxy shall not be treated as valid.

67. An instrument appointing a proxy may be in the following form, or in any other form which the directors shall approve :—

Company, Limited.

"I of in the district of , being a member of the Company, Limited, hereby appoint of as my proxy to vote for me and on my behalf at the [ordinary or extraordinary, as the case may be] general meeting of the company to be held on the day of and at any adjournment thereof."

Signed this day of Directors.

68. The number of the directors and the names of the first directors shall be determined in writing by a majority of the subscribers of the memorandum of association.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

69. The remuneration of the directors shall from time to time be determined by the company in general meeting.

70. The qualification of a director shall be the holding of at least one share in the company, and it shall be his duty to comply with the provisions of section 85 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913.

Powers and duties of Directors.

71. The business of the company shall be managed by the directors, who may pay all expenses incurred in getting up and registering the company, and may exercise all such powers of the company as are not, by the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, or by these articles, required to be exercised by the company in general meeting, subject nevertheless to any regulation of these articles, to the provisions of the said Act, and to such regulations being not inconsistent with the aforesaid regulations or provisions, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting; but no regulation made by the company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the directors which would have been valid if that regulation had not been made.

72. The directors may from time to time appoint one or more of their body to the office of managing director or manager for such term, and at such remuneration (whether by way of salary, or commission, or participation in profits, or partly in one way and partly in another) as they may think fit, and a director so appointed shall not, while holding that office, be subject to retirement by rotation, or taken into account in determining the rotation of retirement of directors, but his appointment shall be subject to determination ipso facto if he ceases from any cause to be a director, or if the company in general meeting resolve that his tenure of the office of managing director or manager be determined.

73. The amount for the time being remaining undischarged of moneys borrowed or raised by the directors for the purposes of the company (otherwise than by the issue of share capital) shall not at any time exceed the issued share capital of the company without the sanction of the company in general meeting.

74. The directors shall duly comply with the provisions of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, and in particular with the provisions in regard to the registration of the particulars of mortgages and charges affecting the property of the company or created by it, and to keeping a register of the directors, and to sending to the registrar an annual list of members, and a summary of particulars relating thereto and notice of any consolidation or increase of share capital, or conversion of shares into stock, and copies of special resolutions and a copy of the register of directors and notifications of any changes therein.

75. The directors shall cause minutes to be made in books provided for the purpose—

(a) of all appointments of officers made by the directors;

(b) of the names of the directors present at each meeting of the directors and of any committee of the directors;

(c) of all resolutions and proceedings at all meetings of the company, and, of the directors, and of committees of directors; and every director present at any meeting of directors or committee of directors shall sign his name in a book to be kept for that purpose.

The Seal.

76. The seal of the company shall not be affixed to any instrument except by the authority of a resolution of the board of directors, and in the presence of at least two directors and of the secretary or such other person as the directors may appoint for the purpose; and those two directors and secretary or other person as aforesaid shall sign every instrument to which the seal of the company is so affixed in their presence.

Disqualifications of Directors.

77. The office of director shall be vacated if the director—ceases to be a director by virtue of section 90 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913; or holds or any partner of his, or the firm of which he is a member, holds any other office of profit under the company except that of managing director or manager; or

(c) is adjudged insolvent; or

(d) is found lunatic or becomes of unsound mind; or (e) is concerned or participates in the profit of any contract with the company; or

(f) is punished with imprisonment for a term exceeding six months:

Provided, however, that no director shall vacate his office by reason of his being a member of any company which has entered into contracts with, or done any work for, the company of which he is director; but a director shall not vote in respect of any such contract or work, and if he does so vote, his vote shall not be counted.

Rotation of Directors.

78. At the first ordinary meeting of the company, the whole of the directors shall retire from office, and at the ordinary meeting in every subsequent year, one-third of the directors for the time being or, if their number is not three or a multiple of three, then the number nearest to one-third shall retire from office.

79. The directors to retire in every year shall be those who have been longest in office since their last election, but as between persons who became directors on the same day those to retire shall (unless they otherwise agree among themselves) be determined by lot.

80. A retiring director shall be eligible for re-election.

81. The company at the general meeting at which a director retires in manner aforesaid may fill up the vacated office by electing a person thereto.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

82. If at any meeting at which an election of directors ought to take place, the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the meeting shall stand adjourned till the same day in the next week at the same time and place, and, if at the adjourned meeting the places of the vacating directors are not filled up, the vacating directors or such of them as have not had their places filled up shall be deemed to have been re-elected at the adjourned meeting.

83. The company may from time to time in general meeting increase or reduce the number of directors, and may also determine in what rotation the increased or reduced number is to go out of office.

84. Any casual vacancy occurring on the board of directors may be filled up by the directors, but the person so chosen shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

85. The directors shall have power at any time, and from time to time, to appoint a person as an additional director who shall retire from office at the next following ordinary general meeting, but shall be eligible for election by the company at that meeting as an additional director.

86. The company may by extraordinary resolution remove any director before the expiration of his period of office, and may by an ordinary resolution appoint another person in his stead; the person so appointed shall be subject to retirement at the same time as if he had become a director on the day on which the director in whose place he is appointed was last elected a director.

Proceedings of Directors.

87. The directors may meet together for the despatch of business, adjourn and otherwise regulate their meetings, as they think fit. Questions arising at any meeting shall be decided by a majority of votes. In case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote. A director may, and the secretary on the requisition of a director shall, at any time, summon a meeting of directors.

88. The quorum necessary for the transaction of the business of the directors may be fixed by the directors, and unless so fixed shall (when the number of directors exceeds three) be three.

89. The continuing directors may act notwithstanding any vacancy in their body, but, if and so long as their number is reduced below the number fixed by or pursuant to the regulations of the company as the necessary quorum of directors, the continuing directors may act for the purpose of increasing the number of directors to that number, or of summoning a general meeting of the company, but for no other purpose.

90. The directors may elect a chairman of their meetings and determine the period for which he is to hold office; but if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the directors present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

91. The directors may delegate any of their powers to committees consisting of such member or members of their body as they think fit; any committee so found shall, in the exercise of the powers so delegated, conform to any regulations that may be imposed on them by the directors.

92. A committee may elect a chairman of their meetings: if no such chairman is elected, or if at any meeting the chairman is not present within five minutes after the time appointed for holding the same, the members present may choose one of their number to be chairman of the meeting.

93. A committee may meet and adjourn as they think proper. Questions arising at any meeting shall be determined by a majority of votes of the members present, and, in case of an equality of votes, the chairman shall have a second or casting vote.

94. All acts done by any meeting of the directors or of a committee of directors, or by any person acting as a director, shall, notwithstanding that it be afterwards discovered that there was some defect in the appointment of any such directors or persons acting as aforesaid, or that they or any of them were disqualified, be as valid as if every such person had been duly appointed and was qualified to be a director.

Dividends and Reserve.

95. The company in general meeting may declare dividends, but no dividends shall exceed the amount recommended by the directors.

96. The directors may from time to time pay to the members such interim dividends as appear to the directors to be justified by the profits of the company.

97 No dividends shall be paid otherwise than out of profits.

98. Subject to the rights of persons (if any) entitled to shares with special rights as to dividends, all dividends shall be declared and paid according to the amounts paid on the shares, but if and so long as nothing is paid up on any of the shares in the company, dividends may be declared and paid according to the amounts of the shares. No amount paid on a share in advance of calls shall, while carrying interest, be treated for the purposes of this article as paid on the share.

99. The directors may, before recommending any dividend, set aside out of the profits of the company such sums as they think proper as a reserve or reserves which shall, at the discretion of the directors, be applicable for meeting contingencies, or for equalizing dividends, or for any other purpose to which the profits of the company may be properly applied, and pending such application may, at the like discretion, either be employed in the business of the company or be invested in such investments (other than shares of the company) as the directors may from time to time think fit.

100. If several persons are registered as joint-holders of any share, any one of them may give effectual receipts for any dividend payable on the share.

101. Notice of any dividend that may have been declared shall be given in manner hereinafter mentioned to the persons entitled to share therein.

102. No dividend shall bear interest against the

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The First Schedule.)

Accounts.

103. The directors shall cause true accounts to be kept—

(a) of the sums of money received and expended by the company, and the matter in respect of which such receipt and expenditure takes place; and

(b) of the assets and liabilities of the company.

104. The books of account shall be kept at the registered office of the company, or at such other place or places as the directors think fit, and shall always be open to the inspection of the directors.

105. The directors shall from time to time determine whether and to what extent and at what times and places and under what conditions or regulations the accounts and books of the company or any of them shall be open to the inspection of members not being directors, and no member (not being a director) shall have any right of inspecting any account or book or document of the company except as conferred by law or authorised by the directors or by the company in general meeting.

106. Once at least in every year the directors shall lay before the company in general meeting a profit and loss account for the period since the preceding account or (in the case of the first account) since the incorporation of the company, made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting.

107. The profit and loss account shall show, arranged under the most convenient heads, the amount of gross income, distinguishing the several sources from which it has been derived, and the amount of gross expenditure, distinguishing the expenses of the establishment, salaries and other like matters. Every item of expenditure fairly chargeable against the year's income shall be brought into account, so that a just balance of profit and loss may be laid before the meeting, and, in cases where any item of expenditure which may in fairness be distributed over several years has been incurred in any one year, the whole amount of such item shall be stated, with the addition of the reasons why only a portion of such expenditure is charged against the income of the year.

108. A balance-sheet shall be made out in every year and laid before the company in general meeting made up to a date not more than six months before such meeting. The balance-sheet shall be accompanied by a report of the directors as to the state of the company's affairs, and the amount which they recommend to be paid by way of dividend, and the amount (if any) which they propose to carry to a reserve fund.

109. A copy of the balance-sheet and report shall, seven days previously to the meeting, be sent to the persons entitled to receive notices of general meetings in the manner in which notices are to be given hereunder.

110. The directors shall in all respects comply with the provisions of sections 130 to 135 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

Audit.

111. Auditors shall be appointed and their duties regulated in accordance with sections 144 and 145 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force.

Notices.

112. (1) A notice may be given by the company to any member either personally or by sending it by post to him to his registered address, or (if he has no registered address in British India) to the address, if any, within British India supplied by him to the company for the giving of notices to him.

(2) Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying and posting a letter containing the notice and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

113. If a member has no registered address in British India, and has not supplied to the company an address within British India for the giving of notices to him, a notice addressed to him and advertised in a newspaper circulating in the neighbourhood of the registered office of the company shall be deemed to be duly given to him on the day on which the advertisement appears.

114. A notice may be given by the company to the joint-holders of a share by giving the notice to the joint-holder named first in the register in respect of the share.

115. A notice may be given by the company to the persons entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member by sending it through the post in a prepaid letter addressed to them by name, or by the title of representatives of the deceased, or assignee of the insolvent or by any like description, at the address (if any) in British India supplied for the purpose by the persons claiming to be so entitled, or (until such an address has been so supplied) by giving the notice in any manner in which the same might have been given if the death or insolvency had not occurred.

116. Notice of every general meeting shall be given in some manner hereinbefore authorised to (a) every member of the company (including bearers of share-warrants) except those members who (having no registered address within British India) have not supplied to the company an address within British India for the giving of notices to them, and also to (b) every person entitled to a share in consequence of the death or insolvency of a member, who, but for his death or insolvency, would be entitled to receive notice of the meeting. No other persons shall be entitled to receive notices of general meetings.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

ARTICLES OF ASSOCIATION TO ACCOMPANY PRECEDING MEMORANDUM OF ASSOCIATION.

Number of Members.

1. The company for the purpose of registration is declared to consist of five hundred members.

2. The directors hereinafter mentioned may, whenever the business or the association requires it, register an increase of members.

Definition of Members.

3. Every person shall be deemed to have agreed to become a member of the company who insures any ship or share in a ship in pursuance of the regulations hereinafter contained.

General Meetings.

4. The first general meeting shall be held at such time, not being less than one month nor more than three months after the incorporation of the company, and at such place, as the directors may determine.

The Indian Companies Act, 1913.

(The Third Schedule.)

5. A general meeting shall be held once in every year at such time (not being more than fifteen months after the holding of the last preceding general meeting) and place as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting, or, in default, at such time in the month following that in which the anniversary of the company's incorporation occurs, and at such place, as the directors shall appoint. In default of a general meeting being so held, a general meeting shall be held in the month next following, and may be called by any two members in the same manner as nearly as possible as that in which meetings are to be called by the directors.

6. The above-mentioned general meetings shall be called ordinary meetings; all other general meetings shall be called extraordinary.

7. The directors may, whenever they think fit, and shall, on a requisition made in writing by any five or more members, call an extraordinary general meeting.

8. Any requisition made by the members must state the object of the meeting proposed to be called, and must be signed by the requisitionists and deposited at the registered office of the company.

9. On receipt of the requisition the directors shall forthwith proceed to call a general meeting; if they do not proceed to cause a meeting to be held within twenty-one days from the date of the requisition being so deposited, the requisitionists or any other five members may themselves call a meeting.

Proceedings at General Meetings.

10. Fourteen days' notice at the least, specifying the place, the day and the hour of meeting, and in case of special business the general nature of the business, shall be given to the members in manner hereinafter mentioned, or in such other manner if any, as may be prescribed by the company in general meeting; but the non-receipt of such a notice by any member shall not invalidate the proceedings at any general meeting.

11. All business shall be deemed special that is transacted at an extraordinary meeting, and all that is transacted at an ordinary meeting, with the exception of the consideration of the accounts, balance-sheets and the ordinary report of the directors and auditors, the election of directors and other officers in the place of those retiring by rotation, and the fixing of remuneration of the auditors.

12. No business shall be transacted at any meeting except the declaration of a dividend, unless a quorum of members is present at the commencement of the business. The quorum shall be ascertained as follows (that is to say) :— if the members of the company at the time of the meeting do not exceed ten in number, the quorum shall be five; if they exceed ten, there shall be added to the above quorum one for every five additional members with this limitation, that no quorum shall in any case exceed ten.

13. If within one hour from the time appointed for the meeting a quorum of members is not present, the meeting, if called on the requisition of the members, shall be dissolved; in any other case it shall stand adjourned to the same day in the following week at the same time and place; and if at such adjourned meeting a quorum of members is not present, it shall be adjourned sine die.

14. The chairman (if any) of the directors shall preside as chairman at every general meeting of the company.

15. If there is no such chairman, or if at any meeting he is not present at the time of holding the same, the members present shall choose some one of their number to be chairman of that meeting.

16. The chairman may, with the consent of the meeting, adjourn the meeting from time to time and from place to place, but no business shall be transacted at any adjourned meeting other than the business left unfinished at the meeting from which the adjournment took place.

17. At any general meeting, unless a poll is demanded by at least three members, a declaration by the chairman that a resolution has been carried, and an entry to that effect in the book of proceedings of the company, shall be conclusive evidence of the fact, without proof of the number or proportion of the votes recorded in favour of or against the resolution.

18. If a poll is demanded in manner aforesaid, the same shall be taken in such manner as the chairman directs, and the result of the poll shall be deemed to be the resolution of the meeting at which the poll was demanded.

Votes of Members.

19. Every member shall have one vote and no more.

20. If any member is a lunatic or idiot, he may vote by his committee or other legal guardian.

21. No member shall be entitled to vote at any meeting unless all moneys due from him to the company have been paid.

22. On a poll votes may be given either personally or by proxy: Provided that no company shall vote by proxy as long as a resolution of its directors in accordance with the provisions of section 80 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, is in force. A proxy shall be appointed in writing under the hand of the appointor, or, if such appointor is a corporation, under its common seal.

23. (1) No person shall act as a proxy unless he is a member, or unless he is appointed to act at the meeting as proxy for a corporation.

(2) The instrument appointing him shall be deposited at the registered office of the company not less than forty-eight hours before the time of holding the meeting at which he proposes to vote.

24. Any instrument appointing a proxy shall be in the following form :—

Company, Limited,

I, , of Directors.

25. The number of the directors and the names of the first directors shall be determined by the subscribers of the memorandum of association.

26. Until directors are appointed, the subscribers of the memorandum of association shall, for all the purposes of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, be deemed to be directors.

Powers of Directors.

27. The business of the company shall be managed by the directors, who may exercise all such powers of the company as are not by the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or by any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, or by these articles, required to be exercised by the company in general meeting ; but no regulation made by the company in general meeting shall invalidate any prior act of the directors which would have been valid if that regulation had not been made.

Elections of Directors.

28. The directors shall be elected annually by the company in general meeting.

Business of Company.

(Here insert rules as to mode in which business of insurance is to be conducted.)

Audit.

29. Auditors shall be appointed and their duties regulated in accordance with sections 144 and 145 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913, or any statutory modification thereof for the time being in force, and for this purpose the said sections shall have effect as if the word "members" were substituted for 'shareholders," and as if "first general meeting" were substituted for "statutory meeting."

Notices.

30. A notice may be given by the company to any member either personally, or by sending it by post to him to his registered address.

31. Where a notice is sent by post, service of the notice shall be deemed to be effected by properly addressing, prepaying and posting a letter containing the notice and, unless the contrary is proved, to have been effected at the time at which the letter would be delivered in the ordinary course of post.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The following Act of the Governor General of India in Council received the assent of the Governor General on the 27th March, 1913, and is hereby promulgated for general information :—

ACT NO. VIII OF 1913.

An Act further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

WHEREAS it is expedient further to amend the Indian Penal Code and the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Indian Criminal Law Amendment Act, 1913.

Amendment of section 40, Indian Penal Code.

2. In section 40 of the Indian Penal Code, after the word and figures "Chapter IV", the word, figure and letter "Chapter VA" shall be inserted.

Insertion of new Chapter in the Indian Penal Code.

3. After Chapter V of the said Code, the following Chapter shall be inserted, namely :—

"CHAPTER VA.

CRIMINAL CONSPIRACY.

Definition of criminal conspiracy.

120A. When two or more persons agree to do, or cause to be done, —

(1) an illegal act, or

(2) an act which is not illegal by illegal means, such an agreement is designated a criminal conspiracy :

Provided that no agreement except an agreement to commit an offence shall amount to a criminal conspiracy unless some act besides the agreement is done by one or more parties to such agreement in pursuance thereof.

Explanation.—It is immaterial whether the illegal act is the ultimate object of such agreement, or is merely incidental to that object.

Punishment of criminal conspiracy.

120B. (1) Whoever is a party to a criminal conspiracy to commit an offence punishable with death, transportation or rigorous imprisonment for a term of two years or upwards, shall, where no express provision is made in this Code for the punishment of such a conspiracy, be punished in the same manner as if he had abetted such offence.

(2) Whoever is a party to a criminal conspiracy other than a criminal conspiracy to commit an offence punishable as aforesaid shall be punished with imprisonment of either description for a term not exceeding six months, or with fine or with both."

Amendment of section 195, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898. V of 1898.

4. In section 195, sub-section (3), of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, before the words "the abetment", the words "criminal conspiracies to commit such offences and to" shall be inserted.

Insertion of new section 196A in Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 V of 1898.

5. After section 196 of the Code (of Criminal Procedure, 1898), the following section shall be inserted, namely :—

Prosecution for certain classes of criminal conspiracy

"196A. No Court shall take cognizance of the offence of criminal conspiracy punishable under section 120B of the Indian Penal Code, XLV of 1860

(1) in a case where the object of the conspiracy is to commit either an illegal act other than an offence, or a legal act by illegal means, or an offence to which the provisions of section 196 apply, unless upon complaint made by order or under authority from the Governor General in Council, the Local Government or some officer empowered by the Governor General in Council in this behalf, or

(2) in a case where the object of the conspiracy is to commit any non-cognizable offence, or a cognizable offence not punishable with death, transportation or rigorous imprisonment for a term of two years or upwards unless the Local Government, or a Chief Presidency Magistrate or District Magistrate empowered in this behalf by the Local Government has, by order in writing, consented to the initiation of the proceedings :

Provided that where the criminal conspiracy is one to which the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 195 apply no such consent shall be necessary.

Amendment of Schedule II of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898. V of 1898.

6. In Schedule II of the Code (of Criminal Procedure, 1898), after the entries relating to Chapter V, the entries contained in the Schedule hereto annexed shall be inserted

(2) When the value of the right, title and interest affected is not expresed in such documents, a fee of Rs. 10 shall be payable.

Explanation—

(1) In cases of conveyances and bills of sale where any consideration is expressed, such consideration ; in the case of a deed of gift, the value of the property thereby disposed of ; in cases of deeds of dower and settlement, the amount of dower and the value of the property settled ; in the case of a document securing periodical payments, other than a lease, the amount payable for one such period in addition to any amount other than such periodical payments, paid or payable as consideration for such document ; and in the case of bonds, mortgages and instruments of further charge, the amount thereby secured, shall be taken to be the value of the right, title and interest affected within the meaning of this article.

(2) In the case of leases as classified below, the amounts specified against each class shall be taken to be the value of the right, title and interest affected within the meaning of this article :—

Class of leases.	Amount representing the value of right, title and interest affected.
(a) A lease by which the rent is fixed, but in respect of which no premium or fine is paid or delivered and no money is advanced, and which is granted—
(i) for a period of less than one year, or	The total sum payable under the lease.
(ii) for a specified period of one year or more, but not exceeding ten years, or	An amount equal to the average annual rental.
(iii) for an indefinite period, or ...	An amount equal to two years' rent.
(iv) for a period exceeding ten years, or
(v) in perpetuity
(b) A lease which is granted for a fine or premium or for money advanced and by which no rent is reserved.	The amount of the fine, premium or money advanced.
(c) A lease which is granted for a fine or premium or for money advanced in addition to rent reserved.	The total of (1) the amount of the fine, premium or advance, (2) the amount which would be calculated in the case of the lease under clause (a) if no fine, premium or advance had been paid or delivered.

(3) In the case of partition deeds the value of the share or shares on which stamp duty is payable under Article 45 in Schedule I to the Indian Stamp Act, 1899, shall be taken to be the value of the right, title and interest affected within the meaning of this article :

Provided that—

(a) if a patta or lease given to any raiyat, and the kabuliyat or counterpart of such lease executed by such raiyat, be presented for registration at the same time, the fee payable for the registration of the patta shall be half of what would have been payable if the patta alone had been presented and the fee payable for the registration of the kabuliyat shall be equal to that payable for the registration of the patta ;

(b) an instrument so framed as to come within two or more descriptions of the documents enumerated above shall, when the fees chargeable thereunder are different, be charged with the highest of such fees ;

(c) the fee on any instrument comprising or relating to several distinct matters shall be the aggregate of fees with which separate instruments each comprising or relating to one of such matters would be chargeable ;

(d) when a document which has been executed by only some of the parties to it is presented for registration, the other parties or any of them may attend and execute the document and admit execution thereof without the payment of any further fee, so long as a certificate of registration has not been endorsed thereon and duly signed, sealed and dated under section 60 ; but if the registration of the document has been completed, it must be presented afresh for registration, and a second fee shall be payable ; and

(e) the fee leviable for the registration of a document purporting to give collateral or auxiliary or additional or substituted security, or security by way of further assurance, where the principal or primary mortgage is proved to the satisfaction of the registering officer to have been duly registered, shall be the same as for the principal or primary mortgage, if the same does not exceed Rs. 2, but shall in no case be more than Rs. 2.

B. The fee for the registration of a separate instrument acknowledging the receipt or payment of any sum of money, whether consideration on account of any deed of sale or mortgage, or rent on account of any lease, or other value expressed in any document, shall be calculated, according to the amount received, on the ad valorem scale fixed under Article A :

Provided that if any instrument referring to the same transaction has already been registered, such fee shall not exceed Rs. 2.

C. In the case of wills, fees shall be paid as follows :—

	Rs.
(i) for the deposit or withdrawal of a sealed cover containing a will	2
(ii) for opening such cover (in addition to the fee for copying the contents which shall be charged according to the scale laid down in Article G for the granting of certified copies)	2 and
(iii) for the registration of a will or authority to adopt when presented open	4

D. The fee for the registration of an agreement for personal service shall be 8 annas only.

E. The fee for the registration of any document not mentioned or described in any of the foregoing articles shall be Re. 1.

NOTE.—Provisos (c) and (d) to Article A apply also to Articles B, C, D and E.

F. (1) Fees payable for searching the indexes and inspecting the registers shall be as follows :—

	As.
(i) for the first year for each entry or document for which search of the indexes of a specified office is made ...	8
(ii) for every other year as aforesaid	4
(iii) for each Register Book 1, 2, 3, or 4 inspected ...	8

Provided that—

(a) no fee for the search or inspection of the registers of any one office in respect of any one entry or document shall exceed Rs. 5 ;

(b) no fees for the search or inspection of the registers of any one office in respect of any number of entries or documents relating to one and the same property shall exceed Rs. 10 ; and

(c) no fee for search shall be payable if in any application for a copy of an entry or for inspection of an entry, the nature of the document, the date of registration, the register and volume in which it is copied and its number in such volume are shown.

(2) Every application for the grant of a certified copy, except at the time of the registration of a document, shall, subject to proviso (c) above, be accompanied by the fee prescribed for searching the indexes.

G. For making or granting copies of reasons, entries or documents before, on, or after registration, a fee shall ordinarily be charged at the rate of one anna for every 100 words in the vernacular character, and two annas for every 100 words in the English character :

Provided that, if an applicant requires such copies to be furnished on the day of application, an extra fee of one rupee or, if the copies exceed four pages of 300 words, of four annas for each page, shall be charged on all copies so furnished.

II.—EXTRA OR ADDITIONAL FEES.

H. For the registration by any Registrar (other than the Registrar of Calcutta) of any document under sub-section (1) of section 31, an extra fee equal to the ordinary fee, or an extra fee of Rs. 5, whichever is less, shall be charged.

I. For the registration under sub-section (2) of section 30, by the Registrar of Calcutta, of any document relating to property, when no portion of such property is situated within his district, a fee of Rs. 10 shall be charged.

J. (1) The fee for the attendance, under section 31, of an officer at a private residence for acceptance for registration of any document or for acceptance for deposit of any will or authority to adopt, shall be Rs. 10.

(2) In addition to such fee, travelling allowance shall be paid to the registering officer at the rate of four annas a mile for the actual distance to be travelled, provided that the place to be visited is more than one mile from the registration office:

Provided that, in towns where carriages are available on hire, registering officers shall be paid carriage hire for two hours in lieu of travelling allowance, whether the distance travelled be greater or less than one mile.

K. (1) Before the issue of a commission or before the registering officer or Magistrate personally proceeds to any dwelling-house or jail to obtain evidence as to the voluntary nature of the execution of a power-of-attorney under sub-section (3) of section 33, and before the issue of a commission or before the registering officer personally proceeds to any dwelling-house or jail for the examination of any person under sub-section (2) of section 38, the following fees shall be paid on account of persons exempted from appearance:—

(a) for every person exempted on account of bodily infirmity, for every person confined in jail and for every pardanashin lady exempted by law from personal appearance in Court, Rs. 5; and

(b) for every person, other than a pardanashin lady, who is exempted by law from personal appearance in Court, Rs. 10.

(2) In addition to such fees, travelling allowance shall be paid in every case to the registering officer or the Magistrate or the person to whom the commission has been issued, as the case may be, at the rate of four annas a mile for the actual distance to be travelled, provided that the place to be visited is more than one mile from the Court or registration office:

Provided that, in towns where carriages are available on hire, the registering officer or the Magistrate or the person to whom the commission has been issued, shall be paid carriage hire for two hours in lieu of travelling allowance, whether the distance travelled be greater or less than one mile.

NOTES REFERRING TO ARTICLES H, I, J AND K.

(i) When two or more copies of a document executed by the same parties are presented for registration at the same time, an ordinary fee shall be payable for each copy; but any extra or additional fee which is payable under Article H, I, J, or K shall be charged as for one document only, no matter how many copies of that document may be presented for registration.

(ii) No extra fee shall be payable under Article H when a document is registered by a Registrar, acting as Sub-Registrar, or by a Registrar in consequence of the Sub-Registrar, by whom it should be registered under section 28, being a party interested in the transaction to which such document relates.

(iii) Where two or more persons who execute the same document or documents relating to the same transaction present it or copies thereof for registration at one and the same time and at a private residence under section 31, or where the registering officer or Magistrate examines or issues a commission for the examination of two or more such persons at one and the same time under section 33 or section 38, as the case may be, only one fee under Article J for the attendance of the registering officer or one fee under Article K for the attendance of the registering officer or the Magistrate or for the issue of the commission, as the case may be, shall be charged so far as those persons are concerned.

L. The fees chargeable for authenticating or attesting the execution of a power-of-attorney shall be as follows:—

	Rs.
(i) For a special power	1
(ii) For a general ,, ...	2

M. For every copy or memorandum of a document to be forwarded to another office under section 64, 65, 66 or 67, there shall be paid an extra fee equivalent to that payable under Article A, B or E:

Provided that the fee for a copy shall not exceed Rs. 10, and the fee for a memorandum shall not exceed Re. 1.

N. Besides the fees payable under Articles A, B, C, D and E, there shall be paid, for the registration of every document of such length as to occupy more than two pages of the register, an extra copying fee at the rate of four annas for every page or part thereof in excess of the first two pages.

MODE OF CALCULATION.

Assuming 300 hundred words to the page, such copying fee may be calculated by counting the number of words in the documents or, if no such calculation is made by the party presenting the document, the registering officer shall estimate the number of pages likely to be thus charged for, but the fee shall in every case be payable on presentation, and in case of miscalculation the document shall not be returned until any deficiency in the fee levied is made good.

Example.—A conveyance is presented for registration containing 1,350 words. If the party presenting the document certify to this fact, the registering officer will at once proceed to charge a fee for three pages (1,350—600=750), i.e., 12 annas. If the number of words is not known, the registering officer may charge for two extra pages, or eight annas only, and the deficiency of four annas must be made good before the document is returned.

O. When a document remains unclaimed for more than one month after completion of registration, a fee of four annas shall be charged for every month or part of a month beyond the first month after such completion. The total amount of such fees shall not exceed Rs. 5 in any case.

P. When a document remains unclaimed for more than one month after refusal of registration, a fee of four annas shall be charged for every month or part of a month beyond the first month after such refusal. The total amount of such fees shall not exceed Rs. 5 in any case.

NOTE REFERRING TO ARTICLES O AND P.

A Registrar is empowered to remit, in whole or in part, the fees chargeable under Articles O and P in any case in which it appears to him that the realization of such fees would be clearly productive of injustice or hardship.

EXEMPTIONS.

The following classes of documents are exempt from the payment of registration and in the case of (6) of copying fees :—

(1) documents executed by or on behalf of, or in favour of, Government on which as such no stamp duty is leviable under the law for the time being in force [vide section 3, proviso (1), of the Indian Stamp Act, 1899] ;

(2) security bonds and penalty bonds executed in favour of Governments or local authorities by public servants of all classes and their sureties ;

(3) bonds executed by non-gazetted or menial officers of Government for the due performance of their duties and bonds or mortgage deeds executed by private parties as security for the performance of their duties by such officers ;

(4) mortgage bonds executed by Government officers in favour of Government as security for building advances ;

(5) instruments executed by persons taking advances under the Agriculturists' Loans Act, 1884, or by their sureties as security for the repayment of such advances ; and

(6) copies of entries, documents or maps required by Government officers for bonâ fide public purposes.

The 15th April 1913.

No. 58Marine.—In exercise of the power conferred by section 50A of the Inland Steam-vessels Act, 1884 (VI of 1884), as amended by Act VII of 1899, and in modification of the notification of this Department, No. 31-Marine, dated the 24th February 1913, the Governor in Council proposes to add the following note to article 19 in the rules published under the notification of this Department No. 148Marine, dated the 23rd August 1900, for the protection of inland steam-vessels from danger by collision. The new rule will be taken into consideration on the expiry of a month from the date of this publication in the Calcutta Gazette, and the Governor in Council will be glad to consider any suggestions or observations that may be made by any person concerning it within that period :—

ARTICLE 19.

NOTE.—The practice of conning inland steam-vessels from a position alongside of, or between, flats which obstruct the view, will be considered a breach of this article. Navigation should be controlled from a position which gives a clear view ahead and to two points abaft the beam on either side.

No. 935M.—The 10th April 1913.—The following rules made by the Corporation of Calcutta under section 68 (1) of the Calcutta Municipal Act, 1899 (Bengal Act III of 1899), in supersession of rules 2, 7, 10, 11 and 12 made under that section and published under Notification No. 855M., dated the 11th April 1908, at page 60 of Part I B of the Calcutta Gazette of the 22nd idem, have been sanctioned by the Governor in Council under section 569 of that Act, and are hereby published as required by section 570 thereof :—

Calcutta.

Rules.

2. (1) A candidate for employment as a Sanitary Inspector must possess the qualification of M.B. or L.M.S. of an Indian University, or a Sanitary Inspector's certificate from a Sanitary Institute or other recognized examining body.

(2) When selecting any such candidates, preference shall be given to those candidates who, besides possessing the qualifications prescribed by sub-rule (1), have passed the examination prescribed by the Health Officer of the Corporation in practical sanitary science.

7. A candidate for employment as a Supervisor or Overseer in the districts or Inspector in the Suburban Drainage Department must hold—

(a) a certificate of the Joint Technical Examination Board of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa that he is qualified for employment in the Public Works Department as a Foreman-Mechanic and Upper Subordinate ; or

(b) a certificate from the Principal of the Civil Engineering College at Sibpur, Thomason College, Roorkee, Poona College of Science or the Madras College of Engineering, that he has served his full apprenticeship there and has passed the Final Examination qualifying him for employment in the Public Works Department as a Foreman-Mechanic and Upper Subordinate ; or

(c) a certificate that he has passed either the F.E. Examination of the Calcutta University or the annual examination held at the end of the third year's course in the Engineering Branch of the Engineering Department of the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur; or (d) a degree or other qualification of any University recognized by the Government in the United Kingdom, which is equivalent to the B.E. degree of the Calcutta University.

10. A candidate for employment in the Building Department as District Building Surveyor must be qualified in one of the manners following, that is to say, he must—

(a) be a B.E. or L.E. of the Calcutta University; or

(b) be a C.E. of the Poona College of Science, Bombay University; or

(c) be a C.E. of the Thomason College, Roorkee; or (d) possess a degree or other qualification of any University recognized by the Government in the United Kingdom which is equivalent to the B. E. degree of the Calcutta University.

11. A candidate for employment as a Building Inspector must have passed—

(a) the final examination of the Civil Engineering College, Sibpur, qualifying him for employment in the Public Works Department as an Upper Subordinate; or (b) some other examination which, in the opinion of the Chairman, is equivalent thereto.

12. Nothing in these rules shall prevent any officer who is in the service of the Corporation on the 10th April 1913, whether holding an acting or substantive appointment, from being appointed to any of the posts to which these rules relate, if, in the opinion of the Chairman, any such officer, by reason of his experience or exceptional attainments, be deemed fit to hold any of the posts aforesaid, although he does not possess the qualifications prescribed by these rules. In the case of any such officer, his past service, experience and other attainments shall be deemed to be qualifications for such posts.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the proprietary right of Government, as specified in the conditions of sale below, to the undermentioned estates, situate in the district of Burdwan, will be put up to sale at the head-quarters of the Burdwan Collectorate on the 28th April 1913.

Conditions of Sale.

1st.—Each estate to be sold to the highest bidder above the upset price, which will be fixed by the Collector at the time of sale. The purchaser of the estate will be considered as the proprietor of the estate, and the entire proprietary right of Government in such estate will be transferred to him, subject to the revenue fixed in perpetuity.

2nd.—The sale to be subject to existing leases and to the rights conferred by the settlement proceedings and by the laws in force; and purchasers to be bound to respect the rights of resident cultivators who have signed the schedule of assessment prepared by the Revenue authorities.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money do not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount to be paid down at once.

4th.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100, one-fourth of the amount bid to be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale is to be cancelled (the sum deposited being forfeited to Government), and the estate to be again put up to sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt; and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

RAISING OF THE DISTRICT OF HOWRAH TO THE STATUS OF AN INDEPENDENT DIVISION.

The HON'BLE RAI HARI MOHAN CHANDRA BAHADUR, in the absence of the HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY, asked :—

I.—Will the Government be pleased to state whether it has considered the propriety of raising the district of Howrah to the status of an independent district, in regard to both Civil and Collectorate jurisdiction, and if so, whether it has arrived at any decision in respect thereof?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The question of the separation of collectorate jurisdiction was considered in 1903, and it was then decided that no change should be made.

The matter in regard to civil jurisdiction was recently considered, and Government, as at present advised, does not think that separation would be justified."

LOCATION OF A SUBORDINATE JUDGE AT HOWRAH.

The HON'BLE RAI HARI MOHAN CHANDRA BAHADUR, in the absence of the HON'BLE BABU MAHENDRA NATH RAY, asked :—

II.—In connection with the proposal under consideration to locate for the present a Subordinate Judge at Howrah to hear suits and appeals, will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) whether it has arrived at any decision in respect thereof, and (ii) whether the proposal is likely to be given effect to at an early date?

The HON'BLE MR. STEVENSON-MOORE replied :—

"The matter is still under consideration."

BENGAL BUDGET FOR 1913-14.

The discussion of the Budget adjourned from the Meeting of the 2nd April was then resumed.

The HON'BLE MAHARAJA RANAJIT SINHA of Nashipur said :—

"My Lord, I beg to offer my congratulations to the Hon'ble the Finance Member on the satisfactory budget he has laid before the Council and on the fair distribution of our income in various matters of public utility.

"Medical : Dispensary—District Board.—My Lord, there are very few districts in our Province which are not afflicted with malaria. We are grateful to your Excellency's Government for the free distribution of quinine and for the deputation of Sub-Assistant Surgeons to the interior of the districts at the time of the malarial season ; but, my Lord, malaria lasts almost seven or eight months in a year, and besides this, epidemic diseases such as cholera and smallpox break out at intervals ; so practically speaking, there is not a single month in the whole year when some disease or other does not prevail in our mufassal districts, and so the people are in great need of medical aid all the year round. There are places where there are no doctors or dispensaries and there are people who cannot afford to call doctors from distant places, and at the same time it is not possible for them to go to the headquarters of the district or subdivision for medical relief in all cases. Formerly the people were accustomed to take Ayurvedic medicines, but as the State does not encourage this system of treatment, it is gradually declining. In the mufassal it is not possible to have good Kavirajas, and what we really find is that the people are treated by quacks, and the result is that many are carried away without any medical help at all. The other day, in reply to a resolution moved by my hon'ble friend Dr. Sarkar, the Hon'ble the Vice-President expressed his sympathy with the desire of the hon'ble mover in increasing the number of dispensaries, but he said that the matter rested entirely with the District Board. As the Government is now going to supplement the resources of the District Boards by additional grants of a permanent nature, I think the Government will be justified in enjoining upon the District Boards to increase the number of outdoor dispensaries in the interior of the districts for giving medical help to the people, and I am sure that, if this could be done, several lives will be saved from untimely death.

"Municipalities.—My Lord, previously, the municipalites had the power of appointing their own medical officers for their dispensaries, but since lately they have been deprived of this privilege in cases where their dispensaries are situated at the headquarters of Subdivisions. We find that in many places only Sub-Assistant Surgeons are sanctioned for Subdivisions. In such cases if municipalities ask for the services of Assistant Surgeons, they are to contribute not the ordinary pay of the officers appointed for their dispensaries, but a fixed contribution, which is much higher than what would have been the cost of the municipalities in case they are allowed to appoint their own men. My Lord, when no medical officer could be appointed without the approval of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals, I do not see any harm if the municipalities could have the privilege of appointing their own men for their dispensaries even at the headquarters of Subdivisions. We are fully aware that the policy of the Government is not unnecessarily to interfere in the workings of the local bodies, and so I am confident that your Excellency will be pleased to restore to them the privilege which they enjoyed before.

"Nurses.—There is a great want felt amongst Indian households for proper nurses. We are grateful to Her Excellency Lady Carmichael for the keen interest she is taking in the training of Indian women for the purpose of supplying this want, and I am sure that your Excellency's Government will encourage this laudable undertaking by liberal grants in the matter.

"Jungle cutting.—My Lord, the other day I suggested jungle cutting within the municipal areas. My object was not that the Government should spend large amounts in cutting down jungles to improve the sanitation within the municipal area but what I meant was that, in the mufassal, municipal towns, almost all the houses are covered more or less not only with jungle, but with superfluous trees, so much so that they prevent light and ventilation of air and make the place unhealthy.

"Under section 195 of the Bengal Municipal Act, (Ben. Act III of 1884, it is doubtful if the Commissioners have the power to enforce the cutting down of such trees; but if the municipalities could be provided with some funds, they could easily give some money out of these, by way of compensation to the owners or occupiers of such houses, and induce them to have their trees cut down. Of course I cannot say with any certainty that the cutting of jungle or trees alone would drive away malaria from the place, but, my Lord, I am sure that, if we could get rid of jungle and superfluous trees, the sanitation of the town would undoubtedly improve.

"Water-supply.—My Lord, the other day the Hon'ble Sir William Duke, in reply to a question brought forward by my hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray, said that the Government was always ready to help the municipalities in the matter of water-supply and drainage, if proper schemes were forthcoming and for want of such schemes the Government could not spend the amount which was in its contemplation to give as grants to the local bodies. My Lord, it is the general impression in the mufassal municipalities that the Government would not contribute more than ⅓rd of the total estimated cost of such works, and that they would themselves have to provide for the balance. There are towns where there are no big zamindars or successful professional men who could easily afford to pay liberal donations to help such a laudable cause. We know that the Government is always ready to advance loans to the local bodies for such purposes, but their resources are so limited that they cannot, with ordinary incomes, repay the same, and so the Commissioners, notwithstanding their keen desire to supply their towns with water-works and proper drainage feel reluctant to approach the Government in this respect. My Lord, I think if the Government in this respect be so pleased as to have the water-works and drainage schemes prepared for them free of cost according to their real needs, the Government will be in a position to judge what sum will be needed to effect these improvements in each individual case, and then they may call upon the municipalities to contribute according to their might, and the balance may be met by the Government. So I am inclined to think that there should not be any fixed standard of contribution, but it should be decided according to the circumstances of each case.

"My Lord, we are deeply indebted to your Excellency for the keen interest you are taking for removing the long-felt want regarding the supply of pure drinking water in rural areas, and already a provision of Rs. 38,000 has been made for the appointment of Overseers to report the real condition of rural water-supply, and a further grant of Rs. 50,000 to the District Boards has been provided for the improvement of the same, and we are confident that, ere long, this will be an accomplished fact not only in the rural areas but also in the Municipal towns.

"My Lord, the other day I moved for the dredging of the river Bhagirathi, and I understand that there are several other rivers which formerly served as waterways and are now being gradually silted up. If they could be made navigable all the year round, it will not only facilitate the water traffic, but also improve the sanitation of the places through which such rivers pass.

"Police.—My Lord, as regards Police, I find that there has been a gradual increase in the expenditure under this head. I have only one suggestion to make in this respect. The hands of the Sub-Inspectors of Police in charge of thanas are so much full in submitting returns and carrying on correspondence that they seldom get sufficient time to devote for the purpose of investigating cases. So I think that if a special officer is appointed for each thana for investigating purposes alone, I am sure that there will be a marked improvement in the detection of crimes which are otherwise left undetected.

"Education.—My Lord, then as regards Education, we are extremely grateful to the Government for the gradual expenditure under this head for extending education in this country. But, my Lord, the teachers employed in lower classes of the schools are so very poorly paid, that they could hardly maintain themselves and their families in these days of hard living. Moreover, their prospects of promotions are not also encouraging. There are men who are working in this department on the same salaries for years together with a very slight increment, and it is not possible that we could expect better work from such disheartened persons. On these men depends the groundwork of our future generations, and so I appeal to my hon. friend the Director of Public Instruction that their cases may be favourably considered.

"My Lord, almost all our countrymen are nowadays convinced of the importance and utility of female education, but the difficulty is that, owing to our peculiar custom, the girls are not permitted to attend public schools after their marriageable ages, and so if some schemes could be devised to extend female education within the purda, I am sure female education in this country will expand at no distant date. In some places Mission ladies go round the houses of parda ladies to give lessons to them, and if we can secure a good number of lady teachers, they may, in some individual cases, visit the houses of parda women; in many cases may attend at some central place where parda ladies may assemble for receiving instruction.

"My Lord, the other day, in reply to my question, the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr said that the Director of Public Instruction had been considering proposals for reviving the public examination at the end of the middle English school course, and I think similar examinations in respect of lower and upper primary and middle vernacular courses should also be revived. This will be a great encouragement to the boys and girls to attend schools.

"My Lord, our Province is an agricultural one, and the boys of the primary schools are generally drawn from that class, and it will be of great use to them in their lives if they are taught how to improve their lands and increase their crops; and so, in my humble opinion, the subject of agriculture should form a part of their studies.

"Law.—My Lord, the present mode of serving summonses by peons is not only expensive but sometimes it becomes vexatious. The peons generally do not bear very good reputations, and the suitors are very much harassed in the matter of services of summonses. There is a universal complaint in this respect, and if the summonses now served in in open postcards could be served by registered post instead there will be not only a reduction in the expenditure on account of curtailment in the number of peons, but it will save a great deal of harassment and trouble to the suitors. I appeal to your Excellency's Government that this may be given a trial in a few selected districts, and that, if this system prove successful, it may be gradually extended to other districts."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"My Lord, we are grateful to the Government of India for the large assignments made by that Government mainly for education and sanitation grants which have enabled your Excellency's Government to show an opening balance amounting to Rs. 2,83,23,000 compared to the total receipts from Provincial revenues of Rs. 5,92,56,000. From the closing balance of 1912-13, however, Rs. 50,20,000 out of the 75 lakhs, Government of India non-recurring grant for education, and Rs. 13,25,000 for sanitation, i.e., a total of Rs. 63,45,000, should be excluded, as the amounts will not be actually assigned by the Government of India this year for expenditure and hence cannot be treated as receipts for the current year. The opening balance should therefore be Rs. 2,19,78,000, a little more than $\frac{1}{3}$rd of the total revenue receipts. We cannot, however, expect that the Government of India will be able year after year to grant such large sums for education and sanitation, and the question of finding ways and means to meet the demand for the expansion and improvement of education, of better and improved sanitation, the supply of pure drinking water and the development of the waterways of Bengal is a matter for the serious consideration of your Excellency's Government. The receipts from the revenues assigned to the Provincial Government by the three years' contract entered into from 1912-13 do not appear sufficient even to meet the normal expenses of the Administration on the present scale, far less to effect any improvements in some of its branches. It would not be too much to say that your Excellency's Government has the whole-hearted support of every Member of this Council in asking the Government of India that, when permanent arrangements are made, the normal revenue of this Province should suffice to meet the demands which I have enumerated above. I need hardly say that, without such permanent arrangements, no large and extensive works of a permanent character can be undertaken on the off chance of getting "Doles" from the Government of India.

"Education.—The total amount budgeted for education this year is about 1 crore and 38⅔ lakhs consisting of Rs. 25½ lakhs, the recurring grant from the Imperial Government, Rs. 52½ lakhs, the non-recurring grant from the Imperial Government and about Rs. 60 lakhs from the Provincial revenue. This is no doubt a large amount compared with the expenditure on education in previous years, but it will soon be found that they are quite inadequate to meet the demand for the expansion of education. The demand is not only for higher and improved university education, but also for better secondary education, and I regret to say that, in recent discussions on educational matters, the needs of the secondary schools have not met with that attention both from the Government and the public which they deserve. The condition of the secondary schools, both aided and unaided, is anything but satisfactory. Not only are the teachers poorly paid, but the equipments and the general outfit of the schools are far from approaching an ideal condition, while in many instances the schoolhouses are not suitable places where boys can be trained to a high ideal. It must be remembered that they are the nursing grounds from which students go to the university and the professions. Unless the boys are properly trained in schools, they cannot take proper advantage of the higher education imparted to them in colleges. It is necessary therefore that the school authorities must have sufficient funds at their disposal to enable them to improve the condition of the school buildings, as well as the tutorial staff. In reply to a question asked by me at a recent meeting of the Council, the Government were pleased to say that the principle governing the grant of aids to secondary schools is that the grant-in-aid should not ordinarily exceed ½ of the total income derived from the school fees, subscriptions and contributions from sources other than Government, but as a matter of fact the contributions by Government very rarely, if ever, come to that limit and generally are only about ⅓th or ¼th or even less of the total income derived by the school instead of being ½rd as it seems to be the intention of Government. Not only is it necessary that this ½ limit of Government contribution should be insisted on as the minimum, but also that a much larger non-recurring grant should actually be given in a more liberal spirit than is now being done to the schools for general equipment.

"The question of the development of university education—general, medical and technical—has been prominently before the public and the Government of late, and the policy of Government in founding a residential university at Dacca has generally met with public approval; but what we do not understand is why the same help which the Government intend to extend to the Dacca University should not also be extended to the existing University in Calcutta for the development of higher education.

"Calcutta University and proposed Dacca University.—The Government were pleased to appoint a Committee for the purpose of preparing a scheme for the Dacca University. I must say at the outset that I am not one of those who are against the establishment of a university at Dacca, though I may not agree with all the recommendations contained in the Report. But certain suggestions are made in the Report, I mean the Report of the Dacca University, about the staff to be appointed for teaching Arts and Science. "There is a further point in connection with the recruitment of the staff of the new University", we read in the Report (Chapter X), "on which we desire to lay special stress. It is highly desirable, especially at the outset, that a limited number of professors of eminence should be appointed on special terms. Their qualifications and attainments should be of the very highest; and it is necessary to get men of the greatest distinction that it would, in our opinion, be justifiable to offer the large salaries necessary to secure their services. A sum of even Rs. 2,000 a month would not in our opinion be excessive, and we recognise that even for this amount men of the kind contemplated may not be easily procurable. In general, men of about 40 years of age will be best, as younger men will not have had the necessary experience. Younger men of brilliant parts and great promise would also be of immense service to the new university; hence we suggest that in recruiting Indian Educational Service officers, the initial salary of Rs. 500 should be exceeded in any case where this is found necessary. Similarly, in order that suitable men may be attracted by the offer of good salaries, the new officers of the Provincial Educational Service should not all be recruited in the lower grades, and as the new posts will be distributed throughout the grades, this plan can be adopted without injury to officers already in the Service."

"It is necessary, however, to see what is being done for the Calcutta University or the Presidency College—the only purely Government Arts and Science College in Calcutta. In answering this question I have consulted the last Calendar of the Calcutta University, and the last Quarterly Civil List of Bengal. It appears from the list of Instructive Staff as given in the University Calendar that there are four professors who are drawing a salary of Rs. 1,000, four drawing a salary of Rs. 700, two drawing a salary of Rs. 650, four drawing a salary of Rs. 600, two drawing a salary of Rs. 550, two drawing a salary of Rs. 300, one drawing a salary of Rs. 250, five drawing a salary of Rs. 200, and there are a few others (whose names I could not find in the Civil List, and who I think must be temporary professors) probably drawing a salary of Rs. 150 to Rs. 200.

"Now, if we look to the history of services of these professors, what do we find? We find that some of the professors who are drawing a salary of Rs. 1,000 have 20 years' service to their credit—men like Mr. James and others.

"Is it proper that the Calcutta University, the Presidency College—the premier College in India—should be starved while money is spent in other quarters? Is it not a fact that boys by hundreds cannot get admission in the Presidency College in Calcutta owing to inadequate staff and insufficient accommodation? I do not by this mean to object to the appointment of good professors in the Dacca University, if it is necessary to appoint such professors for its efficiency. What I do say, however,—and say with all the emphasis I can command—make the Calcutta University, or at least the Presidency College in Calcutta a model College equipped with the best staff in Science and Arts with accommodation for a much larger number of students before you think of spending any money anywhere else for educational purposes; that if more money has to be spent, it ought to be spent first for the bettering of the Calcutta University and the Presidency College.

"The Calcutta University will, I need hardly say, attract, for a long time to come, by far the major portion of the student community of the Province even if the development of the Calcutta University cannot proceed for want of funds. There is a spirit of education pervading the whole atmosphere round College Square and where, I need hardly say, a proper teaching university might be established. It must be admitted on all hands that the work by the Calcutta University during the past seven or eight years fully justifies the claim for more liberal treatment at the hands of Government. One more word with reference to this subject.

"Is it not worth considering before the Dacca University is started and its teaching staff appointed whether professors on a salary of Rs. 1,800 or Rs. 2,000 are really necessary to make the Dacca University a success? Men like Professors Tawney, Croft, Elliott, Pedler and last but not the least the present worthy Director of Public Instruction, the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler, have spent their lives in the Presidency College on a salary of Rs. 500 rising to Rs. 1,500. On a consideration of these facts I hope Government will see their way not to spend money in the way they have been advised to spend at Dacca.

"While on the subject of education I must acknowledge with thanks the contribution of two lakhs of rupees by Government to the Calcutta University Institute. Your Lordship has taken a personal and a paternal interest in the welfare of the student community, and it is but befitting that the Institute should get a local habitation during your Lordship's administration.

"Medical Education.—The question of giving greater facilities for proper medical training, which the present Medical College in Calcutta is unable to give, is one deserving of the serious consideration of Government. It is probably a fact not unknown to your Lordship's Government that year after year a large number of students, who seek admission in the Calcutta Medical College, have to be refused admission owing to insufficient teaching staff and accommodation. I am informed that only about a tenth of the applicants are fortunate enough in getting themselves admitted. There is a large number of Arts Colleges not only in Calcutta but in Dacca, Rajshahi, Patna, Chittagong and Barisal. I do not take into account the Arts Colleges at Cuttack, Sylhet and Gauhati, which are now outside this Province. In the proposed Dacca University, there will no doubt be a Medical College, but arrangements are to be made to admit only 50 students a year. That will not be sufficient to meet the want. My Hon'ble friend Dr. Sarbadhikari asked for a grant of five lakhs of rupees or a substantial amount to help in the establishment of private Medical Schools in Calcutta. The reply, however, of the Hon'ble Mr. Kuchler was far from reassuring. If the Government be not willing to help any private Medical School or College in Calcutta, it ought to open more classes for boys to receive medical training in the Calcutta Medical College. I think that, with an initial grant of three lakhs of rupees and an additional recurring expenditure of about a lakh of rupees per annum, the Government will be able to found six or seven chairs with the necessary assistants in the present Medical College. The appointment of additional professors and assistants will enable Government to open additional classes in the Calcutta Medical College and supply a real want of the educated community of the Province.

"There is another matter in this connection which I ought to mention for the consideration of Government. There is, so far as I am aware, at present no hostel attached to the Calcutta Medical College except probably one for the military students. Hostels are now attached almost to every Arts College in the Province. If there is any class of students, who require a hostel, it is the students of the Medical College. They have not only to attend the College during lecture hours, but have to be on duty to attend to the patients of the Medical College Hospital both during day time and at night. It is therefore a legitimate grievance with them that, like the students of other colleges, they have no proper accommodation. When the old Hindu Hostel was in existence, not only students of the Arts Colleges but students of the Calcutta Medical College had accommodation there. But now the Government Hostel is practically a hostel for the students of the Presidency College.

"We know that these questions require funds to be solved, but what we want is that funds should be found by Government for these purposes and that, in making their contract with the Government of India for assignment of revenue, your Excellency's Government will take into consideration all these facts. We are no doubt thankful to the Government of India for their recent policy on educational questions, but we cannot take for granted that the future development of education in this Presidency should depend on grants from the Government of India. If they are able to find funds for the expansion of primary education, that would be enough.

"I would also suggest for the consideration of your Excellency's Government the question of establishing an Education Board to advise Government not only on the educational problems but also on the question of proper expenditure of the Provincial and Imperial grants on education. Such a Board it is expected, would be in a better position to bring to the notice of Government the needs and requirements of educational institutions and advise the head of the Education Department in the proper distribution of Government grants. When every school in the Province has a school committee, why should not the Member in charge of the Education portfolio be assisted by a Committee consisting of Members from among the Members of Council and others whom the Government may think proper to appoint?"

"Provincial, Judicial, Executive and Educational Services.—I want to say a few words about the salaries and prospects of the Provincial, Judicial, Executive and Educational Services. It is a matter of great satisfaction that a sum of Rs. 50,000 has been provided in the Budget estimates as a provision for the regrading of Munsifs. We hope and trust these hard-working and deserving officers will get the increment which they richly deserve. The Royal Commission is now holding its sittings to report on the salaries and prospects of the entire Public Service in India. It will, I think, take a number of years for the Commission to submit its report. By the time the recommendations of the Commission are published and steps taken to carry them out, members of the Provincial Judicial Service, who are at present in the lowest grade of Sub-Judges or who are first-grade Munsifs, and members of the Executive Service who are in receipt of a salary of Rs. 500 or Rs. 600 and also a large number of Members of the Provincial Educational Service will have retired from the Service. A number of deserving men will thus be deprived of being sharers in a scheme of promotion.

"If newspaper reports be correct, the Punjab Government, and probably the Governments of the Central and United Provinces of Agra and Oudh have recently sent in schemes through the Government of India to the Secretary of State for facilitating the promotion of members of the Covenanted Civil Service, as there has been a block in their promotion in those provinces. I would earnestly and respectfully ask the Government to consider if it is not possible to frame such a scheme at the present moment by which the members of the Provincial, Judicial and Executive and Educational Services may have their prospects bettered. The answer given by the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler in answer to my hon'ble friend Dr. Sarbadhikari that papers are already before the Secretary of State with reference to the members of the Provincial Educational Service is no doubt of an assuring character.

"As regards the members of the Provincial Executive Service, they are no doubt known as the pet children of Government. But I do not think anything in reality has been done by Government to further their salaries and prospects except perhaps increasing the salary of the lowest grade of Deputy Magistrates and Deputy Collectors from Rs. 200 to Rs. 250. I need hardly say that they form the backbone of the Administration of the Province—upon their devoted heads falls the brunt of the work. It is therefore but meet and proper that something should now be done by Government on behalf of a deserving class of public servants in the shape of giving at least temporary allowances.

"In this connection I think I ought to bring another matter to the notice of Government. This is so far as I am aware not a new matter. It was brought to the notice of Government before. I think Government should give accommodation not only to Subdivisional Officers, but to all members, both of the Provincial, Executive and Judicial Services, if possible free of cost, or only at a nominal rent. In some places in the mufassal it is very difficult to get any accommodation at all—accommodation in which a gentleman, one in the position of a Munsif or a Deputy Magistrate can live. Government derive a large income from the Law Courts. Why should not Government keep their servants contented, happy and comfortable?

"District Boards and Local Boards.—I think it proper to speak a few words about District Boards and Local Boards. It had been their constant complaint that on account of want of funds they could not carry out the necessary improvements. That they have done good work with the limited means at their disposal admits of no doubt. In the Administration Report of Bengal for the year 1910-11, we read "within the limits of its present resources the Administration continues to progress steadily and without friction." Formation of village Committees which ought to have been extended long ago have not been so extended. This fact has been emphasised in the Report already quoted. "It is absolutely useless", says the Report, "to urge the extension of the system of village committees, unless resources are placed at their disposal sufficient to permit of their executing some works of utility, and at first they must necessarily rely mainly upon the District Boards. At present the working of unions is condemned from year to year, whereas, as a matter of fact, they have had little or no work to perform, and the experiment is of such importance, if village government in Bengal is ever to become a reality, that it should no longer continue to be handicapped by the financial difficulties which have so far impeded it."

"'The crying want,' says the Report, 'of all District Boards is an enhanced revenue, and the development of Local Boards and village unions must continue to be hampered until that can be secured.'

"I think the Government of India have at last solved the problem of financial difficulties of the District Boards and their dependencies. By the recurring grant of 25 lakhs of rupees to these Boards, viz., the amount to Public Works cess, we think the District Boards of Bengal will be able to stand on their own legs and be able to carry out many necessary improvements."

"Sanitation.—We are all thankful to the Government of India for assigning a recurring grant of 5 lakhs and a non-recurring grant of 20 lakhs for urban sanitation. To our lay minds the question of sanitation is mainly a question of the supply of pure water and the improvement of drainage.

"On the 14th March, I brought forward a resolution before this Council recommending to your Lordship's Government to spend the amount of 20 lakhs, or rather 6¾ lakhs out of the sum of 20 lakhs, which was available this year from out of the Imperial grant of 20 lakhs for sanitation, for water-supply and the improvement of drainage. The fate of the resolution is well known. I was told that nearly 22 lakhs had been set apart in the Budget for sanitation. I carefully read the Financial Statement, and all that I said was from the Financial Statement. What I then said and what I still say is that the gift of 20 lakhs of rupees from the Government of India was a large gift, and that as water-supply and the improvement of drainage are the crying needs of the Province, and as by the grant of the Public Works cess to the District Boards amounting to about 25 lakhs of rupees per annum, those needs of the District Board will be supplied, and as the mufassal municipalities are generally poor—unable to make both ends meet—this dear and precious gift from the Government of India may be spent in meeting, however partially, the two crying needs of the Province. I never said nor did I mean to say that this was the only amount to be spent for water-supply and the improvement of drainage. This is to be over and above the amount of the Provincial grant for sanitation. The country still hopes that, though my resolution was not carried nor accepted by Government, and though the amount has not been earmarked for the particular purposes I proposed, still the Government will be pleased to see that the amount is spent for no other purpose.

"Mufassal towns and villages are being depopulated by malaria and cholera, the result of want of pure drinking water and proper drainage. Ask anyone you like, anyone of those who have the misfortune of living in a mufassal town or village, and he will tell you, that what they want is pure drinking water. The want is deeply felt and there is no doubt about the matter. It is for your Lordship's Government to see that the legitimate and the just demands of the people are adequately supplied.

"If I may be allowed to make a suggestion with reference to this question, I should say in many cases municipalities are not at all aware of the fact that Government have the intention of assisting them in their efforts to get pure drinking water or improved drainage. What Government ought to do now is to ask all municipalities if they are in need of pure drinking water and drainage, and if their answer be in the affirmative to ask them to send matured schemes either prepared by the Sanitary Engineer or by any other competent authority and when they are so received by the Government to ascertain what share of the expenses the municipalities are prepared to bear and what amount the Government are prepared to contribute towards such expenses. In many cases municipalities will be only too glad to carry on the work with the help of a fairly substantial contribution from Government.

"I think, my Lord, the municipalities can legitimately claim a fair contribution from Government in all works of sanitation and improvement. Such contributions are made in European countries. We read, "Government subscriptions from a source of Municipal revenue almost unknown a half century ago, but now a striking feature in the Municipal budgets of the European cities. They may be divided into two classes : special subsidies and general grants, the former being for certain special purposes to which their use is limited, while the latter are a fixed share of certain revenues collected by the general Government, which are available for the general purposes of the Municipalities."

"In Great Britain, the system of general grants was established in 1888, replacing former special subsidies, by assigning to the local authorities the whole or part of the revenue from certain succession duties (inheritance taxes) license-taxes, and four-tenths of the probate duties, to which was added in 1891 additional revenue from duties on beer and spirits. The income from these local taxation licenses is nearly stationary and does not tend to increase with the growth of local expenditure. The revenue from both classes of Government grants in Great Britain is about £11,000,000, which is 15 per cent. of the total ordinary local revenue excluding loans." (Fairlies' Municipal Administration.)

"Irrigation.—While on the question of sanitation, I think I should say a few words about the allied question of irrigation. In many cases the question of irrigation is a question of the drainage of a locality. Schemes like the Magrahât drainage scheme are necessary to be carried out throughout the country ; so also the question of the clearing of the silted-up rivers and canals. A good flowing river or canal is not only a source of pure drinking water, a means of cheap communication, and a source of irrigation for the fields when rain fails, but also for the drainage of the country. In considering the question of the improvement of canals and silted-up rivers, it will not do simply to see whether the expenses incurred on them brings in a return from the tolls levied on boats of cargo sufficient to cover the interest and maintenance charges for the future. Expenditure for the supply of pure drinking water or for improvement of drainage does not bring a definite return in the shape of income. It must be remembered that insurance against flood and dearth of water is a most productive and useful expenditure. The question of the waterways of Bengal should, in my opinion, be tackled only in this way.

"I hope and trust that before the year 1913-14 closes, the scheme for widening the Tolly's Nala and of having a new steamer or ship-going canal from the Hooghly to the Bidyadhari or the Sundarbans will be taken up in hand. This proposal has been before Government for more than ten years. I hope this Government will not rest satisfied by simply sending up a scheme to the Government of India, but see that the project is taken in hand as early as practicable.

"Larger powers to Municipalities and District Boards.—I think the time has come to give greater power to the Municipalities and District Boards. The Royal Commission upon Decentralisation in India made the following recommendation in 1909. In volume I, paragraph 843, of their Report, they say, "We consider that municipalities should have a free hand in regard to their budgets, though these should go through the Collector, to the Commissioner for information, and that the only check required is that such municipality should maintain a minimum standing balance to be prescribed by the municipality. They cannot make real progress if constantly kept in financial leading strings, nor can local self-government become a a reality if local bodies are habitually protected against themselves ".

"It is only to three or four Municipalities that the larger powers recommended by the Royal Commission have been given. I think the time has come when this power should be given, if not to all, at least to a much larger number of municipalities. I think larger powers should be given to District and Local Boards as well. The District Boards have been in existence for more than a quarter of a century, and if, even after this long training in local self-government, District Boards are not to have their own Chairman, then there must be something radically wrong in the training received by my countrymen. It is worth while to make an experiment at least tentatively in some of the districts of the Province.

"While speaking of education, I have advocated the establishment of an Education Board. I think the time has come when it is necessary to have not only an Education Board but also an Advisory Board or some such Board as the Central Board suggested by my hon'ble friend Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur to help the member in charge of the Department of Sanitation,—of Municipalities and District Boards. With the large grants both from the Provincial revenue and Government of India for Sanitation and Education, with the larger responsibilities thrown upon the Provincial Governments, it is necessary that there should be Advisory Boards to help Government in the proper expenditure thereof. If there are persons, Members of your Lordship's Council, willing to assist the Government with their advice and co-operation, I think the time has come when such assistance should be availed of.

"I hope, however, to speak on this subject at a future time."

THE HON'BLE MR. CHAKRAVARTI said :—

"My Lord, before I address myself to the budget itself, if I may be permitted to make one or two suggestions with regard to the procedure of this House, I will suggest that, as regards the Financial Statement, if the exigencies of office permit, the Financial Statement may be presented to the Members, from time to time at various stages, a little earlier in order to enable them to study the statement; I think it would save the time of the House and also it would enable the Hon'ble Members to frame their resolutions after due consideration.

"The other suggestion which I venture to make is this. With regard to any intended legislation, if the draft Bill were published about two or three months before the time that it was introduced in this Council, and both the public and the Hon'ble Members had an opportunity of considering the provisions of the new measure of law, I venture to think that a great deal of grievance which is now being felt, will be removed.

"Then, My Lord, coming to the question of the budget itself, I am in complete accord with some of the Hon'ble Members who have referred to the grievances that we have at the present moment, with regard to the control over our own revenues. Time will come, I sincerely hope, when we shall have complete control over our own revenues. As long as we do not get complete control of that, all that we can do is to look after what little we have. It was pointed out by the Hon'ble Sir William Duke that, apart from all assignments or allotments made by the Supreme Government, we have only about 11 lakhs for non-recurring expenditure. This is not a very large sum of money, and all that we can say is that, in course of time, the Imperial Government will find it both convenient, and at the same time just, that we should have control over our own revenues, we contributing our own share to the Imperial exchequer. But as long as that does not happen, I venture to think that if it were possible for the Government to give the Finance Committee more scope for dealing with the budget than what it is now, that is instead of the Finance Committee being obliged only to deal with the very small fraction of the grants, but the whole budget itself, I think the non-official members who are elected for the purpose of assisting the Committee, will find some useful work in making suggestions.

"Then, My Lord, with regard to a small matter of expenditure, I desire to draw the attention of Government. Those who have anything to do with the original side of the High Court, have for a long time felt the necessity for short-hand-writers to take down evidence in what are technically called witness-actions I am told, my Lord, that an application was made long ago by the High Court, and that the application was not acceded to. The expenditure is, after all, very, very small, and non-official European members, who are on this side of the House, will agree with me that it is often extremely difficult to take down evidence, especially if the witness happens to be an English-speaking one, and the writer writes long hand, and, in the result, the notes of evidence taken down do not represent the evidence which the witness has given.

"Passing on to the question of local bodies, the rural Boards and mufassil municipalities, the position seems to me to be very disappointing. The municipalities number 111 in this Presidency, with a population of about 20 lakhs, and taking the grant of Rs. 5 lakhs made by the Government, the total income for 1911-1912, was 50 lakhs, and thus the income is not even Rs. 50,000 for each municipality. It is not to be expected that they will be able to do very much.

"Then, My Lord, if we take the question of the district boards, there are 25 of them, and their income, all told, is Rs. 60 lakhs, including a sum of Rs. 6 lakhs granted by the Government. They have to deal with a population of 4¼ crores, something like 41 millions, and they have to deal with an area of 68 thousand square miles, and by a simple calculation the result is this, that the amount of expenditure which they can devote to public purposes is only Rs. 88-4 per year per square mile. If the same figure is taken in another way, we have the enormous sum of 2½ annas annually per head of the population with regard to district boards. After all, it seems that the complaint which is made for money is certainly legitimate.

"My Lord, with regard to these rural boards and mufassil municipalities, I frankly confess that there has been a charge and it probably is, to a certain extent, justifiable that they are somewhat, apathetic but the scope which is given to them, is also very, very limited, and if they find that they cannot possibly exercise their functions with any hope of beneficial results, the result is no doubt apathy. We have heard a great deal about efficiency. I am certainly in favour of efficiency of every kind, and efficiency in district boards and also in rural boards, but for the purpose for which the Local Self-Government Act was passed, the question of efficiency was not considered as of the same importance as the education of the people in self-government.

"If I may appeal to what Your Excellency yourself said, when Governor of Madras, with regard to efficiency, I certainly venture to think that even at the sacrifice of a little efficiency if the district boards and the rural boards have more scope for the purpose of controlling their own affairs it would be for their benefit. The same view was taken by the Royal Commission on Decentralization, and therefore I venture to think that, apart from giving these district boards and rural boards more funds, they ought to be given more control over their own affairs.

"Now, My Lord, as regards elementary and secondary education, much has already been said; probably some Hon'ble Members will say something more. In regard to higher education, I would only allude to this in passing, because the Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar has dealt with the Sibpur College and the Maharaja-Dhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan has dealt with the college for the well-to-do classes in the proposed University of Dacca.

"I am entirely at one with them, but I regret that I cannot agree with my Hon'ble friend to my left (the Raja of Kakina) with regard to the criticism that he has made in connection with the well-to-do college. As the Hon'ble Maharaja of Burdwan has pointed out, even assuming that we have a well recognized demand in respect of this, it is only for the good of us all that we should work together in the same college, take part in the same games, and ought to have all inequalities of ours rubbed off and make us all associate with each other.

"Now, as regards agriculture. I have had something to say in this Council a short time ago, and I only allude to it for the purpose of meeting the remark of the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr, when he said that it would be sheer waste of money to make experiments with regard to agricultural improvements, because the ordinary peasant would not avail himself of the experiment on account of want of means on his own part. If that were logically carried into effect, the result will be a condemnation even of the Rangpur scheme; but I rather think that what the Hon'ble Member meant was that the expenditure, if incurred at all, ought to be cautious. I welcome what fell from him with regard to farming experiments at Rangpur; but, at the same time, I venture to suggest that it will be found possible to start similar experimental farms in other parts of the country; because I do not desire that the failure of one farm—supposing that the Rangpur farm fails—should result in the condemnation of the system itself. It may be that, on account of the local conditions of Rangpur or on account of the peculiar management, the particular experiment may not succeed. However, my view is, I may be mistaken, that the only way we can solve the problem of unemployment is by inducing people to go back to their villages, and go back to agriculture. The question always is as regards the employment of a larger and larger number of men who get education from the Universities and from other institutions as to what they are going to do in their after-life. The one cry is more appointment, but even if every employment were thrown open to the people of the country, there would not be, in the course of time, sufficient employment for all the men who are being educated Therefore, the only way to furnish a second string to their bow is to make them return to agriculture, which I venture to think is a healthy occupation, and to which they ought to be induced to resort.

"The next subject, to which I would like to allude, is the question to which the Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerji referred. We have been very much disturbed with recent instances of restlessness and disorder in our midst. For the checking of these acts the Government have had to rely on the energy and acumen of the Police. The expenses under this head have, as it has been pointed out, steadily increased, the present budget proving no exception in this respect. There is the old, and not altogether unjustifiable, prejudice against the Police, and the people in general are deterred, by fear of consequences, from rendering the assistance which facilitates detective operations. Moreover, as the Statesman has very properly observed, the illiterate character of the people renders it impracticable to utilize those methods of publicity which, in European countries, enable the entire law abiding community to co-operate in the work of detection. My Lord, I gather from what I have heard within this Council Chamber and outside, that there seems to be a general desire for co-operation between the Government and the public. Will it not be fitting in the nature of things that, at this juncture when lawlessness and disorder are out and about, and the police appear to be powerless either to detect or prevent them, the Government should evince its desire for co-operation by taking the people into their confidence, and by supplying respectable persons in different selected areas with fire-arms and weapons, so that they may feel that in protecting the lives and the property of themselves and their neighbours they are also co-operating with the Police and the Government in suppressing violent acts of lawlessness and disorder?

"My Lord, all the suggestions that I have made to-day, whether in the sphere of legislation, finance, local self-government or protection are calculated to remove the utter helplessness of the people, as the Amrita Bazar Patrika puts it, and to foster the growth of manliness amongst the people. The problems that the Government and the people alike have to face are the problems of rural depopulation and urban congestion. The cry of water-supply, the cry for sanitary reform, the cry of agricultural indebtedness, the cry of illiteracy, the cry for protection against lawnessness, should all be replaced by the cry "Back to the land," "Back to the country," "Back to the old village system." Otherwise, we shall never get rid of the grievances that we have got already but we shall, in a short time, add to them all the horrors of socialism and all the dangers and difficulties of modern industrialism. Not that they can be absolutely prevented, but that is no reason why they should not be checked and kept, if possible, within bounds. What does the cry "Back to the land, mean? It means and implies either that the old village system should be revived in its entirety, or that the rural boards and the village-union should be reconstructed on a thoroughly popular basis. In either case it is necessary that the people in rural areas should be allowed to police their own villages, settle, if possible, their own disputes, spend their own local rates, adapt elementary education to the needs of their locality, look after their own sanitary requirements—in one word, have complete control over their own local affairs. In order to achieve this, CO-OPERATION between the Government and the people and their confidence in each other are necessary. Mere homilies on co-operation and confidence within the walls of this House and outside will not do. They do more harm than good. The people require concrete instances to convince themselves that the Government is in earnest in these matters. The ground is ready. Will the Government rise to the height of the occasion and take advantage of the situation? It is for the Government alone to do it. Co-operation, My Lord, is a plant of slow growth. It requires delicate nursing and does not flourish in an atmosphere of inequalities and suspicion. It does not mean blind subserviency. It is far from espionage. May God grant Your Lordship's Government strength and statesmanship to utilize this splendid opportunity, which will result in the lasting good of the Rulers and the Ruled, that is the prayer of the people committed to Your Excellency's care."

THE HON'BLE MAULVI F. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ said :—

"MY LORD—In offering a few remarks on the budget now before us, I wish I had sufficient time to discuss the allotments in expenditure on the various items of absorbing public interest. I feel, however, that it is impossible to go into details on any subject of real importance in the course of discussions of a discursive character within the compass of 15 fleeting minutes. For economy of time I will not, therefore, go over the ground already covered by the speeches of some of the Hon'ble Members, but will confine my remarks on the subject of education, with special reference to the needs and requirements of the Muhammadan community.

"My Lord, if human memory is short, official memories are very much shorter, and I am not surprised that within the twelve months that have elapsed since the annulment of the Partition, officials have managed to forget their special obligations to the Muhammadan community. Only the other day, the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler seemed to be somewhat impatient of criticism on the subject of Muhammadan education, and he actually complained that Muhammadan leaders are slow to acknowledge the help and assistance which Government has all along given to Muhammadans in the matter of education. If the remark had been made previous to the 12th of December 1911, I would have considered it necessary to attempt a justification of our attitude in agitating for increased privileges, and for a wider recognition of the claims of our community on the resources of the State in educational matters. But I do not think that, after that memorable date, officials can expect that Muhammadans will consent to talk of their grievances with bated breath, or continue to brood over their lot in silent dispair. I would only remind the officials that they are in honour bound to render adequate compensations to the Muhammadan community for all the grievious wrong inflicted on them by the unceremonious annulment of the Partition. My Lord, it seems to me that officials make a very fundamental mistake with regard to the claims of Muhammadans on the Government, whether it be the question of State patronage, grant of political rights or privileges, or expenditure from provincial revenues for promoting Muhammadan education, or other matters of special interest to the community. We are often told that we have got our share, and we should not complain. But those who say so seem to forget that we claim not only our share, but also a substantial excess throughout. Our share we claim as our indefeasible right, and the excess we claim by way of compensation for the wrong done to us by the annulment of the Partition. This is the view of the general Muhammadan public, and if the officials will not meet the demands in full, there is certain to be discontent in the community. Whether the discontent would be worth the consideration of the Government is a different question. The situation is no doubt an embarrassing one, but it.

has been deliberately created by the officials themselves, and they must be prepared to face it bravely.

"My Lord, in the despatch of August 25th the Government of India pledged itself to see that Muhammadan interests would not be affected by the change brought about by the annulment of the Partition. More than eighteen months have elapsed since then, and it is time to see how far the solemn promises have been fulfilled. When His Excellency the Viceroy visited Dacca shortly after the Durbar announcements, every one expected that His Excellency will be able to announce something particularly gratifying to the Muhammadan community. We got the announcement about the Dacca University, but I must confess that it fell far short of our expectations. I do not wish to belittle the importance of the Dacca University as a factor in preventing a set-back in the educational advancement of Eastern Bengal, or the incalculable advantages of a residential University in the centre of that large Muhammadan population. But I wish to protest against the theory that the University is meant to benefit Muhammadans alone, or that it can be regarded as a definite step towards a conciliation of Muhammadan feelings. The Viceroy has distinctly said that the University is, as it should be, for the benefit of Hindus and Muhammadans alike. Its area of operations has been curtailed, out of deference to the apprehensions of the Hindu community lest it would lead to a revival of the effects of the Partition. Even the proposed Muhammadan College and the establishment of a faculty of Islamic studies in connection with the University, cannot be credited to any particular desire to favour the Muhammadan community. For more than half a century, Government has maintained a purely Hindu College at Calcutta, with all its elaborate staff and necessary equipments, and the Muhammadan College at Dacca would only be a very tardy recognition of the long neglected claims of the Muhammadan community. As for the department of Islamic studies, it is only a natural incident in the curriculum of studies of a University in a part of the country where the Muhammadans have long evinced an eager desire for Arabic and Persian learning. It may not be generally known that the Eastern districts contribute an overwhelming majority of the students in the Madrasahs of Bengal, and an University without any provisions for the literary aptitudes and requirements of this class of the population would have been wholly unjustifiable. I hope officials will understand that, although the Muhammadans have voted in favour of the Dacca University, they do not consider it as any particular favour done to them, not even with the special provisions for a Muhammadan College or a faculty of Islamic studies.

"My Lord, not only is the Muhammadan college at Dacca a stern necessity and an act of bare justice to our community, but I maintain that the time has come for the establishment of a first grade college in Arts for the Muhammadans in Calcutta. It may be interesting to Hon'ble Members to know that the question of such a Muhammadan college engaged the attention of Government so early as the year 1871. In a Minute by the then Lieutenant-Governor, Sir George Campbell, dated the 13th April 1871, to a committee appointed to report on the affairs of the Calcutta Madrasah, His Honour asked the Committee to consider whether the Hooghly College was to remain a general college with a Muhammedan school attached, or whether there ought to be a separate Muhammadan college. More than 40 years have since elapsed; and in the course of this time not only has there been no such college, but even the college classes of the Calcutta Madrasah have been actually abolished for the sake of economy. The Hon'ble Mr. Küchler very triumphantly pointed out the other day that 70 Muhammadan boys are permitted to read in the Presidency College on a fee of Rs. 2 a month. True, but does Mr. Küchler remember that, by abolishing the college classes in the Madrasah, Government was in honour bound to provide instruction for boys who would otherwise have prosecuted their studies at that institution? The present arrangement is not only no favour conferred, but an actual and keenly felt inconvenience to Muhammadan students. There being no Muhammadan hostel in the vicinity of the Presidency College, boarders from the Elliot and Baker Hostels have to trudge along two miles after a hurried breakfast in order to attend lectures at the Presidency College.

Moreover, the restriction on admission imposed by the authorities of the Presidency College is wholly unjust and unfair to the Muhammedan community. When these matters were brought to the notice of the authorities, the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler pointed out in a letter No. 165, dated the 5th October 1910, addressed to the Secretary of the Provincial Muhammedan Educational Conference, that "in view of the general limitation of the numbers that may be admitted to the Presidency College, the limit as far as the Muhammdans are concerned cannot on any account be relaxed." These are no doubt words of authority. But may we also enquire why the College classes of the Madrasah were abolished at all, and boys now either compelled to drag themselves two miles off for instruction which they might have obtained nearer home, or made to run the risk of being turned out under arbitrary rules? On this point I cannot do better than quote a few sentences from a pamphlet entitled "The Mussalmans of Bengal, how they remain uneducated" prepared by the Moslem students of Calcutta themselves, and which deals with the question in a remarkable manner. "The limit of numbers of Moslem students to be admitted into the Presidency College was imposed in 1908, and naturally the authorities thought that a limit which represented 14 more than the average number admitted to Presidency College during the year 1902-07, was liberal enough. But in matters of this character the average of a number of years is likely to be as misleading as the calculation which bases the height of a door on the average height of mankind. It does not provide for the years in which the average is exceeded, and it does not take into account the increase of numbers which is likely to be still greater in future. On the contrary, it takes account of the recent past which, in the case of Muhammadan education, has been notoriously inglorious. If a limit is to be imposed, it must be imposed in the case of communities which practically monopolise the College, rather than in the case of the community which is invariably accused of apathy and ignorance. But even if it be conceded that a limit may be placed on the number of Muhammadan students, it must not be based on an average of past years, but on the maximum, and it should take into account the growing increase in the number of Mussalmans who are successful in the various University Examinations." My Lord, I have not had time to interpellate the Government on the subject, but I learn from private sources that in 1911 more than 200 Muhammadan students were refused admission into various colleges in Calcutta. Have the officials seriously considered the inevitable effects of the bitter disappointments which these refusals cause, not only to the boys, but also to the community as a whole? It is well-known that when English education was first introduced into this country, the Muhammadans held aloof from it because, in the words of Mr. E. C. Bayley "however good in itself, it made no concession to their prejudices and was, in its nature, unavoidably antagonistic to their interests and at variance with their social traditions". The result was that the Muhammadan community, to quote the words of Sir William Hunter "with one consent spurned the instructions of idolators through the medium of idolatory". It is thus evident that if the Muhammadans did not take kindly to English education at the beginning, the fault did not lay with the Muhammadans alone. But now that the initial prejudices have been removed, and Muhammadans are coming forward in increasing numbers to avail themselves of English education, artificial restrictions are being imposed which will inevitably have the effect of putting a brake on Muhammadan educational progress.

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler treated us the other day to a lengthy homily on what the Government has hitherto done to promote Muhammadan education. For all that has been actually done, we are truly thankful, but I hope the Hon'ble Member will excuse us if we decline to be grateful for mere promises. He has referred us to Sir Harcourt Butler's speech at Delhi, and is happy to announce that the Government of India is about to address the Local Governments on the subject of Muhammadan education. We are glad to hear it, but we prefer to wait and see what is actually going to be done. The Government of India has been going on addressing Local Governments on this subject ever since the famous education despatch of 1854, and if elaborate schemes and pious wishes expressed eloquently in Government Resolutions, could be accepted in lieu of actual fulfilments, the Muhammadan community would have every reason to congratulate themselves on the zeal and earnestness displayed by officials in promoting the cause of Muhammadan education. But unfortunately, the net result of all this official activity for the past sixty years comes to this, that in this year of grace 1913, there are more than 350 Muhammadan students who are living in gutters and bye-places of this city for want of the most ordinary hostel accommodation, while hundreds of Muhammadans boys have to give up their studies every year on being refused admission into the existing colleges in Calcutta. We have had enough of these resolutions, these well-meant promises and unredeemed pledges which bode no more good for the Muhammadan community than did the 'settled fact' of the Partition. The statement of the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr in Council the other day is somewhat hopeful, as it refers to matters which can be called somewhat definite. But unfortunately, even the provisions to which the Hon'ble Member referred, valuable as they are, are far from being adequate. The extension of the Baker and Elliot Hostels will hardly meet even the present demand, while the mufassil schemes appear to be grossly inadequate and insufficient. The condition for reservation of a fifth of the seats for Muhammadans in hostels attached to aided colleges is a salutary provision of the Provincial grant, but even this will not take us very far. In a couple of years the rush for accommodation will bring things to nearly the same pass as at present, and there will practically be a deadlock in progress unless fresh provisions are made again on a liberal scale.

"My Lord, I have already urged the case for the establishment of a Muhammadan College in Calcutta; an equally urgent case is the one for the establishment of a hostel in College Square. That there is an urgent need for increased hostel accommodation for Muhammadan students is universally accepted, and the only question is in what shape this need should be provided for. I have already said that the extension of the Baker and Elliot Hostels would not meet the full demand. But even if the extended buildings could provide accommodation for all Muhammadan students they would be practically unsuited, as a place of residence, for the majority of Law and Science students. I hope the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler has by this time found out that the Baker and Elliot Hostels are not situated in College Square, but just two miles away. Need I pause to explain the physical inconveniences of boarders in these hostels when compelled to attend lectures at the Presidency College or the University Law College, or when required to attend any functions at the University Institute? This latter excellent Institution has hitherto been out of practical use by Muhammadan students. All these drawbacks could be easily removed by a suitable Muhammadan hostel in College Square. I recognize the advisability of locating Muhammadan hostels in the midst of the acknowledged Muhammadan quarters in Calcutta. But the principal educational institutions in the city are situated miles away from the Muhammadan quarters, because when these institutions were established, nobody took any note of the Muhammadan community, owing to their apathy to English education. It would be impossible, nor would it be advisable, to build a second Presidency College in the neighbourhood of Wellesley Square. Muhammadan students will have to go to the present Presidency College, unless they are to deprive themselves of the benefits of instructions at one of the best and most well-equipped educational institutions in the world. The same argument applies to the University Law College and also to the University Institute. I feel sure that the case for a Muhammadan hostel in College Square need only be formulated to be accepted, for it only turns on the question whether you will permanently shut out the Muhammadan community from Educational Institutions on which enormous sums are spent from Provincial Revenues every year.

"My Lord, I regret that I have not got sufficient time at my disposal to discuss the statements made by the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler the other day regarding Muhammadan education. It is a remarkable instance of the self-glorification in which Indian officials too often indulge in order to impress the public with their activities in the performance of their duties. Beyond a few thousand rupees spent on Muktabs and middle Madrasahs, and on the training of Muhammadan teachers, together with a few conferences for the improvement of the Madrasahs, leading to no practical result, I do not think anything definite has been pointed out as having been accomplished in furtherance of the cause of Muhammadan education. To take one single instance out of many; even now the provision for the teaching of Arabic and Persian in Government and aided schools is hopelessly inadequate. Mr. Küchler says that no provision is made where there is no demand. But how can there be a demand unless boys come forward to read these languages, and why again should they do so, unless there is a provision for the teaching of these languages in the schools. I would ask the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler to consider if his argument does not involve a well-known logical fallacy. As a matter of fact, the absence of provision for the teaching of Arabic and Persian either scares away Muhammadan boys from the schools, or compels them to take up Sanskrit. It is no use arguing that our vernacular is Bengali and we find Sanskrit more congenial and easy to master than Persian or Arabic. Our natural inclinations are towards Persian, if not Arabic, and not towards Sanskrit. I speak from experience that the grievance is a very real one and keenly felt, but whether Government is prepared to help us or not is a different matter.

"I wish to take this opportunity of commenting on a mistake which officials generally commit in calculating the share of the Muhammadan community in allotments in the matter of education. It is argued that the true basis of calculation is not the numerical strength of our community, but the very small fraction of it that attend educational institutions. I protest against this method of dwarfing Muhammadan claims, both because it is unjust and unfair. If Muhammadan boys are in such a minority in educational institutions it is due to a system of education which has been utterly unsuited to the requirements of the community, and which the authorities themselves permitted to continue in the face of protests. And now to make this minority a basis for the calculation of educational grants is to penalise the Muhammadan community for a state of things for which the officials themselves have been primarily responsible and which has been brought about by causes over which the Muhammadan have had no control.

"My Lord, I do not wish to detain the Council any longer. To me it seems that Government has arrived at a parting of the ways, and has got to decide, once for all, its future policy regarding questions affecting the Muhammadan community. It may be that Government may regard the twenty-two millions of the Muhammadans of this Presidency as not worth the consideration that is due to them, on the ground that they have not hitherto shown themselves capable of organized agitation. Or it may be, that the sense of justice which forms so distinguishable a feature of British character, will induce our Rulers to redress our grievances as soon as brought to their notice. As to what the ultimate decision of the Government will be, is a matter with which I have no concern. But if the system of popular representation in Council is a reality, and our opinion is entitled to any weight, I can assure the Government that the minds of the Muhammadans are now in a disturbed state. There is a very strong and widespread feeling that, in spite of their loyalty and devotion, the Muhammadans have fallen on the frosty side of official pleasure, and that somehow or other, Muhammadan interests are not receiving proper attention. Let the officials judge for themselves whether recent events have not contributed to the existence of these feelings in the minds of the Muhammadan community. But so far as we are concerned, our policy is perfectly clear. We will no longer be satisfied with pious wishes expressed eloquently in Government Resolutions. For the present we, in Calcutta, are very particularly keen about a Muhammadan College and a hostel in College Square. We will not consent to see the removal of our grievances in these two vital matters to be deferred, on the score of expense or any other considerations whatsoever. And generally we demand that all other considerations should be subordinated to the necessity of affording the fullest relief to Muhammadans in the matter of education. This will be some compensation for all that we have patiently and loyally borne, even under the greatest provocations which human nature can bear. Hitherto, Muhammadans have so completely confided in the sense of justice of officials in all cases, that now it almost does violence to their feelings to be compelled to adopt the more modern and effective method of popular agitation. But in spite of their aversion to agitation, Muhammadans are drifting, owing to sheer force of circumstances, into the arena of political warfare. We feel that we have got to move with the times or else we are doomed. Let not the officials think that the feelings of the entire community can be soothed simply by the bestowal of titles and decorations on our leaders, or by providing for a transitory stay of the officials at Dacca with all the paraphernalia of Government. We require something more than a mere concession to our sentiments, something tangible which can be reasonably set off against our loss by the annulment of the Partition. I sincerely hope that officials will not be mislead by the misrepresentations of interested persons, but will bravely meet the situation in the face and, by a liberal attempt to meet our demands to the full, prevent a feeling of disaffection and despair from creeping into the minds of the loyal Muhammadans of India."

THE HON'BLE BABU PRASANNA KUMAR RAY, said :—

"MY LORD—I congratulate the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Portfolio of Finance, on the very prosperous and lucid statement he has been able to present to the Council, as well as on the fair distribution made on the different heads of expenditure. With Your Lordship's permission, I beg to make only a few observations and those are on Education and Sanitation—the two principal factors for making a healthy, wise and useful nation of the people placed under the care of a benign and enlightened Government.

"My Lord, we are grateful to the Imperial Government for the large grant they have made for expenditure on education in Bengal. It is gratifying to note that keen interest is being taken by Your Excellency's Government in the matter of education, its spread and improvement in all useful branches of Arts and Science. The enhanced allotment of Rs. 1,34,88,000 evinces the earnestness of Government in this direction, though the vastness of the educational demands of this country requires more expenditure on this head. It is true that much has been done in this respect, but much still remains to be done. It appears that the budget includes a lump provision of Rs. 9,25,000 for improving popular education in Bengal. I beg to point out that in a country which is pre-eminently agricultural, in order to give the cultivating classes, whose main source and mainstay is agriculture, the full benefits of the educational facilities provided by an enlightened Government, it is of the utmost importance that a compulsory course of practical training in agriculture should be included in the curriculum of studies of the primary schools. The acquirement of such a training would enable the agriculturists to introduce the improved method of cultivation, to increase the produce of their lands, and to become thus a better class of farmers contributing to the general posperity of the country.

"As regards sanitation and water-supply, the interest which your Excellency's Government has taken in this direction has evoked a deep sense of gratitude in the hearts of the people. The Government has very liberally allowed the District Board's appropriation of the entire revenue derivable from the Public Works Cesses—the substantial portion of which is intended for improving the sanitation and supply of good drinking water in urban areas. As the representative of the District Boards of the Chittagong Division, I beg, My Lord, to express on behalf of my constituencies our deep sense of gratitude for this munificent grant ; and I hope and trust that, with the augmented resources at their disposal, the District Boards will be in a position to do substantial works in the matter of water-supply and sanitation. A sum of Rs. 38,000 is provided in the budget for appointment of overseers, who might be employed in each subdivision in Bengal to report on the real condition of rural water-supply. I may be allowed to point out that this may not be needed as the work, it is considered, can be best done by the overseers employed by the District Boards. The allotment under this head may be better utilized for other important items of sanitary improvements, such as extension of the medical relief, which is also a crying need in many parts in Bengal. In this connection, I fully concur with my colleague Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur, and echo his saying that :—

> 'There are parts of the country where not a dose of quinine can be had either for love or money, in spite of the systematic measures adopted by Government for the supply of pice-packets of the drug through the agency of post offices. The luxury of fully equipped dispensaries in masonry buildings (or houses of costly plans) should for the present be abandoned. Poor villagers would be equally grateful with less ambitious but equally useful institutions in the shape of small dispensaries in sheds of corrugated iron roof and mat ceiling, with medicines for the prevailing diseases. This would meet a real want and serve to mitigate suffering to an appreciable extent.'

"I would do not feel myself justified if mention is not made here of the improvement of the condition of water-supply in the Chittagong Municipality. The people of Chittagong have already represented the matter to Your Excellency, and it is not known how the question stands at present. I however beg leave to state that the establishment of a water-works in Chittagong is not wanted as a luxury, but as a real need of the town. At present the dearth of good drinking water in the municipal area is solely responsible for the unusual mortality, which occurs every year in the summer, by the outbreak of cholera and small-pox. As soon as the summer sets in, the few good ponds and springs which are in the town begin to dry up, and the people are compelled to use foul water. It is, therefore, hoped, that our benign Government will be pleased to find their way to provide the Chittagong town, at an early date, with water-works which will be considered as a boon both by the rich and the poor.

"Before I finish I crave leave, My Lord, to ask that the District Boards may be given extended powers in the disposal of grants made to them by Government. The manner in which these grants are assigned at present often compels the Boards to limit their discretion; and it not unfrequently happens that, to avoid the lapse of grants the resources are spent on projects which, in consideration of the local circumstances, could be safely deferred, while on the other hand, the works of real pressing demands suffer only for the reason that no specification thereof has been made in the grant. My Lord, I hope and trust there may be no danger in allowing to the District Boards, under proper safeguard, a greater scope and freedom in regard to the allotment of the funds placed at their disposal."

THE HON'BLE UPENDRA LAL RAY said—

"My Lord, I am glad to observe that the year under review promises to be one of prosperity and the improvements contemplated, if carried out, will go a great way towards ameliorating the condition of the people of this Presidency.

"The scheme of the regrading of Munsifs, for which a sum of Rs. 50,000 has been budgeted will, I hope, be given effect to, and thereby some relief given to these overworked members of the public service, and justice demands that they should be placed on an equal footing with the members of the Provincial Executive Service. I fully endorse the views of the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari about the grading of Sub-Deputy Collectors.

"One salient feature of the budget is the increased expenditure allotted for the reorganization of the Subordinate Police Service in the Eastern Bengal districts. My Lord, as an inhabitant of Eastern Bengal, I welcome this increased grant and wish to offer a few suggestions on this important subject. Dacoities in Eastern Bengal have, of late, been very frequent; and intersected as they are with a network of big rivers and canals, the villages of Eastern districts afford better opportunities to gangs of dacoits for carrying on their nefarious and diabolical pursuits. Under the head of Reorganization of Subordinate Police in Eastern Bengal, a sum of Rs. 2,92,014 has been assigned and, similarly, a sum of Rs. 4,49,335 has been provided for reorganization of River Police, Dacca. In addition to this, a sum of Rs. 45,000 has been set apart for the station boat scheme in the districts of Faridpur, Dacca, Tippera, Mymensingh and Barisal. There is no gainsaying the fact that Police arrangements are not what they should be, and more effective and active vigilance on their part is an urgent necessity, and steps should be taken to ensure such vigilance. Dacoities in Eastern Bengal have, almost in every case, been committed in the houses of the well-to-do yet helpless traders, and it is a matter for regret that in most of the cases the offenders have not been detected and brought to justice. In the interests of peace and for security of life and property, it is absolutely necessary that early action should be taken to prevent a recurrence of dacoities in the country. It is a conspicuous feature of British Administration that the subjects can sleep in the open, with their treasures under their pillows, but, in the province of Bengal at least, this appears to be a thing of the past. Yet another dacoity has been reported in to-day's paper, committed in the house of a merchant at Gopalpur in the subdivision of Madaripur in the Faridpur district. I fervently hope that the improvements proposed will have the desired effect, but at the same time I beg humbly to suggest that steps should be taken so that the conduct of the additional police force towards the people of the neighbourhood may be absolutely beyond reproach.

"My Lord, I offer my most sincere thanks to the Government of India for the increased assignments for education and sanitation. I cannot conceive of any better purposes to which public money may be applied. In the obligatory scheme I notice, with pleasure, the allotment of Rs. 10,600 for the provincialization of the Victoria Technical Institute, Chittagong, and the Diamond Jubilee Industrial School. The former scheme has been hanging on for years, and I hope it will be taken in hand and carried out during the year under review.

"I welcome the proposal of amalgamating the Excise Department with the Salt Department. For myself, I confess I have not been able to understand the object of continuing the latter department. Chittagong has a Superintendent of Salt with a staff of officers under him. As a dealer in this commodity, I have never realized the necessity of maintaining the salt branch, nor have I seen what practical work is entrusted to or done by it. Whatever that may be, I notice with delight the proposal for amalgamation, which is now before the Government of India for consideration, but I regret I have not been able to understand how the proposed amalgamation can involve an increase of expenditure amounting to the sum of Rs. 2,66,808 over the present sanctioned scale. If retrenchment is the object of amalgamation, and I don't think it can be anything else, what do we gain if, in consequence, we have to incur additional heavy charges.

"Turning to sanitation for which a non-recurring grant of Rs. 20,00,000 has been so liberally made by the Government of India, we are often confronted with a charge that the money allotted year after year cannot be applied to its legitimate purpose, inasmuch as the mufassil Municipalities and District Boards do not come forward with detailed schemes. I do not say that the charge is absolutely unfounded, but at the same time I wish to point out that the relation of the Local Government to the several self-governing public bodies is like that of the General Manager of a Mercantile firm to its assistants in charge of the different departments, or, in other words, like that of the senior member of a joint Hindu family to the junior ones:—the duty of the former to the latter, in each case, being not merely to supervise and control, but to advise and assist and in many cases actively to co-operate in their work. It is much to be regretted that the bulk of the population of this country is entirely ignorant of the rules and requirements of sanitation, and attempts to improve the same are sometimes baffled by local apathy and often by actual opposition. Assistance of Government is what is necessary in such cases, and I venture to hope that where such necessity is felt and recognized, Government will lend its helping hand to the local bodies concerned, in the preparation and execution of cut and dried schemes of sanitation."

THE HON'BLE MAHARAJA JAGADINDRA NATH RAY said :—

"My Lord, for unavoidable reasons I had to be absent on the 2nd of April when the Council met principally for the discussion of the budget. Many of the points on which I wanted to speak, have been very ably discussed by the Hon'ble Members of this Council, and after that I do not wish to tire out the patience of this Council by inflicting a long speech on it. Resolutions moved by the non-official members of the Council, regarding the recurring and non-recurring grants by the Government of India, are often treated with very little sympathy by the official members, and that has been one of our grievances. If we calmly think about the situation we can hardly blame them for this apparent want of sympathy towards our need. Government of India grants are mostly ear-marked, and the Local Government has very little or no option in the expenditure of the same. I should, therefore, submit to your Lordship that attempts should be made to free ourselves from those restrictions; so that the Local Government can use its discretion regarding the allotments of the Imperial grants.

"My Lord, a few observations with regard to education and sanitation and I have finished.

"Education :—I am glad to notice that fair allotments have been made for the Universities of this province. It is admitted on all hands that the spread of high education in the desired direction will be our future salvation. In order to prepare the recipient for such education, My Lord, a good grounding in a competent school is absolutely necessary. In the absence of any such school in our country, many young boys have, up-to-now, been sent to England to receive English education from the very start. But I regret, My Lord, that the results have not been uniformly satisfactory, and it is no wonder. Being away from home influences and from all sorts of traditions of the family, and being exposed to the fearful temptations of a vast city, young heads are apt to turn. Therefore, My Lord, the want of a school in a healthy locality, possessing up-to-date equipments and manned by English teachers and professors, has long been felt by a very large section of our community. As a matter of fact, Your Lordship has been memorialized by certain gentlemen of wealth, influence, rank and culture a short time ago, and I should like to draw the attention of your Lordship's Government to this crying need of ours.

"Sanitation :—Sanitation needs no advocacy, My Lord. The people and the Government equally know its importance, and when the other day my Hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray moved a resolution asking for a certain sum of money for the improvement of drinking water, most enthusiastically I voted for the resolution, without stopping to think whether such grant of money was possible or not. No one can blame me for that, because I come from a notoriously unhealthy place, and therefore whatever is suggested for the improvement of sanitation has my deep sympathy and wholehearted support. Unfortunately that resolution was lost. Resolutions might come and go but the need is there, My Lord, and Your Lordship knows that the need is real, and knowing that, just a year ago, when assuming the Government of our province, Your Lordship was kind enough to assure us that Your Excellency's Government will try to "combat malaria" together with other works of usefulness and uplifting. We have, therefore, full confidence that sanitation will receive the entire attention of your Lordship's Government.

"These are the few observations My Lord, with which I commend this budget to the Hon'ble Members. It is the first budget under your Lordship's auspices, and it being a prosperity budget it is specially interesting to all of us. The King-Emperor's visit to India last year was an unique occasion and unprecedented in the annals of British India. So many changes and alterations in the administration of the country were inaugurated by His Gracious Majesty and we have every hope, My Lord, that, under the altered conditions Bengal will continue to prosper year after year and make wholesome progress in every direction under Your Lordship's wise, benevolent and sympathetic Government."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, owing to another subject being brought before the Council I could not be ready and I could not prepare notes of any speech that I intended to deliver on this occasion. I would therefore crave your Lordship's indulgence to make a few observations on matters connected with Calcutta. In the first place, I should like to state that the revised estimates for the year which has just closed show steady improvement in all directions. The estimates for the current year indicate an earnest and persistent desire on the part of Government to improve the conditions of the people, to make them healthy, happy and contented. Resolutions we might move, resolutions we might support, resolutions we might combine to vote solid for a popular cause, or, in Parliamentary parlance, we might combine to overthrow the party in power, but we freely, frankly and gratefully recognize the material progress our motherland has made under the British Raj. Nevertheless, my Lord, the cry is perpetually for further progress, the cry is insistent for more privileges, for greater emoluments, for the loaves and fishes of the State in this country. I believe, my Lord, that the cry will be perpetual so long as the progressive policy of the British Raj will last, and, I trust, that it will not be misconstrued into one of disloyalty or disaffection against the Raj.

"One of the matters on which I wanted to speak is the police administration of Calcutta. My Lord, I know that whenever any of us open our lips on the subject of the police it is generally taken to be one of unmitigated censure of the police and police officers. In the first place, although I do not here rise to worship at the temple of the police, at the same time I may say that since the reforms recommended by the Police Commission were adopted by Government the police administration has largely improved ; but, my Lord, I must state that the lower ranks of the police have not improved to any appreciable extent. My hon'ble friend, Dr. Deba Prosad Sarbadhikari, in his speech referred to one of the weakest links of the police in Calcutta. Living in Calcutta, having been born in Calcutta, and having associated with my countrymen in every hour of my life in Calcutta, I recognize this fact that the subordinate staff of the Calcutta Police is not up to the mark. Head-constables who are the principal investigating officers draw salaries from Rs. 15 to Rs. 25 per mensem. As I have said, I come into contact with a large section of my countrymen every day, and the complaint is perpetual that no satisfactory result in many cases can be obtained from the investigations made by these officers. I do not make a sweeping condemnation of these officers, my Lord, but, generally speaking, there is that impression, and from the personal knowledge of the opinion of my countrymen, I say that the impression is that they do not get a satisfactory result from these officers, and what is the cause? The head-constables in whose hands are the investigations of all the principal cases, so far as the people of Calcutta are concerned, are in receipt of a salary of from Rs. 15 to Rs. 25 per mensem. I do not think, my Lord, that the class of men recruited on that pay can be ordinarily called, in the words of the Police Commission, 'trustworthy or reliable men.' I think that this subject requires the earnest consideration of your Excellency's Government. I think respectable and educated middle class men ought to be attracted to these posts, and the pay of the posts ought to begin with a minimum salary of Rs. 30 or Rs. 40 per mensem. Then, my Lord, I find that the Government have been pleased to post Deputy Commissioners in different areas in the town. I welcome this improvement in the police administration of Calcutta, but it is not merely the appointment of Deputy Commissioners that will lead to further improvement in the police. The head of the police must be thoroughly familiar with the wants and wishes of the better class of people. I remember the day, my Lord, when I was a mere boy, and although I was a mere boy I could say this from personal knowledge, that when the Chairman of the Corporation was the Commissioner of Police—that was since Mr. Schalch's time to the time of Sir Henry Harrison—the Indian community in Calcutta was in daily touch with the police administration of the city. I remember in the days of the Justices—the Justices numbered nearly 125, both European and Indian in Calcutta—the leaders of my community came in daily contact with the Chairman of the Corporation who was the Commissioner of Police, and they used to communicate to him any shortcoming or defect or any maladministration which prevailed in any thana, and no sooner did the Chairman-Commissioner hear it than he used to take a slip of paper and send it to Sir John Lambert for enquiry and investigation, and in this way the head of the police was constantly in touch with the leaders of the people of Calcutta. I do not mean to say that the present Commissioner of Police is not familiar with the leaders of the people. He is, but he does not come in the way of every native gentleman as the native gentleman does not always like to intrude upon the valuable time of a high officer of Government who is always engrossed in his duties, because he may be informed. Fursut nahin hai. I have no personal knowle lge of any rebuff from any high officer, but this is the feeling which prevents respectable leaders of my community from intruding on the valuable time of those officers. I think in the interests of the public there should be more intermingling and free intermingling with the high officers of Government as in days gone by when there was no Reformed Council or Executive Council of Government, but still there were native gentlemen who enjoyed the highest confidence of Government and who very largely shaped the policy of Government and their advice was much more listened to than is the case even in this progressive age. But I hope those days will return with the gracious visit of His Majesty the King-Emperor and that the present state of affairs will pass away and there will be more free and unreserved intercourse between the rulers and the ruled.

"Then, my Lord, I have incidentally drawn in my interpellations the attention of Government to the deplorable condition of the Police Court in Calcutta, and the attention of the Government has also been drawn to the deplorable condition of the building. No more ill-lighted, ill-ventilated and insanitary building exists in Calcutta, and I wonder why the Health Officer of the city who is so active in condemning insanitary and uninhabitable buildings does not condemn this building. It has been said by some of the best doctors of the city who have been Honorary Magistrates of that Court that if they worked there for days together continuously they were bound to have their health undermined; such is the deplorable condition of that building. My Lord, I am grateful to say that the attention of Government has been drawn to this and that your Excellency has paid a visit to this building, but every day's delay adds to our sufferings and therefore I earnestly hope and pray that something may be done within a very short time to give sufficient accommodation to the Courts in well-ventilated buildings. It is proposed to transfer them to Charnock Place. I hope the arrangement will be made as soon as possible.

"Then, my Lord, I come to the Small Cause Court of Calcutta. I believe in this Council, either in this meeting or in any one of its last meetings, the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prosad Sarbadhikari dwelt on the misery of suitors in Court. It has been my experience and the experience of my countrymen that in the Small Cause Court it is difficult to get a process served or a suit expedited without going through diverse ways and means which are certainly unworthy of being adopted by honourable gentlemen. I have spoken on the subject to our esteemed friend, the able Judge of the Small Cause Court. My Lord, I speak from personal experience.

"Then, my Lord, there is no doubt that additional judges are required, but I think that if, as in Madras, I understand, is the practice, honorary benches are instituted here, it will give much relief to the stipendiary judges in the Small Cause Court. The petty cases involving small sums of money can very well be disposed of by honorary judges selected from among the merchants, traders and landholders of the city. I think this matter deserves the consideration of your Excellency's Government.

"Then, my Lord, there is another matter which also vitally concerns Calcutta—the question of a park in the northern part of the town. My Lord, the Calcutta Corporation had, in the past, when Sir Edward Baker was Lieutenant-Governor, approached the Government on the subject. My Lord, a large quantity of land belongs to Government, and Government is the owner of khas mahal property in that area. The Corporation have acquired a considerable quantity of land there, in hopes of getting a large quantity of, Government khas mahal land for purposes of a park. I think, my Lord knowing well the sympathy of your Excellency's Government with the people of Calcutta, especially the student community, this matter would receive your Excellency's kind and sympathetic consideration."

The Hon'ble MR. KÜCHLER said :—

"My Lord, criticism of the Education budget has been to a large extent disarmed on the present occasion by the liberality of the allotments which have been made to this branch of the administration. It is true that the absence of detailed proposals for the expenditure of the new Imperial grants has deprived possible critics of a considerable amount of material, but the real explanation of the comparatively non-contentious nature, except with one notable exception, of the remarks offered by Hon'ble Members is to be found in the fact that the dominant note at present is one of satisfaction that the progress of education is not likely in the future to be hampered for want of funds. On previous occasions in Council, when our purse-strings had unfortunately to be tightened, it has been my duty to defend the adequacy of the provisions made in the budget for items of educational expenditure in which certain Members took a special interest and which they accordingly felt called upon to press on the attention of Government. I do not say that this task has been an entirely uncongenial one, but on the whole it is pleasanter to sail in waters untroubled by any serious differences of opinion and to be able to use the language of hope rather than that of discouragement. Not that the voice of criticism has been entirely hushed. It has still made itself heard in a good many directions, but it has, in view of possible benefits, been so largely moderated that Hon'ble Members who have called attention to individual points will probably be satisfied with the brief explanations which I propose to offer. I must, however, premise that in accordance with standing orders it will be necessary to confine myself to a discussion of such matters as arise immediately out of the budget.

"I should say in the first place that I agree with the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray in his objection to the inclusion in the budget of large allotments in the form of lump provisions. Unfortunately, schemes, especially those of a recurring nature, take a long time to prepare, and it is therefore often impossible to show the proposed expenditure under the separate appropriate heads of the budget, but as I indicated in my opening statement the other day, every effort will be made to introduce a more ordered arrangement in this respect as soon as possible.

"The Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar has also been somewhat puzzled by one of the items in the budget, viz., that in which a saving of Rs. 3,78,500 has been shown in the expenditure, but this is really a very simple matter. It is obvious that when we have got to deal with a very large expenditure to the extent of 132 lakhs or more, it would be impossible to spend the whole of that amount in the coming year, and it is therefore perfectly sound finance to allow for a certain amount of savings. In the case of ordinary savings, that is to say, the sum that is represented as the ordinary savings, this would generally lapse. But I can remove one of the apprehensions expressed by the Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar, and that is with regard to the danger of lapse in the case of those grants which have been made by the Imperial Government. These grants are absolutely earmarked, and even if they are not spent in one year, they will simply be carried forward to the next year, so that there is no danger whatever of the money lapsing, or in other words there is no danger, as the Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar apprehends, of the Government of India withdrawing this money in any future year, if they think they wanted it for their own needs.

"In the same way, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji has also raised a point in this connection and has taken exception to the fact that the revised estimates are in some cases also given in the form of lump provision, but this is inevitable; once an item appears in the form of a lump provision, it must be carried through the budget in that form. It would introduce unutterable confusion if in the original estimate you had a sum put down as a lump provision, and if afterwards, in the revised estimate, this would appear amongst the various heads in the budget. Therefore I think that the Hon'ble Member will admit that there is some reason for the form of lump provisions being continued even in regard to the revised estimate. Of course, as regards information as to how the money is being spent, that will always be forthcoming if Hon'ble Members require it.

"With regard to individual criticisms I take first the service grievance put forward by the Hon'ble Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari. Since the last discussion of the Financial Statement in Council it has been announced by the Government of India that special allowances of Rs. 150 a month have been granted to five selected members of the Provincial Educational Service. The Hon'ble Member, in his resolution on the subject, had suggested 10 allowances of Rs. 200, but he now asks for a great deal more, and has put forward an elaborate scheme for giving an allowance of 25 per cent. of his salary to every officer in the service. It is very unlikely, however, that Government will consider a scheme on this scale of magnitude pending the recommendations of the Public Service Commission, nor does relief of such a liberal character appear to be called for, that is to say, pending, of course, the recommendations of the Public Service Commission. We do not know what will emerge from the discussions of the Public Service Commission. It is always possible that its proposals will be as liberal as those which have been put forward by the Hon'ble Member on the present occasion. At the same time, it would be quite impossible for Government to give temporary relief to the extent which the Hon'ble Member has indicated. On the other hand, there are probably several cases in addition to those of the five officers already referred to, where special hardship has been caused by the postponement of the consideration of a general scheme of improvement of the Provincial Educational Service owing to the appointment of the Commission, and the Government of India has suggested that such cases might be dealt with by the local Governments themselves, in virtue of the increased powers which have recently been delegated to them in this respect. I need hardly say that the Local Government will give careful consideration to this suggestion, but each case will naturally have to be dealt with on its own merits. I may add that there is no proposal to give a general allowance to members of the Indian Educational Service, as has been suggested by the Hon'ble Member, nor has any scheme for the reorganization of the Subordinate Educational Service yet been framed, though it is probable that the conditions of this service also will shortly come under review.

"As regards University education, a good many allusions have been made to the scheme for a new University at Dacca, but I am afraid I am not permitted to make any remarks on this subject to-day. In the first place, the report of the Dacca University Committee affords material of such an extensive nature for controversy, that to discuss it at all profitably would require a full day's debate, entirely for itself, and in any case, with the very limited time (a quarter of an hour) at my disposal, it is quite clear that I cannot possibly do justice to the subject. Again, it does not seem to be very intimately connected with the present budget. It is true that potential provisions for the Dacca University are no doubt lurking in some of the Imperial grants, but you cannot possibly have a real provision made in the budget for a scheme which has not received the consideration of the Local Government, which has not received the approval of the Imperial Government and which has certainly not received the sanction of the Secretary of State. For these reasons, I am afraid, interesting and fascinating though the subject may be, I must resist the temptations to reply to some of the criticisms which have been made to-day.

"With the plea for liberal grants to the Calcutta University which has been advanced by the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, I have already, on a previous occasion, expressed my full sympathy, but I would call attention to one point that is liable to be overlooked in connection with such grants, and that is that grants made by Government to individual colleges are really made to the University, though they do not appear directly as University grants. This is a point which will have especially to be borne in mind when comparisons are instituted between Government benevolence to the Calcutta and Dacca Universities, respectively. We must take into account not only grants which are primarily made to the University, but also grants made to the colleges which form a constituent part of the University.

"Under the head of secondary education, reference has been made to the general inadequacy of the grants for aided schools and also the poorness of the pay of teachers. I already touched on these matters in the previous discussions on the financial statement for education, and I then pointed out that, with the help of Government of India grants, it would be possible to make more liberal provision under these heads in future. With reference to the individual case of the building for Jalpaiguri Zilla School, which the Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur has mentioned, I can assure the Hon'ble Member that the work of construction will be pushed on as rapidly as possible, and that the building will be one worthy of a zilla school. The sum of Rs. 22,600 merely represents a part of the cost.

"Primary education has hardly been referred to, at least so far as the budget is concerned, except by way of approval of the measures which it is proposed to take to secure its improvement. The Hon'ble Maharaja of Nashipur has, it is true, adverted to one or two questions of general interest connected with this subject; but they have no connexion with the budget, and I am therefore precluded from discussing them.

"The Hon'ble Maharaja has also touched on the question of female education in his plea for an extension of the system of zenana education. I fully agree with him in this matter; and in my opening statement with regard to the educational budget, I intimated that it is proposed to appoint a special assistant inspectress for zenana education in West Bengal. Moreover, out of the lump grant of Rs. 1,07,000 for female education, a certain sum has been set apart for instruction in zenanas, and probably with the help of the additional funds now about to be placed at our disposal by the Government of India, it will be possible to make still further progress in this direction. The only other allusions to female education are those contained in the remarks of the Hon'ble Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur, but I am unable to follow his meaning when he says that he cannot find any allotment under this head for any part of West Bengal except Calcutta. I think he must be referring to the special allotment made for the extension of the training school for mistresses in Calcutta and has overlooked the general appropriation which I have already indicated will be made from the lump grant of Rs. 1,07,000, as well as the ordinary provisions for female education to be found in the budget. I can assure the Hon'ble Member that the claims of the mufassal have been given equal consideration with those of Calcutta in allotting the funds available under this head. The Hon'ble Member has also revived the old scare as to the undue increase of the inspecting agency. But though such a suggestion may have possessed a certain plausibility in the case of boys' schools, it is entirely devoid of justification where female education is concerned. The inadequacy of the present female inspecting agency has long stood in the way of progress, both in the multiplication and the improvement of our girls' schools, and the small addition now proposed will only go a short way to set matters right.

"The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji has referred in terms almost approaching indignation to the very small allotment which has been made for technical and industrial education, viz., Rs. 72,000, and he has quoted this as in a way affording evidence of the neglect on the part of the Government of the very valuable report which has been written by the Hon'ble Mr. Cumming on technical education; but I can assure the Hon'ble Member that this is far from being the case. Government is fully alive to the value of Mr. Cumming's exhaustive report; and the recommendations that are contained therein are continually being borne in mind in the efforts that are being made to extend the sphere of technical education. I think that the Hon'ble Member's reference has been partly due to a misconception. The allotment of Rs. 72,000, to which he refers, really represents the cost only of one or two of the provincial institutions for technical education. They are the Serampore Weaving Institute and the three provincial institutions in East Bengal.

"I may mention here in the first place that the policy of provincialising technical institutions is being steadily carried out by Government and that, at no very distant date, we hope that a very large number of technical institutes throughout the whole province will be brought under provincial management; but the point to which I should specially call attention is that this sum of Rs. 72,000 represents only a very small part of the sum that is being spent on technical or rather industrial education. I take it of course that the Hon'ble Member was referring merely to technical and industrial schools. Most of these institutions are, as I pointed out, aided institutes, or are under Board management, and as far as aid is concerned, the necessary allotment would not be shown under this head, but would be shown under grant-in-aid allotments. The grant-in-aid allotment is only given in the Financial Statement in the form of a lump sum, though, of course, in our detailed budget all details are fully given. In addition to this, there are one or two technical institutes which are also provincial and which are not covered by this allotment. There is, for instance, the Government School of Art, which is essentially a technical institute, and I may be permitted to include the Commercial Institute also. Over and above that, if the Hon'ble Member had looked at the item immediately above that to which he has called attention, he would have seen that there is an allotment of Rs. 1,21,000 for engineering and survey schools, and, of course, these all come under the head of technical schools. I think perhaps that the Hon'ble Member after this explanation on my part will be prepared to admit that Government is not unmindful of the claims of technical education, and is doing everything in its power to secure its legitimate advancement.

"The only other subject to which attention has been called is that of Muhammadan education. I need not go over the ground which was fully covered in the discussion on the resolution on the subject on the previous occasion in Council; but I am sorry to say that on the present occasion a somewhat violent attack has been delivered by one Hon'ble Member Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq) on the methods of my department and on the policy of Government with regard to Muhammadan education. I think that the speech of this Hon'ble Member illustrates the difficulty which we feel in getting to what is really the bottom of the demands of a certain section of the Muhammadan community. I do not however accept that the Hon'ble Member really voices the opinion of the Muhammadan community as a whole. The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri, who can speak with very great authority on this subject, told us on a previous occasion that he did not demand any special concessions for Muhammadans, but all he wished for was equal treatment. But the Hon'ble Member on the right side of the House has gone further than this. He tells us quite frankly that he wants not only equal treatment but that he wants special concessions in addition, in the way of what he describes as compensation. I cannot follow him into the question as to what compensation is required for Muhammadans on account of the readjustment of the provinces; but I think that, in putting forward a claim of this kind, the Hon'ble Member is really doing harm to the cause of Muhammadan education rather than furthering it in any way. Moreover, the Hon'ble Member has gone a good deal further than this. He frankly says that there is really nothing in the way of what has been done in the past by Government for which the Muhammadans need be very grateful. But not content with this assertion he proceeds to tell us that he does not believe in any undertaking that would be given by Government or by my department as to what may be done in the future. Well, my Lord, I must again reiterate that I cannot imagine that his attitude really represents the view of the Muhammadan community at large. If it were really the view, and if it were supported by a large body of public opinion, it would mean that a spirit would be imported into our discussions on the subject which would render any practical examination of the questions which have to come before us impossible. I repudiate, especially on the part of Government, the allegation that Government has in the past offered, as the Hon'ble Member has said, obstacles in the way of the advancement of Muhammadan education.

"We have always heard, and we have heard in no greater measure than from the Muhammadan community itself, that the Muhammadans have hitherto been backward in education, and that it was due largely to their own fault. We have also been told that the Muhammadans are now becoming alive to the benefits of good education; and yet in the face of this opinion which we have repeatedly heard, we now hear that it is Government that is responsible, and that Government has put obstacles in the way of Muhammadan education. I again fully repudiate this accusation.

"I am very sorry that the time-limit which has been assigned does not permit me to go more fully into the individual questions which have been raised by the Hon'ble Member. I may say without undue vanity that I do not think that I would have very great difficulty in meeting successfully many of the criticisms which have been offered by him to-day. One of the subjects, my Lord, to which he has referred, viz., that of a Muhammadan College, is very fascinating, and I should have liked to say one or two words about it, but I have already trespassed on the patience of this House, and in any case, I am precluded by the rules of the House with regard to the time-limit from proceeding further with the discussion.

"Before I sit down, however, I would like to come back to more peaceful waters once more, and to refer to one or more points which have been raised by other Muhammadan members who have taken part in the debate. I may briefly refer to the more important of these. The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri has deprecated the small allotment which has been made for Madrasahs in East Bengal, but I thought I had already made it sufficiently clear that it was only intended to make a beginning with this sum, and that it was impossible to anticipate the expenditure of a larger amount in the year 1913-14 in view of the fact that no definite scheme has even yet been formulated for the reform of this branch of Muhammadan education in East Bengal, far less submitted to Government for sanction. There need moreover have been no apprehension on the part of the Hon'ble Member as to the provision of funds for Madrasah reform after the clear statement which I quoted as to the intention of the Government of India with regard to the recognition of the claims of special Muhammadan institutions. The Hon'ble Member has also referred to the Moslem Institute, and while expressing the gratitude of the Muhammadan students to Government for the non-recurring grant of Rs. 45,000, has suggested that the Institute might equally with the University Institute be given a recurring grant for maintenance as well. I recognize that there appears to be some justification for this request, and I will undertake to look into the matter and see whether it is possible to recommend to Government a grant of this nature. As to the plea for a Muhammadan college, this, though an interesting subject, is, I fear, outside the scope of the present debate.

"Perhaps the most important matter to which reference has been made by the Hon'ble Member is that of the appointment of a special officer for Muhammadan education, but I need not say anything about it here, as full information has already been given on the subject by the Hon'ble Mr. Kerr in his reply to a question in Council on the 2nd instant.

"My Lord, I have endeavoured in the course of my remarks to explain the position of the Education Department with regard to the more important of the points raised by individual members of this Council. I do not pretend to have dealt even in a manner satisfactory to myself with the various matters which have come under discussion, nor have I been able to follow Hon'ble Members over the whole ground which they have covered to-day, partly for the reason I have already referred to that I am not at liberty to discuss matters which have no immediate connexion with the budget, although they may be of great general interest. Even, however, if I had been permitted a wider latitude, I should very speedily have been arrested not only by the artificial time-limit which the rules prescribe, but also by the more natural limit imposed by the patience of the Council."

THE HON'BLE MR. LYON said:—

"My Lord:—I propose to refer to only two or three points raised in the course of this debate and to make my remarks as brief as possible.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerjee in his very interesting speech made reference to certain entries as to buildings which are to be erected during the ensuing year, and dealt also with the question of residences for certain subdivisional officers. The suggestion made by the Hon'ble Member was that we were somewhat neglecting the Civil Court officers for the subdivisional officers. It has been a reproach to the administration for some time that our subdivisional officers, specially in the smaller subdivisions where there are Indian officers, are extremely badly off in this respect and we are trying to do something for them. And I do not think that, if the Hon'ble Member was acquinted with the palatial buildings erected as courts for Civil Judicial Officers at Faridpur, Pabna, Noakhali and other stations, he would suspect us of neglecting those officers for executive officers. The Hon'ble Member also made a reference to the Collector's bungalow at Barisal and mentioned certain circumstances in which he had made acquaintance with that residence. I cannot help thinking that those circumstances somewhat affected his judgment in the matter of the amenities of that building. The present house is in a very bad state, is damp and insanitary, and I am sure that those who have a larger acquaintance with the district, as I have, will be glad that there is a prospect of the Collector being better housed in future.

"There is another matter to which the Hon'ble Member referred, and that is the care of fisheries. I do not wish to enter into that question at all. We have had a great many inquiries, as the Hon'ble Member knows. At every stage of our inquiries we have taken the public into our confidence and have published resolutions and communications stating how far we have got. The actual state of affairs at present was detailed in the resolution of Government on the 3rd December, 1911, which has been supplemented quite recently by an answer in this Council on the 17th March. I would refer the Hon'ble Member to that information, but if at any time, either by resolution or by question in this Council, we are asked for further information, we shall be glad to give it.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Chaplin and the Hon'ble Mr. Musharraf Husain have referred to the proposals for improving the roads in the Jalpaiguri district. An admirable scheme for the purpose has been drawn up by the local officers in communication with the District Board. A rough estimate of the total cost of this scheme has been called for, and Government will then consider whether it can be accepted in its entirety and how it can be financed. We have every hope that with the combined resources of the Public Works Department and the District Board it will prove possible to carry the whole scheme through eventually and, so far as Government is concerned, I can assure the Hon'ble Members that the proposals will have its full and sympathetic consideration at every stage.

"As to waterways, I have already had occasion in this Council to refer to the action we are taking in this important matter. We have enlarged our Advisory Committee and have made it more representative. We have applied for an increase of staff which will enable us to form a Department to deal almost exclusively with such matters. We are having a complete scheme drawn up for the new steamer canal, and we are preparing plans for the improvement of subsidiary channels. We are preparing an estimate and an indent for the dredging plant which is indispensable for our work, and we have recently formed a new drainage division. These are necessary preliminaries before effective and lasting work can be initiated. In the meantime we welcome the valuable support for our schemes which is given in the speeches of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerjee and the Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh, and we are glad to find ourselves in such complete agreement with them on the subject.

"As has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler, this is not the time or the place to enter upon a discussion of the Dacca University Scheme, but I may perhaps be permitted to give expression to the gratitude which is due from all who are interested in education in Bengal to the President and members of the Dacca University Committee for the labour and care devoted by them to the preparation of the scheme, which will always stand as a model of efficient inquiry and organization. And I think that all Hon'ble Members of this Council will agree with me that our special thanks are due to Mr. Nathan, who is now about to leave this Province for Bihar and Orissa. His services have been of the greatest value to this Government and he leaves behind him, in the Dacca University Report, a memorial of those services which will not be soon forgotten. But while I cannot enter here upon a discussion of the University Scheme, I feel that I might be misunderstood if I failed to refer to the vigorous language used by the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan on the subject of the proposed well-to-do classes College. The Hon'ble Member in this matter has indulged in the pleasant pastime of raising a man of straw for the entertainment of knocking him down again. For no one, least of all the Dacca University Committee, has proposed to establish a narrow-class College at Dacca. The College suggested is to be open to all, irrespective of class, and is in fact of the exact type, suggested by the Hon'ble Member in his speech, a College "for those who by paying most, can get their own sons educated by the very best available teachers and professors, and get for their boys as good an English education as possible outside England." Indeed I cannot but think that if the Hon'ble Member will read again the Chapter in the Report which sets out the proposal in question he will range himself definitely in its favour, and I do not think his support will weaken if he also reads Appendix XIII where he will find the text of the resolution passed unanimously in favour of the proposal at an influential meeting at which not the least distinguished member of a distinguished company was the Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan."

THE MAHARAJADHIRAJ BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said:—

"I did not support that Resolution."

THE HON'BLE MR. LYON said:—

"I do not wish to misrepresent the Hon'ble Member. I quote from the printed report of the meeting which says that the resolution was unanimous.

"Before sitting down I should like, with Your Excellency's permission, to refer to the regret with which we all regard the approaching retirement of the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler, who has presided over the fortunes of the Educational Department in Bengal for the past five years. Those five years have been a period of great pressure of work and much difficulty in organization and administration, and, although Government was willing to extend the term of Mr. Küchler's service, it cannot be deemed surprising that he was unable, for private reasons, to accept our offer. The sympathy and lucidity with which Mr. Küchler has dealt with educational matters in this Council will enable Hon'ble Members to understand how greatly his colleagues in the Government and his fellow officers in the Educational Department will miss him. By his retirement the Government loses a valuable source of strength, while the Department loses a trusted and respected chief. Mr. Küchler carries with him in his departure the cordial good wishes of many friends and admirers, and I venture to assure him that among them will be found the members of the Government with which he has worked so long, and the Members of the Council in which he has himself played such a distinguished part."

THE HON'BLE NAWAB SYED SHAMS-UL-HUDA said:—

"My Lord, I wish just to say a few words on the subjects dealt with by the Hon'ble Members so far as they specially concern me, and the most important of these subjects is sanitation. A good deal has been said on this subject and I am glad to say that with much that has been said we are in sympathy. The question of sanitation resolves itself into two branches: rural and urban. So far as rural sanitation is concerned, it has been realised and appreciated by all Hon'ble Members who have spoken that the determination of the Government of India to make over the whole of the Public Works cess to the local bodies practically solves the difficulty. The most important measures of sanitation which we are called upon from time to time to deal with are those of water-supply and drainage and Hon'ble Members are aware of the great interest which His Excellency himself has taken on this question, and the conference which was called at Darjeeling to discuss the question of water-supply gave valuable advice to Government and Government will always be willing, so far as it can, to co-operate with local bodies in solving this very important question. We expect from the large grants over and above those which had hitherto been placed at the disposal of the Boards that if they have well-thought out plans and keep the matter always in view, then in the course of 10 or 15 years the whole question of water-supply will be solved.

"As regards urban sanitation it has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti that most of the municipalities are very poor, that they have not sufficient funds with which to carry out necessary improvements, and that they have to appeal to Government for aid. This is what I understand him to say. There is no doubt that those who have followed the course of events know that Government has made large grants to municipalities in recent years and that all large projects of sanitation such as water-supply and drainage within municipal limits have been carried with substantial assistance from Government. Hon'ble Members must realise that the essence of the idea of self-government is that local requirements are to be met from local funds, that a town in one part of the province should not be dependent upon rates and taxes gathered from the other parts to solve its own difficulties. I hope local bodies would always realise that it is for them to work out their own salvation, and although Government will be willing to stretch a helping hand to them when they deserve it or when they have done their best, Government cannot give a guarantee to help them always. It has been said by some Hon'ble Members that we have fixed a hard and fast limit as regards the proportion of help that Government gives to municipalities in carrying out their schemes of sanitation. This is hardly correct. Although no doubt as a general rule we give a third and the municipality is expected either from loans or from donations or other sources to contribute the two-thirds, whenever a real case of hardship comes up before Government and whenever we have realized that the municipalities have done all that could be expected of them to do and when the public support has not been sufficient, we have paid a good deal more than the usual one-third which some of my Hon'ble friends have said was inadequate. We have been able to do this largely in consequence of the grants which the Government of India have from year to year specially ear-marked for sanitation, and I cannot believe what was stated by Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Rai that there are municipalities who are not aware that Government gives this one-third. I think Hon'ble Member does a great deal of injustice to the Municipal Commissioners of this Presidency, and I think they are far more intelligent than he is willing to believe they are. The suggestion is to ask all the municipalities to put forward their schemes and ask them what they can pay, the rest being paid by us to carry the work through. If we did this, we know we will be creating difficulties and it will induce municipalities with no funds to stretch their hands to Government and ask of it what they themselves are really expected to do.

"To these remarks I would just add a very few words, by way of reply to remarks made by individual members on some of the points. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur remarks that the Rs. 50,000 budgeted for jungle-cutting should be devoted for the purpose of improving sanitation in some part of the country. My hon'ble friend does not probably know that this money is not available for such a general purpose, and that it was money that was granted by the Indian Research Society for the purpose of carrying on an experiment in order to see what effect jungle-cutting has on malaria. We have a committee of experts to advise, of which my Hon'ble friend Dr. Nilratan Sarkar is a distinguished member. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur thinks that it is no use making an experiment of this kind, because as he says jungle-cutting does remove malaria. He will probably be surprised to learn that there is no such unanimity of opinion among our experts. The question is however not whether this money should be devoted to sanitation, but the question is whether the offer made by the Government of India for this experiment should or should not be accepted, and whether if accepted we can devote it to any useful purpose at all. The Hon'ble Rai Hari Mohan Chandra Bahadur makes a mistake in his comments about the budget grant of Rs. 30,562. He says that this sum has been provided for anti-malarial measures in Eastern Bengal and he sees no reason why Western Bengal which contains some of the worst malarial districts should be excluded from the measures contemplated. As a matter of fact this sum is not a grant for the next year, but it is an expenditure in the past year for quinine distribution in camps started by the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam, and was only continued by this Government. In Western Bengal expenditure has also been incurred in regard to quinine distribution, and also for the deputation of 24 Sub-Assistant Surgeons to especially malarial districts. The Hon'ble the Maharaja Ranajit Sinha suggests that water-works and drainage schemes should be called for from all municipalities for being submitted to Government, so that we my decide which of the schemes we should help. I have already in my general remarks tried to meet the Hon'ble Member's arguments. Then the Hon'ble Babu Mahendra Nath Ray speaks of the likelihood of the sanitation grant not being spent during the year owing to the absence of matured schemes. I wish to point out to my Hon'ble friend that there is no risk of the money being lost. The grants for sanitation are not made until schemes are ready to be carried out. It is impossible to draw up a programme of schemes as it is impossible to say when it will mature. But if the money provided under the head of "Sanitation" is not exponded during the year it is provided again in the Budget of the following year, and is therefore not lost. Probably my Hon'ble friend has an idea that the money will be lost, though as a matter of fact it will not be so.

"The Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sarkar criticises the amount that is spent on establishments in the expenditure out of the sanitary grants. It is a general complaint. There is an impression in the minds of the Members of Council that this Government spends a great deal more on inspection and supervision than it is necessary to do. I do not undertake to answer for other departments, but as regards the department of sanitation, I should like to point out that in 1911-12, 75 per cent. was given as grants to schemes of water-supply and drainage, and in 1912-13 the percentage was 79, so that we have not been quite as bad as the Hon'ble Member thinks. The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha speaks of the grant of Rs. 15,000 to District Boards for the improvement of water-supply in rural areas. The remarks he made are based on a misapprehension. It is not a budget grant for the next year, but an expenditure in the last year. It represent grants actually hand to District Boards on the basis of one third of the amount expended by them on rural water-supply in any one district.

"My Hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray has spoken of further powers to the District Boards and mufassal municipalities. This question was taken up by the Decentralisation Commission, and under a recent Circular, certain municicipalities have given larger powers in respect of the control of their funds. I have nothing more to say on the subject of sanitation.

"I will now say a few words on the question of Muhammadan education. That question has been very fully discussed by the Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri. He has spoken somewhat hopefully, but the Hon'ble Mr. Faz-ul-Haq has sounded a note of despair. I am afraid, the latter gentleman has taken an unduly possimistic view of the situation. The Hon'ble Mr. Küchler has to a certain extent replied to the criticism offered by the Hon'ble Members, and I do not desire to say anything or to express any assent or dissent to either of the views expressed on the subject. I would only say this that only recently the Government of India have sanctioned a special officer for Muhammadan education. He is to be a member of the Indian Educational Service and a European. It will be his duty to take charge of the special Muhammadan educational institutions, and as regards general education his function would be that of an adviser. He will see what can be done to improve the Muhammadan colleges and also to improve the accommodation in hostels for Muhammadan boys. I hope when this officer has been appointed and when he has time to study the requirements of the Muhammadan Community that something would be done with the large fund placed at our disposal by the Government of India to solve this difficult problem. I need hardly say that in a province where the Muhammadan element predominates, the question of Muhammadan education cannot be ignored by Government, and my Hon'ble friends may be assured that the question of Muhammadan education will not suffer for lack of sympathy in the administration.

"The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Choudhuri has spoken of the misgivings in the minds of the Muhammadan Community in respect of the management of the Syedpur Trust Estate. Sometime ago the manager of the estate against whom various charges were brought was first suspended and then transferred, and in his place another manager has been appointed. I hope the Hon'ble Member will take my assurance when I say that I had the accounts of the estate brought up a few months ago, and I had them carefully examined to see whether the funds have been properly administered or not, and I have come to the conclusion that there is no case for any anxiety.

"Turning to remarks relating to the Judicial Department, I will try to answer my Hon'ble friends who have spoken on the subject of revision and improvements that are necessary in this department in so far as the pay and prospects of the subordinate judicial officers are concerned. I have already said, when introducing the budget under this particular head, of the improvements that were contemplated and the sum of Rs. 50,000 which we have provided for the regrading of the Munsifs, and I need not go into details as regards these items now, in view of the fact that final sanctions are still awaited. I can only assure my hon'ble friends that the cause of the judicial officers will be considered with sympathy and that nothing will be left undone to do justice to the claims of one of the most deserving classes of public servants, and no one is more interested in this question than I am.

"Something has been said about the Civil Court buildings. No doubt in the present budget we could only make provision for such as were deserving of urgent attention. I have, however, in my hand a list of the various projects which are now before Government, and I may say that we are steadily working with a view to do which is necessary, and perhaps in a few years many of the Courts would be held in better buildings. We have now about 72 schemes sanctioned for the Presidency for the construction of Civil Courts and residences of judicial officers. A large proportion of these schemes have been approved of but for want of funds all of them could not be taken in hand just at present. I need hardly remind Hon'ble Members that even Government of a Presidency like Bengal has its limitations, and that no large scheme can be carried out in one single year. But if an assurance is needed that Government intends earnestly to take the matter up that assurance may readily be given."

THE HON'BLE SIR WILLIAM DUKE said :—

"I propose to deal with only a few of the more important points which have been mentioned, and I will commence with those which affect the Financial Department.

"The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has commented on the assignment of Rs. 60,000 as provision against famine, and has suggested that in the present prosperous agricultural conditions it seems to be unnecessary. I agree that we have every reason to hope that there will be no famine in the land this year ; although it must be remembered that whenever a failure of the rains occurs or severe floods take place, scarcity conditions may spring up immediately afterwards, and that therefore provision against famine must be made independent of any indication of what is coming. This provision of Rs. 60,000 is, however, part of a general scheme for equalizing the burden of famine relief for the whole of India which the Government of India have adopted since 1907. The Government of India require each Province to set aside a fixed grant each year which will accummulate up to a fixed maximum; should famine occur, expenditure may be incurred up to the whole amount so accummulated. When that is exhausted, further expenditure is shared equally between the Imperial and the Local Governments. In old Bengal, which contained many districts liable to famine, the annual assignment was Rs. 2,60,000, and the maximum limit of accumulation 25 lakhs. In the present Province, fortunately, there are, but few districts so liable, and the annual assignment has been fixed at Rs. 60,000 and the limit of accumulation at 5 lakhs. We started with Rs. 1,20,000 to our credit, and in the course of five years more if no famine expenditure is incurred in the interim, we shall have reached the maximum. The whole matter is however a book transaction, the Government of India provide the amount themselves, and it does not pass through the provincial balances, as an equivalent debit is always made under the head 36 "reduction or avoidance of debt." All that it implies is that the amount at credit can, as I have said, be spent as soon as famine is declared, without any burden on provincial revenues.

"The Hon'ble Rai Nalinaksha Basu Bahadur, in speaking on Excise exhibited alarm at the fact that the Excise Revenue of Rs. 57,66,000 in 1899-10 had grown to Rs. 138,55,000 in the budget. He has perhaps forgotten that formerly we had only half the receipts from Excise. Now, we have the whole; so that the increase is very much less than he supposes. I may say that Government is constantly alive to the necessity of checking increased consumption. The rate of duty on country liquor has lately been revised and increased, and the rate of duty on ganja has just been increased.

"The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerjee suggested that we might use our balances for lending, and so avoid the necessity of paying interest to the Government of India on money given out for loans. Although it is satisfactory that we have such large balances, they are a consequence of large surpluses in the Imperial revenues and the concomitant system of doles; but they are there, not to be lent out at interest but to be spent as rapidly as possible. It is true that we do not expect to exhaust them completely for two or three years, but it must be remembered that almost all loans made are made for a much longer period, and if we were to give out the money on loan we should not be able to recover it for expenditure when required; further, although I cannot speak with any authority as to the system followed by the Government of India with reference to loans, I believe that it is probably not to make them out of taxation. It would not be fair for Government to tax the people and then give their money out at interest. The money advanced on loans is understood to be generally obtained by borrowing.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti asked for more time at the various stages of the Financial Statement. The stages depend on the corresponding stages in the Government of India. We can only proceed to each stage after the Government of India has passed that stage. We have expedited the statement by every day we can on our own account; and over and above that, we have induced the Government of India to rearrange their dates so as to give us a good many extra days. I doubt whether more is physically possible; but if it is, it can only be got by moving the Government of India.

"A few medical questions have been touched on but they are somewhat mixed up with other matters they have been dealt with by the Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Shams-ul-Huda. The Hon'ble Maharaja Ranajit Sinha observed that municipalities should have the power of appointing their own medical officers for their own dispensaries at the headquarters and subdivisions. The case is that in all dispensaries except the State dispensaries the managing authorities have the power of appointing their own medical officers subject to the approval of the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals; and it is the policy of Government to restrict as far as possible the number of Government officers lent to dispensaries. As a matter of fact we have been withdrawing certain Government officers who have been lent to dispensaries and inviting the authorities to appoint their own men.

"The Hon'ble Dr. Sarkar, in a very closely reasoned speech referred to the comparatively small number of State dispensaries and the small amount of contribution made to them in Bengal as compared with Bombay. It is rather difficult to compare the figures for medical and sanitation purposes separately. In the two Presidencies, they are very much mixed up together; but taking the two together it is true that Bombay about four or five years ago spent on the whole a good deal more than Bengal. Now it spends about two lakhs less on the combined purposes. It is however the case that the Bombay Government maintains more dispensaries in the mufassal than Bengal does and has been spending more on them. On the other hand however Bengal spend far more on hospitals in Calcutta than the Bombay Government does on hospitals in Bombay. The difference now is not what it was. In 1909 the expenditure in Calcutta by Government on medical purposes was double the expenditure in Bombay and even at the present day it is still two lakhs more than the Bombay expenditure. It is therefore obvious that if Government has so much to spend at the capital there is less to spend in the mufassal. Personally I have always felt that the mufassal in Bengal is rather at a serious disadvantage in comparison with the capital. It is of course right that Calcutta hospitals should be maintained at the very highest possible standard. They should be equipped on modern methods; but still in a poor country that expenditure at the capital must come from somewhere, and the effect has been that there is less to go round. The only remedy that I can suggest is this, that the public might give more than they do towards the support of medical institutions in Calcutta. It is possible that in Bombay they do more.

"The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri commented on the fact that only one listed post is held by a Muhammadan. The answer is that there are hardly any Muhammadans in the higher grade of either service, and the possibilities of selection are limited. There are plenty of junior officers recruited more recently, and their turn will come in due time, but we cannot disregard all the ordinary rules of selection in order to promote junior Muhammadans, to listed posts.

"The Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari has dwelt at length on the grievances of the Provincial Judicial Service, and has produced an elaborate scheme for their relief. The action which has been taken by Government was stated in reply to a question in Council on the 5th March. The proposals of this Government for the reorganization of the service are now before the Government of India, and it seems unnecessary to discuss them further at present. It was stated at the same time that the question of the pay of the lowest grade of Munsifs would be taken up when the orders of the Government of India about the reorganization had been received.

"The same Hon'ble gentleman referred to the grievously congested condition of the Calcutta Police Courts, a condition which Government fully admits. A full statement of how the matter stands at present was made in Council on Wednesday, the 2nd April. We have already thrown away much labour on schemes which from circumstances beyond our control have come to nothing; but that will not deter us from trying to accomplish a radical improvement.

"The Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari also dealt at some length with the position of the Subordinate Executive Service and claimed that in view of the education and general standing of the present members of that service more should be done to level up their position to that of the Provincial Service. I admit that the officers appointed in recent years have very often been of much the same class as those who entered the Provincial Service. It is satisfactory that well-qualified men should come forward and probably the number of men of the Subordinate Service who have in recent years been selected for the Provincial Service has had much to do with popularising the former. When, however, it is contended that the duties of the Subordinate Service are the same as those of the Provincial Service, I cannot admit the position. Sub-Deputy Collectors are recruited for comparatively petty revenue duties, and the Magisterial work which they perform is also very much inferior in importance to what falls to the lot of the Provincial Service. No doubt, at the commencement of their service their pay and allowances are comparatively small ; but the travelling allowance rules have been modified in their favour in recent years, and those of them whose work entails prolonged camping receive special rates. I feel also that I must deprecate the comment on the fact that the lower grades of Sub-Deputy Collectors are paid less than the lowest grade of Inspectors of Police, while it is contended that as gazetted officers they have a position to keep up. Neither Sub-Deputy Collectors nor Inspectors of Police are technically gazetted officers. Whatever views may be held as to the relative status and merits of the two classes of officers, it must be remembered that Sub-Deputy Collectors are in the vast majority of cases young men appointed for the first time to Government service ; while Inspectors of Police are men specially selected after many years of service in the subordinate grades.

"The same gentleman and Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur have referred to the poor pay and prospects of head-constables in Calcutta. These facts have not escaped the notice of Government. The gap between them and Sub-Inspectors is excessive and the question of improving their position will be considered.

"In dealing with the Police, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji referred to the great increase of ten lakhs in the budget estimate. The greater part of this increase occurs in Eastern Bengal ; in West Bengal the reforms undertaken upon the recommendations of the Police Commission had mostly been carried out before the re-arrangement of Provinces. Comparatively little remains to be done there. In East Bengal, however, the Province being new, it was only in 1910 that the Secretary of State sanctioned a complete scheme of reorganization and this for the most part still remains to be given effect to. The present budget represents a large instalment of it. I gather that the views of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banarji are not universally shared, at any rate, by the inhabitants of East Bengal, for the Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Nawab Ali Chaudhuri has referred with satisfaction to the progress of the reorganization and the completion of the scheme for river police. He has noticed how small the force in Eastern Bengal is in comparison to the population and how necessary it is that it should be strengthened.

"The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji has also referred to the great prevalence of dacoities and the ill success of the police in detecting them. Of course, if it be held that it is because the police are useless that dacoities are not detected, it follows that nothing will be gained by spending more money on the police. But in that case there is no apparent means of checking dacoities at all. Now, I do not wish in any way to minimize the seriousness of dacoity either in East Bengal or in other parts of the Province. It is a blot on the administration ; indeed, it is a blot on the whole civilization of the country that open gang robbery with violence should be prevalent. I am not also, at present, going into the controversial subject of whether the people give so little help, because they will not or because they cannot. I am very willing to believe that in the great majority of cases, the dacoits not being known to them, they can give very little help. However, that may be, it must be admitted that the police have to deal with dacoities as they can with but little outside assistance. Now the facts are bad enough ; but do they when impartially considered indicate that the state of things is becoming worse or better? No doubt, we hear a great deal of dacoities ; but, from the figures which were recorded in former times, we know that in many districts they were infinitely more prevalent than they now are. In that golden age of prosperity, health and innocence which came to an end about seventy years ago, there were sometimes nearly as many dacoities in one year in a single district, as there now are in the whole Province.

"Taking the recent figures, there are signs of marked improvement. In the East Bengal districts, there were 179 cases in 1910; and 181 in 1911. In 1912, there were 130. These are the gross figures of all cases reported, including such as subsequently proved to be false, or at any rate not to be dacoities. For 1912, they certainly showed a marked improvement. Only one-ninth of these cases were successfully detected. This is no doubt very unsatisfactory, but it by no means implies that eight-ninths of the gangs of dacoits escape with impunity. People do not commit dacoity as an isolated offence. Those who have taken to it commit series of offences until they have done sufficiently well for the time being or until they come to grief. They may not fall into the hands of the police the first time for if they did there would be no more dacoity. But if that misfortune overtakes them even at the fifth or sixth instance, their operations would be put an end to for a number of years. As a matter of fact, the figures, such as they are, must mean that gangs of dacoits have a comparatively short life and incur considerable risk. But the success of police work is not to be measured by detection alone. A very great deal is done by preventive action, and the reduction is probably as much attributable to that as to detection.

"I would like to ask those who speak and write so freely about the ill success of the police in detecting dacoities, whether they have seriously considered what the conditions are. The usual question is—"Where are the police?" Well the police are not generally just round the corner. In the ordinary mufassal district, there is perhaps one police-station to about a hundred square miles. Dacoits, we know, now take every advantage of modern means of communication. They may come by rail or steamer from long distances. They commit an offence at a place perhaps seven or ten miles from the nearest police-station, and before information has reached the police, they are already many miles away, perhaps already in the train or steamer on their return. At the scene of the crime, there is no one who knows any of them, except perhaps a single accomplice who brought them there, but was himself careful not to appear. When the police have to deal with a class of crime in its nature so difficult to detect can it be denied that they require both increase in numbers and everything that can be supplied in the way of training and equipment which is calculated to make them more efficient?

"The Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti referred also to a cognate subject—the desire of the well-to-do people to be allowed to keep fire-arms in order to detect these crimes and also to protect themselves. For the last two or three years, at any rate, perhaps, longer in Eastern Bengal where dacoities were more prevalent, than in West Bengal, Government has been giving out large number of guns to respectable people who are willing to take them and who would also undertake to use them for self protection. Government is also ready to allow people, whose character and position are beyond dispute, to arm themselves. But the difficulty, which we find, is not in having sufficient guns to go round but in getting the people to take them. Where dacoities are prevalent, many people refuse to take arms, because if they are known to possess arms, they will be the first object of attack. They fear that their guns will be stolen and they will be punished for having lost them. I am stating the actual facts that have taken place, for many people have applied to be relieved of this troublesome possession. Therefore, the matter is not so simple as it appears.

"The Hon'ble Mr. Chakravarti referred also to the employment of stenographers in the original side of the High Court. I have only to remind him that the High Court is under the Government of India, and although no doubt we shall have to provide the money, it is the Government of India who are first to be persuaded of the desirability of allowing there stenographers. If they can be induced to allow them we shall have no difficulty in providing the funds.

RESOLUTION ON MATTERS OF GENERAL PUBLIC INTEREST.

The following resolution and amendment stood in the names of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji and the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq, respectively :—

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI to move :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council—

(a) that a scheme be prepared and submitted to this Council, as early as may be convenient, showing details of the allotments, which the Local Government may propose, of the Imperial Educational grants of Rs. 75 lakhs (non-recurring) and of Rs. 13·20 lakhs (recurring) ; and

(b) that a similar scheme be submitted, showing, so far as is practicable, details of Rs. 20 lakhs of non-recurring expenditure for sanitation and of Rs. 29·93 lakhs recurring for rural water-supply and sanitation.

The Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq to move that after the words "Rs. 13·20 lakhs (recurring)" at the end of clause (a) of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji's Resolution, the following words be inserted, namely :—

"and that any sums proposed to be spent for the special benefit of the Muhammadans be separately shown."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, I have the honour to move the resolution which stands against my name. With your Excellency's permission, I desire to break up that resolution into two parts and to move the first part of the resolution, and then, after that resolution has been disposed of, to proceed with the second part. If your Excellency grants me that permission, I shall move the first part."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"I agree."

"My Lord, I am also ready to incorporate in my resolution, the resolution which is to be moved by the Hon'ble Maulvi Faz-ul-Haq, as it really forms a part of my resolution, because if there are special funds to be devoted to Muhammadan education, then under the terms of my resolution these funds must be shown in the scheme I proposed. I take it that I have your Excellency's permission to incorporate that resolution in mine."

The resolution thus took the following form.

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council—

(a) that a scheme be prepared and submitted to this Council, as early as may be convenient, showing details of the allotments, which the Local Government may propose, of the Imperial Educational grants of Rs. 75 lakhs (non-recurring) and of Rs. 13·20 lakhs (recurring) ; and that any sums proposed to be spent for the special benefit of the Muhammadans be separately shown.

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI said :—

"My Lord, my resolution is an exceedingly moderate one. My object is to obtain information. What I propose is that the Government will be pleased to lay on the table a fairly full programme of its educational and sanitary expenditure (the latter has reference to the next part of the resolution) for the year 1913-14. I do not invite the Government to accept any new policy or to deviate in any way from any accepted policy. Information is what I solicit. Light—more kindly light—amid the bewildering maze of budget figures is what I pray for. I am sure that it is a request to which the Government will accede. My Lord, the Government of India have, in the abundance of their generosity, made a grant of 2½ crores of rupees for educational purposes to the various Local Governments. We, in Bengal, get 52½ lakhs out of this grant. This is a non-recurring grant. But this is not all. The Government of India have, out of the opium surplus, made a further grant of 69 lakhs for educational purposes to be given to all the Provincial Governments. Out of this grant, which is also of a non-recurring character, we get in Bengal 22½ lakhs. Therefore, my Lord, putting these two figures together we get 75 lakhs from the Government of India as a non-recurring grant to be spent on educational purposes. But, my Lord, the generosity of the Government of India does not stop here. We not only get 75 lakhs out of the surplus of the revised estimates of 1912-13, but we get a further grant of Rs. 13,20,000 out of the estimates of 1913-14, and that is a recurring grant. My Lord, at pages 19 and 63 of the Budget estimates, we have some details given of the expenditure under these heads. My complaint is that these details are not enough. They certainly do not seem to me to be sufficient. I am anxious that full particulars should be submitted to this Council and the country, so that the public, if they approve, may co-operate with the Government; if they do not approve, they may criticise the measures of Government. My Lord, co-operation will be the rule; criticism will be the exception, for in the present temper of the public mind, at any rate in regard to the important considerations of education and sanitation, I apprehend that the public are more willing to co-operate than criticise the Government, more willing to help than embarrass the Government. My Lord, if these details are furnished, the public can watch the operations of the department with intelligent interest, and public interest will be helpful to the Administration. It will stimulate the enthusiasm of the department; it will bring about a larger outturn of work, and I think also that it will prevent the grants from lapsing as they have sometimes lapsed. My Lord, perhaps, it will be necessary for me to explain what I precisely mean when I say that we want further details of these various items of expenditure. I take an item at page 19 of the Budget—Rs. 9,25,000 against popular education. My Lord, we want to know how much of this money is to be spent upon school buildings, how much on the training of teachers, how much upon the maintenance of the inspectorial staff and how much upon the actual work of starting primary schools. There is a passage in the despatch of the Government of India which I am afraid has created a sense of alarm and anxiety in the public mind. That passage says that, in view of the fact that in Bengal there are primary schools within a radius of every three miles, there is not the same urgency in starting schools in Bengal as there is in the other provinces. I desire most humbly but most emphatically to protest against this observation. Is our success in the matter of primary education—assuming that we have been successful in this matter—to be brought forward as a charge against us, or as an argument for staying further progress, and are we to be told that we must cry, Halt until the other provinces are brought into line with us? If the position is carefully analysed, it will be seen that very much progress has not been made even in Bengal as regards primary education. Taking the most favourable view of the situation we find that only in some of the advanced districts about 25 per cent. of the school-going population excluding girls avail themselves of the primary schools. Therefore upon the shoulders of this Government rests the responsibility of reclaiming the vast masses of our people steeped in illiteracy from ignorance and its attendant evils. To say, even by implication, that because in some of our districts there are primary schools within a three-mile radius and because 25 per cent. of the population attend these schools that there is to be no further expansion and no starting of new schools, that to lay down a policy which is inconsistent with the traditions of the Government and will not be accepted by the country. In this connection, my Lord, I may be permitted to refer to an apprehension which fills the public mind, namely, that mere money out of the grant for primary schools might be spent upon school buildings and the inspectorial staff than upon the establishment of primary schools. This feeling should be removed. My Lord, I may here once again advert to the observations made by the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sarkar in regard to secondary education. I found in the reply of the Director of Public Instruction this morning that no reference was made to this part of the observations of my friend. There has been of late a distinct tendency to add to the expansiveness of secondary education. However generous, however liberal the Government may be, the fact cannot be concealed that the burden of the educational expenditure must in the last resort fall on the people; all the seekers of education in our community are amongst the poor classes and therefore to make education expensive would be to restrict the educational area to only the wealthy classes. I am sure even the wealthy classes, the representatives of whom are here, the Hon'ble Maharaja of Nator and the Maharaja of Burdwan, would be the first to protest against the restriction of secondary education to the representatives of their class. That would be a disaster to the best interests of education.

"Before I sit down you will perhaps permit me to associate myself with the observations that have fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon in regard to the administration of Mr. Küchler who is about to retire. I will say this without fear of challenge or contradiction, and I will say it on behalf of my educated countrymen as one entitled to be their spokesman in a matter of this kind that the Hon'ble Mr. Küchler's educational administration will be regarded as one of the most efficient, as one of the most sympathetic and as one of the ablest we have witnessed in these years. For five years Mr. Küchler has presided over the educational administration of this Province with a tact, a degree of knowledge and insight and with a sympathy that has won for him the unstinted confidence, esteem and measure of gratitude of the people of Bengal. We wish him prosperity and happiness in his retirement and we only hope his successor will be as able, as worthy and as sympathetic as he has been.

"One word more, and that is with reference to the observations made by the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon in reference to a meeting at which my friend on my right the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraja Bahadur of Burdwan was present—.

The Hon'ble Mr. Lyon said :—

"I rise to a point of order. I do not know whether this matter can be discussed in connection with this resolution."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji said :—

"My friend here has not the right of a reply and he has asked me to reply for him. He feels that a statement has been made which does not do him the fullest justice."

The President said :—

"If he has not the right to make a reply, it will not be in order for you to speak on it."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji said :—

"Very well. I will not say what I wanted to on the matter.

"One word more and I have done. You will find on page 63 of the Budget Report three items of expenditure of heavy amounts. One is Rs. 7,45,000, another is Rs. 24,00,000 and the third, Rs. 11,000. Not a single detail is given with regard to these items of expenditure and I think I have therefore made out a strong case for laying on this table a full programme of expenditure to be incurred, recurring and non-recurring, in regard to education, and I hope and trust that the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Department will accept this resolution."

The HON'BLE MR. LYON said :—

"My Lord, I hope I shall not be suspected of wishing to treat the Hon'ble Member's interesting speech with any sort of disrespect if I answer it very briefly indeed. The main point is that Government will accept his motion and is prepared to accept the addition made by the Hon'ble Maulvi A. K. Faz-ul-Haq. The Government is most anxious to afford to Hon'ble Members of this Council and to the public, through this Council, every possible information as to the expenditure to be incurred from the large grants that they have received. I think I may claim that, during the short life of this Council, we have shewn ourselves willing to meet every demand and every request for information. We have had a very large number of requests for information addressed to us, and I know that the Hon'ble Members behind me, the Secretaries of the various Departments, have devoted an enormous amount of time, gathering together all possible information for which Hon'ble Members have asked. I do not think therefore that we shall be slow in filling up the gaps of information pointed out by the Hon'ble Member, and I undertake to say that this scheme that he asks for will be prepared as fully and completely as I hope he can wish.

"The Hon'ble Member has raised several matters of policy and discussed several matters connected with policy in his speech, and I do not think that I am called upon, as I am so ready to meet him, to go into these questions of policy; they do not arise out of the motion and I rose to a point of order because it seemed to me that the subject the Member then raised was only one out of four or five that he raised during his speech, which were not in order according to the motion. I need only add one word and that is in reference to the details of the allotments which the Local Government may be prepared to make. The Hon'ble Members are aware that the grant from the Imperial Government is a circumscribed grant, and it is only within such allotments as are made by the Imperial Government and within those restrictions that we shall be able to make allotments ourselves. The Government is quite willing to accept the motion and the addition that has been made."

The HON'BLE MAULVI A. K. FAZ-UL-HAQ said :—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon I don't think, I could take up the time of the Council by formally moving the amendment and I take this opportunity to express my grateful thanks and the thanks of the community to the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji who incorporated my amendment in his resolution and to the Government for having so readily accepted it.

"I venture to speak on behalf of my community, although doubts have been expressed in the official quarters whether I have a right to speak on behalf of the Muhammadan community, but I do venture to speak on their behalf in this Council, because I think the very fact of my presence here is primâ facie evidence that I have a right to speak on their behalf. That is a trivial matter and I don't wish to waste the time of the Council over that, for I am prepared to leave the determination of that question to the sure and certain arbitration of time. For the present, as I have already said, I only say this much that we are grateful to Government for having accepted my amendment.

"One word more before I sit down. As regards the criticisms which I made on the Budget, I had no intention to cast any reflections on any individual officer of Government and my only object was to criticise the Government generally. As regards Mr. Küchler himself, I wish to associate myself with all that has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon and the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji, and I wish to say that, so far as our community is concerned, we have got no personal grievance with regard to the administration of his Department. What I complained of was that the Muhammadan grievances were not adequately brought to the notice of Government and not adequately represented. As I have already said, I do not wish to say very much more and I only wish to conclude with these words that I hope Mr. Küchler, on the eve of his retirement, will not take away any unpleasant memories of the debate of this morning."

The resolution was then put and agreed to.

The HON'BLE MAULVI ABUL KASEM then withdrew the following amendment :—

The Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem to move that after the words "Rs. 13·20 lakhs (recurring)" at the end of clause (a) of the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji's resolution, the following words be inserted, namely—

> "and that the allotments made for the building of hostels for Muhammadan boys, for special scholarships and stipends for Muhammadan students, and for providing facilities for the teaching of Persian, Urdu and Arabic be shown separately in the scheme."

He said :—

"My Lord, my hon'ble friend's amendment includes mine, and I therefore beg to withdraw it."

The HON'BLE BABU SURENDRA NATH BANERJI then moved clause (b) of his original resolution in the following form :—

"This Council further recommends to the Governor in Council—

> (b) that a scheme similar to that referred to in the preceding resolution be submitted, showing, so far as is practicable, details of Rs. 20 lakhs of non-recurring expenditure for sanitation and of Rs. 29·93 lakhs recurring for rural water-supply and sanitation."

He said —

"My Lord, you will have noticed that in this resolution I have somewhat modified the wording of the previous resolution. I say "that a scheme be submitted showing the details so far as may be practicable", because I know there are difficulties in the way of the practicability of such a scheme. The drawing up of this scheme will take time and it will perhaps need modifications. It will have to be considered, it may be, over and over again ; and therefore I have advisedly used those words in order that Government may see its way to accept this resolution subject to that reservation. It seems to me a matter of first importance that, in regard to these sanitary improvements, the Government should take the public into its confidence. If there is one Department of the Administration more than another in which the co-operation of the people is helpful—I was going to say indispensable—it is the Department of Sanitation which affects the daily lives and habits of the people. Your Excellency's Government has shown the appreciation of this principle by convening a Sanitary Conference at Darjeeling over which the Hon'ble Nawab Shams-ul-Huda presided. My resolution represents only a continuation of this policy, a policy of trust and confidence in the people, of co-operation with them in matters regarding sanitation. I hope that, if there are practical difficulties, they may be overcome and the public taken into the confidence of the Government. Sanitary experts may be very helpful ; but local opinion, local convenience and local knowledge are matters of first importance, and they can be effectually utilized by the publication of these schemes before adoption.

"The Hon'ble Nawab Shams-ul-Huda the other day, in introducing the Sanitary Budget, expressed the hope that local bodies would, in appreciation of the beneficence of Government, pay greater attention to their duties and make a juster distribution of the amounts entrusted to them. I am sure the Council will share in this hope. But it is not only necessary to strengthen the financial resources of the local bodies but that larger powers should be conferred on them. I believe that that is the view that was expressed to-day in the course of the discussion on the Budget. Their constitution should be revised and modelled upon more liberal lines. The Bengal Municipal Act has not been modified since 1895, and the Local Self-Government Act has been revised since 1885. I rejoice to learn that the recommendations of the Decentralization Commission, so far as they affect the municipalities, are before the Secretary of State, and I hope early orders will be passed and that these orders will include the establishment of Local Government Boards on this Province. The work of the district must be separated from the work of local self-government, and the claims of sanitation have to be reconciled with the claims of local self-government. It seems to me that, in this situation with the difficulties that are gathering around us, the best thing we can do is to rely on the lessons which English experience and English institutions have taught us, and create a separate local board for guarding and controlling the system of local self-government. With these observations I beg to move the resolution which stands in my name."

"The second part of this resolution cannot be dealt with quite so easily as the first part. Government is asked to prepare a scheme showing, so far as is practicable, details of the 20 lakhs of non-recurring expenditure for sanitation and of 29·93 lakhs recurring for rural water-supply and sanitation. I presume that the 29·93 lakhs is made up of 24·93 lakhs recurring assignment to this Province in connection with the remission of appropriations from cesses and 5 lakhs recurring grant for sanitation. To take the 24·93 first: This is a recurring assignment to the Provincial Revenues not for the purposes of rural water-supply and sanitation, but to compensate for the loss of the appropriations from cesses. The District Boards gain to this extent, but we have not yet received the orders of the Government of India regarding the conditions on which this extra grant to the District Boards is to be made, and we have no power to hand the money over until we have received the detailed orders of the Secretary of State on the proposals submitted to him on the subject by the Government of India. It would be impossible, therefore, for this Government to draw up any scheme for the expenditure of this amount. The Government of India have indicated a hope that a substantial portion of the sum may be set apart for the improvement of rural water-supply, for anti-malarial measures and generally for the sanitation of villages and small towns, and they have made a reference in this connection to the recommendations of the Malaria Conference held in Madras last November, but it must be remembered that, though it may finally be decided that this Government can lay down conditions regarding this grant, the actual expenditure will be incurred by the District Boards concerned, and it will therefore be impossible for Government ever to be in a position to prepare a detailed scheme for the expenditure of this amount.

"Turning now to the non-recurring grant of 20 lakhs and the recurring grant of 5 lakhs for sanitation, the first of these is earmarked for sanitation in urban areas, but the recurring grant is not so earmarked. Government is asked to draw up a detailed scheme for spending this money. When the first grant of sanitation was made four or five years ago, the system on which Government is asked to proceed was actually adopted, and Sir Edward Baker characterised the result as the worst form of financial ineptitude he had ever seen. Again, a year or two ago an endeavour was made with the assistance of the Sanitary Board to work out some sort of programme of water-supply and drainage schemes so that we might, if possible, earmark our sanitary allotment in advance, but it was found to be impracticable. Hon'ble Members will it is prepared to undertake it. A sketch project is drawn up and this has to be approved by the municipality, the financial arrangement for its execution worked out and the cost of maintenance provided for. This project then comes to Government for its approval of the general scheme and the financial details for providing both for capital cost and maintenance. After administrative approval has been given, the detailed project is drawn up. In all these stages there is liable to be a delay, and Government has always refused to give any grant until the detailed project has been prepared and the work is ready for execution. Government has only one interest in the matter, namely, that the amount at its disposal for sanitary assistance shall go as far as possible, and it is obviously undesirable to lock up Government grants in schemes which may not mature for some years or may finally be dropped. It has been found impossible for the Sanitary Engineer to say definitely at the commencement of each year what schemes will actually be started during that year. In practice what has happened in the past is that at the commencement of the year the Financial Department obtains from the Sanitary Engineer a list of the schemes which in his opinion are most likely to come to a head during the year. We then worry the local officers and the municipalities and endeavour to urge them forward and get the schemes started. As soon as a scheme is within reasonable distance of starting, we hand over the grant which Government has decided to make. I have here a list of schemes of water-supply and drainage, the total estimated cost of which is Rs. 98,28,000. In addition to these, the Sanitary Engineer has further detailed schemes of drainage amounting to Rs. 14,95,000 and sketch projects amounting to Rs. 18,75,000. The delay is not due to any reluctance on the part of Government to give grants. In the coming year we have provided altogether for about 23 lakhs, of which only 6¾ lakhs come from the Government of India's non-recurring grant of 20 lakhs, and we are prepared to give not only 6¾ lakhs but probably 20 lakhs as assistance to schemes of water-supply and drainage, if only the schemes can be pushed forward to a stage in which it is possible for Government to give grants; Government only requires to be satisfied that any project for which it is asked to give a grant is professionally and financially sound and, in order to make the grants go as far as possible, a rough rule has been adopted that the municipality concerned must provide for two-thirds of the cost.

"I trust that the Council will see that it is not practicable for Government to draw up in advance a list of the projects to which it proposes to give grants during the coming year. It is against the financial rules in the Civil Account Code to pay a grant until it is about to be utilised, and it is obviously in the interests of the Province that the available money shall be given to those schemes which are ready for execution, and it would be inadvisable to defer giving the money till the following year merely in order that a list of such schemes might be prepared. I should be glad to provide any Hon'ble Member at any time with information regarding the grants already given in any year or earmarked in that year, but at the present moment there are only two schemes which are before Government for a grant. In these circumstances I hope the Hon'ble Member will see his way to withdraw his resolution."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji said :—

"My Lord, I quite appreciate the difficulties of the Government and I quite understand that in this matter there can be no difference of interest as between the Government and ourselves. What I was going to suggest is this : That I might for the present withdraw the motion and move it foward again when the Government has more time to consider the various projects which are before them for consideration. Will that be acceptable to the Hon'ble Member in charge of the Department? I am prepared to withdraw it for the present and bring it forward when the Government is in a better position to decide on the schemes which we have outlined."

The Hon'ble Nawab Shams-ul-Huda said :—

"My Lord, if the Hon'ble Member withdraws the resolution, it may be open to him at any time to bring forward a fresh resolution and if at that time the Government is in a position to meet his wishes there will be no disposition on the part of the Government not to do so."

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji said :—

"My Lord, if the Government will approach us in a sympathetic spirit and try to meet us half way when we bring it forward again I think that would be an acceptable assurance."

The President then read out Rule 26 of the Rules of the Resolutions on matters of general public interest, which was to the effect that if the resolution was withdrawn now it could not be brought up again for a year.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Banerji then asked that his motion may be put to the vote.

The resolution was put, and the Council divided as follows :—

Ayes 13.

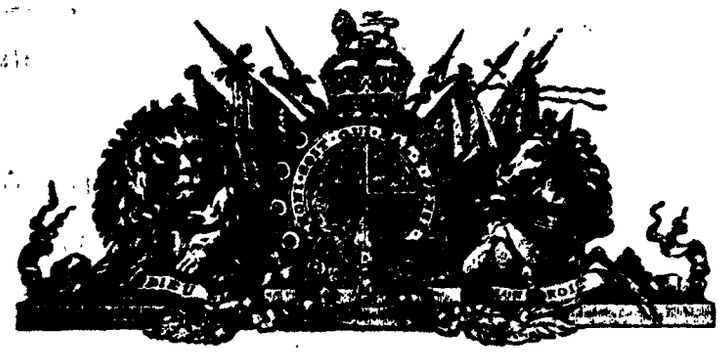
The Hon'ble Nawab Saiyid Hossam Haider Chaudhuri, Khan Bahadur.
The Hon'ble Maulvi Musharraf Hussain.

The result of the division being ayes 13, noes 24, the motion was lost.

The HON'BLE MAHARAJADHIRAJA BAHADUR OF BURDWAN said :—

"My Lord, I desire to offer a personal explanation to the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon under Rule 10, with reference to the Dacca University scheme. We had a conference in Calcutta at the house of the Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad, convened by my friends the Hon'ble Nawab Sir Khwaja Salimullah Bahadur of Dacca, the Hon'ble Babu Ananda Chandra Ray and some other gentlemen from East Bengal and also some gentlemen from West Bengal. At this conference we were asked to vote or give our votes to a scheme which was meant to extend practically to the whole of Bengal, namely, the establishment of a well-to-do classes college at Dacca.



Raja Peary Mohan Mukharji, Raja Kisorilal Goswami and myself opposed this. But what we agreed to was, and that on the assurance of the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Dacca and the Hon'ble Babu Ananda Chandra Ray, that if they would find the funds from the back fees of what was known as landlord's fees lying in the Collectorates in the Dacca and Chittagong Divisions, we would not object to their having a well-to-do classes college at Dacca, but on condition that it was only for Dacca and Chittagong and not for the whole of Bengal. One other point I should like to emphasize is that it was never mooted to us that this college would be part and parcel of the Dacca University scheme. That is all the explanation I have got to offer."

The Council was then adjourned sine die.

DECLARATION.

No. 2801.—The 21st April 1913.—Whereas certain land was acquired by the Bengal Government, under the provisions of Act I of 1894 and Act XVIII of 1885, for a public purpose, viz., for such portion of the Salanpur Branch siding of the East Indian Railway as lies in the Pahargora mauza and as lies between mile 144, furlongs 7, feet 282, and mile 145, furlongs 2, feet 243, and as is edged with pink on the plan L. A. M. A., No. 209, and whereas coal mines are situate under the said land, and whereas Messrs. F. W. Heilgers and Brothers have given notice to the Government of Bengal, in accordance with the provisions of Act XVIII of 1885, that the said Company intend to work the seam known as the Pahargora or bottom seam, and whereas the mines have been inspected by the officer appointed by the Bengal Government for the purpose under section 5 (1) of Act XVIII of 1885, and whereas it appears to the Bengal Government that the working out of the coal of the mines underlying the said land is likely to cause damage to the surface of the said land and to the works constructed thereon, and whereas the said Messrs. F. W. Heilgers and Brothers have agreed not to work and get minerals underlying the land acquired for their siding, or underlying the land acquired for the branch or other lines with which the siding is connected or underlying the land of the branch or branches connecting the said siding with the main line, in such a manner as to injure or to endanger the safety of the undertaking or any part thereof, nor to claim any compensation for any restricted working:

Burdwan.

Now, therefore, the Governor in Council is pleased to declare, under section 5, sub-section (2), clause (b) of the abovementioned Act, XVIII of 1885, that the working shall be carried on by the said Messrs. F. W. Heilgers and Brothers in the manner and subject to the restrictions below specified, viz.:—

(a) No gallery shall be driven and no coal shall be extracted where the distance from the natural surface of the ground to the top of the gallery, if driven, is under 50 feet.

(b) Where the distance from the natural surface of the ground to the top of the gallery, if driven, is 50 feet or more, galleries may be driven not exceeding 12 feet in height by 12 feet in width, at distances apart not less than 50 feet, centre to centre, forming pillars not less than 38 feet square to be left unworked for the support of the acquired land.

(c) Manholes not exceeding 6 feet in height by 3 feet in width by 4 feet in depth may be made where required by any rules made under the Indian Mines Act, 1901.

(d) Any inrush of water, quicksand or soft material shall be reported to the Chief Inspector of Mines without delay.

(e) These restrictions apply to the Pahargora or bottom seam only and to the area edged with pink on the plan, and Messrs. F. W. Heilgers and Brothers shall give notice, under section IV of the Land Acquisition (Mines) Act, 1885, of their intention to work any other seam under such area or to work coal under any other area of acquired land.

The plan marked L. A. M. A., No 209, signed by the Chief Inspector of Mines, may be seen in the office of the Chief Inspector of Mines in India by the parties concerned.
